Worthy Your Confidence.

The success of Hood's Sarsaparilla in conquering scrofula in whatever way it may manifest itself is vouched for by thousands who were severely afflicted by this prevalent disease, but who now rejoice over a permanent cure by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Scrofula may appear as a humor, or it may attack the glands of the neck, or break out in dreadful running sores on the body or limbs. Attacking the mucous membrane, it may develop into catarrh, or lodging in the lungs lead to consumption. Come as it may, a faithful course of treatment with Hood's Sarsaparilla will overcome it, for working upon the foundation of all diseases, impure blood, the system is clarified and vitalized, and vigor, strength and health restored to the body. 1w

Mrs. Sweet: Do you find it economical to do your own cooking? Mrs. Burnem: Oh, yes; my husband doesn't eat half as much as when he had a cook.

How many young men and young women are cut off just as the future seems brightest and fullest of promise! They are taken away by the disease which causes over one-sixth of all the deaths in the world—the disease which doctors call consumption. There is absolutely no reason in the world why consumption should be fatal—why it should be even serious. It is a disease of the blood, and can be cured absolutely and always by purifying and enriching the blood. The only exception to this is the case where the disease has been neglected and improperly treated until it is stronger than the body—until the body has become so weak as to have lost the ability to recuperate. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will cure 98 per cent of all cases of consumption if used according to directions. It also cures all lingering coughs, bronchial and throat affections.

Use It in Time.

Catarrh starts in the nasal passages, affecting eyes, ears and throat, and is in fact, the great enemy of the mucous membrane. Neglected colds in the head almost invariably precede catarrh, causing an excessive flow of mucus, and if the mucous discharge becomes interrupted the disagreeable results of catarrh will follow, such as bad breath, severe pain across the forehead and about the eyes, a roaring and buzzing sound in the ears and oftentimes a very offensive discharge. Ely's Cream Balm is the acknowledged cure for these troubles. 1w

FREE MEDICAL BOOKS.

An Illustrated Book on Health, Diseases and Family Medicines.

A recently published book, packed full of valuable information for the masses, will be sent free for a time by the Pe-ru-na Drug Manufacturing Company of Columbus, Ohio. This book contains numerous physiological and anatomical illustrations, conveying accurate and useful instruction. The book covers the whole list of diseases to which the human family is liable, and gives the treatment for each one. It is written in plain and chaste language, expressly for family use. It contains no reading or illustrations of an objectional character. The author of the book is Dr. Hartman, whose long and extensive experience has enabled him to speak with authority on all medical subjects. This book should be in every family. Another book by the same author, entitled Woman's Handbook of Female Diseases, will be sent for a short time to ladies only. This book can not fail to be of priceless benefit to the afflicted women. It has led to the cure of thousands of suffering women. Those preferring Dr. Hartman's personal advice should write, giving age, symptoms, and duration of disease. Answer free. Everybody takes Peru-na for chronic malaria and all forms of nervous prostration and fall biliousness. It is the greatest of tonics and invigorators.

The Discovery Saved His Life.

Mr. G. Caillouette, Druggist, Beaversville, Ill., says: "To Dr. King's New Discovery I owe my life. Was taken with La Grippe and tried all the physicians for miles about, but of no avail and was given up and told I could not live. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in my store I sent for a bottle and began its use and from the first dose began to get better, and after using three bottles was up and about again. It is worth its weight in gold. We won't keep store or house without it." Get a free trial at Orr & Temple's drug store. 2

A WONDERFUL ESCAPE.

(From the Jackson Citizen.)

Mr. A. E. Wing resides at 612 N. Jackson Street, Jackson, Mich. He is a keeper in the Michigan State Prison, a man of sterling integrity, and whose word is beyond dispute. He tells the following story of a wonderful escape, and the incidents connected with the dangerous position in which he was placed. He says, some months ago my attention was attracted by a swelling of my groins, which began to increase in size to such an extent that I was alarmed. It spread down my legs to my feet, and I was bloated from my waist down, so badly that I could not pull my pants, over my legs, and I had to openly shoes fully two inches before I could get them on. Even my face became puffed up, and my whole system seemed affected. I could hardly drag myself upstairs to unlock my men. I consulted a physician, one of the best in the city. He said the swelling was caused by an irritation of the kidneys, and I commenced treatment with him. But I seemed to be getting worse. I was strongly urged by a friend to try Doan's Kidney Pills, and I finally consented. After the first week I commenced to see a change, and felt much better. This was encouraging, and I continued their use. I took five boxes in all, with the happy result that I was completely cured. I have never heard of any medicine which had such a pronounced and radical effect, and yet not affect the system generally and leave it in such a good condition. I feel better now than I ever did. After the effect was once established the swelling gradually disappeared until it was entirely gone. I regard Doan's Kidney Pills as a most wonderful agent in the curing of any form of kidney disorder.

There are 26 monarchies and 25 republics in the civilized world today: 16 republics are in South America.

It's a Grand Success.

The fact has been demonstrated by the thousands of testimonials the Mayers Drug Company, of Oakland Md., has received since it has sent its famous Mayers Magnetic Catarrh Cure out to the sufferers of catarrh. No medicine has received such an endorsement from the people in so short a time as it did. The makers sell the medicine on business principles, and a patient is not required to buy the medicine by the dozen to get a cure. The Mayers' Magnetic Catarrh Cure sells for $1 per bottle, one bottle to last for a three months treatment. 3 bottles is the highest record ever required to complete a cure. General catarrh one bottle is guaranteed. No cure no pay.

This is an unequalled offer and if you are a sufferer from catarrh get a bottle from your druggist, if no benefit derived costs you nothing. A prominent R. R. conductor speaks:

CUMBERLAND, Md., April 29th, '94.
To the Mayers Drug Co.

Gentlemen: Yours to hand, in reply will say that I have the highest regard for your Catarrh Remedy, my trouble is in a chronic form and expect to use more than one bottle. I used one bottle which removed the trouble from the head in good shape and am on the second bottle for throat trouble, if I should succeed with the latter as I did in the former, I shall write you again in the near future. Hoping it will do for suffering humanity what it did for me, I remain Yours truly.

The classis as a body congratulated the Rev. Rederus on the success of his labors in this field and highly complimented the energy and presistance wich has brought about such substantial results. It is well to state here that the expense of this edifice of worship exceeds $2000 and the committee in charge were able to report all paid except $250, $75 of which was raised Wednesday. This is a remarkable showing, considering the times.

The public may also well congratulate Brother Rederus and his fellow laborers, and even themselves, on the outcome of this undertaking, for surely no enterprise ever undertaken in Britton speaks so much for the moral and intellectual advancement of the community as this. None was ever carried out more earnestly and successfully.

Regular services will be held here in the future at 10:30 in the morning.

Going into a decline. How often do we hear this expression. What does it mean? It means that people are losing flesh, growing thin, wasting. The way to correct this condition is to improve the digestion. The condition arises from an inability to eat and digest food. In fact food does more harm than good because it ferments and putrefies in the stomach, developing poisonous substances which when absorbed cause various disorders. What is required is that the stomach be made to perform its duties. The Shaker digestive Cordial is a food already digested and a digester of foods as well. It will make the stomach healthy. Confusion as to the choice of a blood purifier is unnecessary. There is but one best Sarsaparilla, and that is Ayer's. This important fact was recognized at the World's Fair, Chicago, 1893, being the only blood purifier admitted to be placed on exhibition. 1w

HEART DISEASE, like many other ailments when they have taken hold of the system, never gets better of its own accord, but Constantly grows worse. There are thousands who know they have a defective heart, but will not admit the fact. They don't want their friends to worry, and Don't know what to take for it, as they have been told time and again that heart disease was incurable. Such was the case of Mr. Silas Farley of Dyesville, Ohio who writes June 19, 1894, as follows:

"I had heart disease for 23 years, my heart hurting me almost continually. The first 15 years I doctored all the time, trying several physicians and remedies, until my last doctor told me it was only a question of time as I could not be cured. I gradually grew worse, very weak, and completely discouraged, until I lived, propped half up in bed, because I couldn't lie down nor sit up. Thinking my time had come I told my family what I wanted done when I was gone. But on the first day of March on the recommendation of Mrs. Fannie Jones, of Anderson, Ind., I commenced taking Dr. Miles' New Cure for the Heart and wonderful to tell, in ten days I was working at light work and on March 19 commenced framing a barn, which is heavy work, and I hav'nt lost a day since. I am 56 years old, 6 ft. 4½ inches and weigh 250lbs. I believe I am fully cured, and I am now only anxious that everyone shall know of your wonderful remedies."

REUNION OF BATTERY G.

Yesterday was a military day as well as a church day in Tecumseh. But, luckily for our citizens, the boys of blue had long since buried the hatchet and came in peace. The occasion was the reunion of Battery G., Michigan light artillery, and the comrades of that battery were the guests of our townsman, Geo. S. VanTyne. George is the only member of the battery who lives in Tecumseh. The visitors had all arrived yesterday by noon, and were taken to the home of their comrade for dinner. In the afternoon was held their business meeting at the Armory. After the usual routine of the meeting was over, Henry C. Conklin was chosen an honorary member of the battery, as a mark of respect to the memory of his brother, Lieut. Alanson Conklin, who died at Young's Point, La., at the age of 37, while in active service. H. J. Sweet was also made an honorary member as he served in a Pensylvania battery during the war. It might be said that Hudson Conklin is already enrolled as an honorary member. After the meeting the members proceeded to our cemetry and decorated the grave of their departed officer and comrade, Lieut. Conklin. The members of this battery are widely scattered and their fallen brothers lie in many fields, and it is a beautiful custom of theirs to always meet, if possible, where they may honor their dead as well as greet their living comrades. The next meeting of the battery will be held at Quincy, Mich., the second Thursday in October of next year. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Pres., Julius Goodrich; Vice Pres., Wm. Thurbur; 2nd Vice Pres., Somers Leeland; 3rd Vice Pres., Monroe Barney; Sec., E. Lewis; Treas., Wm. Hurst.

In the evening the battery turned their guns on the banquet, which their host had prepared at the Armory for their entertainment, and they captured the whole outfit. The Armory was tastily decorated with the colors so familiar to the soldier's vision, and there were many things on the table beside hard tack and black coffee. A G. A. R. likes to eat pretty well, but they never forget the "flow of soul," and after the banquet a genuine camp fire was indulged in which all admitted was the most enjoyable feature of the occasion. The evening was shared by many of the members of the G. A. R. post and of the W. R. C. An address of welcome was given by Mrs. Geo. VanTyne, and remarks were made in the spirit of the occasion by J. W. Wightman, J. D. Shull, Rev. Hudson, Capt. Lewis, of Coldwater, Lieut. Garvin, of Cleveland, Henry Conklin, Wm. DeMott, A. W. Slayton, H. J. Sweet, H. W. Stevens and others.

The members present were: T. F. Garvin, S. M. Closson, J. Goodrich, E. E. Lewis, Sidney Palmer, W. H. Palmer H. G. Irving, C. H. Baker, Geo. VanTyne and Julius Goodrich. The number of this company who can now come together at roll call is comparatively small, but the interest and feeling of good comradeship which was engendered in the days of '61 will never grow less among the boys of Battery G. All voted this one of the most pleasant reunions ever held, and comrade VanTyne a most royal entertainer.

St. Peter's Church Anniversary.

Yesterday, Oct. 10th, will be long remembered by the members and friends of St. Peter's Episcopal church and parish. The anniversary services of the laying the corner stone of the church which occurred Oct. 10, 1833, (61 years ago) were of an interesting character, and were largely attended. At 10:30 a. m. the Holy Eucharist was celebrated by the Rector, assisted by Rev. C. H. Channer of Christ's church, Adrian, the Rev. J. McCarroll of Grace church, Detroit, being unable to be present as expected. Mr. Channer was the preacher and gave a strong sermon from these words, "Glorious Things of Thee are Spoken—Zion—City of Our God."

The reception to the members of the congregation and those of our citizens who were living here at the time of laying the corner stone, was held at the spacious residence of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Lee on E. Chicago street from 4 to 6. It was an unqualified success in every particular. It is doubtful if ever there has been so many old people together here who have passed the three score years and ten as were present at the reception. It was fully seven o'clock before all had partaken of the elegant refreshments served by the ladies of St. Peter's church.

Soon after seven the evening service began, and after evening prayer had been said Rev. W. R. Blachford presented a concise but complete and beautiful history of St. Peter's church and the work done by her godly and faithful Priests and her self-sacrificing wardens and laymen, after which the Rev. McCarroll, who reached here at 6 o'clock, delivered to the large congregation, a powerful sermon, in an eloquent and impressive manner, from these words taken from the parables, "How much owest thou?"

After the benediction was pronounced a short time was spent in friendly greetings, and then came the farewells. Among those from away who were present are Mrs. N. G. King, Mrs. A. J. Williamson and W. S. Culver and wife, Brooklyn; Mrs. Alonzo Clark, Mrs. Laura Tuttle, Mrs. Ella Rose and daughter Blanche, of Clinton; Rev. C. H. Channer, wife and two sons of Adrian; Mrs. Jos Pritchard, widow of a former Rector, of Ludington; Gen. James E. Pittman and David Galatian, of Detroit, the latter of whom was present and assisted in laying the corner stone 62 years ago. The exercises were attended with deep interest throughout and will long be cherished in remembrance by those who participated. The historical sketch by Rev. Blachford will be given to our readers next week.

Wife—Tom could you let me have—

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

HER PREROGATIVE.

Scene, a conservatory. Enter Miss Dorothy Stainton and George Railton.

Dorothy—Ah! this is better; anything rather than that frightful crush. Now we can have a nice friendly chat.

George—About the approaching event?

Dorothy—Why did you speak of that?

George—I don't know. Scarcely because it is the pleasantest topic I can think of.

George—Yes, I suppose we will keep up some form of acquaintanceship.

Dorothy—Friends, you promised, not acquaintances.

George—Synonymous terms in this world of ours. One thing, however, I will undertake to say. Our friendship, be it what it may, will be quite sincere enough to please Lord Eastonville.

A pause.

Dorothy—How changeable the weather is!

George—The weather versus your marriage.

Dorothy—George, you are simply horrid tonight.

George—Strange, is it not, with everything conducing to my happiness?

Dorothy—I wish you wouldn't talk in that way. You make me miserable.

George—No; one does change. But, you see, it is a failing common to humanity. Some natures change, some hearts.

Dorothy—George!

George—I was only generalizing. (She rises to leave. He catches her hand.) Don't go, Dor! I suppose I may call you by the old name until after the ceremony? I admit I am changed.

Dorothy—And not for the better, I fear. (Shaking her head.) Why cannot you be natural—your old self?

George—My old self? Ah! that being is dead.

Dorothy—Asleep, not dead. If it died, you would lose all that makes life worth living.

George—I have lost all, except one thing—a woman's heart.

Dorothy—What do you mean?

George—Once upon a time there lived a beauteous maiden who loved and was loved by a poor man. They plighted their troth, and he traveled into a far country determined to amass wealth wherewith to gain her parents' consent to their marriage. When he had departed a lordling rode that way, not a handsome knight, but one who bore an ancient name and of gold had much store. He sued for and won this fair maiden's hand, but my story does not end as fairy tales should. They did not live happily ever afterward, for you see, though the lordling won her hand, the poor man still held her heart.

George—I suppose not. (Rising.) Come, there is the music; one more waltz; let us dance out of each other's existence!

Dorothy—George, have some pity! If you only knew how I fought against it, but mother is on his side, and that means more than I can say.

George—You have told him about—about me?

Dorothy—Yes; he can, at least, never say that I deceived him. Oh, how I hate it all!

George—Yet this is only your probation. In 48 hours you will be joined to this man for better or worse, until death—

Dorothy—Don't torture me. What can I do?

George—Throw him over.

Dorothy—I have given my word.

George—Change your mind; it's a woman's prerogative.

Dorothy—I haven't strength. You don't know my mother. Position is everything in her eyes, and I dare not defy her.

George—Elope with me.

George—Why not? I am not poor now. We will be married by special license, then cross over to France. It will be a nine days' wonder, but that will die down, and we can live quietly abroad.

Dorothy—I must not listen to you.

George—Stay, remember you hold the happiness of three lives in your hand—yours, his and mine. All three will be wrecked if this marriage is allowed to proceed.

Dorothy—If I were a man, I might do it, but I am only a weak woman. Oh, don't tempt me.

George—Meet me tomorrow at 2 o'clock just within the Green Park gates at Hyde park corner.

Dorothy—It is useless. I dare not.

George—In 48 hours it will be too late. Then it will be "cannot" instead of "dare not."

Dorothy—Yes, but—

George—There is no time to argue—some one is coming. Promise you will be there.

Dorothy—No, I must not promise. I will not go.

George—You will change your mind.

Dorothy—No, no.

George—You will (looking at his watch). Twenty minutes past 11. I shall wait here until 12 o'clock for your answer.

(Enter Lord Eastonville.)

Lord Eastonville—Oh, you are here, Dorothy. I've been looking all over for you. How do, Railton? Beastly crowd, isn't it? I've just been dancing a waltz. Makes a fellow beastly hot, doesn't it?

George (abstractedly)—Eh? I beg your pardon. Oh, yes, beastly.

Lord Eastonville—Come along, Dollie, I'll take you down to supper. That's done well. Beastly good job they do something well. Ta, ta, Railton.

(Exeunt Lord Eastonville and Miss Stainton. Half an hour later enter Lord Eastonville.)

Lord Eastonville—Hello, Railton, still here? Miss Stainton has lost a glove. Says she thinks she dropped it here. And, oh! by the way, she sent a message to you. And a silly enough message it is. She said I had to tell you that she had decided to exercise a woman's prerogative.—Exchange.

Somber Thoughts.

Somber thoughts and fancies often require little real soil or substance to flourish in. They are the dark pine trees which take root in and frown over the rifts of the scathed and petrified heart and are chiefly nourished by the rain of unavailing tears and the vapor of fancy.—J. F. Boyes.

The office force is indebted to Arnold's bakery for a sample of hot fried cakes. As a result of being well fed, we go to press earlier than for several weeks.

C. D. Keyes drove to Britton at five o'clock last evening to meet Rev. Dr. McCarroll, who came in on the Wabash, and then took him back there to catch the late train home.

Work commenced Wednesday at Addison on grading the extension of the C. J. & M. railway from Addison to Jackson. By next week 200 men and 60 teams will be at work.

David Galatian, of Detroit, who was here yesterday to attend the St. Peter's Church Anniversary, is remaining here a day or two to review old scenes, and will return home tomorrow.

OBITUARY.

MISS HATTIE WOODWARD.

Was born in Vienna, Oneida Co., N. Y., June 6th, 1839, died in Tecumseh, Mich., Sept. 27th, 1895. She came to Tecumseh with her parents in 1858, and soon after was converted and joined the M. E. church and remained for 30 years a faithful member of the church of her choice. Although for many years afflicted with deafness, she was a constant attendant on the public services of the church. Her example in this respect was a glorious testimony to the preciousness of the public worship of God, for she came not to hear, but to worship. After the sad accident which proved to be fatal, she did not recover her consciousness; she could not therefore leave any last words, but she did leave to all who knew her, the better testimony of a beautiful christian life, retaining to the last a cheerful submission to the divine will. She passed unconciously from this world to the wider, larger life beyond. One sister, Mrs. Louisa Totten, and three brothers, V. Y., A. J. and T. J. Woodard survive to mourn the breaking again of their family circle, caused by her sad death. The memory of the beloved ones gone on before, who died in the christian's faith, will be a constant call to those surviving to meet them in Heaven.

Rev. E. C. Andrus, Miss Loana Stacy and S. C. Stacy went to Grand Rapids Monday to attend the Universalist State Convention.

Mrs. Abbie Fisher returned home yesterday from a visit with Prof. I. D. Loree at Lawrence. She stopped a day or two at Battle Creek on the return.

C. E. Williamson is attending the sessions of the Grand Lodge, I. O. O. F. at Lansing this week. Our townsman is chairman of the finance committee.

The spare table in the HERALD office is now ornamented with a big beet which weighs only eighteen pounds. It was raised on Sam Boyce's place in Clinton.

Mr. Willis Hall, who has been visiting friends in town, favored the HERALD with a call last Saturday. He is now foreman of the Lake Shore round house at Chicago.

LaVerne Wheeler has sent us more copies of the San Antonio Daily News. We mistrust that the Tabitha Trott articles are from his pen. They furnish good reading too.

The Synod of Michigan is holding its 61st annual session in Adrian this week. Rev. C. M. Brown, of Tecumseh, is in attendance. It is a very large and important gathering.

Alva Spayde, Henry Sweet, Henry Wagner and J. W. Mendell drove to Delta, O., Sunday, to visit Geo. VanTyne who is running a clothing store there. George returned with them.

Mrs. Kellogg and Mrs. Selfridge, who have been visiting in Jackson and Chicago for the past month, returned Wednesday. They will spend the winter here with their brother, B. L. Baxter.

H. E. Fink will give one of his popular lectures at the opera house, on Thursday evening of next week, Oct. 17. Mr. Fink will at this time treat another feature of the great social problem, his subject being the "Destructive Elements of Fashion." Admission 25 cents.

While Wm. Kyle was raising the new sheet-iron smoke stack at the electric light works yesterday, a guy chain broke as the cylinder was almost erected. As the stack is 50 ft. long by 32 in. in diameter, it came down with considerable force, parting the rivets at several joints.

Mr. Wm. Bass, a brother of Mrs. C. C. Tefft, died last week at his home in Lawrence, Van Buren county. Dr. Tefft attended the funeral which was held last Sunday. The deceased read law in Stacy & Wood's office away back in the fifties and many of our older residents will remember him.

Frank Bryan and Gurdon Garlinghouse returned Tuesday from a ten day's trip around the lakes on the steamer Marquette, as the guest of Capt. Chilson. They started from Toledo, went thro' the Straits to Escanaba and Cheboygan, thence to Detroit. They saw some rough weather Monday, but live to tell of it.

The Fayette Normal University gives you your choice of two excellent systems of shorthand; the Ben Pitman or the New Rapid. One, the best of the old systems and the other, the best of the new. We do not turn out second-rate stenographers, for the business world has no need for them. Merit a good position and you will get it.

Miss Mabel Hayden departed for Austin, Texas, Wednesday, taking the early Wabash train at Adrian. Miss Hayden has a large private class on the violin and voice culture at the capital of the Lone Star State, and has already won a high position in the musical circles of that city. Miss Emma Bailey accompanies her as pupil.

HESPERIA, Oceana Co. Mich. Oct. 4, '95.
D. C. Andrews & Co:—A friend of mine brought home from the State Fair a sample package of LaBesta, or washing powder, which I have tried and found it the best thing that I have used for washing clothes, so have concluded to write to you for your terms to agents, or the price of the goods.
Yours respectfully,
MRS. OLIVE McGILL.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Higly were guests of Miss Ollie Beal last Sunday.

Mr. James McGrath, of Detroit, late of Edinburg and Liverpool, has been engaged by J. S. Starling to take charge of the ladies' tailoring department to be established by him.

The Y. P. C. U. of the Universalist Church will hold their first regular business meeting for the month of October, Monday evening next, October 14th, at 7 o'clock. A full attendance is desired.

The experience social at the G. A. R. hall, was given last Monday evening in the presence of many citizens. Roll call of members was answered by those present of the W. R. C. Many being absent, the funds were not replenished as had been hoped for.

The North American Review for October contains a highly important contribution on the "Future of the Arid West," by the Hon. Edmund G. Ross, Ex-Governor of New Mexico, who deals with this topic in a thoroughly comprehensive and scientific manner.

Ex-Gov. James M. Ashley contributes a timely paper to the October Arena entitled "Should the Supreme Court be Re-organized?" Many recent decisions handed down from that body have created much discussion along this line, and Gov. Ashley's paper will be read with great interest.

You can earn $5 each day "giving" our absolutely indispensible household article away. New plan of work, making experience unnecessary and success certain for either sex in any section. Sample dozen free. Credit given and freight paid. Address, Melrose M'f'g. Co., 25 Melrose Park, Ill. 4t

The brilliant, logical and incisive writer, Helen H. Gardner, contributes her third paper on the history of the recent legislative Battle for Sound Morality in the October Arena. These contributions are of special value to all persons interested in protecting girlhood, and raising the standard of morality.

Rudolf VonScarpa, who arrived in America but a short time ago from Vienna, at once established himself in the good graces of his auditors by the finished rendition of his solos, which were warmly applauded. He is a genuine pianist; and one who will compare favorably with d'Albert.—The Empire, Toronto, Canada.

"The Atlanta Exposition," by the Hon. W. Y. Atkinson, Governor of Georgia, forms the opening article of the October number of the North American Review. The Governor is very eloquent upon the subject of the Great Cotton States and International Exposition, claiming for it a superiority to Chicago's World's Fair.

Maud Powell is undoubtedly America's greatest female violinist. She played Wieniawski's "Russian Airs" with a degree of excellence seldom equalled. Miss Powell has fully mastered the violinist's bane—the harmonics—and her rendering of the variations in harmonics vividly recalled Wieniawski's playing of the same.—Philadelphia Press.

Mrs. Bishop, the Chicago soprano, really carried off the honors of the evening. Her voice is clear, well-trained, and strong, and possesses a remarkable range. In her singing she grasps the feeling of the selection, be it pathetic or dramatic, and imparts it in such a pleasing manner as to captivate the audience. Her work in two selections in the first part of the program and in "Christophorus" cannot be praised too highly, and during the evening she frequently received enthusiastic applause.—Detroit Free Press.

We, the undersigned firms, agree to close our places of business at 8 o'clock p. m., commencing Monday, Oct. 28th, 1895, and continuing till March 15th, 1896, excepting Saturday nights, the night preceding Thanksgiving, and from Dec. 16th to Jan. 1st.:

While boring a well on the farm of Hon. M. T. Cole, of Palmyra, on Thursday, the drillers struck a good sized pocket of gas at a depth of 116 feet, which threw the mud and water fifteen or twenty feet high. The workmen kept on drilling, saying nothing to Mr. Cole, who visited the well at the close of the day's work and was surprised to hear a gurgling sound issuing therefrom. He held his hand over the well and gas was coming up with such force he couldn't keep it there. He applied a match to see if it was gas, and the blaze loomed up several feet. There is probably no value to the well as a gasser, but the indications are such that people in the eastern part of the county, where a number of these pockets have been struck, are not going to be satisfied until that territory is thoroughly tested. Already upwards of 1,000 acres of farm land have been leased in Ogden by Toledo parties and a test well is to go down in the near future. There seems to be good foundation for believing that at least the southeastern section of old Lenawee is underlaid with rich deposits of gas or oil or both.—Adrian Telegram.

Announcement is made that the contract for the Jackson & Cincinnati railroad, the C. J. & M. extension, has been let to Geo. M. Huss, of Chicago. The physical condition of the new line when complete, will be good enough for a trunk line business. It is to have gravel ballast and heavy stone abutments for all its bridges. No expense will be spared in grading to make one of the best pieces of road in Mich. Sixty pound steel rails will be laid. The C. J. & M. is also reported to be quietly improving the condition of its old lines. Two steam shovels and a large force of men are at work replacing its old bridges with new ones of the most substantial character. Work is progressing rapidly on the new shops at Van Wert. By the first of January the machine and blacksmith shops will be completed.

—MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY.—
Do you wish to wear clothes that'll suit?
Then go to the tailor of great repute.
Starling is the man the public admit.
That can't be beat for style and fit.
He is not talking or making a blow
Of workmanship the best and prices so low,
But if you step in to inquire you'll find
That for the best work at low prices he isn't behind.
His experience has been such as to place him front rank.
And he will please you all, whether jovial or crank,
But please bear in mind and do not be misled,
In guaranteeing a fit he means the body and not the head.
In short, he admires honest opposition,
At the same time defying fair competition.
Will he move or budge from this position.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.
Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.
Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

SENTENCED FOR ARSON.

Prison Walls for a Man Who Has Been the Terror of Unadilla for Years.

ANN ARBOR, Oct. 6.—Cuyler J. Barton, the Unadilla terror, was sentenced Monday morning to five years in state prison at Jackson for the crime of arson. This disposes for a short period of a man who for ten years has kept the people of two counties terrorized. Incendiary fires, entailing a loss of over $100,000, have broken out in that time within a radius of 10 miles from the little town of Unadilla, 9 miles from this city. Three years ago a local detective traced the burning of a $4,000 barn in Lindon to Farmer Barton. Barton fled to Chicago, where he was arrested and brought back. He had some money and was released on bail and for over two years the case has slowly dragged along. Finally Barton's nephew confessed to the methods followed and brought forward a sort of infernal machine consisting of a series of candles which set fire slowly to each other and finally exploded a bottle of inflammable stuff, the whole enabling the perpetrator to escape to a safe distance. Confronted with this, Barton broke down and confessed to burning two barns and a large grist mill within the last few years. More developments are expected in this, the most sensational case the county has had for years.

MACHINE SHOP A NUISANCE.

Located in the Residence Portion of Port Huron and Must Be Removed.

PORT HURON, Oct. 9.—In the spring of 1892 J. H. and T. J. Fitzgerald and D. H. Runnells established on the St. Clair river one of the most extensive and complete machine shops on the lakes. The shops were located in the residence portion of the city, adjacent to some of the most beautiful homes in Port Huron, and the owners of the latter complained that the smoke, dirt, odor and noise from the shops and the boats stopping there constituted a nuisance which should be suppressed. The court below enjoined the shops and the supreme court in passing on the injunction says that residents are supposed to be protected from such annoyances as smoke, soot, etc., and manufactories must seek locations in which discomfort will be brought to the least number.

GEN. POE DEAD.

Famous Engineer Passes Away at His Home in Detroit.

DETROIT, Oct. 3.—Gen. O. M. Poe, the well-known United States engineer, died suddenly at his residence in this city Wednesday morning. He had been ill for several days, but the serious nature of his condition had not been announced. Gen. Poe rendered valuable service to the marine interests on the lakes. Some of the most important light stations, including the famous Stannard Rock Light, have been designed and constructed by him. He also constructed the new and famous lock at the Soo. He had general charge of all river and harbor improvements, and was regarded throughout the country as a very able engineer.

SNOW FALLS IN MICHIGAN.

Reports from Different Parts of the State Show It to Be Quite General.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 9.—Reports from all over the state show that there has been a geneaal snowfall the last twenty-four hours. Snow fell during the night at Soo Junction in Alger county, and Tuesday Holland had snow, with the mercury at 4½ degrees above zero. Niles caught a slight snowfall, the ground at Schoolcraft was covered and St. Joseph had some with the thermometer close to the freezing point.

BUSINESS MEN IN PULPITS.

Jackson Baptists Making Preachers Unnecessary.

JACKSON, Oct. 9.—The business men of Jackson will attempt a novelty in evangelical work. Twelve of them have agreed to occupy the pulpit of the Free Will Baptist church, one each Sunday evening during the next three months. They will preach on a variety of subjects. Among the prominent speakers are James O'Donnell, Warden Chamberlain, Prof. McCullough, Prof. Wesley Sears, Mayor A. J. Weatherwax, T. A. Barkworth.

Death of Capt. Edward Haff.

MONROE, Oct. 9.—Capt. Edward L. Haff, one of Monroe's oldest residents, died Tuesday morning, aged 89. He was a conductor, on the Michigan Southern railway in the days of the old strap rail, and was once a prominent lake captain. He also commanded the steamer Lookout, transporting United States troops at Chattanooga under Gen. Thomas during the war of the rebellion. He returned to the service of the L. S. & M. S. railway, where he continued until seven years ago, when he was retired upon a pension.

Ruins the Corn.

NIRVANA, Oct. 5.—A worm similar to the striped one that infests apple trees is ruining fields of corn. The worm begins at the top of the ear, and works down, leaving a filthy road. Owing to the heavy frost and the worms, many acres will not be cut at all.

Deed of a Jealous Man.

HOUGHTON, Oct. 8.—William Smith, 60 years old, one of the oldest citizens of Cooper Harbor, shot his wife and then blew out his own brains with a revolver. He died instantly. The woman is still alive, but will die. Jealousy was the cause.

Fish Killed by the Storm.

ST. JOSEPH, Oct. 5.—Fishermen who lifted their nets, which had been set in the lake during the recent storm, state that the fish were dead, and in some instances already putrid when taken out. Hundreds of pounds were thrown away.

Trees Forced to Blossom.

COLOMA, Oct. 3.—Many orchard trees in North Coloma have been forced into blossom by the heat from the forest fires that have been burning in that vicinity during the past few weeks.

NO REGISTRATION REQUIRED.

Attorney General Maynard Has Some Views on Ballots.

GRAND RAPIDS, Oct. 8.—In an opinion rendered Monday Attorney General Maynard holds that no general registration of voters is necessary in this state prior to the presidential election in 1896. The inquiry came from Kalamazoo, where a special election will be held in November. Mr. Maynard thinks it was a mistake, in view of the constitutional amendment restricting the franchise to actual citizens, not to require general registration, but the legislature did not so enact.

Mrs. Loomis Succeeds Hopkins.

ANN ARBOR, Oct. 5.—The regents have appointed Mrs. Mary W. Loomis, of Cherokee, Ia., first assistant librarian at the University of Michigan, vice A. H. Hopkins, who goes to Chicago as assistant librarian at the Crerar library. Mrs. Loomis comes from successful work of the same kind at Albany, N. Y. The women of the university are jubilant over the appointment of a woman.

Hill to Lecture at Ann Arbor.

ANN ARBOR, Oct. 7.—The students' lecture course opens October 25 with a nonpolitical lecture by Senator David B. Hill. There have also been engaged for the course ex-Secretary of State John W. Foster, Rev. T. De Witt Talmage, Henry Watterson and Theodore Roosevelt.

Trust Mortgage Filed.

KALKASKA, Oct. 9.—The Smith Lumber company of this place has given a trust mortgage covering all its real estate and personal property which includes 6,000,000 feet of lumber. The indebtedness of the company is $40,000, while the assets are estimated at $100,000.

Timbermen and Trammers Strike.

IRONWOOD, Mich., Oct. 9.—The timbermen and trammers at the Norrie mine went on strike for higher wages Tuesday and the mines are closed. Only about 250 are directly involved, but the miners are unable to work without them.

Must Label the Liquor.

LANSING, Oct. 5.—Food Commissioner Storrs says that all packages containing liquor must be labeled "pure and without drugs and poison," according to the new food regulations. A fine of $50 or six months' imprisonment is the penalty.

Burned to Death in a Bonfire.

NILES, Mich., Oct. 7.—While burning straw John Andrews, a wealthy farmer living six miles west of this city, inhaled smoke and fell into the blazing pile, where he slowly burned to death.

LOTTERY TICKETS SEIZED.

DETROIT, Oct. 8.—[illegible] of lottery tickets sent [illegible] here by over a half [illegible] lottery companies were seized [illegible] United States officers Monday. The tickets were in the possession of the American Express company, which informed the government officers. In each package was a private note to the agent marked "Prize Ticket," and inside was the cheerful information: "Please sell this ticket to a prominent business man who will not object to have us use his name as the winner of a prize." The tickets seized are in the following lottery companies:
Montana Mining & Loan association, Kansas State Lottery company, Little Louisiana Lottery company, Louisiana State Lottery company, Louisiana Tuxilla Lottery company, Louisiana Graw company, Santo Domingo Chance association, Montana Loan & Iron company, Hondur a National Lottery and the Louisiana Grand Lottery company.

DATE FOR MILLENNIUM.

"Saints of God" Say the World Will Come to an End in 1941.

GRAND JUNCTION, Oct. 9.—The "Saints of God" from all parts of the state congregated here in great numbers Tuesday, and packed the big pavilion to listen to an address by D. S. Wamar, editor of the Gospel Trumpet, on "Prophecy and Revelation." Mr. Wamar diagramed his sermon on the blackboard, and pictured out to the followers that the year 1896 would ring in a new epoch in the church and lead on to the millennium. He traced in his own way year by year the epochs which he said would mark the end of the world, and declared that in 1941 time would be no more and the world would be wiped out. The followers of the church seemed to take his sermon as Gospel truth and declare that the prophecy will be fulfilled.

FIVE WOMEN INJURED.

Thrown from Their Vehicle by Runaway Horses Near Shepard.

SHEPARD, Oct. 5.—Five women were badly injured in a runaway accident near this place Friday afternoon and one of them, Mrs. Drake, may not recover. The injured are:
Mrs. H. C. Bigelow, ankle dislocated.
Mrs. William Drake, injured internally; likely to die.
Mrs. John Dough, right leg broken at thigh.
Mrs. E. A. Furlong, left arm broken.
Mrs. Fred Knapp, right leg broken at ankle.
There were eight women in the vehicle, and they were on their way to a neighboring village. As they started down a steep hill, the pole of the buggy dropped and the horses became frightened and ran. At the foot of the hill the buggy was overturned and all the occupants thrown out in a heap. The three women who escaped injury went for help, and the injured were taken to a farmhouse.

SHE IS INNOCENT.

Ira Burpee Says His Foster-Mother Did Not Scald His Feet.

OWOSSO, Oct. 8.—Ira Burpee, the New Lothrop lad who lost both his feet two years ago and caused his foster-mother, Ursula Burpee, to be arrested and tried for scalding them, made an affidavit Monday morning to the effect that the story he told on the stand was one manufactured by the neighbors for the purpose of sending Mrs. Burpee to prison, and was without the slightest foundation. The story as told up to date by Ira is identical with that told by Mrs. Burpee at the trial. A peculiar feature of the case, however, is the fact that the boy never departed from his first version of the affair until he returned to live with Mrs. Burpee a week ago.

CLAIMED BY THE STATE.

St. Clair Flats Belong to Michigan, According to the Attorney General.

PORT HURON, Oct. 4.—The St. Clair flats summer resorters, who hold their possession by permission of the federal government, will now have to defend their titles, for Attorney General Maynard has begun suit in behalf of the state to recover Harsen's and Stromne's islands. According to the state's claims, these lands were ceded to Michigan by the general government thirty years ago, in common with all other marsh and overflowed lands. The suits already begun are against the Lake St. Clair Fishing and Shooting club, David A. Whitney, Don M. Dickinson, John K. Randolph, Frank Guelett and Adolph Sloman.

Ypsilanti Firemen Set Free.

ANN ARBOR, Oct. 8.—The case against the Ypsilanti firemen, who were charged with causing fires so they might get pay for working on them, were dismissed Monday morning, Prosecuting Attorney Randall filing as his reason that the principal witness was of doubtful competency and that the evidence so far produced was insufficient for conviction.

Sent to Prison.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 7.—Norval A. Hawkins, who was convicted in the recorders court last spring of embezzling $4,000 from the Standard Oil company while acting as its cashier in this city, has been sentenced to three years' imprisonment at Jackson.

May Lose Her Sight.

BENTON HARBOR, Oct. 8.—The wife of Alderman Charles W. Shrever was run into by a horse and buggy Monday night while riding her bicycle, and was seriously injured internally by being trampled on by the horse. She wore glasses and both were broken in her eyes. The attending physicians say recovery is doubtful and that she will lose the sight of her eyes.

A Vacancy Filled.

LANSING, Oct. 4.—Gov. Rich has appointed Stearns F. Smith of Owosso, judge of the Seventeenth Michigan judicial district to succeed Luke S. Montague, deceased.

Killed by a Swing.

MENOMINEE, Oct. 3.—Charles Brunner, aged 13 years, was killed while swinging a companion. The seat of the swing struck him in the breast and he died in half an hour.

OVERWORK —INDUCED— Nervous Prostration

Complete Recovery by the Use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"Some years ago, as a result of too close attention to business, my health failed. I became weak, nervous, was unable to look after my interests, and manifested all the symptoms of a decline. I took three bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, began to improve at once, and gradually increased my weight from one hundred and twenty-five to one hundred pounds. Since then, I and my family have used this medicine when needed, and we are all in the best of health, a fact which we attribute to Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I believe my children would have been fatherless to-day had it not been for Ayer's Sarsaparilla, of which preparation I cannot say too much."—H. O. HYSON, Postmaster and Planter, Kinard's, S. C.

TRASK'S
Magnetic Ointment

Many a boy starts out in life with the firm determination of conquering the world. He means to achieve success and wealth and fame. His intentions are good, and his will is strong. If he has the bodily strength to carry him through, his efforts will be crowned with achievement. Bodily strength and health are his greatest capital. Without them he can hope for nothing. How many young men and young women are cut off just when the future seems brightest and fullest of promise! They are taken away by the disease which causes over one-sixth of all the deaths in the world—the disease which doctors call consumption. Consumption has been considered incurable, and the medical profession never made a greater mistake than this. There is absolutely no reason in the world why consumption should be fatal—why it should be even serious. It is a disease of the blood, and can be cured absolutely and always by purifying and enriching the blood. The only exception to this is the case where the disease has been neglected or improperly treated until it is stronger than the body—until the body has become so weak as to have lost the ability to recuperate. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will cure 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption if used according to directions. It also cures all lingering coughs, bronchial and throat affections. There is no reason why the child of consumptive parents need ever have consumption if its blood and lungs are strengthened by the proper use of the "Discovery." All who have any reason to fear consumption, should read the chapters on that disease in Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. This great medical work of 1008 pages, profusely illustrated, has reached a sale of over 680,000 copies. It will be sent free of charge on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only. Lesson For the Week Beginning Oct. 18. Comment by Rev. W. J. Yates, A. M. Topic, The Day of Pentecost.

SCRIPTURE READING.—Acts ii. 1-41.

Fifty days after the Passover feast came that of Pentecost, so called from the number of days intervening. It was also called the Feast of Weeks because kept seven weeks after the other. It continued but one day. It marked the wheat harvest and also probably commemorated the giving of the Law of Moses at Sinai. Most appropriately the Holy Spirit came in power to the New Testament church on this day and gave it deeper and new meaning, just as the Passover is replaced by Easter.

The place was Jerusalem. The city was filled with devout Jews and proselytes from all parts of the world. Many had lingered since the Passover. The followers of Jesus, after a short time spent in Galilee, had returned to Jerusalem, had witnessed the ascension and for ten days past since that event had been held together by expectation of some special manifestation of God's power according to the promise of Jesus at his ascension.

All the incidents of the outpouring of the Holy Spirit are deeply interesting and will repay careful reading from the Bible, however familiar one may suppose himself to be with them. The sound, the sight of lambent flame, the wonderful elevation of spirit in the hitherto timid ones, the marvelous power of speech which came upon them, all merit careful thought. Much has been written and spoken about the gift of tongues which appeared for the first time on this occasion. It is wonderful enough without being incumbered with absurdities unwarranted by the Scripture. It is well to note that the Holy Spirit came upon all of the disciples, about 120. These were Galileans. All began to praise God in a different language from their native dialect, some in one and some in another language, so that every variety of speech in use by the various nationalities gathered in the city at the feast was represented by some person. The utterances may have been some one of the Psalms so often used in worship. One of the Messianic hymns from the temple service or synagogue worship may have been sung by the company, who would refer it to Jesus as the Christ, and as they sung and the Spirit fell upon them each may in ecstasy have used words different from the other singers and unknown to himself before, but now fully expressing his devotion and understood by people from some faroff land, come to Jerusalem for the feast, who soon flocked together where the disciples were met and were astonished to hear in the chorus of sound Jehovah's praise spoken in their own language from Galileans who were acquainted with only their own dialect.

Ecstatic utterances of praise and devotion by all the company of disciples seem to have been the character of the "gift of tongues." That Peter's address was heard in any other than his own language does not appear.

The spiritual condition of the disciples appears to have been one of entire harmony in belief, unity in desire and determination, complete consecration and devotion to the cause of Jesus.

This is the important thing in the case. Fidelity to God and fellowship with his people is the lesson of Pentecost.

All at It, Always at It.

Vacations are over; the folks are at home again. The League should be at work. Every member should find a place in one or more departments. Every department should have its work well planned for the whole season ahead. It is easier to lay out the work systematically for three or six months in advance and make a long pull, a strong pull and a pull all together than to let affairs drift in a sort of haphazard manner. All should work in the spiritual department. Such as have adaptability for special work should in addition do service in temperance, relief, social and literary lines. It is not enough to be busy; we need to use all power and time to the best advantage for the Master.

Musical Talent.

Too largely the musical ability of our young people has been unemployed by the church. This is a gift which should be recognized and utilized by the League. A glee club is a good thing in a college or school; an orchestra is used in many social societies. Why not use all vocal and instrumental ability available in your local chapter? This will save many a young man and woman from the temptation of questionable company. Find out those who are now capable and organize them. Then seek out and add others whose talents are yet undeveloped. Use the orchestra in prayer meetings, Sunday school and regular church services as well as in the entertainments of the chapter.

That Lecture Course.

Every chapter would do well to consider the possibility of a lecture course during the autumn and winter. Let it not be a series of musical entertainments merely. Do not plan just to make some money, nor merely to have pleasant recreation. Let the prime object be to broaden knowledge and quicken devotion. Have some stereopticon evenings among the number. Study the missions of our own church. Take a trip to Palestine and Egypt. See something of our own land. Get the eyes wider open and let the heart beat quicker.

Revival.

One of the best seasons for a revival is—now. The glorious days of autumn ought not to pass without an awakening of zeal and devotion in the church and in the community. Is your chapter alive on this? Are you?

Our Conferences.

Our conferences now number 121. We have also seven mission conferences and 12 missions.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars; free.

STEARNS' EMPHATIC OPINION.

Brother Willard Stearns of the Adrian Press is nothing if not pugnacious. He is never quite happy unless kicking hard at something. He has for some years past been a member of the Lenawee county board of school examiners, and in the days "befoah de wah" he was county superintendent of schools.

Friend Stearns has semi-spasmodic spells or spasms in which he dips his pen in bile and attacks the examination questions and everybody that he thinks has anything to do with them. A recent issue of the Press has a little more than two columns of the first page devoted to a very readable and racy tirade of this sort. Some capital hits are made, but one thing in particular calls out attention to a tip-top story, which every one who knows the man will enjoy, and probably Editor Stearns as well as anybody.

In the article referred to Mr. Stearns expresses the opinion that the questions would better be made by each examining board as was once the style—and this leads to the story.

While Hon. D. A. Hammond, now member of the State Board of Education, was county secretary of schools for Lenawee county, he had the task of preparing questions, and he always had his friend Stearns print them. Mr. Stearns was always finding fault with the questions, and scoring Hammond for putting in or not putting in this kind of question or that, and referring with commendable pride to the sets he used to make when he was county superintendent. Mr. Hammond, very naturally, grew weary of this constant harassing and resolved to take sweet revenge.

One day when the irascible editor was fondly displaying his old questions and scoring all others, Brother Hammond, unknown to Stearns, dexterously purloined a set. These questions were carefully copied and when occasion came for another examination these Stearns' questions verbatim, et literatim, et punctuatim were handed to the publisher, Mr. Stearns, for printing.

When Mr. Hammond came for the printed questions to use at the examination, he was met by the cheering remark from Mr. Stearns, the innocent father of the list: "Say, Hammond, I thought I had prodded you enough on the kind of questions you get up so that there would be some improvement, but this last list is the biggest damn fool lot of questions you ever sent in."

Then Mr. Hammond told him whose they were, and Mr. Stearns just grinned that sardonic grin of his, and rubbed his stumpy beard, and turned his attention to the latest political quarrel.

Now in view of this maturer criticism on his own questions, the Superintendent of Public Instruction can quite serenely read the mild assaults of Brother Stearns on the questions of today.—Michigan Moderator.

A WAR REMINISCENCE.

Scenes at Hatcher's Creek and Petersburg Recalled.

John B. Scace Speaks to a Reporter of Stirring Scenes—Escaped with a Slight Wound, but, Like Other Veterans, Has Suffered Since—A Story that Reads Like a Page from History.

From the Albany, N. Y., Journal.

When one encounters in print the life story of some scarred veteran of the civil war a feeling of admiration and sympathy is the certain result. Accustomed though we are to tales of heroism and suffering in everyday life, there is something peculiarly attractive about these old war records, serving, as they do, as a sacred passport to the heart of every true American. Thousands found their rest on the field of carnage or in the hospital, but their comrades, when the struggle was over and the victory won, returned to their homes and began anew the battle of life.

John B. Scace, the widely known contractor and building mover of Albany, N. Y., has had an unusually interesting life, and when seen by a reporter recently at his home, No. 15 Bradford Street, told of his many experiences and adventures while serving under the old flag in the late war. Although having endured all the hardships and privations of life in the ranks, Mr. Scace bears his more than half century of years with an elastic step and a keen mind, taking an active interest in private and public affairs.

While still a boy, his family moved from Albany, his birthplace, to Pittsfield, Mass., and here he was educated. He mastered the carpenter's trade, became a member of Berkshire Lodge, No. 52, I. O. O. F., and was entering upon a successful business life when came the call from Washington for men. All over the country the word sped, and excitement ran high. All the old-time patriotism that had made Massachusetts famous in Revolutionary days was fired to its utmost. Every town and village sent out its squad or company.

The company in which Mr. Scace enlisted in September of 1862, as a private, became Company A, Forty-ninth Regiment, Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry. Under the common impression that the war would be one of but short duration, the men were enlisted for nine months only. Scarcely were they uniformed and armed before they were ordered to the front. The regiment, which at the time was under the command of Col. W. F. Bartlett, served in the First Brigade, First Division, Nineteenth Corps, and participated in some of the hottest battles of the great rebellion.

Mr. Scace, at the time, was but twenty-two years of age, and he remembers well with what a beating heart he first fell in line. His regiment was ordered South, directly through the enemy's country, with Baton Rouge as the objective point. After several months of weary marches, during which Company A passed through several lively scrimmages with the enemy constantly hovering about the flanks and rear, the capital city of Louisiana was reached. An evacuation followed. Citizens and the rebel soldiery stationed in the city fled like frightened sheep, bearing with them what goods they could carry and setting torch to the rest. The beautiful capitol building, which had been converted into a war prison, had also been fired, and the boys in blue swarmed in, just in time to save their captive comrades from perishing in the flames. Mr. Scace, who had been, while en route, promoted to corporal, was in the thickest of the melee, and describes the scenes in a graphic manner. Although the city had fallen almost without a blow given or received, a fight was not far off, for word was received that a large force of the enemy was fast approaching.

A bloody battle ensued at Plain Store, a few days' march out of the capital, in which Corporal Scace was severely wounded. A minnie ball struck his left thigh and, grazing the bone, narrowly missed the great artery. He was retired to the camp at Baton Rouge, but recuperated so rapidly that he entered, soon after, again into active service. The battles of Port Hudson and Donaldsonville followed, with all their thrilling episodes.

It was not long after this that, by reason of the expiration of his term of enlistment, he was honorably discharged. His respite was not a long one, however, for he soon afterward re-enlisted, to serve for the remainder of the war. For meritorious action he had been raised to the sergeant's stripes, and as such served in Company A Sixty-first Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry, under Col. Charles F. Walcott. During the term of his re-enlistment Sergeant Scace participated in some of the hottest struggles of the war. Many a gray-haired veteran to-day recalls the scenes of Hatcher's Run, the fall of Petersburg and the battle of Sailor's Creek.

After his honorable discharge, June 4, 1865, Mr. Scace returned to Albany and settled down once again to his business and social interests. He has resided in the city ever since. It would seem that now, of all times, his peace and happiness would have been uninterrupted. Such was not to be the case, for four years ago, while engaged in superintending the raising of the immense smokestack of the Albany Electric power house, the lever of a loosened windlass struck him a heavy blow across the back. The effect of the blow was not at first apparent, he being able to leave his bed in a few days. But the worst was to follow, for without warning he was seized with sciatic rheumatism in all its virulence. Untold agony followed.

Said Mr. Scace "I could not sleep for the pain. No one will know the tortures the rheumatism gave me. I don't know how I lived during those days. I became little more than skin and bones, and it seemed like life didn't have anything but suffering in it. Cures? I tried every so-called rheumatic cure that was ever invented. I gave all of them a good trial before I stopped taking them. My friends and neighbors recommended remedy after remedy that they heard of, but my rheumatism went on just the same. Well, after I had almost had the life tortured out of me, I came across a newspaper account of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I thought I might as well add another name to the list as not, so I ordered some of my druggist.

"I tell you, I was glad in those days to hear of anything that could give me any hope at all. Yes, I got them, and before I had taken two boxes that pain began to leave me. Why, I couldn't understand it. I couldn't imagine myself being cured. But before I had taken a half-dozen of those boxes I was cured. The suffering which had made my life almost unbearable for so long had disappeared. I was a new man.

"I began to get strong. I picked up in flesh, and I went back to my business with all the vigor and vim of a young man. I think everyone who knows me will tell you what it did for me. Pink Pills is the grandest medicine ever discovered, and if my recommendation will do it any good I want you to use it. I hope others will hear of it and be benefited as I have been. Everyone should hear of it. I can't say too much for them," Mr. Scace exclaimed enthusiastically in conclusion.

This is but one of the many cases in which Pink Pills have taken such a beneficent part in the history of humanity.

Mr. Scace is now enjoying the fruits of an unusually large business, managed solely by himself, and covering almost the entire eastern portion of the State. Mr. Scace is also an ivory carver of marked ability, which he follows solely for his own pleasure. Many little trinkets, carved by the light of the camp-fire, attest his skill in this direction.

Far from being solicited to recommend the curative which had taken such a load of misery from his life, in his gratitude his praise for it is unstinted and unceasing. And from his own statements one may easily see that when he does cease to sing its virtues, it will be to answer the last mustering in.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effect of la grippe, palpitation of the heart; pale and sallow complexions, all forms of weakness either in male or female. Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent post paid on receipt of price, 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50 (they are never sold in bulk or by the 100) by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

OUR WHEELMEN ABROAD.

A Thunder Storm in the Mountains And a Feast Prepared by Monks.

MR. EDITOR:—I closed my last letter after relating our experience in Brieg and the start up the pass. There was a storm brewing and great black clouds were hiding the mountain peaks. Darkness was hastened by these sable mists and added to this there were lighter exhalations floating up the valley and now and then enveloping us. We had expected nothing but walking and pushing our wheels for fifteen miles, so we bowed our heads, closed our teeth determinedly and plodded on. We had already ridden seventy miles that day and our progress was just that weary machine like drawing one leg after the other while mentally we went into a sort of painful dream oblivious to all except the road and the snail like advance over it. The mountaineers we met smiled knowingly and hurried on driving their herds of goats. Every body was coming down the pass except our foolhardy selves. At last we halted near by a spring and took out of my bundle, the strawberries and bread before mentioned. The berries were jam by this time but we spread the moss on slices of bread and laughing, ate our improvised supper. Then we advanced again upon the road which zig-zagged up the steep mountain side. It was dark and rain fell in frequent showers of short duration. Absolutely no shelter except occasional niche in the rock where a bizarre painted Virgin appeared behind bars and surrounded by old wreaths of dead flowers. All at once, the road seemed to end at the verge of a frightful precipice, but in reality, there was an abrupt turn and the road was cut for some distance in the face of the rock. We gazed down into the valley over the parapet and we thought of Sinbad's valley of diamonds and the roc and pieces of meat. In the darkness, the chasm was simply terrific. Then there was a long distance which is to me a confusion of horrors. Streaks of lightning gave us glimpses of depths unfathonable, heights inacessible and an interminable road ahead of us. The pines swayed and cracked above us and deep down in the chasm we could hear the rumbling, growling and splashing Saltine as it tumbled along its rocky gorge.

But relief always comes just as troubles become unendurable and a turn revealed the long hoped "refuge," as hotels on a mountain pass are called. We stored our wheels in a barn amid vehicles and then urged the landlady to prepare our bed at once. She cuffed each one of 13 children and sent approximately two thirds of them on various errands and beckoned us to follow her while she led with a flickering candle up rickety stairs, through shaky passages, to a room apart where she left us with half the candle to light us about disrobing. We soon ascended the precipitous bed and upon its dizzy summit fell asleep. About midnight, we awoke amidst a quaking, and roaring, and whistling, and found the house rocking and the window blown out. The wind seemed to expand the room like a balloon. Boards cracked and a loose splinter in the ceiling vibrated until it moaned and shrieked. The demons of the mountains seemed freed, and above the noise of the tempest, we could hear crashing trees and tumbling rocks. It was a true Walpurgis night and every witch was pounding that hotel with her broom stick, I am sure. This ended in the conventional way. The rain ceased, the wind went down and we slept.

Morning at last and we departed. The valley was filled with mist and clouds blown about between us and the mountains, and at times wrapped us up. There was a rumbling in gorges overcharged by the torrents of the night. I heard the twitter of a single bird in that vast solitude and loneliness. The wind blew the clouds along rapidly. Now we are folded in the mists, now looking through clear air at Monte Leon and other famous peaks; sometimes plodding blindly on, and again amazed by grand abysses and by overhanging cliffs. Thundering cascades pour over the galleries and tunnels through which we passed. Galleries are stone sheds extending from the mountain side over the road to protect the traveler from avalanches. At last near the top of the pass, we looked upon those frozen hurricanes, the glaciers. Imagine a storm at sea and then freeze it. There is the wildness of a whirlpool united with the immobility of rocks. It is nature's cemetery with its solitude and solemnity. After passing the most dangerous part of the road, we at last reached the summit of the pass. I shiver now when I recollect the long, cold tunnels dripping galleries and the bleak, natural basin in which nothing grows except that unpronouceable rhododendron. Passing through the just mentioned basin we reached the Hospice, that benevolent institution with kindly, jolly monks as hosts. We were chilled and weary and you should have seen the feast which they set before us. We were warmed with soup and wine, and fed with good substantial food, and hospitably shown the spacious halls and neat bed chambers and impressive chapel. A good old monk was our guide and I thrill yet with awe when I recall the reverential tone in which he said, Napoleon, and pointed at a picture of the great emperor whom all Europe reveres. We left the Hospice, and, after leaping in the saddle, rolled away at a terrific speed with one foot on the coaster and the other pressed hard on the tire of the front wheel. Again and again, we changed the occupation of our several pedal extremities, and long before the foot of the pass was reached we wished for more feet. Without the least exaggeration, our feet were nearly blistered and a place was hollow in each shoe sole a quarter of an inch deep. We shot down long straight inclines, dashed around bends, rushed madly into tunnels, dashed under cascades and along the edge of precipices until breathless and flushed with excitement, we reached Gondo, the last Swiss town, where we received our deposit on the wheels.

It makes me confused and dazed as I think over that wild ride in the wild gorge, amid impassible heaps of rocks and between walls of slate-mica rising 3000 feet above our heads, and over abysses on thread-like bridges. The sombre mouths of tunnels contrast impressively with the blinding white spray from cascades. Such frightful sounds as we heard, too, which we learned were slipping glaciers, huge masses of ice falling into chasms. We passed Gondo and passed the granite column which marks the Swiss—Italian limits, and then reached Iselle and the Italian custom-house. We paid the duty on our wheels, temporarily, and rode down the narrow valley which suddenly turned at right angles and revealed sunny Italy in a beautiful, wide valley. We both exclaimed involuntarily, in the words of Byron (having carefully learned them by heart previously): "Italia, Italia, thou who hast the fatal gift of beauty!" But, seriously, think of it. One hour before we were nearly frozen, and only the hardiest weed could grow upon the soil about us; but now the heat was oppressive and about us were growing chestnuts, figs, vineyards, mulburries, maize, in real luxuriance. Loveliness was every where. The bridges of stone made graceful curves across the silvery Doveria. Villas nestled prettily in the green, shady nooks on the smiling mountain side. Temptingly colored fruit waved invitations from out their own verdure. Fortunately, too, our first sight of the people was a wealthy family riding indolently in their carriage. We paused then while I examined the patches on my tire to see if the mad coast down the pass had torn them loose. With a few repairs and readjustments, we were able to resume our ride toward Lake Magglore, our object point. Of the ride, the lake and more, I shall tell next time.

The Correct Dress For Cycling.

If women all dressed alike what a monotonous aspect this world would present! Even on the wheel variety in dress is most desirable, and the rivalry between bloomers and skirts for cycling is interesting "most reverand seigneurs" as well as those of the more frivolous sex. Bishop William Taylor, Ex. Gov. Foraker, Mrs. Elizabeth Grandis, Miss Cynthia Westover, Miss Florence Dangerfield and Oliver Sumner Teall,—representing the church, politics, law, journalism and society,—all have decided opinions regarding the question "Shall Wheelwomen Wear Bloomers?" which each answer in characteristic style in Demorest's Magazine for October. These opinions are unique and well worth reading. With the same number in one's hand one may take in imagination a sea voyage, for the illustrations to the paper "Homeward Bound From Europe" are so graphic, and the letter-press details the happenings so vividly, that the stay-at-home may enjoy the trip thoroughly without enduring any of the inevitable inconveniences. There are charming stories from the pens of Gilbert Parker, Margaret Sutton Driscoe, Madge Robertson and James Buckham, which is sufficient guarantee of their excellence; and poems by Gustav Kobbe and Ella Higginson contribute additional charm. The departments are as usual full of good things interesting to women; and the fashion department is replete with ideas on the coming fashions that will be of great value to those who wish to be forehanded in their preparations for the coming season.

Annual Meeting.

The Farmer's Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Lenawee county will hold their annual meeting at Whitney's opera house, in the city of Adrian, Mich, Monday, Oct. 28, 1895, commencing at 8:30 o'clock a. m., for the election of a secretary and five directors; also to take action on amending section 2 of the company's charter in relation to the separation of the office of the president and treasurer and such other business as may properly come before the meeting.

A TRIP TO GRAND RAPIDS.

A Pleasant Visit of Two Days in the Second City of Michigan.

The metropolis of western Michigan is one of the most beautiful cities in the entire west. It is a hustling city also, in a business sense, and hence is enjoying a remarkably healthy and vigorous growth. Its population at present is not far from one hundred thousand and it has grown to its present status from an Indian village within the past sixty years. It is located at the head of natural navigation on the Grand river, the largest river in Michigan, about thirty-three miles from its mouth. The rapids in the river at this point furnish one of the best water powers in the state, which is utilized extensively for manufacturing purposes. It is a first-class manufacturing city, household furniture being its great specialty, in which branch of manufacturing it leads the whole world. Large consignments of furniture are shipped annually, not only to every state in the Union, but also to South America, Europe, Asia and Africa. This industry alone employs a capital of over seven millions, and several of the big factories are larger than any other like factories in the world. Another industry of world wide fame is that of making carpet sweepers. In another direction the city has a very important trade, that of land or calcined plaster, of which over one hundred thousand tons are mined annually. These few statistics will give a stranger a faint idea of the present importance and future prospects of the city of Grand Rapids.

We had the pleasure of a brief visit there last week and between attending the convention and hunting up old Tecumseh friends we were kept exceedingly busy. The convention was held at All Soul's church, one of the finest church edifices in the city. The principal sessions occurred on Tuesday and Wednesday, the second day being occupied almost wholly by the Young People's Christian Union and the state branch of the Woman's Centenary Association. As a whole, the convention was a most successful one. The delegates were all entertained by the Grand Rapids church and were enthusiastic in their praise of "All Soul's" hospitality.

J. M. Hayden & Co. are located at 69 Pearl street and are building up an extensive business. They deal in mill supplies of all kinds and are securing a big run on babbitt metal of their own manufacture. Albert and Marvin constitute the firm and they make a strong team. They do all their own work, thus saving clerk hire, and are rapidly working up a fine paying trade. Their families are located in the eastern part of town, in a beautiful residence quarter, where they have fine homes. Mrs. E. J. Ware, nee Lizzie Hayden, lives but a few blocks distant. Thus three of the Hayden children are now living at Grand Rapids, and it will please their old Tecumseh friends to know that they are all prospering.

Dr. H. B. Catlin has a fine office at 70 Monroe street, the principal business street of the city. The doctor is now a member of the pension board and also enjoys a good practice aside from that. He has taken a good position in the medical fraternity of the city, has got well established and, with excellent health, a bright business future lies before him. He has a good home on Ransom street, where his mother, Mrs. R. C. Catlin, also makes her home. We were glad to see Bert so well fixed.

James A. Curry runs a barber shop at 471 South Division street. We could not find time to make him a call, however. Chas. Whittier now lives in the city, but he has recently moved into a house in the eastern suburbs and our effort to find him was unsuccessful. We took a drive out there with Dr. Catlin's horse and buggy, and after circulating through several new streets and making several inquiries we gave up the search. Charley will have to take the will for the deed this time.

Usher Mathews is located in a large block at the corner of Monroe and Pearl streets. He is now filling the position of traveling freight agent for the Big Four railroad. He is away much of the time and he was not at home at the time of our call. We learned, however, that he was filling the place with credit to himself and to the entire satisfaction of the company. His schooling with the Mackinaw road here in Tecumseh stands him in good turn now.

Rev. E. C. Andrus came to Tecumseh from Grand Rapids and his mother is now a resident of that city. Mrs. Dr. A. L. Andrus is a practising physician, living at 223 Jefferson street, on the west side near the Lake Shore depot, and only a stone's throw from the big Phoenix furniture factory. She has a good practice and is also a member of the city board of education, having served on the board for the past four years. We enjoyed her hospitality during a portion of our visit in the city.

GUMBO'S GRAB BAG.

IT WAS TOO MUCH.

He bore each passing fad or whim,
No wish met his denial;
Her lightest word was law to him—
He stood all test and trial.
E'en whispers of her broken oath
He scorned as idle rumors;
But he gave her back her plighted troth
The day she put on bloomers.

POEMS FOR CHILDREN'S RECITATIONS.

I have two ears and two bright eyes,
Two busy hands and feet,
But one short nose, one teenty mouth,—
Mamma says that is sweet.
I wonder why I'm not all "tweet"
I think it must be this:
One nose is just enough to bump,
One mouth, enough to kiss.

I asked mamma how many meals
Every day she had for me.
She said, "Just count them for yourself,
And you will find there are but three.
There's breakfast, one, and dinner, two,
And supper, three, that's last and best."
I wonder why she did not count
"Oat-meal" as one among the rest?

"I'm just a little child, 'tis true;
But then the biggest tree
Was one time just a teenty plant,
No higher than my knee.
And if it lived on sun and rain,
And grow so very tall,
Why shouldn't I, when I am grown,
Be just as great? That's all."

One, two, "How do you do?"
That's how the ladies talk.
Three, four, they come through the door,
And this is how they walk.
Five, six, their bangs they fix,
And brush them out just so.
Seven, eight, they get them straight,
And then away they go!

—Lucy H. Buck.

TEACHER AND BICYCLE.

As for the moralist, any old fogy who thinks he sees the shadow of indelicacy in a wheelwoman, had better make up his mind on the spot that he will have to throw up his prejudice before the judgment of the world, which looks on the wheel without even a thought of immorality in its head, and which, in its commonplace sense and impartiality regards wheeling as an exercise morally indistinguishable from the every-day occupation of walking. The more school teachers and scholars that find their way to school on bicycles, the better will be the scholarship and the fewer need to be the school houses.—N. Y. Sun.

EQUAL TO THE EMERGENCY.

A young Irishman in want of a five-pound note wrote to his uncle as follows: "Dear Uncle—If you could see how I blush for shame while I am writing, you would pity me. Do you know why? Because I have to ask you for a few pounds, and do not know how to express myself. It is impossible for me to tell you. I prefer to die. I send you this by messenger, who will wait for an answer. Believe me, My dearest uncle, your most obedient and affectionate nephew, ——. P. S.—Overcome with shame for what I have written, I have been running after the messenger in order to take the letter from him, but I cannot catch him up. Heaven grant that something may happen to stop him, or that my letter may get lost." The uncle was naturally touched, but was equal to the emergency. He replied as follows: "My Dear Jack—Console yourself, and blush no longer. Providence has heard your prayers. The messenger lost your letter. Your affectionate uncle, ——."

ANECDOTES OF THE ABSENT-MINDED.

Another "absent minded man" item has been received. This one refers to Ampere, the famous mathematician, who was noted for his absent-mindedness. On one occasion it is stated that while walking along the street he mistook the back of a cab for a blackboard, and as a blackboard was just the thing he needed at the time, to solve a problem which had been vexing his mind for some moments during his walk, he made use of it. Taking a piece of chalk out of his pocket he proceeded to trace out a number of algebraical formulae on the cab's back, and following the moving "board" for the space of a quarter of an hour without noticing the progress of the conveyance. As to whether the cabman charged him by the course or by the hour, or even at all, the item does not inform us.

From the same source we have the following item: They have a good joke just at present on a well known lawyer who is noted for his absent-mindedness. He went up his own stairs the other day, and seeing a notice on his own door, "Back at two," sat down to wait for himself.

Clinton Column.

CLINTON, MICH., OCT. 18, 1895.

A. F. Kishpaugh was a Detroit visitor over Sunday.

Mrs. E. P. Felton visited friends in Detroit over Sunday.

Cassius C. Fisk, of Detroit, spent the first of the week in Clinton.

Mrs. J. S. Kies is entertaining relatives from Hillsdale this week.

Mrs. Mary Pomeroy, of Ypsilanti, is visiting at Wm. Wood's this week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Whittlesey were visiting in Ypsilanti last Wednesday.

Mrs. Jennie Brown held a tea party last Saturday in honor of Miss Calista Brown.

A. B. VanDeMark and mother were in Hillsdale Saturday and Sunday, visiting.

Several of our young people attended a wedding at Manchester Wednesday forenoon.

Ham Niblack is attending the sessions of the circuit court this week. He officiates as a petit juror.

Miss Clyde Marsteller gave a very pleasant card party to a number of friends last week Thursday.

About sixteen couples participated in the dance last Friday evening. A very pleasant time is reported.

Mr. and Mrs. Ames drove over from Ypsilanti Sunday to spend the day with their daughter, Mrs. H. D. Niblack.

Channing Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Smith, died last Thursday morning. The funeral was held Friday afternoon.

The Freese-Whittlesey Co. now show their goods at night under new electric arc lights. They give a very steady white light.

The Smith Ogden bicycle contest which was to have come off last Friday was postponed sine die on account of the condition of the roads.

The ladies of the Episcopal society will hold their next social at Mrs. Bert Tate's next week Thursday, Oct. 24. Supper served from 5 to 7 o'clock.

The ladies of the M. E. church here have been quite busy this week. To the usual fall task of church house cleaning was added a large batch of sewing.

J. B. Murrah, of Texas, arrived in Clinton Sunday, coming over the Wabash to Adrian and driving from there. Mr. Murrah came directly from Old Mexico and experienced some difference in climate upon arriving here.

Nearly twenty people from here attended the Lyle Gibson trial in the circuit court at Adrian Tuesday. Many went as witnesses, while some attended out of mere interest in the case. The jury rendered a verdict of guilty about 3 p. m.

Married in Adrian on Sunday, Oct 13, James Priest, of Clinton, and Miss Mary Ray, of Dansville, Ill. The couple will assume the duties of housekeeping in the groom's residence in Clinton and have the congratulations and best wishes of many friends.

Wednesday evening the Maccabees opened their new hall with a chicken pie supper. These gallant knights know how to serve old fashioned chicken pie, as well as get up a program. The tent is well satisfied with their new quarters and many citizens outside the order assisted in its opening.

The Freese-Whittlesey Co. have met with such an unlooked for demand for capes and jackets since their opening that they have decided to hold a special sale of capes and jackets tomorrow, Saturday, Oct 19. The company will have a large assortment to choose from and expect a large crowd to do the choosing. Get there early if you wish to get your pick.

Considerable petty thieving has been going on in Clinton within the past few weeks. Last Monday night Wallinger Bros. Cigar store was made the object of such a visit. An entrance was affected by cutting two panes from a rear window. The cash box was relieved of between seven and eight dollars. Though local operatives are credited with most of the depredations which have occured lately, it is thought that this was the work of a hobo who was hanging around the place that day.

At six o'clock last Monday morning occurred a very quiet wedding ceremony which made Mr. A. M. Kennedy and Miss Grace E. Stevens man and wife. The ceremony was conducted by Rev. Blachford in the impressive ritual of the Episcopal church. After a wedding breakfast the couple took the morning train for Hamilton, Ont. where resides a brother of the groom. Only the immediate relatives of the contracting parties were present at the marriage, among those being a brother and sister of the groom from Detroit. Announcements are now out stating that Mr and Mrs. Kennedy will be at home in Clinton Oct. 21. Both parties are too well known to the society of Clinton to need any introduction to our readers and the best wishes of a host of friends go with them on life's journey.

ROME RAVELINGS.

Chas. Baker has been north the last two weeks buying cattle and sheep.

May Luce has just returned from a two weeks' sojourn in Adrian among her friends.

The Free Methodists are holding camp meetings near Lott Warner's with quite large attendance but with few converts.

Vera Segar was taken sick very suddenly a few days ago and has lost the entire use of her limbs. The doctor says she will not be able to walk for two months, if not more.

In Your Blood

Is the cause of that tired, languid feeling which afflicts you at this season. The blood is impure and has become thin and poor. That is why you have no strength—no appetite, cannot sleep. Purify your blood with Hood's Sarsaparilla, which will give you an appetite, tone your stomach, and invigorate your nerves.

Hood's Pills are easy to take, easy in action and sure in effect. 25c. 1w

PENTECOST POINTERS.

I. S. Pentecost is on the sick list; ditto Silas Randall.

The Herald's Pentecost Bro. is in Adrian this week visiting friends there.

Willard Merrill, who is reading law in an Adrian office, spent Sunday with his aunt, Mrs. J. S. Pentecost.

Sylvia Tripp has been quite sick during the last few days, also Mrs. Albert Camburn, but both are on the mend.

There are whispers in the air that a gigantic surprise is to be perpetrated on somebody before this week goes out.

Dr. Willard Perkins and wife, of Seneca Station, were at the "Wonderland" Saturday night, and shaking hands with old friends.

Stanley Woodward and Stuart French, of Brooklyn, came over on their wheels to attend the Base Ball game at Adrian, Friday, and stopped one night for a short visit with Mr. French's uncle, Smith German.

The Free Methodists and a detachment of the Salvation Army are holding a protracted meeting in a large tent on the farm of Lawson Warner in the south part of Franklin. A large stove warms the tent, and it is said the meetings are well attended.

James Tripp is quite fond of equestrian exercise; or, rather, he was. But last Sunday evening, when returning home his horse turned into the gate while going at a rapid rate and threw his rider with such violence as to injure his shoulder quite seriously. Dr. Rice was called and made him comfortable as possible.

The Pentecost L. A. tender their thanks to Messrs. Wilson for use of lumber for stage purposes; to Mr. G. W. Fuller for the generous loan of his curtains and other stage appliances; also to Mr. B. A. Elliott for the hall, which was well lighted and furnished free, as were his services in assisting in the entertainment; to Mr. W. B. German for sending a man to help put up the stage, &c.; and last, but not least, to the editors of THE TECUMSEH HERALD and Adrian Press for an extended notice of the entertainment, which was greeted with a full house and gave materjal aid to our association in their efforts to furnish our people good books for the long winter evenings at hand.

A Household Treasure.

D. W. Fuller, of Canajoharie, N. Y., says that he always keeps Dr. King's New Discovery in the house and his family has always found the very best results follows its use; that he would not be without it, if procurable. G. A. Dykeman, Druggist, Catskill, N. Y., says that Dr. King's New Discovery is undoubtedly the best cough remedy; that he has used it in his family for eight years, and it has never failed to do all that is claimed for it. Why not try a remedy so long tried and tested. Trial bottles free at Orr & Temple's Drug store. Regular size 50c., and $1.00. 3

'What are you going to do with the overhead trolley going out of business?' said one undertaker to another. 'I dunno,' was the lugubrious reply; 'I hate to do it, but I guess I'll have to live in Brooklyn.'

H. Mitchell, 249 Herman Ave., Riverdale, Dayton, Ohio, says: "For seven years my throat was so badly affected that it was covered with ulcers and scabs as large as my thumb nail. By advice of a friend I bought a jar of Pretzinger's Catarrh Balm last winter, and after using five jars, am fully cured, and I have not had the slightest return of my former trouble." This under date of September 19, 1894.

Chicago, Ill., August 23, 1894.

The writer can cheerfully recommend Pretzinger's Catarrh Balm as being just what it is represented. It will cure the very worst cases of catarrh if the directions are carried out. I was a sufferer from catarrh for years and was cured by Pretzinger's Catarrh Balm.

Catarrh caused hoarseness and difficulty in speaking. I also to a great extent lost hearing. By the use of Ely's Cream Balm dropping of mucus has ceased, voice and hearing have greatly improved—J. W. Davidson, Att'y at Law, Monmouth, Ill.

I used Ely's Cream Balm for catarrh and have received great benefit. I believe it's safe and certain cure. Very pleasant to take. —Wm. Fraser, Rochester, N. Y.

Price of Cream Balm is fifty cents. 1w

Mrs. Sweet: Do you find it economical to do your own cooking? Mrs. Burnem: Oh, yes; my husband doesn't eat half as much as when he had a cook.

TOO MUCH WORK

For a Healthy Existence.—That's Why the Kidneys so often Fail

Nature has provided a certain amount of work for every organ of the human body, overtax them and disease eventually follows. There is not one portion of our organism that is so overworked as the kidneys; on them is placed the important function of filtering the blood of the impurities which naturally form in the regular action of life and digestion. The kidneys are consequently termed the sewerage of the system; clog up this sewer, and the blood becomes tainted with poisonous uric acid, which brings on disease in many forms. The back is the first to show this stoppage. From there comes the warning note; it should be heeded, and the kidneys receive prompt attention. Doan's Kidney Pills will right the action of the kidneys quickly, relieve the back of pains and aches, and cure all troubles of kidneys and bladder. Read the following:

Mr. Wm. Nelson is a well-known business man of Kalamazoo, he resides at 822 Portage Street, and his business is that of a grain buyer. He says:

"For five years I have suffered from an inability to urinate, which resulted from what was said to be a stoppage of the bladder. During these years I have taken mineral and electric baths and used other means in expectancy of getting better, but they all proved unavailing. Some months ago I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, which I had heard highly recommended, and I can now say that the flattering reports were not greater than they deserved. I got better right along, and I am free from any trouble now. I feel better than I have done for three years past. If Doan's Kidney Pills were well known all over they would do an immense amount of good."

Dr. Miles' Pain Pills cure Neuralgia.

Binkers: Has Winkers succeeded in teaching his daughter to ride her new bicycle yet? Minkers: Yes; she is out riding now. Is Winkers with her? No, he's in a hospital.

It's a Grand Success.

The fact has been demonstrated by the thousands of testimonials the Mayers Drug Company, of Oakland, Md., has received since it has sent its famous Mayers Magnetic Catarrh Cure out to the sufferers of catarrh. No medicine has received such an endorsement from the people in so short a time as it did.

The makers sell the medicine on business principles, and a patient is not required to buy the medicine by the dozen to get a cure. The Mayers' Magnetic Catarrh Cure sells for $1 per bottle; one bottle to last for a three months treatment. 3 bottles is the highest record ever required to complete a cure. General catarrh one bottle is guaranteed. No cure no pay.

This is an unequalled offer and if you are a sufferer from catarrh get a bottle from your druggist, if no benefit derived costs you nothing. A prominent R. R. conductor speaks:

CUMBERLAND, MD., April 29th, '94.

To the Mayers Drug Co.,

Gentlemen:—Yours to hand, in reply will say that I have the highest regard for your Catarrh Remedy, my trouble is in a chronic form and expect to use more than one bottle. I used one bottle which removed the trouble from the head in good shape and am on the second bottle for throat trouble, if I should succeed with the latter as I did in the former, I shall write you again in the near future. Hoping it will do for suffering humanity what it did for me, I remain Yours truly.

When they put a man in jail, he cannot follow his natural inclinations. He cannot eat what he wants to—he is limited to a very frugal diet. Is it not equally true of a dyspeptic? For of all the real enjoyment he gets out of life, he might as well be in jail. He cannot eat what he likes, nor enough. He suffers much, gets little sympathy. At first, perhaps a little sourness, windy belchings and heartburn; headaches and billiousness and a foul taste in the mouth in the morning. Chronic constipation is almost inevitable, and means that the body is holding poisonous impure matter that should be gotten rid of. The poison is being reabsorbed into the blood and may lead to almost any disease. Constipation is the start of it all. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation, cure it so it stays cured. No other remedy in the world will do that. Send 21 cents in one-cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association Buffalo, N. BRITTON BUDGET.

Windy, dry and dusty.

New stock of men's trousers at Lee Bros.

Bring along that wood—to the HERALD Office.

Miss Ella Exelby is spending the week in Deerfield.

Have you examined the new line of underwear at Lee Bros?

When you have a dress to make take it to Mrs. W. J. Heline.

L. A. Babcock and Vern Osterhout were Milan visitors Wednesday.

M. Hiscock, of Toledo, is visiting in Britton and Ridgeway this week.

Geo. Smith and Geo. Exelby made a business trip to Toledo last Friday.

L. C. Hoagland has still a few special bargains in buggies. See him before you buy.

Mrs. John Britton and daughter, Mrs. Ed. Bachman, visited friends at Tecumseh Wednesday.

Tomorrow, Saturday, Lake Ridge and the Goliaths will have another set to on the diamond at Lake Ridge.

Clarence Lowe came home from Hamilton, Ind., last Saturday to stay, the base ball season being finished.

Building on the north side is progressing. The fifth house is already begun and rumors of a store are afloat in the air.

The ladies aid society of the Christian church will give a chicken pie social at the church parlors next week Friday night, Oct. 25th.

The Misses Bertha and Addie Lamkin, of Franklin, were the guests of their sister, Mrs. W. J. Helm and family, from Friday till Monday.

Geo. Clark was called to Ashley, Ind., last week to work in the dispatchers office for a few days. Mr. Chappell, of Morenci, takes his place here.

Frank Allen, chief train dispatcher of the C. J. & M. Ry., and family are visiting friends and relatives in Britton, Ridgeway and Macon this week.

D. C. Andrews & Co., of Tecumseh, supplied the town last Monday from stem to stern with La Besta. It will be for sale hereafter at Lee Bros. and Curtis & Linn's.

Mr. L. J. Niblack, having discontinued his sale of clothing etc., moved the remainder of his stock to Addison last Monday, where he will resume duty at his old store.

The Holloway nine and the Giants played here yesterday for the state championship. We are unable to get the score, but as it was a good day it must have been very large for both sides.

Mrs. Mudge, who was called by telegram, a short time since, to attend the funeral of her sister at Maple Rapids, has been quite ill at that place. She is better now, however, and hopes soon to return.

The ball game last Saturday at this place between Lake Ridge and a picked nine from Britton resulted in a victory for the Brittonites. Score, 18 to 7. Batteries: Kelly, Lee and Lowe; Lewis and Hanlon.

One of our young business men likes to drive a team on Sunday, but it is lots of work to keep changing them when he can put only one in the barn at a time on a cold night. Every young man should keep a double stall ready for emergencies. However, he had a strong body guard and lots of help.

The sheriff of Monroe county passed through here Tuesday with a prisoner for Toledo. The sheriff and his prisoner did evidently had a difference of opinion as to the advisability, of making the arrest. There were evidences that the strong arguments used by the sheriff and his forcible logic had evidently prevailed.

The ladies' aid society, of the Christian church held their social Wednesday. This society has the advantage of very pleasant and commodious rooms in which to hold their meetings, and the advantages, when made the most of, assist most materially in maintaining the social life of the church and community. The ladies' suppers are very popular.

Richardson Bros. have now a very neatly arranged store. They have been rearranging their stock in the store and putting in a large new invoice. Their boot and shoe stock is by itself on one side, while the dry goods are likewise fixed on the opposite shelves. This departure will be appreciated by their customers and will improve their business facilities.

Hood's will not cure everything. It is not claimed that it will cure but one complaint, that is dyspepsia. We cannot say that it will cure every case of dyspepsia, but it will cure a large majority of them. Such cases as are adapted to it will derive immediate benefit. One small bottle will be sufficient to convince. The Shaker Digestive Cordial is especially adapted for emaciated or debilitated people whose food does them little or no good because it is not digested. The cordial contains an artificially-digested food and is a digester of food happily combined. Read one of the little books which your druggist is giving away and learn of this wonderful remedy.

The easily palatable Castor Oil can now be had under the name of Laxol. 1w

"How dare you accuse me of being a monomaniac,' she said, indignantly. 'I,' replied the young man, who was on his knees, 'I didn't.' "Isn't a kleptomaniac a person who purloins things for which he has no possible use?' 'Yes.' 'Then you not just say that I had stolen your heart? Hence, monster, hence!'

Richard Cadmus, of Harvey, is shaking hands and cracking jokes with old friends at present.

C. M. Gove and wife visited Mrs. Henry Atherton and family, of Hudson, a part of last week.

Miss Dora Grayson, of Tecumseh, was in the village Saturday evening in the interest of a singing class.

Sunday evening service will begin at seven o'clock instead of seven thirty from this date until further notice.

It is by a telegram we leaan that it is a girl that has come to Mr. and Mrs. I. T. Bush's home in Brooklyn, N. Y.

A. J. Sutton, who has been at Yorkville as agent for the past two months, returned to his home Thursday noon.

G. C. Arner and Frank Sisson went to Addison Saturday to work on the grade of the C. J. & M. extension to Jackson.

Dr. R. H. Nelson and family and Mrs. Nellie Perkins of Hudson, called on friends in the village and vicinity Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Wilson went to Paw Paw, last week Thursday, to visit their son, Prof. H. C. Wilson, and family.

Lou M. Arner, having accepted a position in Harris & Hiteshu's dry goods house at Tecumseh, left for her new responsibilities Monday morning.

We notice that our new firm, Smith & Schmidt, have got the La Besta washing and cleaning powder on their shelves, showing that they are up-to-date grocers.

Those in attendance at church Sunday morning from neighboring villages were Dr. R. H. Nelson and family and Mrs. Nellie Perkins, of Hudson, and Miss Dora Grayson, of Tecumseh.

Have you seen our new stoves? Stoves of every kind and price to suit your wants. We also ask you to look at our new oil cloths just received.

SMITH & SCHMIDT.

There was a good attendance at the W. C. T. U. parlor meeting held at Miss Sarah Pocklington's Friday night. The evening was spent in a social way with a short program, after which refreshments were served by the hostess.

Chas. Sutton's entire family were very sick Friday afternoon from eating dried beef. Dr. Hardy was called and relieved them from intense saffering. Whether the beef was diseased when put up or spoiled since being dried we have not learned.

A singing school is a sure thing with Miss Dora Grayson, of Tecumseh, as teacher. The class will meet Friday evening at the church for their first lesson. It is hoped a large number will avail themselves of this grand opportunity to learn the art of reading music and training the voice.

Mrs. Lizzie Wiggins is agent for the Star Course to be given in Tecumseh this season and any who are thinking of attending can secure a season ticket of her for $1.50 for the course of six entertainments. The first on the course is the Redpath concert company, which will be given in Sutton's opera house on Saturday evening of the present week.

HOLLOWAY HASH.

Mrs Eda Crane called on Miss Winship Wednesday.

Several are going to the big woods, hunting, the first of November.

Tom Hartman and family have moved over to the Kopkie farm where he works for Mr. Kopkie.

Mr. W. C. Holt and family returned from their visit at Montpelier, Ohio, after a vacation of two weeks.

Miss Eva Doty was out to church, Sunday for the first after being laid by with sickness for some time.

Mr. Brown and family will occupy the old store building as soon as they can get ready for housekeeping; also, a general store.

The social held at George Kishpaugh's at Raisin Centre was quite largely attended both afternoon and evening and a good time was had by all present. The social given by the young people was in the nature of a postoffice social, the ladies writing the letters and paying five cents to post them and the young men being oblige to pay ten cents if he did not read his letter aloud, making lots of fun for all, and a royal good time was enjoyed by all. Collection afternoon and evening, $4.00.

What Can A Woman Do?

Why should not a lady be independent? Everybody will respect her all the more, whether she be rich or poor, and then adversity may come. Why should not the wife help build the home? She will appreciate it all the more for doing so. But the question is: What can a woman do? S. I. Bell Company, Publishers, No. 2018 Columbia Avenue, Philadelphia, offers pleasant and profitable employment to ladies as well as gentlemen. It will be to your interest to write them at once. Now is just the time. See their advertisement on another page. 2w

MACON MUSIC.

Leo Brazee, of Tecumseh, spent Sunday with Roy Chambers.

The funeral services of Mrs. Mary Abel were held last Sunday afternoon.

All of our grocers are now handling the new Tecumseh washing powder, La Besta. Try a sample.

Lewis Camburn has moved to Tecumseh and will make that place his headquarters during his travels.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Willis McClue, Oct. 14, a daughter, which the father pronounces the nicest little girl in town.

The ladies of the M. E. church will give a chicken pie social at the home of Mrs. Lester Coller, Friday evening, Oct. 25.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the M. E. church will hold their next meeting at the home of Mrs. Francis Walp, Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 23. The president desires a good attendance, as the year's reports are to be read.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Harrington, of Macon, are deeply afflicted by the death of their little boy nearly four years of age. The unusually bright and attractive child awakened an interest in all who met him, and the grief stricken parents and grand-parents have the undivided sympathy of the entire community. The little form was carefully laid away in the Macon cemetery on Tuesday, Oct. 8th. The funeral services at the home were very largely attended, J. I. Gulick officiating; the choir of South Macon Reformed church gave three excellent selections of song appropriate to the occasion. The little child was an unusually bright and winning child for its early years.

CARD OF THANKS.

We desire to acknowledge the valuable services of our friends and neighbors in their assistance and sympathy during the severe sickness of our dear child and to the friends who assisted in the burial service and in the selecting and furnishing of such suitable hymns and music.

MR. AND MRS. MORRIS HARRINGTON.

CATARRH DESCRIBED.

A Short History of a Bad Malady by an Eminent Medical Authority.

This is the way chronic catarrh usually begins: A person catches cold, which hangs on longer than usual. Then follows a sensitiveness of the air passages, which inclines to catch cold very easily. At last the person has a cold all the while seemingly. More or less discharge from the nose, hawking from the throat, nostrils stopped up, full feeling in the head, and cracking in the ears. The Pe-ru-na treatment for this disease is the only treatment that has withstood the test of time. Pe-ru-na should be taken without interruption until every symptom disappears.

Send to the Pe-ru-na Drug Manufacturing Company of Columbus, Ohio, for a copy of their latest book on chronic catarrh. This book is a complete guide to the cure of all forms and stages of this dreadful disease.

The Historic Route.

The Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis R'y, the model railroad of the South in equipment, roadway and service, is also the greatest in historical interest, more than fifty famous battlefields and five national cemeteries being located on the various lines of this system. This is the preferred route to Atlanta for the Cotton States and International Exposition, open from September 18, to December 31, 1895, for which very low excursion rates have been made. Through sleeping car service from St. Louis to Atlanta via Evansville, Nashville and Chattanooga. This is the route of the famous Dixie Flyer through sleeping car line which runs the year round between Nashville and Jacksonville, Fla. For further information, address Briard F. Hill, 328 Marquette Building, Chicago, Ill., or R. C. Cowardin, Western Passenger Agent, Railway Exchange Building, St. Louis, Mo., or D. J. To the Sufferers of Rheumatism.

After using Groff's Rheumatic Cure for some time in my practice I take great pleasure in saying that it is the most wonderful remedy for rheumatism; in fact, it is the only one I have found for the cure of this disease in all its various forms. DR. E. E. TULL, Chicago.

An Ideal October Magazine.

Lincoln's apprehensive distrust of marriage is revealed in some extremely interesting letters from the great president in the October Ladies' Home Journal, in which John Gilmer Speed discusses Lincoln's Hesitancy to Marry. The letters are given publicity for the first time, and are addressed to Lincoln's most intimate friend, Joshua Speed. Edward S. Martin presents a review of the various theories advanced by scientists in the effort to definitely locate the Garden of Eden site, and shows how far from solution is the problem. Dr. Parkhurst's October article treats of Religion in the Family, and is one of the most forcible arguments that has come from his pen. The Woman Who Most Influenced Me series of papers is enriched by a contribution from Thomas Wentworth Higginson. Edward W. Bok editorially discusses Where American Life Really Exists, and outlines those communities where its best and purest phases are found. Robert J. Burdette contributes The Strike in the Choir, a humorous article in his brightest vein. The October Journal blends interest, entertainment, instruction, usefulness and artistic excellence, and is the magazine par excellence for the home. It is published by The Curtis Publishing Company, Nos. 421-427 Arch street, Philadelphia, at ten cents per copy; one dollar per year.

Human life is held too cheaply when the individual who needs a tonic for his system, seeks to cover his wants by purchasing every new mixture that is recommended to him. Remember that Ayer's Sarsaparilla has a well earned reputation of fifty year's standing. 1w

Electric Power for October.

This enterprising magazine seems to have made a particular effort in its October issue to appeal to the popular mind. Although an article by Mr. Wiener on Technical Measuring Instruments, and one by Mr. Emmet, on The Original of Alternating Currents, as well as Messrs. Freedman and Osterberg's serial on Practical Testing, are very scientific, there are several others of interest to anybody at all versed in science. Prof. W. M. Stine contributes a very able article on The Aim of Laboratory Training, a subject widely discussed, and worthy of deep thought. The writer is a particularly able man for this subject, having a large laboratory in personal charge. Mr. E. P. Thompson, well known for his writing on Invention, points out that the principal of reversal is one everybody should take to heart; he shows that by simply reversing the process some of the most important inventions have been made. The Synopsis of Technical Literature is exceptionally long, showing the activity which is being developed all over the world in trying to further the science of electricity and its application.

From LaGrippe.

How Dr. Miles' Nervine Restored One of Kentucky's Business Men to Health.

NO DISEASE has ever presented so many peculiarities as LaGrippe. No disease leaves its victims so debilitated, useless, sleepless, nerveless, as LaGrippe.

Mr. D. W. Hilton, state agent of the Mutual Life Insurance Co., of Kentucky, says: "In 1889 and '90 I had two severe attacks of LaGrippe, the last one attacking my nervous system with such severity that my life was despaired of. I had not slept for more than two months except by the use of narcotics that stupefied me, but gave me no rest. I was only conscious of intense mental weakness, agonizing bodily pain and the fact that I was hourly growing weaker.

When in this condition, I commenced using Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. In two days I began to improve and in one month's time I was cured, much to the surprise of all who knew of my condition. I have been in excellent health since and have recommended your remedies to many of my friends."

ST. PETER'S CHURCH.

Historical Sketch Read by Rev. W. R. Blachford at the Anniversary Exercises Last Week.

The following notes of history are taken from the records of St. Peter's church, as entered there from time to time by the wardens or rectors of the congregation. Believing it will be of interest to us all, I have made out the following sheets for our information today.

The first service of the Episcopal church ever held in Tecumseh was conducted by Dr. P. Galatian, who made Tecumseh his home in 1831. The doctor desired to give his own family the benefit of our beautiful worship and to this end held services in his own house. That place in a very short time becoming too small for the friends who gathered with him and family, the office of Gen. Brown was offered for the church's use. It was found necessary before long to seek a more commodious room still and the school house was secured to accommodate the worshippers. Dr. Galatian did good work for the church as a Lay Reader during the eleven years he lived in Tecumseh. He and his wife were the first communicants in this place. We are privileged today to have with us their eldest son, David Galatian, of Detroit, to enjoy these anniversary services, and look upon the outgrowth of the work so lovingly initiated 64 years ago this present month by his father.

The parish of St. Peter's was organized in the year 1832, when the Rev. Mr. Freeman, of Ypsilanti, preached and held the first regular service. Lay services by Dr. Galatian continued until 1833, in which year the parish was visited by two Detroit clergymen, Revs. Rich. Bury and Rev. Mr. Curtis, who administered the sacrament of baptism. In May of the same year Rev. W. N. Lyster, then of Cleveland, Ohio, came to the village and celebrated Holy Communion in the court house. Mr. Lyster's name was given to the congregation by Mr. Musgrove Evans, the very first settler in these parts and who was a member of the society of Friends.

In June of the same year, 1833, Rev. Mr. Lyster moved with his family to Tecumseh and took charge of St. Peter's parish. There were then only four communicants, Dr. and Mrs. Galatian, Geo. Spafford and Mrs. Cornelia, wife of Gen. Brown. Bishop McIlvane, of Ohio, made an Episcopal visit to the parish in 1834 and confirmed four persons. The rector of the parish at once urged the little flock to prepare for the building of a church, the corner stone for which was laid the 10th day of October, 1833, just 62 years ago today.

The rector preached a sermon on that occasion upon the text, "A city that is set on a hill cannot be hid," a text more strictly appropriate at that time than at the present, for the elevation of the church's site was more marked by the natural lay of the land. In that sermon the preacher referred to the peculiar character of the church the congregation was then founding. He said that in this latitude of the Union this building was the "most western Episcopal church edifice" which stood upon "the main highway of migration" towards the west; that our brethren in their journeyings toward those parts of the country just opening out, would find this church structure the very last. In other latitudes there might have been more western churches of our religion, but they were in very isolated spots and not upon "any main highway of migration." Friends in the east assisted the little congregation to the extent of $2000 in providing for themselves a church home, and nearly two years after the laying of the corner stone, priest and people were rejoiced to see their aspirations realized by the opening on Aug. 2nd, 1835, of the new church. A paper published in Tecumseh at that time, the Tecumseh Democrat, describes the church in the following words: "In the simple yet elegant grace of its external proportions, the commodious and tasteful arrangement of everything within, and the picturesque and conspicuously situated ground of its location, it stands confessedly without a rival in the Territory of Michigan—a noble, and we trust, not useless, monument of the enterprise and zeal of Western Episcopalians and of many residing at the East." On the opening day the Rev. John O'Brien preached in the morning and the rector, W. N. Lyster in the evening.

In the same month the church was opened, a Sunday-school was formed, consisting of 43 children, 8 teachers and a superintendent, Mr. Thos. Wright. The consecration of the new House of God took place in January, 1837. As it is our custom to defer consecration services until all debts are paid and the church property free from all incumbrances, a year and a few months elapsed to accomplish this requisite.

I learned just yesterday from Mr. Galatian, who is with us, that some great names are associated with the building of our church—a fact perhaps not generally known among us. On the subscription list appeared the names of General Jackson, president of the United States, for $15; Henry Clay, $10; Daniel Webster, $5.00; Thos. Benton, a congressman, $5.00; Governor Wise, of Virginia, $5.00. We may feel proud that such men should assist in erecting the temple where we are habitual worshippers. Though other men's money would have been just as good and have helped to no less extent, yet it is a quiet satisfaction to be identified in church work with men of such prominence in their day, whose names are held among us in highest esteem.

Of the congregation itself a number of men subscribed $100 each, a good round sum for the times and circumstances of early settlers in a country so wild and rugged. But prosperity soon showed itself to the early villagers, as the following testifies: The paper to which I have referred states that the first house, a log cabin, was built in 1824 and in eleven years the business portion of the village consisted of six large stores, two tanneries, one grist mill, one foundry, two wagon manufactories, two smith shops and several other establishments of various trades and business.

The Rev. Mr. Lyster resigned the rectorship of this parish in 1836, though the records show he supplied services at intervals afterwards, even for months at a time, coming in one year from Monroe to preach and conduct services on the first Sunday of the month. Dr. Galatian again did good work by acting as Lay Reader during these vacancies in the rectorship. The names of others who were at times active workers as Lay Readers, are Dr. Palmer, Dr. Patterson and Mr. Alonzo Tribou.

On the 4th of Sept. 1837, the original bell cast for this church was first rung. The lines written by the first rector upon hearing the first tones have been given you in the weekly papers, the NEWS and the Herald. The present bell was hung in the tower in 1880.

During the 63 years St. Peter's parish has been organized, 14 priests have been licensed to administer the sacrament and preach the word of God, the longest incumbency being 22 years, that of my predecessor, the late much revered pastor and priest.

It should give us intense pleasure to be permitted by Almighty God to celebrate this anniversary, to enjoy the services here today, to worship in a building erected by some of the pioneers of the state and through the energy of so noble a priest as Rev. W. N. Lyster. We cannot value too highly, as a congregation today, the labors of that pioneer priest who labored so zealously, perseveringly and lovingly amid the wilds of early times, to establish a congregation of the Kingdom of Heaven in this place. His labors were many and weary and we reap the benefit. He not only sowed the seed but prepared the ground to receive it while the church people of succeeding decades and we have enjoyed the fruit of due time. The sermons of that godly man are still fresh in the memories of men and women of our own hour, who heard him preach the comfortable gospel of Jesus Christ and who look back to those times with pleasing satisfaction when religious impressions were made that have hallowed the days of later life.

Of the original communicants worshipping here in the early days, we have but few left, and of the few I think I am right in saying there is only one, who, 62 years ago, viewed the laying of the corner stone and was present at the church opening. That one is Mrs. David VanTine. Though a child at the time, she remembers the occasions distinctly. There probably are members of other Christian bodies in Tecumseh still living who stood upon this hill to see the reverent ceremonies, but of our own people we have but the one.

Of the present male communicants two have served as wardens many years, Mr. Wm. Hayden and Mr. David Van Tine, the latter having been senior warden over 20 years. A third vestryman, Mr. Alonzo Tribou, now unhappily too ill to be with us, was most helpful and active for many years in the Sunday-school.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

SIGNIFICANT CELEBRATIONS.

It was not the mere coincidence of dates which gave the celebrations at Chattanooga and Atlanta last month their chief significance in the country; it was rather their profounder relation to the growth and progress not only of the South but of the Nation. The characteristic Southern hospitality recently extended to the members of the Grand Army at Louisville; the joint celebration of the great events which cluster about Chattanooga; the opening of the Industrial Exposition at Atlanta, with Mr. Booker T. Washington as in some sense the leading speaker of the occasion, constitute a series of events vitally connected with each other, and indicative of a development which is not only commercial, but social and spiritual as well. There is a new South; its existence is demonstrated beyond question by the exposition in the city of the eloquent man who framed the phrase; but there are a new North and a new West as well. It was not simply the new South which expressed itself at Chattanooga and Atlanta last month; it was the new Nation; the Nation in contradistinction from the old sections. Those sections still live, and will always live. They represent natural lines of activity, natural centers of affection, natural differences of temperament and habit; but they do not constitute the central organizing force of the country. That force is to be found in National feeling, transcending sectional lines, deeper than sectional affection, and greater than sectional differences. The American, not the Northerner, Southerner, or the Westerner, the representative figure in this country today.

The tremendous conflict which left some of its severest scars about Chattanooga rang the death-knell of the old sectional feeling, and marked the dominance of the National feeling. It is true the sectional note is still heard at times in the East, the South, and the West. There are still, and there will long continue to be, provincial Americans, but the dominant man is the National American, and the dominant sentiment is the National sentiment.

No more impressive spectacle has been seen in modern times than that which was witnessed at Chattanooga when the surviving contestants of those terrible days of war met to celebrate the achievements of both sides and to record the common courage and devotion. It was no artificial working up of fraternal feeling which brought the blue and gray together. There was no slurring of past differences. The Federal idea triumphed absolutely and finally in that great struggle. That is conceded by the men on both sides, and the recognition of its supremacy underlay the celebrations of last week and gave them their noble significance. That principle established, the old rancor and animosities have died a natural death, and the men who once faced each other for destruction are now joined together for protection and growth. By the working of a natural law, the clear establishment of this great principle, silencing forever so many false notes and divicive influences, has wrought a new prosperity in the new South. The scars of the war are still there; the disorders which followed the close of the war have left heavy burdens behind them; but through all the suffering, disorder, and loss there has been growing up a new and lasting prosperity which finds its illustration in the really noble Exposition at Atlanta. For the next few months this fine and rapidly growing city ought to be visited by every man and woman who can make the journey. The Exposition is not international, but it is National, and in some respects the more important because of its limitations. It ought to have generous support. The antidote for provincial Americanism, such as one still finds in New England, in the South and in the West, is a fuller acquaintance with other sections of the country. The North and West now have the opportunity of seeing the South at one of its great centers and in the richest expression of its material life which has yet been made. They will also undoubtedly, through public and private hospitality, have the opportunity of coming into touch with the generous and warm-hearted Southern nature. There was a world of meaning in the presence of Mr. Booker T. Washington among so many distinguished Southern leaders at the opening ceremonies at Atlanta, and it was especially gratifying that this colored man in some sense made the speech of the occasion—a report of which the readers of The Outlook will find in another column. Mr. Washington's presence and utterance marked the enormous stride which has been taken in the South, not only in industrial but in racial progress. Even more than the fraternal meetings at Chattanooga it signified the death of that old sentiment which not only made the South provincial, but which shut it off from the sympathies of the world. The old South had many fine characteristics and many attractive qualities, but the new South, penetrated by the National sentiment, is a greater and a nobler South.—The Outlook.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL.

The heavy frost last week hit some of the late celery about these parts pretty hard.

Mrs. Hettie Brewer and Miss Bertine Brewer were Toledo visitors yesterday, returning to-day.

E. E. Shoebottom, V. S., went Tuesday to North Baltimore, Ohio, where, we understand, he will locate.

Frank Allen, who is now chief train dispatcher for the C. J. & M. Ry., at Toledo, called on Tecumseh friends yesday.

Jno. S. Wells brought in the latest sample of potatoes, four mammoth seedlings weighing 5 lb, 1 1-2 oz. The largest contains 2 lb 1 oz. of starch, water etc.

Mrs. Josiah Phelps and daughter Louise departed Tuesday for Tacoma, Wash., where they will spend the winter with David Phelps who resides in that city.

Co. C. Attention—Every member of the company is requested to be present at the business meeting next Tuesday evening as important business is to be transacted.

Mrs. James Pittman and Miss Kate Hutchinson who have been spending the summer in the Stewart house on Chicago street, returned home to Detroit yesterday.

Geo. Knapp's new house is progressing finely. It is all enclosed and the lathers are now at work. When completed it will be one of the finest residences on Pottawatamie street.

The Michigan Bell Telephone Co. have brought a new supply of poles to Tecumseh and will rebuild their lines hereabouts. A long distance phone will also be put in here. You can talk with most anybody thon, for a consideration.

Will Carlton, the poet, will celebrate his fiftieth birthday, Oct. 21st. Tens of thousands of people, scattered all over this broad land, whose lives have been made brighter and hearts happier by his genial verses, will unite in extending their good wishes to the Lenawee county poet.

Last Wednesday, Oct. 16, Mrs. Peter R. Adams celebrated her 80th birthday by giving a party to a number of her friends. Mrs. Adams still enjoys excellent health and her friends confidently expect an invitation to her centennial celebration, provided they are here to receive it. Waller Adams, of Philadelphia, was present on the occasion.

This morning Bert Rector met with quite an accident while riding his new wheel. He was riding one way on Evans street near the railroad crossing while Joe Lanning was going the other way. They attempted to pass, but it seems that the wheel went the wrong way, running into the team. The horses became frightened, running over Fred and his wheel. The rider was severely bruised and the wheel pretty badly demolished.

Announcements are out of the wedding of Mr A. M. Kennedy and Miss Grace E. Stevens, both of Clinton. The ceremony took place at 6 o'clock Monday morning and the couple were greeted by many friends as they passed through Tecumseh on the morning train. Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy will be at home in Clinton after Oct. 21st. Their many Tecumseh friends beg leave to extend their best wishes and congratulations.

On the way home from Grand Rapids last week we stopped at Allegan three hours between trains, and called upon the brethren of the quill. There are three printing offices in Allegan, the Journal, Democrat and Gazette. The former is still conducted by the old veteran Don Henderson, who has been in the harness close to half a century, and is the Republican organ. It occupies a fine office on the ground floor. The Gazette is probably the neatest and most complete office. It makes a specialty of horticultural matters, and has a large list extending through several counties. The Democrat is the democratic organ and is doing a fine business in a strong Republican locality.

—SEEING IS BELIEVING—

So I say, see a copy of The Ohio Farmer of Cleveland, O., and be convinced that it is just what you want in the way of an all-around general purpose Agriculture, Live Stock and Home paper. Twenty large pages each week, printed on good paper, and devoted to the interests of the farmer and his family. There is no agricultural paper published in America that employs as many high-priced writers and editors, and none that expends one-half as much for illustrations, news and markets. A sample copy, which will be sent to you free by the publishers, will fully demonstrate its superiority. Its publishers are fully alive to the needs of its readers. Its writers and editors reside within the limits of their usefulness to its readers in the Central States. The paper always stops when the time for which it is paid has expired. Do not subscribe for a paper which will not guarantee this. Its market reports are condensed, reliable and fresh. Its East Liberty, Chicago and Buffalo business letters on the general condition, etc., of their respective markets, are the best of their kind published. Its price is only $1.00 per year to one and all, and the rest of this year will be thrown in free to new subscribers for '96. Subscribe early and get the most for your money. Hold your order for me.

The sudden appearance of summer birds is a puzzle to everybody. We see more songsters this morning than we have noticed in the past six months.

Remember our special sale of capes and jackets tomorrow, Oct. 19.
THE FREESE-WHITTLESEY CO.,
Clinton, Mich.

Editor Fifield, of the Deerfield Times, was in town Monday and gave the HERALD a friendly call. He has recently added a new press to the Times office.

Read the prospectus of the Country Gentleman in another column. It is one of the best agricultural papers published, and is clubbed with the HERALD at reduced rates.

Mr. Rudolf VonScarpa rendered the "Polonaise" by Liszt with precision and faultless technique. For an encore he played Mendelssohn's "Spring Song" with exquisite delicacy and charm, and was enthusiastically applauded.—The Times, Minneapolis.

Harris & Hiteshu announce the fact, which will be interesting news to the ladies, that on Saturday, Oct. 19th, and Monday Oct. 21st. they will show a complete line of ladies capes and jackets from one of the largest manufacturers in this country. This will be a chance which the ladies cannot afford to miss.

A petition has been circulated asking that Hudson be put under the curfew law, which provides that children shall not be allowed on the streets after the hours of 8 in the winter and 9 in the summer. In several of Michigan's villages this law is being enforced, and the published accounts are to the effect that it gives good satisfaction.

The work of collecting information for Chapin's Tecumseh Directory will be completed this week. Every effort has been made to obtain complete information, correct to date. Those who have lately made any change of business or residence, or who may think their names have been omitted, are requested to leave information at the office of the Herald or News, as soon as Nov. first.

Miss Powell is a born artist—too conscientious to resort to trick for the purpose of capturing applause—and, being an artist, her moods are so variable that if one listens to her a hundred times it is only to come away, not only with gratification, but also puzzled to know how and by what witchery she contrives to render so varied the interpretation of the same work. She executes the Mendelssohn concerto as no other violinist in America can.—Brooklyn Citizen.

Postmaster General Wm. L. Wilson yesterday afternoon made final announcement of his determination to grant Detroit and Michigan the relief desired in the matter of the establishment of fast mail service. The mail will be sent over the Canadian lines from Buffalo to Detroit. This terminates the long contest for the betterment of mail facilities and is a great victory for the Michigan fast mail committee and Hon. Don. M. Dickinson, who made the splendid presentation of their claims before the postmaster general last Saturday afternoon.—Adrian Telegram.

The business men of Jackson have attempted a novelty in evangelist work. Twelve of them have agreed to occupy the pulpit of the Free Will Baptist church, one each Sunday evening, during the next three months. They will preach on a great variety of subjects. Hon. E. W. Barker opened with an able address on "Reform." Other prominent speakers who will follow are: Hon. James O'Donnell, Warden Chamberlain, Prof. McCullough, Prof. Wesley Sears, Mayor A. J. Weatherwax, Hon. T. E. Barkworth, Hon. D. P. Sagendorph and Thomas A. Wilson.

Redpath Concert tomorrow evening.

Mrs. Hettie Brower was in Detroit last Saturday.

Postmaster Chas. Keeber, of Palmyra, was on our streets Tuesday,

The regular October session of the board of supervisors is being held this week.

Clinton, Macon, Ridgeway, Tipton, and Onsted have all invested liberally in Star Course tickets.

W. H. Brown, of Hudson, traveling passenger agent for the Lake Shore, was in town Wednesday.

The Coiled Spring Hustler for September has arrived. It keeps hustling, as usual, for the Page wire fence.

The Star Course will open tomorrow evening most auspiciously, and the first entertainment will be given to a crowded house.

M. L. Gillen is now prepared to paint carriages in first-class shape. Also house painting, calsimining, paper hanging, etc.

The Freese-Whittlesey Co of Clinton, hold a special sale of capes and jackets tomorrow, Oct. 19. They offer some great bargains.

Mrs. Charles Beal was called to Britton the fore part of the week on account of the sickness of her mother Mrs. C. Hoagland.

C. E. Williamson is in attendance upon the Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows, which is held at Lansing this week. He goes as a delegate from the Tecumseh lodge.

D. C. Andrews & Co. report their sales good on La Besta. They have recently filled orders for twenty cases to Cincinnati, ten cases to Chicago and ten to Milwaukee.

Percy Patterson, of Bay City, the young man who broke the half mile state record at the Tecumseh bicycle meet in August, was in town on business Wednesday.

The teachers of Raisin, Ridgeway, Macon, Clinton and Tecumseh, with the east half of Franklin and Adrian, will hold a meeting at Tecumseh Saturday, Oct. 19, 1895, at 10 o'clock a. m.

The Fayette Normal University is a school with a purpose. What that purpose is will be shown in the catalogue. Good work counts. Our students are our best friends. The next term begins Nov. 5.

Next year will be the last leap year of the century, and another will not occur until 1904. So that maiden ladies of uncertain age will need to take advantage of their opportunity or forever after expect to enjoy the peace of single blessedness.

Rev. J. P. Varner, of the Methodist church, will begin a series of five sermons to young people next Sunday night. The following topics will be discussed: "Young Men Who are to Be Giants;" "Young Men and Their Company;" "Our Girls;" "Husbands;" "Wives."

Mrs. Bishop is one of the best-known concert singers in America. Memphis will always give her a welcome after her artistic singing at the Beethoven concert last evening. She has a wonderful voice of great power and a brilliant quality and fine method.—Memphis, Tenn.

The Tecumseh Star Course is meeting with great success this season. Of the 650 Season Tickets to be sold 625 are now sold—only 25 more to sell. The course opens to-morrow night with the Redpath Grand Concert Co. Admission $1.00. Any one wanting season tickets at $1.50 should call on the committee at once, or they can be secured at the box office.

The native wife of an English merchant figures as a character of secondary importance in Julian Ralph's story, Alone in China, which is one of the prominent features in the current number of Harper's Magazine. In the November number the fortunes of the same character will be traced, her anomalous position furnishing the author with an opportunity for a vigorous characterization of Oriental society.

Secretary H. H. Ferguson, of the Lenawee County Agricultural society, is paying up the bills and premiums with commendable promptness. The premium list is the largest ever known, requiring over $600 more money to settle the claims than ever before. While it is impossible to tell how much will be left, it is thought a snug sum will be realized to be used in paying for the grounds.

The first Pingree county fair is now in progress at Detroit in the armory of the Detroit Grays. It is an exhibition of potatoes, pumpkins, corn, cabbages, etc., raised on the Pingree plan to help out the poor of the city. And whether Pingree ever did anything else worthy of mention or not that scheme showed him to be a man of the people. The fair promises to be an immense success, crowds being present last night. Pingree may be a scheming politician, but the man who tries to get into power by fighting the battles of the common people is such a rarity in modern politics, that he stands out unique and alone among the self seeking corruptionists of the closing hours of this century.—Adrian Telegram.

—MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY.—

Do you wish to wear clothes that'll suit?
Then go to the tailor of great repute.
Starling is the man the public admit.
That can't be beat for style and fit.
He is not talking or making a blow
Of workmanship the best and prices so low,
But if you step in to inquire you'll find
That for the best work at low prices he isn't behind.
His experience has been such as to place him front rank.
And he will please you all, whether jovial or crank,
But please bear in mind and do not be misled,
In guaranteeing a fit he means the body and not the head.
In short, he admires honest opposition,
At the same time defying fair competition.
Will he move or budge from this position.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed you will not accept any substitute if offered.

A GOOD CROP.

Wheat and Other Grains a Little Short But the Average Is Good.

LANSING, Oct. 11.—The state department in issuing the monthly crop report for October, places the average yield of wheat per acre in the state at 13.30 bushels, and the crop for 1895 at 16,782,637 bushels, or 4,658,778 bushels less than in 1894. There were reported marketed in September, 1,095,469 bushels, and for August-September, 1,798,468, or 677,606 bushels less than for the same months last year. The oat crop is estimated at 21 bushels per acre; barley, 15.78, and corn 60 bushels of ears. Compared with average crops potatoes are estimated to yield 82 per cent.; beans, 78; winter apples, 25, and late peaches, 83. Potatoes yield 38 per cent., and corn 21 bushels per acre more than last year, and oats 7 bushels less.

THE THREE LINKS.

Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows Meets at Lansing.

LANSING, Oct. 16.—Grand Master Salter in his annual address to the Michigan grand lodge of odd fellows Tuesday stated that while there was a net loss in membership of 740 during the last fiscal year ending December 31 last the loss had been more than overcome by the phenomenal growth of the order during the last ten months, and he predicted the reports to be made in December will show this has been the banner year in the history of the order. Eighteen subordinate and forty-four Rebekah lodges have been organized during the year. The Rebekahs were organized into an assembly Tuesday as provided by the sovereign grand lodge.

STRUCK A VEIN OF WARM WATER

Well Diggers Near White Pigeon Believe They Will Discover Coal.

WHITE PIGEON, Oct. 15.—While driving a well on the farm of John Middling, near the village, F. W. Northrop's men struck at a depth of 25 feet a stratum of coarse gravel and warm water of 98 degrees. Nothing of the kind has been before found in this section of the country. Many speculations are rife as to the cause of this phenomenon. Geologists hold that underlying this sheet of warm water, at no great depth, is a large quantity of soft coal, which, undergoing metamorphosis, generates sufficient heat to warm the water. It is possible that gas as well as coal may be found.

TYPHOID FEVER IN MICHIGAN.

Disease Is More Prevalent In the State Than Ever Before.

LANSING, Oct. 12.—Typhoid fever is more prevalent in Michigan than ever before, which is attributed to the low water in wells as a result of the continuous dry weather. The secretary of the state board of health reports 260 outbreaks for the quarter ending September 30, which is 105 in excess of the same period in 1894. There have also been 195 cases of smallpox reported since the beginning of the year, of which forty-five have been fatal. It is believed to be confined to three localities at present.

BUSINESS TROUBLES.

Mosher Failure Carries Down Another Saginaw Lumberman.

BAY CITY, Oct. 13.—The failure of Alfred Mosher & Son has bankrupted A. Maltby, another prominent lumberman, who on Saturday gave mortgages aggregating $144,171.19. The creditors are mostly Bay City mill men who have been sawing for Maltby. These two failures have created a great sensation in the lumber market and will seriously affect the business interests in the Saginaw valley. Bay City banks escape without loss, but Detroit, Saginaw and Alpena banks have a great deal of both Mosher's and Maltby's paper.

Michigan Wins State Tax Cases.

LANSING, Oct. 12.—The state won a victory of vast importance when the supreme court issued a writ of mandamus directing the county of Bay to pay its claim for back state taxes collected and retained by the county. The amount of the state's claim is $108,000, but this decision renders possible also the immediate collection of claims against other counties aggregating several hundred thousand dollars which have been hanging fire for years, in addition to settling several other important questions.

Will Fill the Industrial Homes.

LANSING, Oct. 13. — The industrial homes at Adrian and Lansing are liable to be taxed to their utmost capacity. The attorney general filed an opinion Saturday that under the compulsory education law of last winter children between the ages of 7 and 16 years can be sent to those institutions for truancy. The maximum term of imprisonment is ten years. Under the statute which the new law repealed no child under 12 years old could be so committed.

Death of Willard S. Pope.

DETROIT, Oct. 12.—Willard S. Pope, president of the Detroit Bridge and Iron works, died here Thursday evening, aged 63. He had a great reputation as a bridge designer and builder and had devoted the latter years of his life to that business. He was chief engineer of the Chicago & Northwestern in the '60s, and also served in an engineering capacity for the Illinois Central. He was a talented man and possessed literary attainments of a high order.

Train Wrecked in Michigan.

BRIGHTON, Mich., Oct. 12.—Freight train No. 44 on the Detroit, Lansing & Northern road was wrecked here by a broken axle at 4 o'clock Friday morning. Six cars, together with their contents, consisting of 100 head of sheep, apples, flour and general merchandise, were completely destroyed. The train crew escaped injury.

Marshes for Peppermint Fields.

BENTON HARBOR, Oct. 11.—The mammoth marshes at the outskirts of the town are being plowed preparatory to growing peppermint. The marshes have long been valueless.

STATE NEWS.

Many Paragraphs of General Interest to Be Found Below.

The crop of hazel and other nuts will be heavy this season.

A second crop of timothy hay has been cut by a farmer near Pinckney. It is pronounced excellent.

Over $8,000 has been paid out for cucumbers in the vicinity of Bangor by the Dingeen pickle factory during the season just closed.

Average yields of 100 bushels per acre for corn and 150 bushels for potatoes are reported from Livingston county.

An infant of William Hathaway, living near Scottville, fell into a swill barrel and was drowned.

At the session of the Episcopal triennial conference at Minneapolis last week the diocese of northern Michigan was created.

Michigan's forestry exhibit at Atlanta is in the form of a large pavilion nine feet high, which is used as a general headquarters for the Michigan visitors.

Old settlers say that the water in St. Joseph river is lower than ever before known. Several bars have formed, rendering navigation almost impassable.

From South Haven alone this year there have been shipped nearly 1,000,000 baskets of peaches by boat and 600,000 by the cars. For four months over 2,000 men and 200 teams were kept busy.

At Ann Arbor Saturday the University of Michigan football team defeated the Detroit eleven by a score of 42 to 0.

Robert L. Carey, of St. Joseph, has sued the Buchanan Weekly Record for $10,000 damages for libel.

A buggy factory, in which D. Denbleyker and Horace Peck are interested, has been incorporated to do business at Holland.

MARITAL RELATIONS MIXED.

Two Husbands and a Paramour Testify Against Mrs. Bradford.

DETROIT, Oct. 16.—A case is on trial here before Judge Hosmer wherein William L. Sagar is suing Mrs. Pleasant Bradford for $5,000, money advanced on a bond given the woman to induce her to return to her husband after she eloped with the plaintiff. He discovered after paying an annuity for years that instead of going to her husband she was married to a Detroit butcher, Peter Platz, twenty years her junior, without the formality of a divorce. He in turn left her when he learned the fact. All three of the men involved testified against her, the husband coming on.

ATTENDANCE AT ANN ARBOR.

Michigan University Has in All Departments 2,708 Students.

ANN ARBOR, Oct. 15.—The official figures of the registration at the university of Michigan were given out Monday night. They are as follows, by departments: Literary, 1,119; engineering, 305; medical, 401; law, 607; dental, 175; pharmacy, 76; homeopathic, 23; total to date, 2,708. After this date last year 349 students registered. If the same be true this year the final enrollment will reach 3,057. The increase of 160 from the figures of last year is distributed through all the departments, although greater in the literary, law and engineering departments.

Struck by a Train.

KENTON, Oct. 15.—While L. Westenberg, proprietor of a restaurant, and Mrs. Jane Wood were crossing the high bridge on the way to the depot Monday morning they were knocked from the bridge by a train, falling 40 feet. Mrs. Wood received injuries which will prove fatal. Westenberg may recover. They were in the middle of the bridge when the train whistled. For some reason both stood perfectly still, the woman waving her hand to stop the train, but not making the slightest move to get off the bridge.

Tax Cases to Be Reopened.

LANSING, Oct. 16.—Last week Circuit Judge Stone, of the Twenty-fifth circuit, set aside 1,600 real estate descriptions for taxes at Crystal Falls, Iron county, on account of errors and informalities of the local assessing officers in assessing the taxes of 1893 which are delinquent. Auditor General Turner proposes to have the action reviewed by the supreme court in an effort to enforce the collection of the state tax.

Faster Mail Service.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 15.—Postmaster General Wilson said Monday that the request of Detroit and Michigan people for faster service would be granted. If a faster service cannot be secured over American lines the mail cars and clerks will be carried over Canadian lines. Mr. Wilson added that there is ample authority for such a move.

MASONIC TEMPLE DEDICATED.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Thronged with Visitors to the Grand Parade.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Oct. 16.—The masonic temple was dedicated Tuesday, the ceremonies being more elaborate and imposing than any before seen in this city. The principal streets are profusely decorated, many of the hotels and business houses and hotels being almost hidden by bunting and masonic emblems, while an electric display was made Tuesday night and viewed by no less than 12,000 visitors. The feature of the day was a parade at 2:30. The column, led by the Detroit Commandery Knights Templar, was nearly 2 miles in length. After the parade the dedicatory services were conducted by the grand lodge officers in accordance with the masonic ritual.

The temple occupies the four upper floors of the new seven-story building erected by Col. E. Crofton Fox, and the apartments were arranged and designed throughout with the purpose to which they will be put kept constantly in view. In furnishings and fittings the temple will be the finest, richest and most sumptuous in the United States, in this respect no regard having been paid to expense. The furniture, all constructed after special designs by the Nelson Mathes company, of this city, cost $15,000, and the heavy velvet carpets, the silk and tapestry draperies, the rugs, wall finishings and other features cost as much more. The master of the blue lodge will sit in a solid mahogany chair which alone cost $250, and the high priest in the chapter will have a chair that cost as much. The top of the altars are 2-inch planks of solid mahogany and the ornamentations are of the finest hand carving. Everything else is on the same scale.

The sixth and seventh stories of the temple are devoted to the uses of the consistory, commandery and shrine. On the south side of the building, opening from the sixth floor, is the asylum, 47x70 feet in size and 40 feet high, with a gallery on two sides, smoking and choir rooms opening from the gallery and parlors and smoking-rooms from the asylum in front. On the same floor, in the northwest corner of the building, is the Red Cross room, 31 feet square, with a heavily-vaulted roof, the walls shaded from deep red to gray, and in the middle of the ceiling a red cross illuminated by hidden electric lights.

The armory for the commandery is located on the north side of the sixth floor, with a vaulted passage separating it from the asylum, and in front are parlors, offices and reception rooms. On the seventh floor are parlors in front and a large drill room or banquet hall in the rear, with kitchen, china closet and private dining room attached.

The fourth and fifth floors are occupied by the blue lodge and chapter. On the south side of the fourth floor, in front, are two large parlors of the blue lodge, furnished in mahogany and upholstered in corduroy, with an examination and preparation-room adjoining and then the blue lodge room, which has been named Corinthian hall. The lodge room is 47½x66 and the ceiling reaches to the top of the fifth floor.

On the north side of the building, fourth floor, is the chapter room, the most sumptuous and elaborate of them all. The room is Moorish in design, with oriental decorations in gold and red, with red carpet and cherry woodwork, the furniture in mahogany and the upholstering to correspond with the other fittings. On the fifth floor are the Masonic club rooms with parlors, billiard rooms, and card rooms in front and a large banquet hall, with kitchen and china closets, in the rear.]

LITTLE GIRL MURDERED.

Shocking Climax to a Mystery at Ishpeming.

ISHPEMING, Oct. 16.—On June 24 last a 5-year-old daughter of Adolph Lafrenieres disappeared, and, though a thorough search was made, no trace of her was found. Tuesday, however, the decomposed remains of the little one were found in the attic of the house of a neighbor named Wendel, where she was last seen before she disappeared. An examination showed that her skull had been fractured and there were blood stains on her clothing. An investigation is being made by the police.

Michigan Bank Statement.

LANSING, Oct. 15.—Banking Commissioner Sherwood reports that at the close of business September 28 the state banks of Michigan had loans and discounts, stocks, bonds and mortgages aggregating $67,938,834, an increase over July 11, the date of the last previous report, of $2,763,323. The undivided profits amounted to $2,005,547 and surplus to $2,672,792. The total deposits increased $3,136,203. The saving deposits were $40,333,612; commercial, $8,801,503; increase, $1,081,944 and $1,405,718 respectively.

Died at the Age of 103.

A SPECIFIC

—FOR—

La Grippe, for Colds, Coughs, AND LUNG TROUBLES,

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL

"Two years ago, I had the grippe, and it left me with a cough which gave me no rest night or day. My family physician prescribed for me, changing the medicine as often as he found the things I had taken were not helping me, but, in spite of his attendance, I got no better. Finally, my husband,—reading one day of a gentleman who had had the grippe and was cured by taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,—procured, for me, a bottle of this medicine, and before I had taken half of it, I was cured. I have used the Pectoral for my children and in my family, whenever we have needed it, and have found it a specific for colds, coughs, and lung troubles."—EMILY WOOD, North St., Elkton, Md.

Before the finished fruit come bud and blossom. Bud grows into blossom and blossom into fruit. And so girlhood merges into womanhood and the woman into motherhood.

The two most critical times in a woman's life are the times which make the girl a woman, and the woman a mother. At these times, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is of incalculable value. It turns danger into safety and pain into ease. It is a medicine which has but one object. It is good for but one thing. It strengthens and invigorates the organs distinctly feminine, it promotes regularity of the functions, allays irritation and inflammation, checks unnatural, exhausting drains, and puts the whole delicate organism into perfect condition. Almost all of the ills of womankind are traceable to some form of what is known as "female complaint." And this generally begins either at the time of puberty or childbirth, or at the "turn of life."

There are not three cases in a hundred of woman's peculiar diseases that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will not cure. Thousands of grateful women have been rendered healthy and happy by its use, and the experience and testimony of many of them has been included in Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser.

When Dr. Pierce published the first edition of his work, The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, he announced that after 680,000 copies had been sold at the regular price, $1.50 per copy, the profit on which would repay him for the great amount of labor and money expended in producing it, he would give away the next half million free. He is now distributing, absolutely free, 500,000 of this most complete, interesting and valuable common sense medical work ever published—the recipient only being required to mail to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, at Buffalo, N. Y., twenty-one (21) one-cent stamps to pay cost of mailing only, and the book will be sent post-paid. It is a veritable medical library, complete in one volume. It contains over 1000 pages and more than 300 illustrations. The Free Edition is precisely the same as that sold at $1.50 except only that the books are bound in strong manilla paper covers instead of cloth. Send now before all are given away. They are going off rapidly, therefore, do not delay sending immediately if you want one.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Lesson For the Week Beginning Oct. 20. Comment by Rev. W. J. Yates, A. M. Topic, Choosing of the Seven.

SCRIPTURE READING.—Acts vi. 1-8.

Division of labor is as necessary in the church as in any secular business. Possession of a certain temperament and skill fits a person for one kind of work, but just as surely disqualifies for other sorts.

Care for the bodily wants and physical well being of its members is a part of the duty of the church. Care for and relief of the poor, sick and needy bring spiritual culture to those giving aid of more value than all the benefit of body received by those whom they have helped. The poor are always here and the duty is always laid on Christians to seek them and become helpful to them. No other check is so effectual to avarice and selfishness as to give to some needy person.

Fraternal and benevolent orders are numerous and often receive more attention from church members than is given to the church work. Some of them take better care of their members than many churches do of theirs. Is their rapid growth evidence of neglect on the part of the church? Or is it only an indication that the principles of Christianity are leavening society and elevating men into fraternity? Perhaps both these thoughts are true.

Does official position in the church unfit a person for activity in the devotional services? Is possession of secular business ability a sufficient qualification for appointment to office in the church? Why do so few trustees and stewards in the Methodist Episcopal church attend and take part in the prayer and class meetings? Why has it become so difficult and in many places impossible to find men fitted for class leaders or to take charge of prayer meetings?

A thorough study of this lesson will throw some light on all this dark subject and reveal several principles which should be applied in every church.

1. Every Christian should contribute regularly, systematically and liberally to the benevolences of the church.

2. The needy cases and causes should be carefully considered and treated according to their merits.

3. This work should not be left to the preachers, but placed in charge of those specially fitted to do it.

4. Wisdom and deep spirituality are essential qualifications for this office.

The Bishop of India.

spirituality without fanaticism, faith and zeal balanced by sound judgment, all pointed him out as the man providentially raised up to lead the hosts of India into a new day. We commend the study of his work to all our members.

The Greatest Discovery.

The way in which Dr. C. H. Payne worded it at the Chattanooga convention was somewhat startling: "The present age has been marked by brilliant discoveries, but the greatest discovery has yet to be made, and when made will startle and quicken the world. That discovery is the discovery of Christ. He has never yet been really and fully known; has never been rightly recognized; never had a fitting place in the world for which he died. Christ's own type of Christianity must and will be realized. The greatest need of the world today is the Christianization of Christianity—the making of Christianity what Christ intended it to be."

The Other Side.

But blame does not lie wholly on the side of members of the church. Oftentimes strangers rudely repel the advances made. Sometimes they forget they are guests and act with boorish incivility. Some appear to think they have conferred great favor upon the church by attending and act as if the whole thing belonged to them. "Be courteous," was a direction no more needed in the days of the apostle that at present.

A Thirsty Nation.

The beer drank in the United States last year amounted to over 16 gallons for every person; distilled spirits, 1¼ gallons; wine, nearly one-half gallon.

This made the enormous total of 279,746,044 gallons of beer, 69,572,062 gallons of spirits and 10,700,000 gallons of imported wine. The consumption of beer exceeded that of coffee two gallons per person.

What We Paid For It.

The tax last year on spirituous liquors amounted to $85,259,546. On fermented liquors it was $31,414,493. The tax on tobacco was $28,617,898.

The retail cost of the intoxicating liquors consumed in the United States last year was $1,014,759,057.

PICKING CHICKENS.

The poultry business is a very good business, provided you can get good specimens for nothing and sell them at a fair price. So thought James Francisco, who lives in a tenant house on the farm of Harrison Hardy in Franklin. He evidently has a great eye for business and saw a rare opportunity in a scheme of this kind.

Last Monday night DeWitt C. Bowen's feathered possessions took flight, turkeys and all. As domestic fowls rarely fly at night unaided, Mr. Bowen began a search and found two of his choicest pets in Francisco's coop. Deputy Stevens was notified and information was obtained further implicating Francisco, showing that he had taken the rest of the poultry to Toledo for disposal. A complaint was made Wednesday night before Justice Wightman, and Deputy Stevens went to Toledo yesterday morning. He got the offender and the poultry. The poultry was sold. Francisco was willing enough to then act as agent even without pay, and requested the proceeds to be turned over to Mr. Bowen. He was arraigned before Justice Wightman on a charge of stealing 11 turkeys, 30 chickens and 1 1-2 bushels of corn. He waved examination and was bound over to the circuit court to appear next Monday. As the bail fixed could not be furnished, the prisoner was committed to the county jail where he was taken this morning by Deputy Stevens.

Clark Payne and many other farmers have been missing poultry and perhaps they were handled by the same dealer. Among the operator's devices for handling poultry were a pair of noiseless moccassins making a track which ran backwards, and a sling shot which, if well used, would put a man to sleep quicker than chloroform.

Poultry is a considerable item in the cash assets of our farmers at present, and as it is almost impossible to secure them against thieves, offenders of this kind should be as severely dealt with as are horse thieves in Texas.

Resolutions of Respect.

Whereas: During the past few months death has entered our ranks and claimed three of our earnest workers. Mrs. Charles F. Blood, Mrs. Julia J. Harding and Mrs. W. W. Marsh, obeyed the summons and passed over the river to their home beyond, while we as a society, are left to mourn. Therefore

Resolved, That although we do not understand why these were taken in the midst of their usefulness, yet, one high in authority has said, "what I do thou knowest not now, but thou shalt know hereafter," and we submissively bow to Him who doeth all things well. We miss them for their hearts were ever ever willing and their hands always ready to assist in every good work, and in their death our ladies society has suffered an itreparable loss. As we think of our loss, our sympathies go out to the afflicted families in their greater bereavement, and we pray that the divine Father may sustain and comfort them.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be placed on our record, and one presented to the families.

The grand lodge of the I. O. O. F. meets in annual session in Lansing this week. It is expected that some 800 representatives from subordinate and Rebekah lodges will be present. There will be an address of welcome by Mayor Turner, andthat time will be the only open session of the three days' meeting. It is expected the official reports will show a gratifying increase in membership and financial strength during the year. There are now 700 subordinate lodges and 465 Rebekah lodges in Michigan. During the year there were 18 subordinate lodges and 41 Rebekah lodges organized. Thursday afternoon the meetings end with an interesting ceremony, the distribution of $5,000 as payment to representatives for services. Tuesday evening Jackson Rebekah lodge will exemplify the work and Wednesday night a team of Lansing Odd Fellows will exemplify the subordinate degree.—Adrian Times.

The Historic Route.

The Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis R'y, the model railroad of the South in equipment, roadway and service, is also the greatest in historical interest, more than fifty famous battlefields and five national cemeteries being located on the various lines of this system. This is the preferred route to Atlanta for the Cotton States and International Exposition, open from September 18, to December 31, 1895, for which very low excursion rates have been made. Through sleeping car service from St. Louis to Atlanta via Evansville, Nashville and Chattanooga. This is the route of the famous Dixie Flyer through sleeping car line which runs the year round between Nashville and Jacksonville, Fla. For further information, address Briard F. Hill, 328 Marquette Building, Chicago, Ill., or R. C. Cowardin, Western Passenger Agent, Railway Exchange Building, St. Louis, Mo., or D. J. Three Crops a Year

Can be grown on the same land in eastern Mississippi and southern Alabama along the line of the Mobile & Ohio railroad. The summers are cooler, the winters are milder, the death rate is lower than in the north. Improved farms $10 to $15 per acre; unimproved land $3 to $5 per acre near railway stations. It is the best portion for raising fruits and early vegetables, stock raising and general farm crops. Lands are advancing; now is the time to buy. Very low rate excursions monthly. The Mobile & Ohio has put on two through fast trains each way daily between St. Louis and Mobile. It is the shortest and quickest route to the South. An illustrated pamphlet telling all about our country will be sent free to all who wish it. Apply to F. W. Greene, general agent, No. 198 North Broadway, St. Louis, Mo., or to E. E. Posey, general passenger agent Mobile & Ohio R'y, Mobile, Ala. tf

COIN'S FINANCIAL SCHOOL.

This little book is one of the most extensive treatises on the money question that has ever been written. It shows up the evil effects of our present monetary system in a most emphatic manner. Every voter in Lenawee county, regardless of party affiliations, should read it. The Chicago Times says: "A book that will create a profound impression throughout the United States." The New York Recorder says: "It mercilessly scourges the money changers in the Temple of the Republic." The Chicago Inter-Ocean says: "This book tells its readers more about gold, silver and currency, generally, than any other publication we know of, and in a way that every man can fully comprehend." A supply is kept on hand at the HERALD office. Single copies 25 cents. Every new advance paying subscriber to the HERALD will receive a copy free. Now is your time to get good reading cheap. Pass in your orders.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars: free.

Table Talk.

In Table Talk for October a number of household subjects are touched upon. The culinary interests are treated in the Housekeepers Inquiry Department, where a large number of good recipes are given, and in the menus suggested for every meal during the month. The Fashions and whims of today are mentioned in the New Bill of Fare and under Fashionable Luncheon and Tea Toilets, while other points of equal interest are to be found in the article on the Kindergarten Influence. The Charm of the Lily, by Miss Nora Smith, whose experience has been great in that line. How to Make Good Servants, by Mrs. Burton Kingland, and Diet in Diabetes, by Dr. H. H. Hawkhurst. The market list, books of the month, and so on, are all found in the pages of this valuable little magazine, a sample copy of which is free to our readers, by addressing Table Talk, Philadelphia, Pa.

OUR WHEELMEN ABROAD.

From the Alps Into Italy, Beautiful Venice and Verona and the Italian Lakes.

MR. EDITOR:—Italy and Italians made it necessary to change our tongue again and I will not betray how lamely and unfashionably we did so. The ridiculous makeshifts and the perfect gravity with which they are received, shows the Italians to be very courteous indeed. We rather dreamed than rode the first few miles of Italy. It was like entertering Eden from a polar ice field. But we reached a town and Italy's mask dropped. Dirty, white buildings, adorned with dirty frescoes just under the eaves, dirty churches with an outrageous picture of a virgin or holy family, or saint done in dirty colors and yellow streaked by the weather, the campanile or bell-towor always separate from the church, always square and white and dirty, and, finally, filthy children in rags, who run shrieking after us demanding a soldo. Then as we were leaving the town, crowds of maddened imps, minions of Satan I am sure, pursue us and rain stones upon us while they curse and grimace hideously.

After that town, the valley road was lined by houses and they were made of stone. If you know how the stone fences around a typical New York farm appear—heaped up stone and no mortar—you can imagine these houses. They are not windowless and the interior, wherever visible, is a mass of dirt. Crowds of workmen pass by singing furiously. The laboring women, however, are devoid of this lightsome spirit. A typical costume does not exist in this region. They wear anything which will partially cover nakedness. Rags are fastened in parellel stripes running horizontally, perpendicularly and bias. Rags, dirt and a polka-dot handkerchief is the national costume. Strips of cloth hang like stalactites from some of them.

While I was making these observations, my tire burst in an alarming manner. It looked for a moment as if all were over, but by dint of sacrificing our shoe-strings and lacing the hood tightly, we made the wheel rideable and decided to make one more desperate effort at Milan to get a new tire. On we went through queer hills and more bedizened and painted towns until we reached Lake Maggiore. This is another magic lake set in an enchanted landscape. On its banks grow fig trees, pomegranites, olives and the myrtle—yes, even the fabled cypress. Its islands are creations of a wizard's wand; Isola Bella with its terraces luxuriant with magnolias, lemon trees, cedars, laurels and oleanders of fabulous size, Isola Madre and (translated unpoetically) the isle of the fishers. Only fancy such a ride as ours along that lake shore for 15 miles. The click, click of the statuary's chisel whose shops border the lake for miles, then the beautiful chateaus and vilas built on the hillside which slopes steeply from the water's edge. While we were riding a long stretch between two towns, a storm arose at the end of the lake. The sun was setting, and out of the densely black clouds the lightning burst in fan shapes sending fierce bolts in all directions from a single point. We were lighted on our road by this pyrotechnic display, and just as the storm burst we reached a hotel and were put to bed in a wonderfully artistic room, such as we have since learned to expect in Italian houses. The rain beating into the inner court of the house made us nervous for fear the floor would get wet, but no one else cared, so we finally slumbered and awoke only once to hear the waves beating on the beautiful shore of the lake, and again in time to see the most glorious of sunrises. On we rode thro' historic towns where we were directed and misdirected on our road to Milan, until we stopped and drew up a solemn compact that we would believe one man in five, and flip a coin to see which one of the five that one should be. We have grown more charitable since and believe it is ignorance. Italians are so desperately ignorant.

Time after time we looked back affectionately at the Alps, where the great Mt. Blanc and Rosa and the Matterhorn displayed their snowy peaks. How many chapels we passed all painted inordinately with full-length saints, immaculate conceptions and scenes from the life of Christ. Milan at last and the great arch which terminates the famous Simplon road. Soon after passing it, a wheelman approached us. He was courteous in manner and elegantly dressed. Quite unobtrusively he learned our purpose, conducted us to a large wheel establishment where we learned that no tire could possibly be secured for my peculiar wheel, and then guided us to all the attractions: the famous Leonardo da Vinci's, "Last Supper," Brera art gallery, the great arcade, the cathedral, (which I assure you I am in love with and want one just like it, but can't pause to describe,) the Corso and many minor attractions. A more ideal gentleman I have never met than our self appointed Milanese guide. He evidently entertained us, travel-stained and unprepossessing as we were, merely because of the kindness in his heart. He escorted us to the city walls, shook hands, touched his hat, wished us a pleasant journey and left us. In a few minutes another tire burst delayed us until too late to ride and we stopped at an albergo, or inn, just out of the city. At a council of war held that night, we decided to continue our prescribed route as far as Rome, if we had to ride on the bare rims.

Next day we started out with a vengeance and in two days, upon the finest roads we had yet seen, we rode to Venice a distance of 200 miles. I can only drag your fancy furiously along that road, tell you how we crossed the bridge of Lodi where Napoleon showed such consummate bravery, inform you that the whole territory is a low plain watered by irrigation ditches, which are neatly hidden by overhanging willows, relate that we did not steal watermelons because the owners have little wicker houses where they sit and watch the fields and sell to whomever will buy, and lastly, tell how Italian boys try to stick pins into our tires, and we have to take our wheels into the restaurants with us. Brescia, Verona, Vicenza and Padua were the cities through which we passed. At Brescia was an amusing sight in the market place. A small sideshow there had an enormous painted sign: "Barnum's Exposition!" As we entered Verona we met an Italian funeral. All were dressed in black and carried a white wand 5 feet long. Three priests led and while they chanted in a low hypocritical monotone they looked at us, at each other and smiled. We went into the Piazza Erbe, or fruit market, and wended our way among the tombs of the Scaligers and stared at the famous old amphitheatre and visited innumerable cathedrals.

There was something so ethereal about the beauty of Lago di Grada that I cannot now realize that it is a real lake and lay between Bresica and Verona, therefore I nearly forgot it. Let me say to make amends, that over no scene in Europe have we eulogized so much and I think nothing can surpass its beauty on a bright summer day. Oh, how discursive and wandering I am becoming! I passed Verona and failed to tell how we searched out Juliet's home. It was about twilight, and if it was Juliet who sat in the window of the old Capulet mansion, then she has lost her beauty. We slept in Verona that night and I recall fancifully how the moon shone in my face and woke me. It is hard to believe that in fair Verona the fairer Rosamunde drank wine from her father's skull; but legend says so and I leave you to meditate till my next letter.

THE REDPATH CONCERT.

The efforts of the committee of the Star entertainment course to secure the very best talent have been amply rewarded. In the first place, they secured the best; in the second place the citizens generously supported this action and the success of the course this year is assured. It should be extremely gratifying to know that Tecumseh and vicinity demand and support an entertainment course second to none in the state, for surely no criterion marks the higher tastes of a community more certainly than this.

The first entertainment of the course by the Redpath Grand Concert Co., was looked forward to with great expectations, both by our musical critics and the people, for Miss Powell and Mrs. Johnston Bishop were already favorites with Tecumseh audiences. However, the treat in store for patrons of the course went far beyond their most sanguine anticipations. Concerning the technical merits of these artists we will not attempt a word. It would be an easy matter to copy a few choice expressions about "faultless technique," "steadiness of tempo," "thematic development" and "astounding virtuosity." We leave this for our metropolitan contemporaries and accept their highest technical praise in the fullest faith. However, it can be truthfully said that the audience last Saturday evening were entertained with every number—entertained to the fullest extent of their appreciation and feelings—entertained, not because they thought they ought to be, but because they could not help it. Miss Powell and Mrs. Johnston Bishop have added new laurels to their former success here. Mrs. Murray and Herr Von Scarpa have won a host of admirers, and any one of the artists could fill the Opera House alone. It is hoped that the committee will be able to secure this company to open our course next season.

THE INDIAN DANCING GROUND.

An Item of Local History Showing From What Source Tecumseh Derived Its Name.

We have been shown and permitted to copy for the Tecumseh HERALD two very interesting articles, written by Dr. M. A. Patterson in 1868 for the Tecumseh CHIEF, then owned and published by Geo. S. & Chas. K. Spafford, but we believe never before given to the public, and it is to Mr. Geo. S. Spafford, in the employ of the Tecumseh HERALD printing office that we are indebted for this favor, not only to ourselves, but to the readers of the HERALD and our citizens generally, we would fain believe. B. L. BAXTER.

Tecumseh, Oct. 18, 1895.

THE TECUMSEH CHIEF.

A white man meeting an Indian inquired "whose Indian are you?" "I am God Almighty's Indian" he replied, "Whose Indian are you?"

Why have you given this name to your paper? This question is still occasionally asked by a friend, and in order to gratify a very natural curiosity, we answer. Because Tecumseh is the name of our village, and our village is named after an Indian Chief.

As but few of our citizens know how this happened, the following brief information will be new and interesting to most of our readers.

When Musgrove Evans, Austin E. Wing, Col. Landman and several other gentlemen from Monroe, Mich., were partaking of a rural dinner in a primitive way, under the branches of a spreading oak that grew in the center of the old village ground, (this was before the village had a name, or any permanent inhabitant,) the question arose as to what should be the name of the proposed embryo village.

Several names were proposed and rejected, as being too romantic, far-fetched, or meaningless.

Musgrove Evans at last remarked. "why not call it Tecumseh?"

"That will not do," replied one of the party. "Tecumseh was a British Indian."

"Thee is mistaken," quietly answered friend Musgrove, who was a member of the Society of Friends, "Tecumseh was Nature's Indian."

This emphatic remark decided the question, and before rising from their repast, our village had a name.

*Now dear reader turn over this sheet and look at the Chief. Notice his high bones, his solid chin, his firmly closed mouth, his broad, massive forehead rising like a tower above his deep set eyes, which are half concealed amid their dark o'er arching brows. The artist has done his work so perfectly, that a mysterious grandeur is stamped upon the noble lines of the chieftain's features, a mystery that hangs over his origin, his purposes, and his death.

Now look again. His is not perhaps what a refined sentimentality would call handsome, but in the very massiveness of that darkly shaded outline, and the bold, rude, tracing of the pencil, that leaves to the imagination everything to surmise respecting the chieftain's country, character and fortune, we cannot be mistaken in the belief that we have before us the portrait, rudely drawn it may be, but still the portrait of no ordinary man. His brow is as bold and lofty, as that of any noble saxon, though he was not in any way allied to that proud race. His skin is tawney, yet not a drop of African blood darkens his viens.

On the second marriage of his mother to a chief of the Shawnees he became a member of that powerful tribe, and hence it has been said that he was born in the valley of the Sciota; but this was not the case, and traditionary history has located his birth place near the Indian dancing ground of the Lenawee, his ancestral tribe.

Where was that "Dancing Ground?" We will undertake to answer this question in the next No. of the "Tecumseh Chief"

In the mean time some of our citizens may unconsciously tread upon this sacred ground. We say sacred, for the slow and solemn dance of the Indian, constituting a profoundly grave and earnest religious ceremonial, is very different from the festive exhilerating dance of the white man, and no less so from the hilarious, triumphant, and almost fiendish war dance with which the Indians are accustomed to celebrate their victories.

TAKE A HINT FROM MARY.

Mary had a little lamb;
You do not look surprised;
Of course you don't, for Mary has Been widely advertised.

And something you may learn from this,
If you are not a clam;
You can be just as widely known
As Mary and her lamb.

Your name can be a household word,
And you be known as well,
That folks will confidently buy
The things you have to sell.

And when you once have got yourself
Into the cheering rays
Of the sunlight of publicity,
You bet your life it pays.

SPEECH-MAKING IN KENTUCKY.

As Judge Lurton of Tennessee was once going through Texas he met an old Texan who described at length the people who had settled in the neighborhood, a large number of them having come from Kentucky.

"And there's them Kaintuckians," said he. "Their the speakin'est people I ever see in my life, fer a fact. Why, whenever we hev a shootin' match, a camp-meetin', a weddin' or a fun'ral, you can jest bet that them Kaintuckians will be thar, and afore you knows it they'll be offerin' resolutions and a makin' speeches tell you can't rest. To tell the truth, jedge, they cain't cut a watermelon without a speech."—Century.

NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE.

During the last six months The Kicker has purchased a new paper cutter, two fonts of job type, a can of blue ink and $10 worth of pink paper for poster work, and not a word of boasting has appeared in these columns. A little thing happened the other day, however, which we want to brag about, and which we think equals anything in the way of New York or Chicago enterprise. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon, Col. Joe Smith sent us word by messenger that we were a slouch editor and must stop his paper. Our mule was out at pasture a mile away, and our guns needed cleaning. It is twelve miles as the crow flies to the colonel's ranch, and yet at half past 3 o'clock we were there. The fusilade between us lasted ten minutes. It took five minutes more to get the colonel to subscribe for three extra copies to send east, and four or five to water our mule and tighten the saddle-girths. At exactly 5 o'clock we were back at The Kicker office and booking the new subscriptions. Thus, in three hours, we cleaned two guns, run a mile after our mule, rode twenty-five miles and had a fight lasting ten minutes. We don't admit that this is the best we can do, but until some other critter beats it, we shall rest easy.—M. Quad.

GEN. CUSTER'S CHECK.

The tragic death of Gen. Custer and his gallant men at the hands of the Sioux Indians in the massacre of Little Big Horn was recalled the other day at Bismarck, N. D., says a recent dispatch from that town, by the forwarding to Mrs. Custer of a check for $1,560 drawn to the order of Gen. George A. Custer, in 1876. The check is dated June 25, and is signed B. L. Smith, at that time assistant paymaster of the army. It was on June 25, 1876, the massacre took place. The check is still unpaid, and soiled and tattered though it be, constitutes a valid claim against the government for the amount represented on its face, which was no doubt intended as part payment of Gen. Custer's salary as an officer of the United States army.

Where the check has been all these years no one knows, least of all Michael Francis, who found it in the street, at Bismarck, last Febuary, and who has retained it in his possession until now. When Francis picked up the bit of paper it was almost as legible as when it was drawn, but three heavy creases in it showed that it had been worn through. The parts were joined together by narrow strips of paper pasted on the back, and the edges were somewhat soiled, as though the paper had at one one time been dropped in the mud.

No endorsement appears upon the back of the check and the face shows the mark of no cancellation stamp, demonstrating that the check has never been presented for payment. The check was, no doubt, forwarded to the northwest before the news of the Custer massacre reached Washington. Had it reached those in charge of the dead soldier's effects it would have been sent in at once in order that one payable to the heirs could have been sent in its place. It has evidently been under shelter somewhere, and the chances are that it was lost last February and swept out into the street where it was found by Mr. Francis.

Hundreds of precious little ones owe their lives to Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, the sovereign cure for croup and all other throat or lung diseases. 1w

Clinton Column.

CLINTON, MICH., OCT. 25, 1895.

Ed. Clark is erecting some new box stalls near his livery stables.

Mrs. Alonzo Clark left Wednesday for an extendad visit in Chicago.

Miss Lizzie Shuler returned to Tiffin, Ohio, Thursday, after visiting in Clinton.

Attorney G. R. Gillespie made a business trip to Tecumseh last Saturday night.

Attorney A. M. Freeman, of Manchester, was in town on business last Friday.

Mrs. H. E. Stout and son Charles, of Tecumseh, called on Clinton friends Tuesday.

Mr. Elmer Halliday, of Palmyra, N. Y. is visiting his mother and brotners in this vicinity.

The Clinton Social Club gave a reception Wednesday evening to Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Kennedy.

E. R. Smith and wife started Monday for a trip to New York. They expect to be gone about ten days,

The McClure bakery is being well established in its new quarters and a very neat accomodation it has too.

Miss Gertrude Larzeleer and Miss Howland drove over from Grass Lake last Friday for a few days visit with Miss Grace Corwin.

J. B. Murrah, of Texas, who has been visiting James Hogan and others about the village for a few days, returned to his home last Friday.

Between 25 and 30 of our music-loving citizens attended the performance of The Redpath Grand Concert Co. at Tecumseh last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Kennedy returned last Monday and are now nicely situated in the rooms formerly occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Kies.

The Misses Jennie and Kittie Van Tuyle went to Ypsilanti on Saturday. The former will attend business college there, and the latter work at dress making.

Misses Linda Nase, Mable Barnesdale and Olive Mills attended the teachers' examination at Adrian Thursday and Friday of last week, Miss Nase has been engaged as a teacher in the Clinton public schools.

The special sale of capes and jackets held by The Freese-Whittlesey Co. last Saturday was a great success notwithstanding the unfavorable weather. Many more garments were sold by the firm than on the big day of their opening.

The Congregational society will hold their annual chicken pie social at the church parlors next Wednesday, Oct. 30. People should remember that it is necessary to their well being to get at least one good meal during the year and this is their chance.

Frank Woodward came over from Hudson Saturday to pack and ship his household effects to that place. The goods were shipped Tuesday. Mrs. Woodward went Thursday. The couple have a host of friends here who wish them every success in their new home.

Mrs. Tobias Mudget died last week Thursday. The funeral was held at the home of her mother, Mrs. Bunting, Saturday morning and the remains were buried at Tipton. The deceased was a member of the L. O. T. M. at this place and held a benefit of one thousand dollars in that excellent organization.

Lyle Gibson, who was found guilty in the circuit court last week Tuesday of violating the state liquor law, was last Saturday sentenced by Judge Lane to a fine of $75 and costs amounting to $50, or 60 days in jail. This fine is thought to be rather excessive by many of the citizens, considering this is the first offense, and over a hundred dollars have been raised to assist in paying the fine.

Four of our country young gentlemen thought Chicago street would be a good course on which to speed their horses, and accordingly tried their equines there last Friday night. As a result, Marshal Sherwood brought them up before Justice Smith who fined two of the young racers $5 each and one $6 for their sport. Not in every town are the ordinances enforced in so prompt a manner.

Some people were perhaps not aware the young men of Clinton maintain a first class gymnasium. An enterprise of this kind must needs labor unknown and unrecognized perhaps for years ere it can win for itself the position and respect which its importance deserves. At last the reward of perseverance has come, and the once unheard of gym. is the talk of great and small. A member has at last broken an arm.

The long looked for race to Detroit and return between Chauncey Ogden and Art Smith took place last Saturday. Ogden made the trip in 9:15 1-2, but Smith was compelled to give up when but a few miles out of the village on the return trip. Ogden made the trip to Detroit in 2 hours and 54 minutes and Smith in 2 hours and 58 minutes, but as there was a heavy western wind the trip back took considerable longer. A large crowd began gathering about the four corners soon after dinner to witness the boys come in.

OBITUARY.

David Haggart, Sr., was born in Compar, Angus, Scotland, Aug. 5, 1815, and died at his old home in Clinton, Oct. 5 1895. He came to America in 1844, settling in Catskill, N. Y., where he lived for about six years. Thence he moved to Macon, Lenawee Co., Mich. After a residence of a few years in this locality he became identified with the community where he has since lived and of which he has been an honored and respected member. Converted in boyhood, he was an active Christian during his long life. His affiliations were with the Presbyterian and Congregational churches. He was a man of superior talents; a man who read and thought and had ideas. This was especially true of the Bible and religious themes. He was "rooted and grounded" in the Christian faith; nothing, seemingly, could shake his confidence in God. His early life was lived in a period when persecutions were not unknown. These, doubtless, had an influence in developing that Christian character and manhood which he possessed. The climax of his life's joy was reached when he saw his youngest son embrace the religion he had so long followed. This fact accounted for his affiliation with the Methodist church during the last few months of his life. He came down to the grave like a shock of corn ripe for the harvest.

MANCHESTER MATTERS.

Mrs. L. D. Watkins is very sick.

George Heimerdinger, of Clinton, was in town Sunday.

Mrs. Van Wormer, of La Peer, is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. R. Holmes.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Bivins celebrated their golden wedding on Tuesday of this week.

Miss Rosa Kiebler, of Jackson, was called here last week by the death of her father.

F. W. Smith and wife go to Chicago the first of November to visit their son, Bert Smith, and family.

The S. W. Farmers' club will meet with Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Baldwin on Friday, Nov. 1, at 10 a. m.

Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Sutton are in Cayuga, Canada, guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Bowins.

Mrs. E. S. Cushman, of Ann Arbor, came Friday to assist in caring for her mother, Mrs. L. D. Watkins.

B. W. Amsden will move his stock of jewelry, clocks, etc., into the Chubbuck block, next door to the postoffice.

Last Thursday evening a reception was held for Mr. and Mrs. George T. Kirkwood, at their new home at Sharon Hollow.

The Ladies' Aid society of the M. E. church held a chicken pie social at the church parlors on Friday afternoon. The proceeds were added to the building fund.

The remains of Mrs. Fannie Robison, mother of I. M. Robison of this village, who died at the residence of her son, A. M. Robison, in Ann Arbor, were brought here on Tuesday and the funeral held at the residence of C. W. Case. Rev. D. H. Yokom officiated.

PENTECOST POINTERS.

A call for Dr. Rice went over the wire Saturday night, Lyman Randall, who has been sick for several months, being much worse. He is a little better at this date, Monday.

The surprise party given Harrison Daniels and daughter, Mrs. Simmons, was an immense success, and with music and social converse, passed off in first rate style, and everybody voted it a good time.

While husking corn recently, W. B. German lost a five dollar bill from his pocket. After blowing about the field for a week or so, the hired man found it lodged against a shock of corn, and returned it to the owner.

A well known Franklin farmer found a bag laying on his cellar floor, recently, with the name of another prominent granger stamped on it. The owner of the bag, is however, above reproach, and it remains to be found out who stole his grain bag, and then used it in an unlawful raid on a neighbor's potatos, canned fruit, etc.

The members of Pentecost L. A. are requested to be at Glen's Hall, Saturday night, Nov. 2d. The election of officers for the ensuing year takes place at that time, and there is also much other business of interest to members to come before the association, it being proposed to reduce the dues nearly fifty per cent.

O, the snow, the ----and so forth, "you know,"
If there'd fall eighteen inches or so.
And the sun would shine warm
Right after the storm,
And the same into fluid would go,
We'd rejoice and be glad:
For it's long since we've had
A nice muddy time, "don't you know."

RAISIN RACKET.

Mrs. Chalon Lyon visited Clinton last week.

Winter has begun with the first snow storm.

Jared Haviland is improving his barn with a coat of paint.

Mrs. Butler, who lives at Joseph Bowerman's, is on the sick list.

There will be an exhibition at Dist. No. 7, Friday evening, the proceeds being used to purchase an organ.

No church at Little Hope Sunday as the minister, Rev. Levi C. Chase, went to preach the funeral sermon of Mr. Gates, of Fairfield.

The funeral of Uncle Ben Kelley, of Holloway, was held at the Quaker church this place, last Friday, and was very largely attended.

Leander Hoag and Charles Haviland will not have to draw so many squashes this year, as some one went into their fields and took a small wagon load of them the other night.

ROME RAVELINGS.

Miss Vera Seger is now a better.

Mrs. Fred Taylor is very sick with typhoid fever.

Elma Patterson has been visiting friends in Adrian the past week.

William Wool has been confined to the house for a week, but is reported better.

Halsey Sayers will attend school at Brown's business university the coming winter.

A GRAND TRIUMPH.

Baffled Many Times but Success Comes at Last.

(From the Grand Rapids Press)

The following incident would be hard to believe if it had not occurred right here in Grand Rapids, and investigation by our representative has placed it beyond the reach of doubt. These are the facts in detail: Mr. J. H. White of No. 23 Hailey Place, has been an instructor in penmanship in different business colleges for the past fourteen years. He says: "Last October I was suddenly taken ill. I consulted a physician, who said the pain was from 'gravel' stones; gradually grew worse; the pain was in my back and side. My back swelled up in a great ridge, and I finally grew so bad that I was taken to bed, as helpless as a child. I passed blood, and when the pain was at its worst I was like one crazy. The doctor injected morphine to give me relief, but further than that he said he was powerless, and nothing would do me any good but a surgical operation. I believe my flesh was literally cooked in the attempts to relieve my agony, everything was used, mustard plasters, turpentine, hot cloths and all such things. I was in this condition, given up by the doctor, and almost out of my mind with suffering. I commenced taking Doan's Kidney Pills, and really I felt easier in 20 minutes. After about two hours I had a passage of urine, and passed blood and some 'gravel' stones which greatly relieved me. I rapidly improved. I took in all six boxes, and I feel to-day entirely well. Mine has been a wonderful case. I feel that I cannot say anything strong enough for Doan's Kidney Pills. My great wish is that they may become well known. They will prove a boon to mankind.

For sale by all dealers, price 50 cents. Mailed by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S. Remember the name, Doan's, and take no other.

Table Talk.

In Table Talk for October a number of household subjects are touched upon. The culinary interests are treated in the Housekeepers Inquiry Department, where a large number of good recipes are given, and in the menus suggested for every meal during the month. The Fashions and whims of today are mentioned in the New Bill of Fare and under Fashionable Luncheon and Tea Toilets, while other points of equal interest are to be found in the article on the Kindergarten Influence. The Charm of the Lily, by Miss Nora Smith, whose experience has been great in that line. How to Make Good Servants, by Mrs. Burton Kingland, and Diet in Diabetes, by Dr. H. H. Hawxhurst. The market list, books of the month, and so on, are all found in the pages of this valuable little magazine, a sample copy of which is free to our readers, by addressing Table Talk, Philadelphia, Pa.

The Historic Route.

The Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis R'y, the model railroad of the South in equipment, roadway and service, is also the greatest in historical interest, more than fifty famous battlefields and five national cemeteries being located on the various lines of this system. This is the preferred route to Atlanta for the Cotton States and International Exposition, open from September 18, to December 31, 1895, for which very low excursion rates have been made. Through sleeping car service from St. Louis to Atlanta via Evansville, Nashville and Chattanooga. This is the route of the famous Dixie Flyer through sleeping car line which runs the year round between Nashville and Jacksonville, Fla. For further information, address Briard F. Hill, 328 Marquette Building, Chicago, Ill., or R. C. Cowardin, Western Passenger Agent, Railway Exchange Building, St. Louis, Mo., or D. J. The Correct Dress For Cycling.

If women all dressed alike what a monotonous aspect this world would present! Even on the wheel variety in dress is most desirable, and the rivalry between bloomers and skirts for cycling is interesting "most reverand seigneurs" as well as those of the more frivolous sex. Bishop William Taylor, Ex. Gov. Foraker, Mrs. Elizabeth Grannis, Miss Cynthia Westover, Miss Florence Dangerfield and Oliver Sumner Teall,—representing the church, politics, law, journalism and society,—all have decided opinions regarding the question "Shall Wheelwomen Wear Bloomers?" which each answer in characteristic style in Demorest's Magazine for October. These opinions are unique and well worth reading. With the same number in one's hand one may take in imagination a sea voyage, for the illustrations to the paper "Homeward Bound From Europe" are so graphic, and the letter-press details the happenings so vividly, that the stay-at-home may enjoy the trip thoroughly without enduring any of the inevitable inconveniences. There are charming stories from the pens of Gilbert Parker, Margaret Sutton Driscoe, Madge Robertson and James Buckham, which is sufficient guarantee of their excellence; and poems by Gustav Kobbe and Ella Higginson contribute additional charm. The departments are as usual full of good things interesting to women; and the fashion department is replete with ideas on the coming fashions that will be of great value to those who wish to be forehanded in their preparations for the coming season.

BRITTON BUDGET.

J. Lee was in Toledo Tuesday.

Miss Mary Sowle is on the sick list.

L. C. Hoagland was in Adrian Monday.

Andrew Gogoline returned from Flat Rock Tuesday.

Walter Exelby will soon move into the Will Babcock house.

An unfortunate bovine was killed by Wabash 56 Tuesday morning.

E. W. Lonardson and wife will occupy the house lately vacated by Geo. Hawk's.

W. J. Clark was suffering from a severe attack of neuralgia the first of the week.

Jno. Stewart has the largest potatoes on exhibition at Lee Bros. Bring along your big tubers.

Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Maynard have been visiting friends and relatives in Detroit this week.

Geo. Clark returned from Ashley, Ind., Monday night, where he has been assisting in dispatching trains.

Four of Britton's intelligent young men attended a Maple Leaf party at Deerfield Wednesday night.

Mrs. Ernest Hoagland and mother, Mrs. Stewart Ballou, went to Toledo to visit Mrs. Ballou's daughter, Mrs. Geo. Bachman, this week.

Chas. Du Bois has bought $100.00 worth of hay from one man recently. This would be a considerable addition to the average farmers revenue this year.

A regular old fashioned prairie schooner passed through here last Wednesday, chickens, cow, kids and all. It seemed a little strange, however, to see it sailing east.

Ernest DuBois has received 80 barrels of apples from his uncle, John Stone, of Hillsdale, which he is rapidly disposing of. The apples are very fine fruit, which is something rare this year.

Will Babcock left Wednesday morning for the state of Wisconsin where he will travel in the interest of a large easterntobacco concern. We unite with Will's many friends in wishing him the success which he deserves.

Eugene Zeluff and Miss Mildred Fleming were united in marriage at the home of the bride in Adrian, Wednesday night. The groom is well known in this section and his friends here unite in congratulations and good wishes.

The Kniffen brick and tile yard closed down Wednesday for the season. The tile made Tuesday were considerably damaged by the severe frost that night, and as the temperature of the nights from now on will be a little uncertain, work will be postponed till next season.

Before this paper goes to press again, we expect the stalwart hunters of Britton will have bagged enough game in the north woods to furnish material for a two column write up. Frank and Lawrence Brown, Al Lee, David Boyd, and Clarence Lowe will start for the wilds of Roscommon county next Monday. They will take two guns apiece and one dog and ammunition of all kinds. If they don't get deer, who will?

Last Monday night Will Babcock and wife were the recipients of a genuine surprise party. In fact it was such a surprise to Will that he was not even there to enjoy it. He was in Adrian at the time, and was expected home but did not arrive till next morning. However, about 50 couple under the leadership of the L. O. T. M. took possession of the house and a first class social party was enjoyed. Of course it is unnecessary to add, that the participants had something to eat.

MACON MUSIC.

Mrs. Foda Burdett is on the sick list.

Mr. David Rimert was the guest of Mrs. Mills Hatch last week.

Mrs. Fisk, of Jackson, visited her sister, Mrs Burleson, last week.

Mrs. Edward Carter was the victim of a stroke of paralysis Saturday night.

About fifteen Maconites attended the concert in Tecumseh Saturday night.

Clare Brazee and Lavern Heeson spent Sunday at the home of S. Chambers.

Mr. Orange Berdan and family, of Detroit, returned last Saturday from a week's stay at the home of J. C. Mills.

Married, at the parsonage of the Reformed church, by Rev. J. I. Gulick, on October 21st, 1895, Mr. Austin S. Robison and Miss Sarah A. Young, both of Saline.

Another home is left desolate. On Sunday afternoon the remains of Mrs. Beulah Harriott were laid to rest. For a long time Mrs. Harriot has been in feeble health.

Married, at the parsonage of the South Macon Reformed church, on Oct. 16, by Rev. J. I. Gulick, Mr. Albert W. Showalter, of Wyandotte, to Miss Aggie Stewart, of Britton.

The River Raisin quarterly meeting which was expected to be held November 2nd and 3d, has been postponed on account of the State Association being at that time. It will be held Nov. 16th and 17th, at the Free Baptist church at Macon. Ministers from abroad are expecting to be present.

The dedication of the new Reformed church of Macon will take place on Wednesday, Nov. 6, 1895, at 2 p. m. The dedicatory sermon will be preached by Rev. Peter Moerdyke, D. D., of Chicago. There will also be other addresses by neighboring ministers. The public in general are cordially invited to be present and participate in the services.

Died, at her late residence, on Friday, Oct. 18, Mrs. G. W. Harriott. She had been an invalid for over a year, but always patient and never a murmur escaped her lips. A noble, christian woman. Her ardent and tender love for her husband and two daughters fuse them deep sorrow, as she is taken om them. Her life was one of faith d trust in God and her end was peace.

RIDGEWAY RAMBLES.

Go to Smith & Schmidt's for your fodder twine.

The ladies church social met at the home of Mrs. S. P. Smith Wednesday evening for the election of officers.

Morris Kelley was called to Holloway, Monday, by the sickness of his sister, Mrs. Wm. Cox, who died Tuesday night.

Mrs. John Arner, who has been spending several days in Tecumseh with relatives and friends, returned Wednesday.

Miss Collins, our popular milliner, is receiving new goods every weeek, of the latest styles, which she will sell as cheap as any dealer.

Postmaster C. W. Arner, of Wellington, Ohio, visited his mother Mrs. Louise Arner, a portion of last week, leaving for his home Monday.

Mrs. G. W. Jackson, of Tecumseh, and daughter Mrs. Dwella Hodges and son Dale, of Jackson, were in the village Thursday calling on friends.

G. C. Hale, of Palmyra, having rented A. J. Sutton's tenant house, moved his household effects here Wednesday. He will open a boot and repair shop at once.

The singing class, with Miss Grayson as teacher, started out very encouragingly with over 40 scholars. The class will meet Friday evening of each week at the lecture room of the church.

Simon Gould, the west side grocer and dry goods dealer, has a mammoth Japanese umbrella on exhibition at his place of business, where you will find the Royal Garden tea, the best on the market.

Don't be afraid to call at the new hardware firm of Smith & Schmidt for fear you will not be able to get what your wants demand. They carry a full line of hardware from a machine needle to the finest base burner, and a complete line of staple and fancy groceries.

By a letter received from Mrs. Courtland Snedicor, of Ithaca, we learn of Mr. Snedicor's ill health. He suffers so from consumption as to be unable to leave his bed a portion of the time. He formerly lived in our village, working at the blacksmithing trade.

Those who attended the first entertainment of the Tecumseh Star Course, the Redpath Grand Concert company, at Sutton's opera house Saturday evening, were highly pleased and fascinated with Miss Powell in her art of handling the bow, and charmed by Mrs. Murray's perfect touch on the harp.

Householder: Here, drop that coat and get out! Burglar: You be quiet, or I'll wake your wife and give her this letter you forgot to post.

The old story of Prometheus is a parable. Prometheus was on terms of intimacy with the gods. From them he stole fire and gave it to men. For this sin he was bound to the rocks of Mount Caucassus, and vultures were set upon him. They only ate his liver. This grew again as fast as it was pecked away. Are his sufferings to be imagined? Take a modern interpretation of the parable. There is no cooking without fire. In cooking and eating the mischief lies. The stomach is overtasked, the bowels become clogged, they cannot dispose of the food that is given them. The impurities back up on the liver. Then come the vultures—the torments of a diseased liver. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is more than equal to the vultures of dyspepsia and its kindred diseases. There is no more need of suffering from dyspepsia than there is of hanging one's self. Sold by all medicine dealers, the world over. 1w

To the Sufferers of Rheumatism.

After using Groff's Rheumatic Cure for some time in my practice I take great pleasure in saying that it is the most wonderful remedy for rheumatism; in fact, it is the only one I have found for the cure of this disease in all its various forms. DR. E. E. TULL, Chicago.

What Can A Woman Do?

Why should not a lady be independent? Everybody will respect her all the more, whether she be rich or poor, and then adversity may come. Why should not the wife help build the home? She will appreciate it all the more for doing so. But the question is: What can a woman do? S. I. Yes, said Willie Wibbles. I went to the weception with a boil on my neck; And what did your friends think of you? All jealous, dash boy. It was the swellest thing there.

The French say "it is the impossible that happens." This has proved to be the case with the Mount Lebanon Shakers. The whole scientific world has been laboring to cure dyspepsia, but every effort seemed to meet with defeat. The suffering from stomach troubles has become almost universal. Multitudes have no desire for food and that which they do eat causes them pain and distress. Sleepless nights are the rule and not the exception, and thousands have become discouraged. The Shakers of Mount Lebanon recently came to the front with their new Digestive Cordial, which contains not only a food already digested, but a digester of food. It promptly relieves nearly all forms of indigestion. Ask your druggist for one of their books.

It's a Grand Success.

The fact has been demonstrated by the thousands of testimonials the Mayers Drug Company, of Oakland, Md., has received since it has sent its famous Mayers Magnetic Catarrh Cure out to the sufferers of catarrh. No medicine has received such an endorsement from the people in so short a time as it did.

The makers sell the medicine on business principles, and a patient is not required to buy the medicine by the dozen to get a cure. The Mayers' Magnetic Catarrh Cure sells for $1 per bottle, one bottle to last for a three months treatment. 3 bottles is the highest record ever required to complete a cure. General catarrh one bottle is guaranteed. No cure no pay.

This is an unequalled offer and if you are a sufferer from catarrh get a bottle from your druggist, if no benefit derived costs you nothing. A prominent R. R. conductor speaks:

CUMBERLAND, MD., April 29th, '94.
To the Mayers Drug Co.,

Gentlemen:—Yours to hand, in reply will say that I have the highest regard for your Catarrh Remedy, my trouble is in a chronic form and expect to use more than one bottle. I used one bottle which removed the trouble from the bead in good shape and am on the second bottle for throat trouble, if I should succeed with the latter as I did in the former, I shall write you again in the near future. Hoping it will do for suffering humanity what it did for me, I remain Yours truly.

Electric Power for October.

This enterprising magazine seems to have made a particular effort in its October issue to appeal to the popular mind. Although an article by Mr. Wiener on Technical Measuring Instruments, and one by Mr. Emmet, on The Original of Alternating Currents, as well as Messrs. Freedman and Osterberg's serial on Practical Testing, are very scientific, there are several others of interest to anybody at all versed in science. Prof. W. M. Stine contributes a very able article on The Aim of Laboratory Training, a subject widely discussed, and worthy of deep thought. The writer is a particularly able man for this subject, having a large laboratory in personal charge. Mr. E. P. Thompson, well known for his writing on Invention, points out that the principal of reversal is one everybody should take to heart; he shows that by simply reversing the process some of the most important inventions have been made. The Synopsis of Technical Literature is exceptionally long, showing the activity which is being developed all over the world in trying to further the science of electricity and its application.

GOOD AND EVIL OF WEALTH.

Tabitha Trott Discourses About the Lives of Men who Live Only to Grow Rich.

EDITOR OF THE HERALD:—

When I was doing up the work after supper last night, I got to thinking about the life led by the average man who lives for the sole purpose of laying up wealth. After hanging up the dish towel I saw that everything was all right for the night in the back part of the house and then went into the sitting room, where Trott was reading the daily paper.

"Tabbie," said he, as I entered the room and sank into my old rocking chair, "here is an item that will interest you," and he handed me the paper, with his finger indicating the paragraph he referred to. To my surprise, it was just in the line of thought that I had been indulging in. It read as follows and were the words of the late John Jacob Astor, multi millionaire:

"The houses, wares, ships and farms I own and have to take care of are for the accommodation of others. I can do nothing with my income but buy more land, build more houses and lend money on mortgages. In short, I am found with the necessaries of life, and more than these I cannot get out of my money. Meantime my labor is incessant and I know no peace by day or night."

"Well, what do you think of that?" Thomas Trott inquired, as I finished the item and turned towards him. The question was superfluous, for he knows what I think pretty well, or at least he ought to; we have been living together long enough.

Astor said he had no peace by day or night. Well, he did not deserve any. He had devoted his life to serving Mammon, and to ease his itching palms they were filled with gold, but the itching did not cease. The gold cure only served to inflame his disease and he died as he had lived, grasping for more, knowing not the sweet peace that comes with a spirit of content. He pinched his clerks and employees, as all such men do, getting much service for small pay, caring no more for the welfare and happiness of those who labored for him than the mine owner does for those who lose their lives in loathsome pits for a pittance while the owners spend their time in luxurious ease or riotous living. John Jacob Astor was but like the greedy swine, who drowned himself in a trough of swill rather than get out and let his brothers have a chance to live. What did his incessant work amount to? It lets his decendants live in splendor in foreign lands, giving up their citizenship in their native land to fawn and cringe at the feet of titled snobs who despise them.

And there was old Cornelius Vanderbilt. His life was passed in building steamboat lines, railroads and monopolies. Think of the millions he wrung from an outraged public. And he, too, ended his life grasping for more. In all his miserable old life he did not really enjoy himself as much as an honest mechanic can on one fourth of July, if he goes about it rationally. And what did he pinch and cheat and scrimp along for? That his descendants might live in mansions costing more millions than some small cities are worth, and buy yachts costing millions, and purchase the rusty titles of aristocratic snobs in old England. What would old Cornelius say if he could know that his grand-daughter is to pay $10,000,000 down in cold cash for one measley duke? Could you persuade him that it was a love match? Not much! He would realize the fact that she wants the title and he wants the millions.

The same disease that got such a firm clutch on the vitals of old Astor and old Vanderbilt is now eating all the humanity out of Rockefeller, Elkins, Widener, Pullman, Armour, Carlisle, Hoke Smith, John Sherman, Grover Cleveland, Yerkes, Marshall Field, and hosts of American worshippers of the golden calf, not to mention some you know in old Michigan.

If it were not for the unholy example set our youth by such men, we would think it were best for them to live and die as they do, but the fact that only the glitter of their gold is shown makes it a thing to be deplored. The glitter attracts the poor, silly moth, who dashes into the flame and is lost. Men who live for the sole purpose of accumulating wealth lose all the better things of life. Their estimate of a man is according to his ability to accumulate. "How much is he worth?" is the first question with them, instead of "what has he done for the good of his fellow man?" Speak of an author, and they want to know how much he makes per line or per volume in ready cash. When they see the volume of a successful writer the first question is, "Will he sell enough to get rich?" not, "Will it be a help to poor, struggling humanity?" The Rockefellers and Yerkes may build universities and endow churches, but they will not restore the millions they have stolen from an outraged people. Their universities but spread their doctrins of lust for gold and power, and their churches only give the husks of a sham religion to plutocrats and Pharisees. Christianity is not to be found in the homes of plutocracy; only churchianity exists there. A man cannot be a Rockefeller and a Christian any more than an Astor or a Vanderbilt could be christians. Building fine churches or renting pews in them and filling the pews one or twice a week does not make a christian, while the balance of the week is passed in squeezing discounts and usury from helpless brothers, or forcing the laborer to buy his necessaries from monopolies that get a profit that amounts to more than Shylock's pound of flesh. When once the money disease gets a firm hold on any one the case is hopeless. It precludes the possibility of being broad minded, generous and humane.

The true way for the rich to be charitable is to quit robbing their fellow men. When men live without work, making their fellows work to support them, they are not living up to the injunction, "Earn thy bread by the sweat of thy brow." How many dollars did John Jacob Astor, Vanderbilt or Rockefeller ever really earn? Undoubtedly it would amount to much less than a single million.

It is to be hoped that this era of fraud, lust and thirst for gold is nearing its end. Welcome will be the day when there will be an aristocracy of brain instead of gold; an aristocracy of mental worth and noble deeds. When that day comes gold syndicates will not be able to purchase a mercenary president and congress, and crush a nation under the wheels of a gold standard juggernaut. Standard oil monopolies, meat combines, and trusts of all kinds will not fatten off the hard earned wages of a struggling people. Railroad corporations will not be able to crush the farmer into his own soil, and bankers, brokers, railroad kings and other great robbers will have to earn their own bread and butter, and not have it supplied them by men who have not enough to clothe and feed themselves and families properly.

Thomas is snoring so loud that I must stop and see to it that he gets to bed. I can't think clearly when a man is snoring almost into my ear.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

An Ideal October Magazine.

Lincoln's apprehensive distrust of marriage is revealed in some extremely interesting letters from the great president in the October Ladies' Home Journal, in which John Gilmer Speed discusses Lincoln's Hesitancy to Marry. The letters are given publicity for the first time, and are addressed to Lincoln's most intimate friend, Joshua Speed. Edward S. Martin presents a review of the various theories advanced by scientists in the effort to definitely locate the Garden of Eden site, and shows how far from solution is the problem. Dr. Parkhurst's October article treats of Religion in the Family, and is one of the most forcible arguments that has come from his pen. The Woman Who Most Influenced Me series of papers is enriched by a contribution from Thomas Wentworth Higginson. Edward W. Bok editorially discusses Where American Life Really Exists, and outlines those communities where its best and purest phases are found. Robert J. Burdette contributes The Strike in the Choir, a humorous article in his brightest vein. The October Journal blends interest, entertainment, instruction, usefulness and artistic excellence, and is the magazine par excellence for the home. It is published by The Curtis Publishing Company, Nos. 421-427 Arch street, Philadelphia, at ten cents per copy; one dollar per year.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars; free.

Table Talk.

In Table Talk for October a number of household subjects are touched upon. The culinary interests are treated in the Housekeepers Inquiry Department, where a large number of good recipes are given, and in the menus suggested for every meal during the month. The Fashions and whims of today are mentioned in the New Bill of Fare and under Fashionable Luncheon and Tea Toilets, while other points of equal interest are to be found in the article on the Kindergarten Influence. The Charm of the Lily, by Miss Nora Smith, whose experience has been great in that line. How to Make Good Servants, by Mrs. Burton Kingland, and Diet in Diabetes, by Dr. H. H. Hawxhurst. The market list, books of the month, and so on, are all found in the pages of this valuable little magazine, a sample copy of which is free to our readers, by addressing Table Talk, Philadelphia, Pa.

That Joyful Feeling,

With the exhilarating sense of renewed health and strength and internal cleanliness, which follows the use of Syrup of Figs, is unknown to the few who have not progressed beyond the old time medicines and the cheap substitutes sometimes offered but never accepted by the well informed.

Three Crops a Year

Can be grown on the same land in eastern Mississippi and southern Alabama along the line of the Mobile & Ohio railroad. The summers are cooler, the winters are milder, the death rate is lower than in the north. Improved farms $10 to $15 per acre; unimproved land $2 to $5 per acre near railway stations. It is the best portion for raising fruits and early vegetables, stock raising and general farm crops. Lands are advancing; now is the time to buy. Very low rate excursions monthly. The Mobile & Ohio has put on two through fast trains each way daily between St. Louis and Mobile. It is the shortest and quickest route to the South. An illustrated pamphlet telling all about our country will be sent free to all who wish it. Apply to F. W. Greene, general agent, No. 198 North Broadway, St. Louis, Mo., or to E. E. Posey, general passenger agent Mobile & Ohio R'y, Mobile, Ala. tf

In the Morning

If you are troubled with a sense of fullness in the head, a constant inclination to hawk and spit with mucus dropping into the throat, try Century Catarrh Cure, direct mode of application, and the only remedy on the market that gives instant relief. oct

AN OCTOBER OFFER.

During the present month only, Oct., 1895, we will give new subscribers to the HERALD a three months' paid subscription for twenty five cents. In addition we will give as a premium a copy of Cole's Financial school, which sells for the same sum. Pass in your quarters.

One thing noticable is the fact that if have you a small job to do you will find most of the shops over run with work, and a delay of several days is necessitated in most of them. This is an indication that business is picking up in many quarters, and the outlook is better for the future.

President Cleveland has ordered a medal presented to Capt. William G. Whitney, of Hillsdale county, Mich., who served in the Eleventh Infantry for four years. The medal is for distinguished galantry at the battle of Chickamauga. At the time the confederates were about to make a charge Capt. Whitney went outside the union works at great risk of his life, and going among the dead and wounded on the field, cut off and secured their cartridge boxes. He brought this much needed ammunition into the union lines, where it was used with such good effect that the enemy was repulsed. In this battle the eleventh regiment conducted itself with conspicuous gallantry.—Adrian Telegram.

The much-talked-of Pingree book is now ready for delivery. No work published for years has been so conspicuously noticed by the papers of the country. Mayor Pingree's great fight against corporation and railroad greed and for the masses of the people, is known in every hamlet in America and in many homes of the old world. He has continually been opposed by the rich corporations, but three times he has been elected Mayor of this great city, and each time by an increased majority. Again, and for the fourth time, he will be returned by a greater majority than ever. Corporation rule or ruin is at an end in Detroit. The Mayor's book is not a campaign document. In it he tells his trials and struggles, and how his earnest, honest efforts have been crowned with victory. He tells how the people may rid themselves of the corporation and monopoly burdens that each year are growing greater and greater. It is a book for the times. It is a book that the public need and demand. Autograph subscription edition in cloth, $1.00; Paper covers 25cts. Published by F. B. Dickerson Co. Detroit, Mich.

Annual Meeting.

The Farmer's Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Lenawee county will hold their annual meeting at Whitney's opera house, in the city of Adrian, Mich, Monday, Oct. 28, 1895, commencing at 8:30 o'clock a. m., for the election of a secretary and five directors; also to take action on amending section 2 of the company's charter in relation to the separation of the office of the president and treasurer and such other business as may properly come before the meeting.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

Plenty of brick at Comfort's yard now.

Major Howell, of Adrian, was in town Tuesday.

Vincent Wood made a business trip to Onsted last week.

The new Lake Shore depot will soon be ready for occupancy.

Will Ingersoll was in Adrian the last of the week on legal business.

There is quite a demand for houses to rent, and it is difficult to find one.

The local telephone exchange for Hudson is being placed in position.

S. Root, of Addison, was calling on Tecumseh friends last week Friday.

An audience of about 800 listened to the Redpath Concert last Saturday evening.

W. C. Burridge went to Lansing Monday on legal business in the Supreme Court.

E. J. Hollister was in town a couple of days last week, looking after his celery interests.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. L. Rogers, of Jackson, are spending a few days with Tecumseh friends.

The surrounding towns all sent a good contingent to the Redpath Concert last Saturday evening.

David Garlinghouse and wife, of Napoleon, have been visiting their nephews in and about town this week.

We are glad to learn that Fred Shepard is improving and he will soon be able to resume his business duties.

The table factory is booming now. Orders are coming in lively and they have work blocked out for several weeks ahead.

No use for other states attempting to get their favorite sons in offices when a mother in Ohio gives birth to five boys at once.

The condition of Miss Lizzie Beamish is about the same. She is a very sick girl, but her friends hope for a favorable turn soon.

Anderson & Co.'s special cape and jacket sale last Saturday and Monday was a big success. A liberal use of printers' ink pays.

About forty employes of the C. J. & M. lines reside at Addison. When the new line is completed to Jackson, they will be centrally located.

The W. H. M. society will meet at the home of Mrs. Martimore on Wednesday, Oct. 30, at 2:30 p. m. Let every member try and be present.

A. B. Cotton, of Chicago, was in town last Monday. He was on a trip to Alpena and Cheboygan, and made a short stop at Tecumseh and Clinton.

Levi C. Hayden has sold his house and lot to Harry Hanford and will soon be compelled to move. We hope he will decide to remain in Tecumseh.

S. C. Stacy will give his "Snap Shot" lectures at Mooreville, Washtenaw Co., on the evenings of Nov. 4, 5, & 6 for the benefit of the Universalist Church of that place.

Last Sunday afternoon we had a slight fall of the beautiful and that night was the coldest of the season thus far. The freeze blistered one of the celery companies to the tune of about $5,000.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Lowe, of Colorado Springs, were the guests of Wm. H. Osborn's family over Sunday. They are on their way to New York city and stopped over here a couple of days.

On Oct. 26, Nov. 5, 15 and 25, Dec. 5 and 16, the C. H. & D Ry will sell tickets from Toledo to Atlanta and return, good for 10 days, for $18.00. These will be the dates to take in the exposition.

The Arena will begin its seventh volume with the month of December, and the price will be reduced from $5.00 to $3.00 per year. The Arena has taken its place as the leader of the big magazines, and with a reduction in price to meet the hard times, it is destined to gather an immense clientage. It will continue to be the champion of the people's rights as heretofore, and will be a general magazine, in the best sense of the term.

Jacob Totten is visiting in Dundee.

Stephen Whittier was in Toledo the first of the week.

B. L. Baxter made a call on Ridgeway citizens Tuesday.

Mrs. L. P. Tribou called upon friends in Toledo last Tuesday.

Over at Jackson it is alleged that two well known ladies recently stood on a freshly constructed tar sidewalk so long gossiping, that they got stuck fast, and had to call in the assistance of a policeman to pull them off.

The school book trust got a black eye from the supreme court on Tuesday at Lansing. The legality of the Grand Rapids school board's action in substituting Frye's for Harper's geographies in the public schools was sustained.

Invitations announce the marriage of Bradford W. Butler and Millie C. Ball at Eaton Rapids last Wednesday. Mr. Butler will be remembered as an old Tecumseh boy. He is now employed with the Gale Plow Works at Albion.

The W. C. T. U. will meet with Mrs. Anna Osborn during the month of November every Friday at 2:30 p. m. Mothers' meeting the first Friday, to which all are cordially invited. The superintendent of this department has made these meetings very interesting and will be glad to see a large attendance.

The deeds of the right of way of the new G., J. & M. railway through Woodstock township have all been filed. A. J. McCourtie and wife, over which there was likely to be some trouble as the road passes between their house and barn, have also deeded the right of way, through their lawyer, L. H. Salsbury.

An exchange says: The Erie & Kalamazoo railroad company re-elected their old officers the other day. Isn't this interesting? Not but it is though. When the Lake Shore system reached out for the threads of iron that ran between Adrian and Toledo, the Erie & Kalamazoo stockholders refused to surrender their charter and they hold it yet. The little strip they owned and still own, they leased. With all its swallowing and crushing proclivities the Lake Shore constrictor couldn't crush or swallow the little Erie & Kalamazoo company, and since the lease has paid that company over $1,000,000. A. L. Millard, of Adrian, is, we believe, president of this little non-crushable, non-purchasable, non-extinguishable railroad company.

Anderson & Co. have a new card this week.

Mrs. Horatio Keyser is visiting friends at Eaton Rapids.

Kennedy & Rogers have a change of card this week. Read it.

L. D. Dewey has opened a wood yard and will keep a full supply on hand.

Levi Hayden will move his family next week into the Woodard house, corner of Logan and Union streets.

J. S. Gilman has moved his family into H. W. Stevens house, on Evans St., that he may be nearer his place of business.

Wm. Hayden is putting in a steam heating arrangement to warm the lower stories of the Globe Mill. It will be a great improvement over stoves.

As the term of Willard Stearns as school examiner had expired, the board of supervisors, last Monday, chose Wade Millis, of Addison, for the position.

Frank Bryan has bought the Harding farm of thirty five acres on the Newburgh road, but he has not yet decided what to do with his purchase.

A teachers' meeting was held at the high school Saturday. Talks by Com. Keeler and Prof. Kellogg were supplemented by examples of special work done in the Tecumseh grades.

At the Presbyterian church next Sunday the regular services will be held in the morning. In the evening the pastor will give his tenth illustrated lecture on the "Life of Christ." All are invited.

The Massachusetts Shoe Co. will open a big stock of shoes in the Heesen store on Wednesday of next week, Oct. 30th. This will be a chance for bargains. Read their announcement on the eighth page.

Theo. Crane is overhauling and repairing the old shop on his residence lot. This is a wise thing to do. Better convert it into a dwelling house, for that building was once a Baptist church.

A. P. Coddington had another birthday last Friday. His friends met at Mrs. John Heesen's and descended upon the gentleman unawares. Everybody, including the host, had a very pleasant time.

An education is the best capital. Without it we miss most of life's happiness. Youth is the seed-time. Don't delay but start at once for some good school, such as the Fayette Normal University, of Fayette, O., and prepare for an active, successful life.

The Stimpson Scale company are gradually extending their trade and the outlook is very favorable at present. They will soon put up a lot of scales with agate bearings. These bearings are usually made of steel, but that is liable to rust, which effects the accuracy of the scale. The agate is procured from the Lake Superior district and polished in Philadelphia. Agate is the best known material for scale bearings and will produce a scale absolutely perfect for accuracy.

Frank Bauer lately received a letter from H. M. Magill, general agent of the Phoenix Ins. Co., giving a brief recital of the agency here in Tecumseh. The first Phoenix policy was written Sept. 18, 1837. Among its early patrons were Albert Anderson, Strong & Drew, Geo. Curtis, M. A. Patterson, L. T. Baylis and C. A. Stacy. John Cummins, father of Thos. Cummins, was the first agent. The present incumbent (F. B. Bauer) is maintaining its reputation and transacting for the old company a splendid business.

The jury in the William Brighton vs. Lake Shore & Michigan Southern railway case, at Ann Arbor, returned a verdict of $4,791 for the complainant, Friday night. Attorney Weaver for the defendant at once gave notice of a motion for a new trial. The case is becoming celebrated. The plaintiff claims damages for breach of contract. About a year and a half ago the complainant in the same court secured a verdict of $3,500. The case was taken to the supreme court, which sent it back on error, the new trial resulting as above.—Adrian Times.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

Benton Harbor, Oct. 22.—The Pottawatomie Indian claim against the United States will be settled soon. The government paymaster is expected here within a few days. Chief Simon Pokagon is now collecting the 250 scattered descendants of the tribe. Pokagon will bring the Indians to this city, where they will receive the sum of $146,250. George Miller of this city, who is attorney for the Pottawamies, has been working for the last twenty years to secure this claim for the Indians.

GAME LAWS INEFFECTIVE.

Michigan Authorities Being Imposed Upon by Hunters.

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 20.—The deputy game wardens have discovered that extensive frands upon the game hunters' license law, enacted by the legislature, are being practiced. The wide difference between the license fee from resident and non-resident hunters is probably responsible therefor, the former being fifty cents and the latter $25. Very few of the latter have been issued by the county clerks as provided, and the game wardens' department claims that the clerks have been imposed on.

TERRIBLY MANGLED.

A Miner Dies of Injuries Received Through a Premature Blast.

Calumet, Oct. 20.—By a premature explosion of giant powder of the thirteenth level of No. 7 shaft, Calumet & Hecla mine, Saturday morning, William Truan, miner, aged 26, had his right arm torn out at the socket, his left arm torn off at the wrist and the wooden swab stick blown through his body. Notwithstanding his horrible injuries Truan was conscious when picked up after the explosion. He lived nine hours, dying Saturday evening.

Strange Epidemic.

JACKSON, Oct. 17.—A strange epidemic has appeared in the village of Munith, 12 miles north of here, and the schools have been closed. It resembles diphtheria, but the doctors find it differs in many phases. A dozen cases are reported, one of which proved fatal, death being wholly unexpected until a few minutes before it occurred.

Heavy Damage by Frost.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Oct. 23.—It is estimated that the low temperature Sunday night caused damage to celery in this vicinity to the extent of $50,000. The loss will be pretty evenly divided among the 300 or more growers. The thermometer Sunday night registered 10 degrees below freezing point.

Democratic Nominee for Mayor of Detroit.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 22.—At the democratic city convention Monday Samuel Goldwater received the nomination for mayor over Don M. Dickinson, ex-postmaster-general, by a vote of 51 to 34, and the nomination was then made unanimous.

Ann Arbor's Grand Stand Burns.

Ann Arbor, Oct. 22.—The grand stand and football paraphernalia at the University athletic field took fire Monday from flying sparks and were entirely burned. No insurance. Loss, fully $1,000.

Well-Known Lawyer Dead.

Kalamazoo, Oct. 23.—Oscar T. Tuthill, a criminal lawyer well known in this city and vicinity, died here Tuesday morning at the age of 56 years.

MURDERED IN COLD BLOOD.

Frederick Kramer and Wife Slaughtered at Hancock by Robbers.

Hancock, Oct. 21.—Frederick Kramer, aged 57, and his wife, five years younger, were ruthlessly murdered between midnight Friday and daylight by a robber or robbers unknown. Kramer and his wife lived opposite the cemetery, west of the city, and were reputed to keep considerable money in the house. Kramer was blind and sold beer. His windows were guarded by solid wooden shutters and the doors were kept strongly barred. After dark the door was opened only to persons known to Kramer.

At 9 o'clock Saturday morning Kramer's brother, who lives at Lake Linden, came here and went to the house. The front door was open, but the shutters were closed. He called several times, but getting no answer grew alarmed and went in search of neighbors. A search of the house revealed a big pool of blood upon the floor of the main room. One or more bodies had been dragged through this blood and a broad smear of half-dried blood led to a trap door, which opened upon the cellar. In this cellar at the foot of the short stairway were found the bodies of Kramer and his wife. Kramer's throat was cut on the right while Mrs. Kramer's throat was cut from ear to ear and the left side of her face and forehead was pounded to a pulp, the skull fractured, the jaw broken and an eye beaten from the socket. The hammer covered with blood and hair, with which Mrs. Kramer's skull was fractured, was found on the premises, but the blunt knife or hatchet with which the throats were cut was not found. A single pistol cartridge was picked from the floor, but there had been no shooting. The old-fashioned trunk in the bedroom which was supposed to contain money had been roughly forced open and ransacked. Otherwise the house was undisturbed. The murders were clearly for purposes of robbery and were apparently done in cold blood. Circumstances render it probable that it was done by some one with whom his victims were well acquainted.

An odd character named George Swagler was arrested Sunday afternoon on suspicion of complicity in the murder. Swagler was a neighbor of the Kramers and frequented their house, and is unable to explain his whereabouts on the night of the murder. Other clews are being followed, but nothing very promising has been discovered.

SHE WAS MURDERED.

Horrible Fate of a Little Girl at Ishpeming.

Ishpeming, Oct. 18.—The surgeons who examined the remains of little Eva Lefreniere, whose body was found hidden in an attic of the Wendel block last Monday, testified that the child was unquestionably murdered. The child disappeared June 24 and was last seen in Mrs. Wendel's millinery store. The discovery was made in a most peculiar manner. Mrs. Wendle gave to Mrs. Lefreniere last Monday some carpet rags in which were found shoes worn by the little girl on the day of her disappearance. A thorough search of the Wendel premises resulted in the discovery of the child's body hidden away in an almost inaccessible corner under the roof.

The coroner's jury investigated the case, but so far has returned no verdict. Thursday evening a warrant was issued by Prosecuting Attorney Young for Mrs. Wendel's 16-year-old son, and he was immediately arrested and placed in jail. The evidence so far taken amply established that the child was assaulted and murdered.

BANKS IN GOOD CONDITION.

Those of Michigan Make a First-Rate Showing.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 23.—The comptroller of the currency has given out an abstract of the reports of the condition September 26 of the eighty-eight national banks in the state of Michigan, exclusive of Detroit. It shows total resources of $15,294,525, of which the loans and discounts were $29,549,201; stocks, securities, banking house, furniture, fixtures and other real estate and mortgages owned, $3,164,802; reserve agents, $7,114,067, of which $1,601,254 was in gold. The principal liabilities were: Capital stock, $8,834,000; surplus funds and undivided profits, $4,134,035, and deposits, $26,467,583. The average reserve held was 27.18 per cent.

Michigan Baptists.

Marquette, Oct. 18.—The sixteenth annual convention of the Baptist churches of Michigan began formal sessions here Thursday morning. The work of the day was devoted to discussing reports of the mission committees. These reports show gains in membership and number of churches never before equaled in the history of the church in this state. The number of Baptists in Washington is shown to be 42,355, a gain of nearly 4,000 over last year; number of churches 430, a gain of ten.

Hanged Himself.

Detroit, Oct. 18.—John Schwartz, an aged and respected German citizen of this city, committed suicide Thursday night by hanging himself to a tree in a neighboring forest. He suffered from a painful disease which at times produced wild mental aberrations during which spells he often spoke of suicide by hanging or drowning. Schwartz has no family.

Judge Long's Pension Case.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 22.—The supreme court set the hearing of the case of Judge Long, of the Michigan supreme court, who seeks to prevent the reduction of his pension from $72 to $50 a month, for the third Monday in January.

Search for Tug Sunk Twenty Years Ago.

Sand Beach, Oct. 19.—The Mitchells, from Chicago, are here with two tugs, and will sweep for the wreck of the tug Mills sunk twenty years ago in 90 feet of water near here.

HARPER'S BOOKS BARRED.

The State Courts Banish Their Geographies from the Schools.

Grand Rapids, Oct. 23.—The supreme court sustained the action of the board of education in substituting the Frye for the Harper geographies in the city schools, and this ends the school-book war, which cut so much of a figure in the school election in September. The Harper Geography is an American book company, or trust, publication, and has been in use in the city school for five years, while the Frye book is published by Ginn & Co., as independent. The school board adopted the Frye book at the August meeting, and then L. E. Kendall, representing the trust, asked the circuit court for a writ of mandamus to restrain the board of education from completing its contract with Ginn & Co., on the grounds that the change was contrary to public interest on account of the inferior character of the Frye books and because the board had not lived up to its own rules in adopting the Frye books. The court held that the board itself is the best judge of the merits of the text books to be used in the schools, and that a technical violation of its own rules does not vitiate a contract made by the board. The supreme court affirms the ruling of the circuit.

FAMILIES MADE HOMELESS.

Fire Does Much Damage in the Village of Riverside.

Benton Harbor, Oct. 21.—The village of Riverside, 6 miles north of this city, was the scene of a destructive fire Saturday night. Many poor families have been made homeless, and the one industrial institution of the town, the stave factory and sawmill of David Cook, was destroyed. The fire started in Cook's cooper shop and spread to the stave factory and mill, all of which, with contents, were consumed. The homes of Mr. Bernette, Arthur Gettige and A. Woods were in the path of the fire, and rapidly went up in flame and smoke. The home of M. Sheldon was torn down to save the residence of James Curtis adjoining. A fortunate change of the wind saved the Chicago & West Michigan depot and other property. A. Johnson's stable, with contents of hay, grain and implements, was destroyed. The total loss is about $10,000, with no insurance. Mr. Curtis' loss alone is $6,000. The mill employed twelve men. The homeless people have been given shelter by neighbors.

RIGHT OF ACTION AN ASSET.

Important Decision Growing Out of the Wreck at Battle Creek in 1893.

Lansing, Oct. 23.—In its opinion in the case of Robert Findlay vs. the Chicago & Grand Trunk railway the supreme court decided a very important matter growing out of the wreck and holocaust at Battle Creek in October, 1893. Findlay's wife was killed in the wreck, and the husband, who lives in Hamilton, Ont., was given letters of administration by the Wayne county probate court, the entire estate of the wife consisting of a right of action against the railway company for damages. The suit for damages was tried in the Wayne circuit court, which directed a verdict for the company on the ground that the probate court had no jurisdiction, the claim being that the right of action for causing the death of the woman does not constitute assets of the estate. The supreme court, however, held that such right of action does constitute assets of the estate. The decision of the court below was reversed, therefore, and a new trial ordered.

HACKLEY'S GIFT TO MUSKEGON.

Presents the City with an Endowed Manual Training School.

Muskegon, Oct. 19.—Charles H. Hackley, Muskegon's millionaire lumberman and philanthropist, who has given education in this city over $300,000, Friday night raised it to nearly $500,000. He is president of the board of education and just before the board adjourned offered $30,000 to be used solely in the building and equipment of a manual training school wherein the boys and girls of the city of Muskegon may receive free of charge such instruction and training as is afforded in manual training schools of the best class in this country. The property will belong to the public schools of the city of Muskegon. When completed he will give $5,000 a year during his life to defray the expenses of providing instructors, and at or before his death it will be endowed with the sum of $100,000, the income of which shall be used for the purpose of providing instructors.

BRAVERY REWARDED.

Medal of Honor Presented to a Michigan Veteran.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 19.—By the direction of the president a medal of honor has been presented to William C. Whitney, late captain of company B, Eleventh Michigan volunteer infantry, for distinguished gallantry in action at Chickamauga, Tenn., September 30, 1863.

[This officer, at the time the enemy were about to make a charge, went outside the union temporary works and, at great exposition to himself, cut off the cartridge-boxes of the confederate dead and wounded and brought them within the union lines, where the small ammunition secured was used with good effect in again repulsing the attacking force.]

A Queer Will.

St. Joseph, Oct. 19.—The will of John Andrews, a farmer, was offered for probate Friday. The estate is valued at $35,000 and the will gives it all to the children, while the wife receives annually 100 bushels of oats, 100 bushels of wheat and 300 bushels of corn, and in case of serious need she is to receive the sum of $8 annually. If she marries again she is to receive nothing.

Two Detroit Firms Fail.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 19.—Louis Kattnauer & Co., a wholesale leaf tobacco firm, doing business at Nos. 71 and 73 Jefferson avenue, and Kunsaeur, Rosenfeld & Co., wholesale clothing, doing business at Nos. 190 and 192 Jefferson avenue, Friday filed chattel mortgages covering the stocks in both establishments, aggregating $180,000.

UNTOLD MISERY FROM RHEUMATISM

O. H. King, Water Valley, Miss., cured by

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"For five years, I suffered untold misery from muscular rheumatism. I tried every known remedy, consulted the best physicians, visited Hot Springs, Ark., three times, spending $1000 there, I-taldes doctors' bills; but could obtain only temporary relief. My flesh was wasted away so that I weighed only ninety-three pounds; my left arm and leg were drawn out of shape, the muscles being twisted up in knots. I was unable to dress myself, except with assistance, and could only hobble about by using a cane. I had no appetite, and was assured, by the doctors, that I could not live. The pains, at times, were so awful, that I could procure relief only by means of hypodermic injections of morphine. I had my limbs bandaged in clay, in sulphur, in poultices; but these gave only temporary relief. After trying everything, and suffering the most awful tortures, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Inside of two months, I was able to walk without a cane. In three months, my limbs began to strengthen, and in the course of a year, I was cured. My weight has increased to 165 pounds, and I am now able to do my full day's work as a railroad blacksmith."

TRASK'S
Magnetic Ointment.

The worst Sores, Bruises, Cuts, Burns, Scrofula, Skin Disorders, Sore Throat, Croup, Rheumatism, Lameness, Piles, and all external and internal affections characterized by INFLAMMATION, yield to its influence as if by magic. It is a purely vegetable preparation by a regular physician of eminence, and its success has been marvellous in the most obstinate cases. Sold by Druggists and Dealers at 25 and 40 cents.

The Great Healer of all Inflamed Injuries and Disorders.

It never fails to restore the natural function of the skin and equalize the circulation of the blood. By this means a controlling power is gained over the most malignant forms of disease. It penetrates to every portion of the human frame, every bone, muscle, vein, nerve and ligament, searched out and made sensible to its soothing and healing influence. Hence its copes readily with internal as well as external diseases.

Over 40 Years.

This Ointment has been used by the people throughout the United States, and our confidence in its qualities is such that as we have no space here to insert any of the numerous certificates of cures which we have from all parts of the country, we simply ask those readers of this notice who have ever used this Ointment, to frankly state their experience with it to inquiring friends. If but one in a hundred would do this we should be perfectly satisfied with the result. Full directions for use will be found on pamphlet around each bottle.

Prices 25 and 40 cents per bottle. Sold by all dealers in medicine.

WHEN they put a man in jail, he cannot follow his natural inclinations. His enjoyment of life is limited. He cannot eat what he wants to—he is limited to a very frugal diet. He is alive to be sure, but life doesn't possess very many advantages.

Are not all these things equally true of a dyspeptic? For all of the real enjoyment he gets out of life, he might as well be in jail. He cannot eat what he likes, nor as much of it as he would like. If he transgresses any of the rules of his diet, he is punished for it. He suffers much, gets little sympathy.

Dyspepsia starts with indigestion, and may lead to almost anything. Indigestion means a variety

Lesson For the Week Ending Oct. 27. Comment by Rev. W. J. Yates, A. M. Topic, The Death of Stephen.

SCRIPTURE READING.—Acts vi, 8; vii, 7-60.

Stephen appears to have been one of the most notable persons in the early church. His eminent ability in business affairs and true spirituality led to his selection among the seven stewards or deacons to whom was committed the care of the poor. His understanding of the Hebrew Scriptures and the breadth of the gospel seems to have been greater than that of any other one in the church at Jerusalem. He was specially gifted in debate and argument or teaching. From the meager accounts given it would seem that he frequented one of the synagogues in the city where the Jews of Egypt and Asia Minor were accustomed to worship. Here he was accustomed to speak of Jesus as the Messiah and to expound the Old Testament prophecies as applying to him. It is likely that here a young Jew of Tarsus, who had come to Jerusalem as a pupil of Gamaliel, encountered him. Doubtless Saul often listened to the eloquence of Stephen and may have more than once been worsted in argument with him. Unable to answer the reasoning, stirred by zeal for ancient institutions, conspiracy is laid against Stephen.

The address before the council is of deepest interest. It shows an apprehension of the broadening of the church such as was not to be found even in Peter and was equaled only by that of Paul in after times.

Though Saul was consenting to the death of Stephen he never escaped from the influence of his reasoning and persuasion. Indeed, it is not too much to say that Paul's view of the gospel and his mission to the gentiles were in considerable measure the result of Stephen's preaching. Struggle as he would, he could not escape its force, and finally after his conversion the mantle of the first Christian martyr fell upon Paul and he became the apostle to the gentiles.

The stoning of Stephen seems to have been the result of mob rage, excited by his reference to the worship of Jehovah as broader than the temple service. This was construed as a slur upon the temple, and as blasphemy, the penalty for which was death by stoning. Nowhere is the contrast between blasphemous bigotry and reverent spirituality more clearly shown than in this tragedy.

Suffering and Punishment.

Not all suffering is punishment. If it is inflicted to make one better in the future, it is of the nature of discipline. If inflicted by arbitrary authority for the benefit of society, it is injustice on one side and martyrdom on the other unless indeed it be voluntarily borne, when it becomes heroism and self sacrifice. To be punishment the suffering must be inflicted by proper authority on one who by voluntary disobedience to known law deserves to suffer, and the penalty must be proportioned to the ill desert.

Heavenly Fruition.

All that we have hoped or willed or dreamed of good shall exist there. Not its semblance, but itself. No beauty nor good nor power whose voice has gone forth but each survives for the melodist when eternity affirms the conception of an hour. The high that proved too high, the heroic for earth too hard, the passion that left the ground to lose itself in the sky, are music sent up to God by the lover and the bard; enough that He heard it once; we shall hear it by and by.

Cheerful.

James Fields used to relate a conversation he had with a countryman. He inquired if there had been no amusements in the village, and was told that they did try it once, but with no great success. The town was in need of a new hearse. In order to raise funds a minister who was out of employment was engaged to deliver a course of lectures on mummies. He died before the course was finished, and they had never had the courage to try any amusements since.

Sin and Suffering.

The sufferings which punish sin in this world and the sufferings which will punish it in the next are the expression of the irreconcilable antagonism of God to sin and to those who persist in sinning. They are an assertion by God himself of the principle that those who sin deserve to suffer.—R. W. Dale.

Saving Faith.

The absence of true justifying faith, says John Wesley, consists in entire personal trust of the man of a penitent and broken spirit upon the merits of his Saviour as having died for him. To all who so believe faith is imputed for righteousness, or, in other words, pardon is administered.

The Greatest Talent.

"It requires talent to make money, it requires a higher degree of talent to save money, but the highest talent of all is required to use money rightly. Many get, some keep, few indeed even acquire, ability to wisely use and give."

Endless Life.

Among the rudest pagans death never quenched the hope of immortality. That hope rose over the grave, shining to weeping eyes like the evening star above the place where the evening sun had gone down.—Guthrie.

Our Bishops.

The present number is 18, of whom 2 are missionary bishops. Four were elected in 1872, 3 in 1880, 5 in 1884 and 6 in 1888. The church has had 46 bishops since its organization in 1784.

Humility is the base of every virtue. They who dig deepest build safest. God keeps all his pity for the proud.—Bailey.

OBITUARY.

DEWITT C. CLARK.

DeWitt C. Clark, one of the foremost citizens of Adrian, died Tuesday, Oct. 15, from an attack of rheumatism of the heart. The funeral was held Thursday afternoon, Oct. 17, from his late residence at 22 Dennis street. The following notice is condensed from an obituary in the Telegram;

DeWitt C. Clark was born in this city, November 22, 1837, and would have been 58 years old had he lived until his next birthday. He had imbibed the mining fever when a young man and when the war came on was in California engaged in gold mining and speculative enterprises. He was patriotic in disposition and enlisted in Co. H, First Regiment California cavalry, and served through the dark days of the rebellion, being mustered out at Ft. Worth, Texas. At the close of the rebellion he returned to Adrian and engaged in the grocery business, later buying a farm to which he devoted his attention until the winter of 1880, at which time he sold out and removed to Mandon, Dakota, where he engaged in mercantile business. The death of his father, Hon. E. L. Clark occurred in the April following and he went back to Dakota and closed up the business there, and returned to Adrian until 1882. He then went to Saginaw and engaged with Ald. E. J. Shepherd in the wholesale drug business, and continued in business there for two or three years. In 1885 he sold out the Saginaw business and returned to the home of his birth where he has ever since resided. After disposing of his Saginaw business, Mr. Clark became interested somewhat largely in copper mining in the northern part of Michigan, and in gold mines in Montana, which interests he retained at the time of his death. Mr. Clark was one of the wealthy men of the city, owning several stores and houses in this city and Detroit, besides his mining and other interests. A conservative estimate would value his property at $100,000, while it was oftener estimated at twice that sum. Mr. Clark was twice married, his first wife being a Miss Paine; his second wife, who survives to mourn the loss of a kind husband, was S. Maud Wetmore. The only child, a son of the last marriage, died in infancy, and they have an adopted son, Bonny, about fourteen years of age. Mr. Clark was a man who detested show or display of any kind. He was considered somewhat set in his ideas and manners, but he was willing to be convinced, and his heart was in the right place, as many people know who received quiet, unostentatious benefits at his hands. He gave more liberally to charity than any knew, buying shoes and clothing for suffering children or decrepit old people, and doing it in a way that made others happy while the world in general knew nothing of his deeds of kindness. He was a man whose word was as good as his bond and, while surrounded by a somewhat brusk exterior in his dealings with the public, strict integrity and sterling honesty were part and parcel of his being, and those who knew him best were his best friends.

FRANCES J. JONES.

This obituary is clipped from the Albion Mirror of Oct. 4th. The deceased formerly resided in Tecumseh and had many acquaintances here, who will learn of her demise with regret.

Sadness filled many hearts in this city on hearing of the death of Miss Frances Jones, who a few years ago was one of society's favorite young ladies, but who for the past four months has been a sufferer from rheumatism. Frances J. Jones was born at Tecumseh, April 23rd, 1865, and came to this city nine years ago and was at that time engaged with her sister, Mrs. M. C. Butler in the millinery business in the store now occupied by Austin & Tucker. Later they closed out their business and Miss Jones entered the employ of W. B. Crane, where she was sales lady for a year, then accepted the position of head trimmer in Ury's store, where she remained for a year and a half, when her health began to fail and she was taken to Ypsilanti for treatment at the sanitarium, but receiving no benefit returned home and was treated by physicians here. Later on she was taken to Allen's Institute at Indianapolis, but there she received no help and returned in a much worse condition than before leaving home and since that time she has suffered untold agony, but through it all she was most wonderfully cheerful and patient. Sunday morning after more intense suffering than any she had ever experienced, she slept for a number of hours to awaken in another world. She leaves her mother, Mrs. Caroline Jones, and four sisters, Mrs. J. G. Clark and Mrs. Abbie Frost, of Grass Lake, and Mrs. M. C. Butler and Mrs. W. M. Gillette, of this city. All through her sickness the friends who had loved her so well still remembered her with flowers and delicacies, and loving hands lined her grave with white, evergreens and beautiful flowers. Two years previous to her death, she chose her bearers and expressed wishes concerning her burial which were carefully carried out. Miss Jones was a member of St. James' church and the impressive Episcopal service was used. Rev. T. H. Honley conducted the services. And thus passed from our midst one whom we hope to meet in the home where there is no more sorrow or suffering.

BENJAMIN KELLEY.

Benjamin Kelley, an old and respected resident of Raisin, died on Wednesday, the 16th inst., the funeral being held and largely attended at the Friends church, at Raisin Center, on Friday last. Mr. Kelley was born in Sidney, Kennebec county, Me., Sept. 1823. He came to Michigan with the late Libni Kelley, his father, about the year 1836, and settled on section 23, so we may say he was a pioneer in the full sense of the word, doing his life work here in Raisin. He was married to Miss Jane M. Hoxie, who came with her parents and settled in Palmyra in the year 1834 who is left to mourn the loss of a loving husband. Mr. Kelley, by his energy and business tact, became the owner of a large and well stocked farm. For many years he was the principal stock buyer and shipper in this vicinity, and by his honorable dealing became a favorite buyer of stock among the farmers of this county. He was a public spirited citizen, doing well his part in building up schools, churches, and other public improvements, and with a kind heart and almost too liberal hands assisting the needy and suffering. He was a consistent and faithful member of the Friend's church, being liberal in supporting, building up and sustaining the church, society and Sabbath school. His only child died when only 11 months old, but he and his wife became the foster parents to Louisa Mulligan, Zora Hoxie, Madison Graves and Fannie G. Kelley. For the last few years his life became clouded by misplaced confidence in others with whom he was connected in business, thus losing the honest accumulations of his life's work. Yet though he was made poor in this world's goods, he died with the glad consciousness that he had treasures abundant laid up in Heaven. Thus "Uncle Ben," who has spent his life largely in doing good to others, has passed from us to his reward.

Electric Power for October.

This enterprising magazine seems to have made a particular effort in its October issue to appeal to the popular mind. Although an article by Mr. Wiener on Technical Measuring Instruments, and one by Mr. Emmet, on The Original of Alternating Currents, as well as Messrs. Freedman and Osterberg's serial on Practical Testing, are very scientific, there are several others of interest to anybody at all versed in science. Prof. W. M. Stine contributes a very able article on The Aim of Laboratory Training, a subject widely discussed, and worthy of deep thought. The writer is a particularly able man for this subject, having a large laboratory in personal charge. Mr. E. P. Thompson, well known for his writing on Invention, points out that the principal of reversal is one everybody should take to heart; he shows that by simply reversing the process some of the most important inventions have been made. The Synopsis of Technical Literature is exceptionally long, showing the activity which is being developed all over the world in trying to further the science of electricity and its application.

COIN'S FINANCIAL SCHOOL.

This little book is one of the most extensive treatises on the money question that has ever been written. It shows up the evil effects of our present monetary system in a most emphatic manner. Every voter in Lenawee county, regardless of party affiliations, should read it. The Chicago Times says: "A book that will create a profound impression throughout the United States." The New York Recorder says: "It mercilessly scourges the money changers in the Temple of the Republic." The Chicago Inter-Ocean says: "This book tells its readers more about gold, silver and currency, generally, than any other publication we know of, and in a way that every man can fully comprehend." A supply is kept on hand at the HERALD office. Single copies 25 cents. Every new advance paying subscriber to the HERALD will receive a copy free. Now is your time to get good reading cheap. A FAMOUS REFORMER.

REV. G. J. FREEMAN SPEAKS FREELY OF HIS LIFE AND WORK.

He Has Written and Preached on Both Sides of the Atlantic—Recently the Victim of a Peculiar Affliction from Which He was Released In a Marvelous Manner.

From the Herald, Boston, Mass.

REV. C. J. FREEMAN, A.B., PH.D.

No. 137 Emerson St., South Boston, is the present home of Rev. C. J. Freeman, A. B., Ph.D., the recent rector of St. Mark's Episcopal Church at Anaconda, Mont. During the reform movement which has swept over Boston, Dr. Freeman has been frequently heard from through the various newspapers and although a resident of comparatively recent date he has exerted much public influence which has been increased by the fact that he was ten years ago on a commission appointed in England to investigate the troublesome question of the vice of great cities.

He has preached before cultured audiences in the old world, as well as to the rough pioneers in the mining towns of the Rocky mountains, and his utterances as well as his writings have been in the line of progress and liberality, well-seasoned with practical common sense. Dr. Freeman has written this paper a letter which will be read with much interest. He says:—

"Some five years since I found that deep study and excessive literary work, in addition to my ordinary ministerial duties, were undermining my health. I detected that I was unable to understand things as clearly as I usually did; that after but little thought and study I suffered from a dull pain in the head and great weariness, and all thought and study became a trouble to me. I lost appetite, did not relish ordinary food, after eating, suffering acute pains in the chest and back. There was sourness of the stomach, and the most of my food seemed to turn to sour water, with most sickly and suffocating feeling in vomiting up such sour water.

At this time I consulted several physicians. One said I was run down, another said I had chronic indigestion; but this I do know, that with all the prescriptions which they gave me I was not improving; for in addition, I had pains in the regions of the kidneys, a very sluggish liver, so much so that I was very much like a yellow man, was depressed in spirits, imagined all sorts of things and was daily becoming worse and felt that I should soon become a confirmed invalid if I did not soon understand my complaints. I followed the advice of physicians most severely, but with all I was completely unable to do my ministerial duty, and all I could possibly do was to rest and try to be thankful. After eighteen months' treatment I found I was the victim of severe palpitation of the heart, and was almost afraid to walk across my room. Amid all this I was advised to take absolute rest from all mental work. In fact, I was already unable to take any duty for the reason that the feeling of complete prostration after the least exertion, precluded me from any duty whatever, and it appeared to my mind that I was very near being a perfect wreck. As for taking absolute rest, I could not take more than I did unless it was so absolute as to rest in the grave. Then it would have been absolute enough.

"It is now quite three years, since, in addition to all the pains and penalties which I endured, I found creeping upon me a peculiar numbness of the left limbs, and in fact could not walk about. If I tried to walk I had to drag the left foot along the ground. The power of locomotion seemed to be gone, and I was consoled with the information that it was partial paralysis. Whether it was or not I do not know, but this I do know, I could not walk about and I began to think my second childhood had commenced at the age of forty-one years.

"Just about two years ago or a little more, a ministerial friend came to see me. I was sick in bed and could hardly move, and he was something like old Job's comforter, although not quite. He had much regret and commiseration which was a very poor balm for a sick man. But the best thing he did say was this: "Did you ever see Pink Pills?" I said, "Who in the world is he?" He said, "Why do you not try Pink Pills?" He said good bye very affectionately, so much so that doubtless he thought it was the last farewell. Nevertheless, after thinking a little, I just came to the conclusion that I would make an innovation and see what Pink Pills would do. I looked at them, and I said can any good possibly come out of those little pink things? Any way, I would see. I was suspicious of Pink Pills, and I remembered the old proverb: "Sospetto licentia fede," "suspicion is the passport to faith." So Pink Pills I obtained, and Pink Pills I swallowed. But one box of them did not cure me, nor did I feel any different. But after I had taken nine or ten boxes of pills I was decidedly better. Yes, I was certainly improving, and after eight months of Pink Pills I could get about. The numbness of the left limb was nearly gone, the pains in the head had entirely ceased, the appetite was better, I could enjoy food and I had a free, quiet action of the heart without palpitation. In fact, in twelve months I was a new creature, and to-day I can stand and speak over two hours without a rest. I can perform all my public duties which devolve upon me, without fatigue, and do all the walking which I have to do, and am thankful for it. I can safely say I was never in a better state of health than I am to-day, and that I attribute it to the patient, persevering use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

"I fully, cordially and strongly commend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to all or any who suffer in a similar way, and feel sure that any one who adopts Pink Pills with perseverance and patience cannot find their expectations unrealized or their reasonable hopes blasted. But he will find that blessing which is the reward of a full trust in a true and reliable remedy. I shall always wish and desire the greatest success for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and always cherish a deep feeling of gratitude to the friend who first said to me buy Pink Pills. I have tried them and know their true value, and am truly glad that I did, for I have found from them a good experience, to do more than is actually claimed for them."

Very faithfully yours,
C. J. FREEMAN, A.B., Ph.D.,
Late rector of St. Mark's, Montana.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effect of la grippe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions, all forms of weakness either in male or female. Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent post paid on receipt of price, (50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50—they are never sold in bulk or by the 100) by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

OUR WHEELMEN ABROAD.

The Beautiful City of Venice, Livy's Home and Along the Po.

MR. EDITOR:—My last letter concluded just where the marvels began. We were approaching Venice. I shall tell you about the sea Cybele as soon as I relate how we met detachments of Italian cavalry every five minutes during two days preceeding our arrival in Venice. They were uniformed in brown and were dusty and real enough. I learned that they were going to Genoa, there to embark for Abysinia and quell the rebellion After passing innumerable villas, built on low and marshy soil, we at last reached the Adriatic shore at Fusina and made the embarassing discovery that the queen of the seas, was throned on her hundred isles, about three miles out and in deep water. She did not send her winged lions after us, and as bicycles are so clumsy to swim with, we graciously deposited our wheels with the steamboat company, and embarked for the fairy city of our dreams. This was our first ride in Europe on anything except our bicycles and it was very pleasant, I assure you, to sit at ease in the bow of the boat and see the tiara of towers, and the vast and sumptuous pile rise clearly, and more clearly from the waves. We entered Venice in the evening, just as the full moon was rising. I do not think that anyone believes he has been in Venice until he has had some realistic experience—quarreled with a gondolier, or been outrageously overcharged by a hotel-keeper. Before that, it was all a dream, such as it was for us while we wandered among the throngs on the Piazza of St. Mark and heard the orchestra, and watched the revelers who sat and gaily drank wines and absinthe at the tables in front of the brilliant cafes. We strolled up and down the quays and tried to feel unsympathetic before that "pathetic swindle," the Bridge of Sighs. Then the crowd melted away and we tried to follow one of the many streamlets, but it vanished finally and left us on the Bridge of the Rialto at midnight. We stood there a long time under the hypnotic influence of the flaring torches and cries of gondoliers as they rowed lazily home. Beneath us was the sound of dipping oars and occasionally the merry laugh of a girl. Above wa the quiet light of the stars, and when all became as still as they, we felt the need of sleep and hunted up a hotel where we slept and nervously waited for morning to reveal new wonders.

Of course I cannot tell you all we saw in Venice. Ruskin, Howells or Hare can do it so delightfully for you. But these few confidences. We rode with the most unpoetic of gondoliers up and down the Grand Canal and we learned that the palaces in Venice are crumbling, that the gondolier is songless and conscienceless, but not voiceless, that the Moor and Shylock cannot be forgotten, and that St. Mark's steeds of brass were bridled long ago. We also walked those streets which are not canals and we found them so intricate and making such a labyrinth that even the best of maps would hardly extricate the wonderers. There are no horses in Venice. There is no dust, and, as the poet has written it, "no steps, no track of man leads to her gates." Late one afternoon we took the steamboat, and when it touched Fusina awoke from our dream and, in a dazed way, mounted our wheels and rode away.

Our ride for 25 miles was a retrace of our approach, as far as Padua. We lost our way before in that city and now did it again. Such a maze as those streets are, and you have to go around the city three times before a magic gate is opened by this conjuring, you are released. From there to Ferara we wheeled upon an elevated road, or enbanked highway I should say, from which we could see the low plain, broken at times by volcanic hills and intersected by branches of the Po. Beautiful villas and castles upon steep hills, relieve an otherwise monotonous succession of rice fields. We saw Livy's home and Petrarch's native town and far more exciting we were well shaken up by an earthquake just as we were going to bed in the tiny inn of the little town of Battaglia. You will insist that I exaggerate when I say that the long-horned cattle in that region made us nervous for fear we could not get by, but we felt like giving them the road and being thankful we were not gored.

We passed through Rovigo and reached the Po river along whose bank we rode in search of a bridge. It is a miserable stream with lazy, yellow waters and stupid, marshy banks, all uncultivated. The only use made of the stream seems attained by corn mills. These are wonderfully old structures, supported on the water by boats, old black hulks, which are anchored; and between the boats is a very wide water wheel which turns slowly, monotoonusly in the sluggish current. When we at last found a bridge, there was a terrific wind and thunderstorm at our back. We were almost hurled across that bridge, and through the town on the opposite side. Then we were driven with fearful violence along a magnificent road toward Ferrara but the rain overtook us just a mile out of that city and we took refuge in the wierdest old rookery where four or five ugly Italians with fiendish tempers were employed in some unlawful manufacturing, as was evident from the suspicious, fierce way in which they entertained us and drove us out when the storm moderated.

Ferrara's glory has departed. The streets are grass-grown and palaces are forlorn or occupied by merchants. The old castle with the dungeon, where Tasso was imprisoned, stands within its moat, grand and lonely, in the midst of the busiest street. It was a relief to look upon the simple house where Ariosto lived so contentedly. All this we left behind and we reached Bologna after a ride through a region where the rice reeds stood eight and ten feet high and where there were threshing floors made of polished red bricks and grand canals, the surface of whose waters was high above the plain. We amused ourselves for a time riding through the narrow streets and lofty arcades, peering now and then into old palaces and cathedrals and hunting for the sausages after which, I suppose, the city was named. When we were wheeling out of the city an officer confronted and stopped us, saying that we had no brake. We conceded that fact and remarked that we did not care to buy. The officer, however, insisted and led us, followed by a curious crowd, back to the police station, and after a few preliminaries, the magistrate informed us that we were fined five lira. Our American ire was aroused and we refused to pay, saying we had plenty of time and would stay there and board it out. The officer began to sweat and the magistrate looked much concerned. The Italian government is too poor to keep anyone over night. Then we threatened to see the American Consul on the following day. We left our wheels as hostage and finished seeing the sights. At 9 o'clock in the evening they were getting desperate, so sent for the chief of the department who, when he heard our story, told us to go on our way. We thanked him and he shook hands with us, wishing us "buono viaggia." On the following day we set out for Florence over the Appenines. More about the mountains in a later letter.

SATURDAY'S BLAZE.

Last Saturday, about 10 o'clock in the forenoon, the loose straw about Henry Smith's paper mill was discovered to be on fire. It was hardly started before the high wind blowing at the time had spread the flames about the yard and over the large piles of baled straw. The alarm was quickly turned in, and the engine team being away Art Harding's dray team was pressed into the service, hauling the hose cart to the scene in good time. In the meantime a reel of hose, which is kept in Mr. Smith's shed for use in that part of town, was quickly coupled and used with excellent effect to stay the flames. So furious was the wind and so combustible was the material at hand, that it seemed for a while as if the two powerful streams which were playing on the fire would hardly be able to hold its progress in check, much less put it out. However, the fire was gradually driven back and at last confined to the piles of baled straw where it would ever break out afresh. The piles had to be overhauled, wet down, and were then drawn down on the flats away from the mill. It was necessary to keep close watch of the whole premises for several days and nights, as some hidden fire would constantly break out afresh. The roof of the lower part of the mill was blazing in many places and it required the efforts of a strong bucket brigade to keep the fire in check even there. Considering the distance and length of hose to be used, there was never more prompt and earnest work done at a fire than here, both by the members of the hose company and by other citizens. Everybody seemed to feel that the loss of the Smith paper mill would be a personal loss, and worked accordingly. The fire is supposed to have originated from sparks from the smoke stack.

The citizens of Tecumseh can again well congratulate themselves on the fact that they possess a most efficient system of water works, for it is conceded by all that, had it been necessary to wait for the engine last Saturday, the paper mill would now be in ashes.

The loss sustained by Mr. Smith on his stock of straw and on the sheds and mill amount to nearly $1500 with no insurance.

Card of Thanks.

We desire to extend our sincere thanks to the neighbors and friends who so kindly sympathized with and assisted us in the death and burial of our dear, beloved wife and mother.

LOCAL OPTION.

To Try or Not to Try it, that is the Question.

A meeting was held Wednesday morning at the First Baptist church in Adrian, and the matter of asking for a special election in this county to test the sentiment of the public on the question of local option came up for consideration. There seemed to be considerable dissatisfaction with the character of the legislation as regards the liquor traffic, and the question as to whether or not local option under the circumstances would be effective as a temperance measure was discussed somewhat. It was finally decided that a committee should be appointed to call a meeting of citizens generally interested in the subject, and let that meeting act as it deemed best when the people came together. The committee got together and formulated the following call:

To the Citizens of Lenawee County who are Interested in the Provisions of the Local Option Law:

A meeting will be held to consider the advisability of taking advantage of provisions in local option act, in Adrian, Friday, November 8th, at 10 a. m., in the M. P. church.

D. C. THOMAS, Adrian,
J. P. VARNER, Tecumseh,
A. E. SKIBERT, Morenci,
JOHN BETTIS Blissfield,
C. W. BALDWIN, Addison,
B. S. HUDSON, Tecumseh,
Committee.

It is understood those in favor and those opposed are invited to be present and disouss the question, after which a decision will be reached as to whether further action will be taken or not.

Valuable Maps.

Messrs. Rand, McNally & Co., of Chicago, the famous map firm, have issued a wall map of this great State, which should be in every home, office and school-room.

This Map illustrates the complete system of United States Land Survey, and by a special process of Relief Line engraving presents all the details without confusion.

Each Railroad system is represented and named.

The location of every railroad station, post office, and town is plainly designated and can be readily located, as all section lines are clearly delineated, and the township and range numbers are printed in the plainest possible manner.

Rivers, creeks, small lakes, and innumerable details are clearly and correctly located. Taken all in all it is a marvel of beauty.

Notwithstanding the great cost of production the price is as moderate as could be expected. The prices are $2.00 for the paper back wall map, or $3.00 for the cloth back, at which rates they are sent postpaid.

The same firm issues another map which is worth mentioning. It is 46 inches from top to bottom. One side shows the largest United States map ever printed on one sheet. The other side shows a similar map of the World. Each of these maps is sold for $5.00 when put up on cloth back, but this one map will be supplied for $2.50 postpaid.

We advise any of our readers who wants profitable work should write to this firm for agents' terms. Good canvassers earn from $15.00 to $35.00 per week. 3w

HOW GIRLS KISS.

The next time you happen to see two girls kiss each other just watch and notice how they do it. It is a very interesting study, and you will be surprised to discover how many hundreds of methods there are of kissing. A girl usually kisses another girl because she feels it her duty and one of the things she can't evade. Sometimes she does it when there's a man around, for it is well to set him a good example. Once in a while, though, she kisses her friend because she likes her.

The most popular fashion is to make a hurried dive and both kiss the atmosphere. Kissing on the cheek is considered quite the thing, too, but as for one girl to kiss another girl's mouth—well it is not even to be thought of. The tender, gentle girl usually puts a hand on either side of her friend's face and presses her lips on the friend's forehead, or may be on her chin or her eyes.

And then some girls just press their cheeks together and let it go at that. Most girls consider it a bother, anyway.

MCKINLEY AND HIS SECRETARY.

The Major: What was that last run that we made on the special?

Secretary: Ninety-nine miles in ninety-six—

The Major: Hush! Not so loud about '96. We don't want to have too much to say about that around here. The people have sort of caught on to that fellow Whitney's remarks about letting '96 take care of itself. How would you say that run was?

Secretary: Ninety-nine miles in ninety-five minutes and sixty seconds.

The Major: That is better. It was a good run. We'll show Tom Reed a point or two about railroading ourselves into the White House. Hey, Mr. Secretary?

Secretary: Indeed, we will, sir. And the railroads pay the McKinley bill—I mean the freight.—N. Y. World.

WHAT MAKES A RELIGION.

According to an eminent preacher it takes two things to make a religion, viz., a creed and a cultus. Christianity is indeed a creed: but this creed is not a thing that you can roll up and lay among the manuscripts. It is a living thing, with eyes to see and a heart to pity, and feet to go about doing good. And Christianity is also a cultus, but not a mere litany or illuminated missal that the dust can cover and decay gnaw at. It is a living spirit that goes everywhere, making the waste places glad and communing with heaven by blessing earth.

At this point Christianity differs from all other religions. Confucianism is proverbial philosophy. Mohammedanism is a politico-moral force. Brahminism is sacerdotal formalism. Buddhism is cold ethics. The religion of Jesus comes in among these false religions and gives light and life. It is more than a philosophy—it is motive power; it is morality spiritualized; it is sacerdotalism put in touch with sciology; it is ethics applied to human affairs.

Pure blood and a good digestion are insurance against disease and suffering. Burdock Blood Bitters keeps the blood pure, the digestion perfect. 1w.

GOT THE BACKACHE?

If You Have, Here's the Way to Rid Yourself of the Weariness and Pain Attending It.

Some people suffer with headaches, many people are worn out and weary all the time, many more people have lame back and backache. Few people understand the real cause of their aches, and fewer yet know how easily they can find a cure. Just a word of explanation before we prove that what we say is true. The back is the key-note of the kidneys. It aches; that's a sign that the kidneys are not working properly; it is lame; another sign, the kidneys are out of order. The kidneys, you know, are the filters of the blood, but filters sometimes get clogged up. This means in their case that the blood courses through the entire system impregnated with poisonous uric acid, bringing on many a disorder which, if neglected, means disease perhaps incurable. And now about the cure:—Don't take our word for it; read what others say:

Mr. David C. Oaks is proprietor of the well known hardware and paint shop at 220 East Main Street, Kalamazoo. Mr. Oaks has suffered a great deal from kidney ailments; he described his condition and cure as follows: "I had a bad, lame back, which I suppose was caused by my kidneys; was confined to my bed during bad attacks. I might say, from time to time, I have been in that condition for years. The urinary organism was affected, urine being scanty, highly colored, and difficult in passage. I was in a bad shape when I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills, about which I had heard. I have used now two boxes of them, and the pills have removed all the pain and trouble. There was a marked improvement right from the first, and it has continued right along. Doan's Kidney Pills are the right thing in the right place."

THE ARENA

IT IS, IS NOT Chesapeake, but IDEAS and WORK you are seeking for your Home Circle [illegible] for your BOYS and GIRLS, it is THE ARENA you want.

The Arena is the One and Only Magazine in America which Gives What a University Education Should Give, and all the facts and opinions on both sides of every question of human interest. Other periodicals give one side of some questions. The ARENA is absolutely honest, and gives all the facts and evidence, all opinions, all sides, and lets every man form his own opinion, and therefore the greatest educator in America. It is the Vanguard of Ideas, and is essentially a HOME MAGAZINE.

The Arena from Volume One to [illegible] University Education.

It has attracted to its pages all the Great Wits, Poets, Reformers, Thinkers, Scientists, Philosophers, Story-writers and Sociologists of our time. It publishes the most advanced thought on Social Science, Politics, Religion, Theology, Literature, Criticism, Fiction, Labor, Land, Money, The Woman's Movement, Suffrage, Scientific Investigation, Psychology, Psychic Phenomena,—everything of interest to the thought of our day. Its net sweeps the circle of the every day world and brings a great catch of thoughts to land. It is unique in American Periodical Literature. It opens a new world to thousands. It will do so for you. Send for a sample copy with our prospectus for [illegible] Price per annum, $5. 50c a copy.

Neighborhood News.

BRITTON BUDGET.

The news is dry and dusty.

A law suit is brewing in town.

L. E. Ousterhout is on the sick list.

T. G. Hoagland was in Adrian last Wednesday.

James Haight and Jas. Du Bois were Detroit visitors Saturday.

Regular meeting of Hendershot Tent, K. O. T. M. next Tuesday.

Chas. DuBois and wife were visiting friends in Plymouth over Sunday.

Earl Lenardson has moved into the house formerly occupied by Geo. Hawks.

Harvey Welling and Loyd Ward were calling on friends in Manchester Sunday.

Remember that the stores close at 8 o'clock p. m., sun time, commencing with next Monday.

Geo. Steele had the misfortune to have two horses killed on the tracks of the C., J. & M. last Saturday.

Arthur Palmer left on Wednesday for Detroit to accept a position with the Standard Savings and Loan Association.

Rev. E. Mudge, Everette Exelby and Clarence Heuse attended the sunday school convention at Adrian Wednesday.

Work is progressing finely on the houses in north Britton and it is rumored that a store 80 by 60 will soon be erected.

Walter Gripton left on the fast train Monday for Brooklyn, N. Y., where he will resume his business duties after a short vacation here.

Geo. Exelby is making a very decided improvement in front of his residence by raising and relaying the sidewalk and fixing the driveway into the hotel yard.

Mrs. Carlyle Roberts died at her home east of Britton on Monday. The funeral was held Wednesday forenoon at the home and the remains were interred at Ridgeway.

Mrs. Will Babcock has moved her household goods to her parents', Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Pocklington, on the Ridge, where she will make her home during Will's absence this winter.

A party of three of Britton's most illustrious youth had planned to commit sad havoc to life and property Halloween night. We have not learned whether they relented before it was too late, or carried their awful threats into execution.

The first chicken pie supper of the season held by the Ladies' Aid society at the Christian church last Friday was a success in every way and only shows that Brittonites can eat chicken pie if they only think so. The proceeds amounted to $23.

Next week, Friday Eve. Nov. 8th a apron and necktie social will be held at K. O. T. M. hall under the auspices of L. O. T. M. The ladies furnish the neckties and the gentlemen buy them at the normal price of 15cents. Let everybody attend and have an enjoyable time.

A gas pocket has recently been discovered on the farm of Wm. Underwood. We do not know how much of the combustible lies under his land, but if this had been found in Southern Lenawee, you would hear that the whole country for miles around had been leased to Toledo parties.

Gripton's cane mill closed Wednesday for the season. The product of the mill this year is the largest since its astablishment, being 8,954 gallons. We have made a little mathematical computation and find that this, if used on pancakes, would sweeten nine million acres of griddle cakes; if made into candy, it would stretch to the North star and back and leave enough over to hopelessly mat every girl's hair in this section.

CARD TO THE PUBLIC.

We, the undersigned firms of Britton, agree to close our places of business at 8 p. m., city time, commencing Monday, Nov. 4, 1895, and continuing till March 15, 1896, excepting Saturday nights, the night preceeding Thanksgiving, and from Dec. 16, 1895, to Jan. 1, 1896:

Lenardson Bros., Lee Bros., James Haight, Ben. J. Pulver, L. L. Wood, Curtis & Linn.

MACON MUSIC.

Mrs. Jackson is visiting Tecumseh friends this week.

Sumner Collins and J. H. Kennedy spent Sunday in Macon.

Mrs. Libbie Hendershot and Minnie Camburn have returned from a visit at Moscow.

Mrs. Denyke and her daughter Ida are visiting friends at Ypsilanti and Howell.

Misses Cora and Grace Austin and Miss Ella Fowler, of Tecumseh, were in the place last week.

We regret that the social of Wednesday eve at Wm. Morgan's and the Maccabee party at Wm. Richart's on Friday evening cannot be reported this week.

Notwithstanding the fact that every one should have been sleepy Saturday night, the business meeting of the League at Mabel Allen's was well attended.

A fine night and the well known "free hearted hospitality" of the house drew out a crowded house at Mr. Collins last Friday night. Chicken pies were plentiful. Proceeds over $13.

Her old time Macon friends will deeply regret to hear the sad news of the death of Mrs. Mamie Gay Phillips at St. Louis, Oct. 28, and would extend their sincerest sympathy to the bereaved friends.

You cannot be well unless your blood is pure. Therefore purify your blood with the best blood purifier, Hood's Sarsaparilla. 1w

RIDGEWAY RAMBLES.

Once more we are warned of approaching orange blossoms.

The singing class comes to the front with fifty scholars.

Mrs. Morris Kelly, is under the doctor's care at present writing.

Mrs. Cryscilda Arner is visiting relatives in Tecumseh and vicinity this week.

For good kerosine oil and gasoline go to Smith & Schmidts, they sell none but the best.

Mrs. L. V. Miller went to Detroit Wednesday for a few days stay with her children.

Mrs. A. B. Smith, of Milan, is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. John Arner, at present writing.

Mrs. Wm. Ramaley, of Bannester, Mich., is spending a few days with relatives in the vicinity.

Mrs. Frank Rector and daughter, Ida, of Clinton, spent Friday with Mrs. W. L. Jones and family.

Call and see the new line of gloves and mittens, for ladies, gentlemen and boys at Smith & Schmidts.

Frank Fox, and wife of Dundee were called here Friday of last week to attend the funeral of Mrs. Wm. Cox.

Mrs. Jacob Arner left for Allegan Friday, where she will spend the winter with her daughter, Mrs. W. E. Barrett.

Go to Smith & Schmidt for your cabbage for winter use. They have just received a car load of fancy stock from the west.

Elder Wright, of Britton, having rented the house north of the village belonging to grandma Rappleye, moved there Saturday.

Mrs. Charles Wilkins, of Macon, and Elnora Camburn, of Saline, visited Mrs. Sarah Pocklington and family last week Wednesday.

Are you thinking of buying a new stove? If so call and see the fine line of Jewett & Co's cook and heating stoves at Smith & Schmidt's.

Supervisor C. L. Lowe, S. P. Smith, Richard Cadmus, went to Adrian Monday to attend the annual meeting of the Farmers' Mutual Insurance Co.

Mr. Hale, the cobbler, will be found at his bench at his home in the Sutton house on North street, where you may have the soles of your shoes repaired.

H. Kelly, of Groveland, N. Y., who was called here last week by the death of Mrs. Wm. Cox, of Holloway, after a few days stay with his brother, Morris Kelly, left for his home Monday.

Miss Collins was in Detroit last week getting an invoice of pretty varieties in the way of millinery supplies. She will hold her winter opening of millinery, Nov. 1, 2, 4 and 5, during which time goods will be sold 10 per cent off.

The C. J. & M. depot here was broken into Saturday night, and a valice containing clothes valued at $15.00 was taken and the cash drawer pried open. The house of Theodore Allison was broken into the same night. No clew as to who the sneaks are.

The ladies of the L. C. S. will open the season of church socials and festivals by giving an old fashioned oyster supper in the lecture room of the church on Wednesday evening of next week, Nov. 6. The ladies are making every preparation to have it one of the most enjoyable gatherings of neighbors and friends in a long time. Young and old will meet with a hearty welcome from the members of the society. The proceeds above expenses will be put into a reserve fund for purchasing a new carpet which will be needed in the near future. It is hoped that each one will feel a personal interest in the enterprise and assist the ladies in their undertaking. Supper will be served from 7 till 10 p. m. Supper for adults, 25 cents; children under twelve years, 10 cents.

GORMAN GOSSIP.

J. C. Pierce is having a large stockwell put down this week.

R. C. Fuller has a large force of men and teams trucking logs from here to his mill at Jasper.

Jerome Eldred will leave for Detroit next Monday morning where he joins the regular army.

C. Wriker has left with your correspondent a potato of the white star variety, the actual weight being three and three-fourths pounds.

Old People.

Old people who require medicine to regulate the bowels and kidneys will find the true remedy in Electric Bitters. This medicine does not stimulate and contains no wiskey nor other intoxicant, but acts as a tonic and alterative. It acts mildly on the stomach and bowels, adding strength and giving tone to the organs, thereby aiding Nature in the performance of the functions. Electric Bitters and aids digestion. Old People find it is an excellent appetixer just exactly what they need. Price fifty cents per bottle at Orr & Temple's drug store. 5

JUNE COLD AND HAY FEVER CURED.
Oakland, Md.

To the Mayers' Drug Co.

I feel it my duty to say something in regard to the merits of your Magnetic Catarrh Cure. I have been a sufferer from rose or June cold for the last 15 years. It comes on about the middle of June and lasts about six weeks or two months. I commenced using Mayers' Catarrh Cure about the middle of April as a preventive, and it certainly did the work. I passed through the summer without the slightest return of the disease. I am station baggage master at Oakland, Md. Respectfully,

To the Sufferers of Rheumatism.

After using Groff's Rheumatic Cure for some time in my practice I take great pleasure in saying that it is the most wonderful remedy for rheumatism; in fact, it is the only one I have found for the cure of this disease in all its various forms. DR. E. E. TULL, Chicago.

Are you sure you love him? Am I sure? Do you see this dress? Of course I do. What of it? Will you kindly tell me if it bears the slightest resemblance to the present fashion? Well, really, it—or—it—. It doesn't. No. Well, I am wearing it because he likes it.—Tit-Bits.

Who does not know women and young girls who are continually in tears? Who always see the dark side? Who have frequent fits of melancholy without any apparent cause? The intelligent physician will know that it is some derangement of the complicated and delicate feminine organs. The young woman suffers, bodily and mentally, in silence. There is undue weariness, unexpected pain, unreasonable tears and fits of temper. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription exerts a wonderful power over woman's delicate organism. It is an invigorating tonic and is specific for the peculiar weaknesses, irregularities and painful derangements of womanhood. Careless, easy-going doctors frequently treat their women patients for billiousness, nervousness, dyspepsia, liver or kidney troubles, when the real sickness is in the organs distinctly feminine, and no help can come till they are made perfectly strong by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Send 21 cents in one-cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's 1008 page Common-Sense Medical Adviser, illustrated. 1w

"Matron of a Benevolent Home and knowing the good Dr. Miles' Nervine has done me, my wish to help others, overcomes my dislike for the publicity, this letter may give me. In Nov. and Dec., 1893, The inmates had the "LaGrippe," and I was one of the first. Resuming duty too soon, with the care of so many sick, I did not regain my health, and in a month I became so debilitated and nervous from sleeplessness and the drafts made on my vitality, that it was a question if I could go on. A dear friend advised me to try Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. I took 2 bottles and am happy to say, I am in better health than ever. I still continue its occasional use, as a nerve food as my work is very trying. A letter addressed to Milwaukee, Wis., will reach me." June 6, 1894. MRS. LAURA C. PHOENIX.

Table Talk.

...ble Talk is well to the front as a ...nksgiving magazine, touching that ...ject many times in various ways ...tween its covers. The leading ...rticle is "Thanksgiving Day," by Mrs. Burton Kingsland, including a typical dinner menu,—also a fin-de-siecle one. Other menus are given elsewhere, as well as a recipe for thanksgiving Plum Pudding. The Housekeeper's Inquiry Department is full of excellent recipes, old and new, just as needed by the subscribers, and besides you will find the Kindergarten for mothers ably upheld in 'The Priestly Office,' by Miss Nora A. Smith; the 'Food in Bright's Disease' by Dr. H. H. Hawxhurst; how 'Miss Dorothy entertains,' by Mrs. M. C. Myer; much about 'The Dignity and Beauty of the Household Arts,' by Lucy C. Andrews, the well-known lecturer on Cookery; how to give a pretty 'Bicycle Luncheon,' as well as a menu for every meal, and much else of equal value our limited space does not allow us to mention. Our readers, however, are invited to send for a sample copy to the Table Talk Publishing Company of Philadelphia.

Three Crops a Year

Can be grown on the same land in eastern Mississippi and southern Alabama along the line of the Mobile & Ohio railroad. The summers are cooler, the winters are milder, the death rate is lower than in the north. Improved farms $10 to $15 per acre; unimproved land $3 to $5 per acre near railway stations. It is the best portion for raising fruits and early vegetables, stock raising and general farm crops. Lands are advancing; now is the time to buy. Very low rate excursions monthly. The Mobile & Ohio has put on two through fast trains each way daily between St. Louis and Mobile. It is the shortest and quickest route to the South. An illustrated pamphlet telling all about our country will be sent free to all who wish it. Apply to F. W. Greene, general agent, No. 198 North Broadway, St. Louis, Mo., or to E. E. Posey, general passenger agent Mobile & Ohio R'y, Mobile, Ala. tf

The Historic Route.

The Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis R'y, the model railroad of the South in equipment, roadway and service, is also the greatest in historical interest, more than fifty famous battlefields and five national cemeteries being located on the various lines of this system. This is the preferred route to Atlanta for the Cotton States and International Exposition, open from September 18, to December 31, 1895, for which very low excursion rates have been made. Through sleeping car service from St. Louis to Atlanta via Evansville, Nashville and Chattanooga. This is the route of the famous Dixie Flyer through sleeping car line which runs the year round between Nashville and Jacksonville, Fla. For further information, address Briard F. STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee. ss

At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the probate Office, in the City of Adrian, on Monday the 28th day of October, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five.

Present, Richard B. Robbins, Judge of Probate.

On reading and filing the petition duly verified of George Exelby, alleging, among other things, that he is a principal creditor of said deceased, and that more than thirty days have elapsed since the death of said Jay A. Santus and no one interested in said estate have applied for administration upon said estate, and praying that administration of said estate may be granted to Cornelius Exelby or some other suitable person.

It is Ordered, That Monday the 25th day of November next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition and that the heirs at law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be holden at the Probate Office in the City of Adrian, and show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is Further Ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate, of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in THE TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee; for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

The friends of Rev. Hudson gave him a very pleasant surprise last Wednesday, and incidentally a fine study chair in the bargain.

P. S. McKinnon delivered a paper on "Suggestions on the Preparation of the Sunday School Lesson" at the Wednesday morning session of the Sunday school convention at Adrian.

Halloween was celebrated by a pleasant social gathering at the home of Ora and Jennie Gillespie. As Mr. Gillespie's cabbage crop was a failure this year his neighbors probably caught the worst of it.

The pastors of the churches in Tecumseh will meet in the parlors of the M. E. church next Monday morning at 10 o'clock. They invite all the pastors in the surrounding community to meet with them.

The dedication of the new Reformed Church of Macon village, will be postponed for a couple of weeks, inasmuch as the work is not yet completed on the interior of the building. Due notice will be given at the proper time.

Mrs. E. B. Wood started for Dayton Ohio, last Saturday. Monday Mrs. J. Root and Miss Jennie joined her and the party are now visiting the Atlanta exposition. Mrs. Wood will visit her son Fred in Virginia before her return.

There will be an old fashioned husking bee at the residence of Mr. Wm. Doty, of Raisin, next Thursday evening Nov. 7th. Refreshments consisting of coffee, johnny-cake and pumpkin pie. All are invited to come and have a good old-fashioned time.

Rev. G. M. Brown, P. S. McKinnon, Wm. Smith, C. A. Slayton, Mrs. Fred Rosacrans, and Misses Gertrude Howell and Grace Burnett, of Tecumseh, were in attendance upon the sessions of the Sunday school convention held in Adrian the first of the week.

It is said that an earthquake shock would not wake some people up in the morning. So if you did not feel the three sensible earth tremors which were noticed here yesterday morning you may know the reason why and not doubt the senses of people who were up at the time.

There is always good demand for a good article. J. M. Hayden & Co., have just shipped 4,500 pounds of their famous globe box metal to the Boston Woven Hose & Rubber Co., and have an order for 500 from the H. Channon Co., of Chicago.—The Michigan Tradesman Grand Rapids, Oct. 23.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ross were happily surprised last Monday afternoon by about 35 of their friends, it being their 41st. anniversary. Refreshments were served and a pleasant time was enjoyed by all, and they departed for their homes wishing Mr. and Mrs. Ross a happy return of the the day.

Mes. James Elliott and daughter, Iva, left on the Tuesday morning train for N. Y. city to visit relatives. Mrs. Elliott intends to remain from home six weeks or more, and Miss Iva will study music at the celebrated Dahl Musical Conservatory. Miss Iva is a promising student and the Dahl Conservatory one of the most efficient schools in our country, and her many friends wish her success.

An alarm of fire was given early Friday morning. It was found out that the Teachout Hotel roof was on fire. Will hustled out, collided with the bed post, and was too much stunned to be of any use, one of the railroad boys was seen running around with water in a pint cup, but Mr. Harlow, with a cool head, mounted the wind-mill, jumped to the roof, and with a pail of water stopped the fire.—Onsted New.

Will Hicks has organized a new foot ball team. Following is a list of the players with their positions: Left end, Jim Montague; half tackle, Ed. Holdaway; left guard, Irve Clark; center rush, Frank Bauer; right guard, Geo. Hoag; right tackle, Geo. Martin; right end, Frank Nyland; quarter back, Geo. Rubadou; half back, Geo. Adamson; right half, Al Gamble; full back, Scove Stacy.—Co. C Kazoo, Oct. 23, 1895.

Mert. Smith, representing C. F. Adams Co., of Toledo, was canvassing the town yesterday in the interest of his company. He was arrested on charge of selling goods without a license but was released this morning for the reason that the charter provision under which this ordinance was passed fails to give the power to impose a license. Byron F. Ritchie ex-congressman and Mr. W. F. Adams of the firm were here to look after Mr. Smith's interest.

It is a great pity that Scientists cannot inform us of the exact date and nature of the occurance of such interesting phenomena in the same manner that eclipses etc are advertised. If this were done, we could make a more thorough study of the subject. As it is, the only explanation that has been advanced is that the rain fall has been so unevenly distributed this season that some areas of the earth's surface have shrunk while others have not.

Mrs. W. W. Whiting is visiting her parents at Detroit this weekr

Mrs. H. H. Hauchett, of Deansboro N. Y. is visiting her sister, Mrs. C. C. Tufft.

James Francisco, whose exploits as chicken thief were given in the HERALD, pleaded guilty before the circuit court, and was sentenced to 2 years and 9 months at Jackson.

It sometimes takes a nerry man to win a wager, or the lack of the nerve in the other fellow. Tuesday morning a tonsorial artist of questionable strength undertook to carry a merchant who, it would seem had no weight at all, from the cafe Moir to Montague's novelty store. When about half way, his knees wobbled so frightfully that he was about to give up, when some ladies appeared on the scene and his burden slid off from sheer fright. Of course the referee decided that the carrier won the bet.

Dr. C. M. Woodward, surgeon of the C. J. & M., at this place started Wednesday for Van Wert, Ohio., to attend the meeting of the Association of Railway Surgeons of the Mackinaw system held there yesterday. The Doctor reads a paper on "Compound Fractures and their Treatment" with the presentation of recent illustrative cases which he has handled. He takes with him Carl Updyke as one of the cases, the general manager sending the doctor a special pass for Carl.

The regular quarterly meeting of the Society of Friends, will convene in this place Saturday and Sunday. The opening service will be especially for the young people, and will be held at the church this evening at 7 p. m. Rev. J. W. Malone, from Cleveland, will address this meeting. Saturday at 10:30 a. m. preaching by visiting ministers. Business meeting at 2 p. m. Sabbath preaching at 10:30, and the regular missionary meeting at 2:30 p. m., to be addressed by Rev. J. W. Malone, of Cleveland. In the evening old fashioned revival service. To all of these meetings the public is cordially invited.

On the morning of Friday, Oct. 25th, the home of Mrs. N. Doke was the scene of a pleasant occasion, it being the annual reunion of the class taught by Mrs. Griswold in the M. E. Sunday school. Mrs. Griswold has held the position of teacher in this class for thirty years, and several who were with her then were present with a large company of those who have since been members of the class. As the invitation was extended to the husbands and children this year, the company numbered about 60. After partaking of a bountiful supper, a short program was given, that proved quite interesting. Letters were read from several of the former classmates who have made their homes in other parts of the country. A memorial paper was presented in memory of two of the sisters who have passed over to the better country since our last meeting. Music, both vocal and instrumental, a short poem, and remarks by the pastor completed this part of the meeting, after which an hour was spent in social converse, and when the company dispersed each one felt that they were the better for having met together.

The Kentucky Stock Farm is out with an announcement of a very unique and liberal purse for trotters and pacers. The amount of this purse is $6.000, of which amount $5.000 is for the trotters and $1.000 is for pacers. The entrance fee to accompany nomination is only $5, which includes a year's subscription to the paper, and the entire amount to be paid to start a trotter is only $50 and to start a pacer only $25. Thus it will be seen that the cost of nominating and carrying the entry through is far below that for any other purse of anything like a similar amount. The money will not be tied up long, as the purse is offered for foals of 1895 to be contested in 1897. Furthermore the second payment, the amount of which is $10, is not due until June 1, 1896, and the final payment is not due until June 1, 1897, the year of the race. The amount of this purse is so large, the entrance so small, and the payments so easy that it should receive the patronage of every colt owner in the land, and be one of the most remarkable purse races ever trotted. The Stock Farm is a great advocate of increasing the earning capacity of the trotter and pacer, and it makes this substantial offer, practically carrying out its advocacy. It argues that youngsters well entered in stakes and purses will bring far better prices than those not entered. It believes in youngsters selling out their prospects and it gives breeders a good opportunity to better the prospects of their foals of 1895 by entering in this purse.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package. also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

CALLED TO MEET.

State Federation of Labor to Convene in Saginaw.

Saginaw, Oct. 28.—The executive board of the Michigan Federation of Labor has issued a call for the annual convention of that body to be held in this city December 2. The call says:

"Unions not already enrolled under our banner are cordially invited to join and send delegates, thus uniting their forces with their colaborers in facilitating the work of organization and obtaining the objects for which they are formed. We are working for a common purpose—the amelioration of the condition of the workers and improvement of their social and industrial environment. With this grand object in view every union should realize that synchronized and effective work in this direction can only be accomplished through a central organization such as the Michigan Federation of Labor, whose mission is to disseminate knowledge of interest to the workers, systematize boycotts, act as intermediaries in disputes between employer and employe, perfect organization, foster and encourage young and isolated unions, formulate plans for putting in practical operation the crystallized thought of its members as expressed at the annual conventions, and in other ways keep abreast of the times. The afternoon of the second day of the convention will be devoted to the reading of essays upon almost every conceivable subject of interest to progressive trade unionism, and all delegates are requested to furnish papers upon the phases of the labor movement they are most familiar with, thus giving their fellows the benefit of their researches. There should be no drones in our hive and we should always be alert to the needs of the wage-workers and the benefits that can be derived from collective effort."

HELD IN BOND.

W. C. Denny to Be Tried on a Charge of Embezzlement.

Manistee, Oct. 26.—Upon the charge of embezzlement W. C. Denny has been bound over to the November term of circuit court in the amount of $2,500. Denny is prominent in business circles at Richmond, Ind., and two years ago was cashier of the First national bank of Little Rock, Ark., which became insolvent. While there he, it is said, secured a loan of $1,000 from the Manistee national bank, and George Burr, the cashier, testified that Denny knew at the time the bank was insolvent. The president of the bank is now serving a sentence in the United States prison in Brooklyn for being implicated in the failure.

Schooner Goes Down.

Montagde, Oct. 30.—The schooner Henry C. Richardson, of Cleveland, foundered Tuesday morning 15 miles off Little Point Au Sable. The crew took a yawl boat, and after terrible suffering were picked up by the White river life saving crew. The vessel parted from the steamer H. B. Tuttle, which was towing it, Sunday night, and drifted helplessly until it foundered.

Pingree's Ambition.

Detroit, Oct. 29.—According to a local paper, Mayor Pingree may be a candidate for the nomination for president of the United States in 1900. After referring to the events respectively through which Washington and Lincoln were called to their responsibilities as chief magistrate of the nation at critical periods, the paper booms Pingree for governor in 1896 and president in 1900.

Relics in a Mound.

Big Rapids, Oct. 30.—A party of residents of this city visited the Indian mound on the farm of J. H. Rogers, six miles south, and put in the day excavating. They found two tablets, nine by twelve and six by five inches respectively, both having ancient inscriptions in hieroglyphics. They also found pipes and small dishes, all made in a crude manner and of clay, evidently sun-baked.

Wants Insurance on a Chicora Victim.

Benton Harbor, Mich., Oct. 26.—Mrs. May D. Pearl, wife of Joseph Pearl, who was lost on the steamer Chicora, has commenced suit against the Preferred Masonic Mutual Accident association of Detroit to secure $5,000 due on a policy held by her husband, and $1,000 damages for nonpayment of the claim. The company asks to see the remains before the claim is paid.

Great Poultry Show.

Saginaw, Oct. 28.—What will probably be Michigan's banner poultry show is to be held in this city December 10, 11, 12 and 13 next, being the second annual exhibition of Michigan Chapter No. 8. The premium list has just been issued and contains much information of value to intending exhibitors as well as poultry breeders. Entries close December 4.

Death of Charles P. Hunt.

Jackson, Oct. 25.—Charles P. Hunt, recorder of this city, died at noon Thursday from the effects of an operation. Mr. Hunt was 37 years old and was very prominent in masonic circles, being grand king of the Michigan grand chapter royal arch masons. He has held the office of recorder since 1887.

Strike Broken.

Gladstone, Oct. 30.—The strike of the flour handlers on the Soo Line docks has turned out disastrously for the men. Superintendent Kellie secured enough new men to load the boats in port and has other men on the way here. Some of the strikers are being given work again.

Election at Three Rivers

Three Rivers, Oct. 29.—The republicans elected a mayor, clerk, six of the ten councilmen, two supervisors and three constables at the first city election. The democrats secured the treasurer, one supervisor and one constable.

Favors Farming for Convicts.

Detroit, Oct. 29.—Mayor Pingree in an interview advocated the abolition of the present state prison system and the adoption of stockades, where prisoners could be made to earn their living out of the soil.

Broke His Neck.

Cadillac, Oct. 26.—Swan Sutherland, of this city, aged 53, while driving down a steep grade, fell out of his wagon and broke his neck. He lived but a few minutes after the accident.

COLD WAVE, WIND AND SNOW.

Gale That Swept Over Michigan One of the Worst Ever Known.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 29.—All the records of the weather office for October were broken by the cold wave and northwest gale of Monday. In Detroit Monday morning the thermometer registered 29 degrees, at Grand Haven, on the west shore, 30, and at Alpena 32 degrees. The wind attained a frightful velocity, so much so that the sand dunes at St. Joseph were shifted and hundreds of tons of sand blown across the Chicago & West Michigan tracks, stopping all railroad traffic. From numerous points throughout the state came the report of wind and snowstorms and bitterly cold weather.

From Schoolcraft it is reported that there have been sand and dust storms of great fury, the air being filled with sand, which cuts the faces and makes it almost impossible to be out of doors. No such weather has ever been experienced before and thousands of dollars' damage has been done to the celery crop in Kalamazoo and at other points throughout the state. The Newberry celery crop is utterly ruined by Sunday night's cold snap. Reports received up to midnight show that there is a general snowstorm in the upper peninsula as far east as Sault Ste. Marie.

THIRD OF A MILLION.

W. N. McNaughton, of Detroit, Going to England to Collect His Heritage.

New York, Oct. 29.—Walter N. McNaughton, of Detroit, Mich., is now in this city and will sail on the Paris for England to bring back a liberal slice of the gold which has been transported to that country by its titled sons and their American brides. A fortnight ago he learned that he had fallen heir to one-third of a million dollars, left by his uncle, the late Lord Stuart McNaughton, of Southampton, who was largely interested in the great ship-building industries of that city. The estate, valued at £200,000, is to be divided among the heirs at law, and Mr. McNaughton comes in for an even third. A few days before learning of this windfall his grandmother died, leaving him the comfortable sum of $30,000. He is only 21 years old, and is naturally quite well satisfied with the start he has made in life.

Will Preach in Chicago.

Detroit, Oct. 29.—Rev. Dr. Z. Grenell, of this city, who has accepted a call to the Western Avenue Baptist church of Chicago, was given a reception by his parishioners, which was attended by the pastors of many other churches and about six hundred friends. Many short speeches were made expressing regret at Dr. Grenell's departure, and wishing him all success in his new field. A set of engrossed resolutions from the congregation was presented him.

Sues a Defunct Bank's President.

Grand Rapids, Oct. 26.—John S. Lawrence, receiver of the Northern national bank, which failed two years ago, began suit in the United States court against President Stearns, in effect charging maladministration and asking for an accounting. The creditors have received 55 per cent. of their claims to date and in time will be paid in full, but it will be a dead loss for the $100,000 stockholders.

Game Warden Arrested

Grand Rapids, Oct. 29. Duncan McMillan, one of Game Warden Fullerton's deputies, is in jail here on a charge of robbing several camps in the northern part of Itasca county. The arrest is the outcome of the fight being made against Fullerton by the men who charge that he and his deputies are blackmailing the settlers and in other ways using the law for private gain.

Improvement Needed

Lansing, Oct. 25.—Inspector General Walsh is far from satisfied with his last inspection of the Michigan national guard. In a report made to the commander in chief he says several companies are, for various reasons, very weak, and unless material improvement is noted at once radical changes will be made.

Railway Earnings.

Lansing, Oct. 26.—Railroad Commissioner Billings reports that railroad companies earned $2,801,916.25 in Michigan in August as against $2,679,260.92 in August of last year. From January 1 to September 1 the Michigan earnings were $19,648,971.16, an increase of $1,357,141.18 over the same period of 1894. The per cent. of increase is 7.42.

In Honor of Dead Heroes.

Saginaw, Oct. 28. — Col. Michael Jeffers, the millionaire bachelor of this city, was so imbued with patriotism upon his return from the recent reunion at Chattanooga that he has decided to erect a $50,000 monument in memory of the departed soldiers of the Saginaw valley.

Beattie Held for Trial.

Gladstone, Oct. 30.—At the hearing in the case of the state vs. Robert Beattie for the killing of Alex Erickson last Thursday night, the defendant was bound over to the January term of the circuit court under the charge of willful and malicious murder.

Threw Herself Under the Cars.

Coldwater, Oct. 26.—Mrs. Will Hard wife of the ticket agent at Quincy, cas of here, threw herself in front of a passenger train on the Lake Shore railwa Friday afternoon and was killed instantly. Continued poor health was undoubtedly the cause.

RESULT OF USING AYER'S PILLS

"Ayer's Cathartic Pills for over thirty years have kept me in good health, never having had a sick day in all that time. Before I was twenty I suffered almost continually—as a result of constipation—from dyspepsia, headaches, neuralgia, or boils and other eruptive diseases. When I became convinced that nine-tenths of my troubles were caused by constipation, I began the use of Ayer's Pills, with the most satisfactory results, never having a single attack that did not readily yield to this remedy. My wife, who had been an invalid for years, also began to use Ayer's Pills, and her health was quickly restored. With my children I had noticed that nearly all their ailments were preceded by constipation, and I soon had the pleasure of knowing that with children as with parents, Ayer's Pills, if taken in season, avert all danger of sickness."—H. MORPHINE. OPIUM HABIT CURED. Never fails. Write for particulars and testimonials. THE OHIO CHEMICAL WORKS, Cleveland, Ohio.

The old story of Prometheus is a parable, allegory. Prometheus was on terms of intimacy with the gods. From them he stole fire, and gave it to men. For this sin he was bound to the rocks of Mount Caucasus, and vultures were set upon him, who only ate his liver. This grew again as fast as it was pecked away. Are his sufferings to be imagined? Yes, and realized. Here is a modern interpretation of the parable:

There is no cooking without fire. In cooking and eating the mischief lies. The stomach is overtasked, the bowels become clogged, they cannot dispose of the food that is given them. The impurities back up on the liver. Then come the vultures. The sufferings from an outside, visible cause are a mere pin-scratch to the torments of diseased liver.

Yet, moderns are ahead of the ancients. There is a sequel to the old story. Dr. [illegible] is the author. His "Golden Medical Discovery" is more than equal to the tortures of dyspepsia and its kindred diseases. Every atom of the "Discovery" is an active agent against disease. It flies like a ferret, wherever it is sent. It is as sure as the needle of the compass. There is no more seed of suffering from dyspepsia when there is of hanging one's self.

W. ROGERS, of 507 Grayson St., Louisville, Ga., has this to say for himself and the "Golden Medical Discovery": "I was a dyspeptic. I had not had a comfortable night in six years. I have taken three bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I am now fifty years old. I feel like a man twenty years younger." Yours truly.

A Great Newspaper Combination.

For the past 53 years, over half a century, The Michigan Farmer has been published, and it is the oldest regular agricultural journal under one name on this continent.

With largely increased capital and under new management that has had 23 years successful experience in agricultural journalism, this great paper is making rapid strides toward the top in the galaxy of agricultural literature of America. It is most beautifully printed on high grade paper, and employs the most eminent writers on the science and practice of Agriculture, Horticulture, Live Stock, Dairying, Apiary and Poultry. Has a standard veterinary department for free treatment of all diseases of farm animals. A legal and medical department. Contains all the agricultural news of the country and an invaluable literary and household department every week. Admits no swindling nor immoral advertisements. And is in fact in every way a great, sound, pratical, agricultural, live stock and family journal, that the agriculturists of Michigan may justly feel proud of, and subscribe for with satisfaction and profit. We are pleased to be able to announce that we can furnish to our subscribers the Michigan Farmer and the TECUMSEH HERALD both one year, making a total of 104 papers, for the low price of $1.75 certainly a bargain that should be liberally patronized. For free specimen copy send address to Michigan Farmer, Detroit, Mich.

What to Name the Baby.

The most serious problem that now assails the fashionable mother is what name or names she shall bestow on her newly arrived little daughter; for it has of late become the mode for every young woman to possess as many initials as a royal princess. Happily there has come an active revulsion against the diminutive, and 'tis proper that all girls now be spoken to and of as Anne or Josephine, Catherine or Elenor, in place of the silly and stupid Annie and Josie, Kitty and Nellie. No more does the well-regulated debutante venture to give her name distinction by unique spelling, as Edyth, Kathryn, Corah, etc. She keeps her baptismal name pure and simple; and how many a worthy clergyman is filled with an astonished gratification when at baptism a godmother announces her little charge as Deborah Patience Susannah Melville Jones. The whole of this extensive title is engraved on the cards Mrs. Jones sends out with her own to apprise her friends of Miss Jone's safe arrival. The Deborah and Susannah are careful selections from the Biblical list now so much favored that we hear of baby Esthers, Naomis, Vashtis, Judiths, and Rachels, by the score. Patience is in imitation of the Puritan love for naming girls after the virtues, and we have Hope, Joy, Peace, Prudence, Mercy, Faith, Deliverance, etc., along with the new provision that the mother's maiden surname, as in Melville-Jones, be hyphenated with the child's. From "Society Fads," in Demorest's Magazine for November.

COIN'S FINANCIAL SCHOOL.

This little book is one of the most extensive treatises on the money question that has ever been written. It shows up the evil effects of our present monetary system in a most emphatic manner. Every voter in Lenawee county, regardless of party affiliations, should read it. The Chicago Times says: "A book that will create a profound impression throughout the United States." The New York Recorder says: "It mercilessly scourges the money changers in the Temple of the Republic." The Chicago Inter-Ocean says: "This book tells its readers more about gold, silver and currency, generally, than any other publication we know of, and in a way that every man can fully comprehend." A supply is kept on hand at the HERALD office. Single copies 25 cents. Every new advance paying subscriber to the HERALD will receive a copy free. Now is your time to get good reading cheap. POPULAR AMUSEMENTS.

The Christian Endeavor society is the most important organization in this country. No society advocates good citizenship or right living as this society and I hold no organization either in or out of the church is as important as The Christian Endeavor Society. As I understand Mr. President we are making no distinction these days; a person never becomes too old and we take them in sometimes before they are graduated from the junior society, thus all are treated alike. I think the Christian Endeavor Society takes us all in, even the preachers, he must endeavor to do better work. I do not know but the time is speedily coming when the entire church shall belong to the Endeavor; to live a christian life we find it is a constant Endeavor. It is only a question of time when our stakes shall be lengthened and our cords strengthened, only to take possession of new territory, and then truly we shall possess the whole land. We believe the great Endeavor movement came from God. God has honored and blessed it so abundantly that none could think that such a mighty influence came from any other source save the Giver of all good things. Anything that is born of God shall not die, but live. "Yea the spirit quickeneth and giveth life." God looks upon the endeavor society as a power, in the land, or else He would not bless its efforts so wonderfully. Think of it, hardly a village or hamlet in this wide world, in which its teaching and influence have not been known. From the river to the ends of the earth, He surely will girdle the world, and with our motto, "For Christ and the Church" we can shout victory everywhere.

We work first for Christ, and then for His church. We have no time for popular amusements, we do not need them to carry on the work of God. Such things do not increase our love and zeal for Jesus, one iota.

The person, who lives in this age simply to have a good pleasant time will never amount to anything. It is not the question, if we can or have to become amused or entertained. But the all important question is; How can I become most useful and helpful to all? No matter what it means to me, if it requires much sacrifice or self denial on my part, then I must deny myself for others. For in this alone I can find true happiness.

The right kind of amusement is good, healthy exercise, but who can tell us what is the right kind of amusement? I am not here for that purpose, and if I was I could not tell you, for I do not know. Everyone can speak for themselves along this line, what might amuse me would not amuse you. Thus you see we all have our different likes and dislikes. In the first place the Christian Endeavor Society was not intended to become a plaything, or a place of entertainment or amusement and in the second place we are not Christian Endeavorers if we are seeking some pleasant place where we can be amused or entertained at somebody else's expense, no matter if we belong to a half dozen of societies. The Christian Endeavor Society was organized for work and not for play.

We need consecrated workers, and when we are consecrated to Christ, body, soul and spirit, amusements will not concern us, for we are busily engaged in the great work of saving and helping men. We hear the question everywhere. Is this particular amusement right or wrong? Is it right to dance? Is it right to play cards? Is it right to see a game of ball? Is it right to attend the theatre? Is it right to have a good time? Is it right to do anything that the preacher tells us is wrong? Is it right to do as we please? And everywhere, in every church and society we hear such questions. I suppose no Christian Endeavorer has any desire to do any thing that is questionable. The reason many young people wish to know about these amusements, is simply because there is a question between right and wrong, who will decide for them? I can not, I have no authority to dictate to any what they shall do, and how they shall spend their evenings in this place of entertainment or amusement. I simply preach a plain gospel and invite all mankind to follow and imitate the Master in everything. The fact of the case is, we do not observe His sayings as we should, and the result is, often times we do not honor Him. No doubt there are very few in this convention who will knowingly disobey the commands of Jesus, but many fall into error because of uncertainties, and it is then that the mind is not fully settled in regard to the many different kinds of amusements.

Why do not young people come to me and ask if there is any harm in a prayer meeting or a Sunday school? Why don't they ask me if I think any harm can come from a mission school or a kindergarden? I will tell you why. They know. And when a person is certain about anything, it is not necessary to ask questions for information. As a christian I will go to no place where I would be ashamed to meet the church and the world, telling them both where I have been and why. As a christian I will go no place where Christ does not send me. The Christian Endeavor Society has always been against popular amusements and worldliness in every form, and I am glad of it. This is why I have associated myself with such a grand organization, and God helping me I shall unite myself to no society or click that does not renounce sin and all wrong doing. We want to advocate right living, and we can not do so unless we live a pure christian life ourselves. The amusements now are about as popular as they were in the olden times.

I know of nothing new unless it is the base ball fever, and I am inclined to believe the Christian Endeavor has been effected not a little by this popular amusement. I cannot see, however, if the society has been benefitted greatly by catching such a fever. But perchance some here might think that the base ball fad is the most popular and useful amusement on hand.

I overheard a gentleman scoring some women that lived in the county seat of a certain county in this state, not far distant, for actually becoming excited over a game of ball. They waved their handkerchief's and screamed almost as loud as some school-boy. Well, I thoug about the "new woman," and if they believe in equal rights, I suppose it will not be long until the women will be playing against the men. Of course, if you condescend to attend any of these new games as a Christain Endeavorer you will know which side to scream for. According to the new woman's story, the men will be compelled to take back seats in everything. The women are going to outstrip the men, so they say, and oftentimes it is difficult to tell which are to the front in many reforms. It is said, however, that three-forths of the inhabitants of Heaven are women. That surely bespeaks a good word for the fair sex. But we do not want to see the women playing ball. If they attempt it, I am afraid some will think they have lost their calling. If I was a woman I would advocate "Woman's Rights;" and would think I had a perfect right to do anything that the men do. So, according to that, women have liberty to attend base ball games and participate in them, fully as much as the men. I look at it this way: If it is wrong for the women it is certainly wrong for the men, and I say, unless the base ball amusement is a help to you and your society, leave it alone. I never attended but one game of ball in my life, and that was in Cleveland. Of course I refer to a league game. As far as playing ball is concerned I will take off my coat and play with any of the boys or girls, but it is of the associations that I speak. I was told that the two best nines in the world would play. The crowd's gathered, myself among the the number. I do not know when I ever have seen a larger concourse of people assembled together than I witnessed that day. Everybody seemed to have a good time but me, and, perhaps I was a little queer, but at any rate, God being my judge, I can say I never heard so much cursing and swearing before or since, as I heard that day. It would be impossible for me to calculate the number of times that the name of Almighty God and Jesus Christ was taken irreverently upon the lips. So common has blasphemy become that the public mind and public ear have become accustomed to it. Profane swearing is as much forbidden by the law as theft, or arson, or murder, yet who executes it? Profanity is worse than theft, or arson, or murder, for these crimes are attacks on humanity—that is an attack on Almighty God. This country is preeminent for blasphemy. A man traveling in Russia was supposed to be a clergyman. "Why do you take me to be a clergyman?" said the man. Oh said he, "All other Americans swear." This crime is multiplying in intensity. Now Christain Endeavorer, you cannot afford to attend any place of amusement where you are compelled to hear such blasphemy. There is no harm in the game of ball, but we, as Christian Endeavorers want nothing to do with a lot of Godless fellows, unless God sends us to help them in some way. You cannot find one out of a hundred who belong to these leagues who are real christians. The influence is bad. I go farther, by saying that all amusements are wrong that lead into bad company. If you have to associate with the intemperate, the immoral, the ungodly, and the unclean, however well they may be dressed, in the name of God quit it. They will despoil your nature, they will undermine your moral character, they will drop you when you are destroyed, they will chuckle over your damnation. Oh, beware of evil companionship.

(CONCLUDED NEXT WEEK.)

A THRIVING ILLINOIS CITY.

A Two Days' Visit at Elgin and What we Saw There.

A week ago last Saturday we took the afternoon Lake Shore train to Adrian and, about midnight, the late train on the Wabash road bound for Chicago. Had a very comfortable night's ride, arriving in the Windy City at 7 o'clock Sunday morning. At eight we took the Northwestern road and at nine o'clock reached our destination—the city of Elgin. We spent that day and Monday as the guest of Geo. N. Stacy's family. Sunday we took a good, solid rest, and Monday we spent to excellent advantage in calling on friends and acquaintances.

Elgin is one of the most thriving cities in the northwest. It reminds one of Grand Rapids or Battle Creek in this state. It is the location of the mammoth watch factory which turns out the world renowned Elgin watch, and it is also the center and headquarters of the creamery industry of Illinois. It boasts of a butter board of trade. The panic of 1893 was seriously felt, that is true, but the city has already recovered from the effects of it and business is booming right along as usual this fall. We have several relatives and quite a few acquaintances there, and were quite fortunate in meeting most of them.

Since our last visit at Elgin, the News and Advocate printing house has been moved into a home of its own. The building is a three story brick, finished in modern style, and is a model of convenience for that business. It is heated by steam and lighted by incandescent lamps. The basement story is devoted to the heating apparatus and the press room. The latter contains a Cox Duplex press, two cylinders, one large size and one pony press, and a Gordon. The Cox press is used for the newspaper printing and works like a charm. The first floor is devoted to the counting room, which faces the corner of Chicago and Spring streets, and three stores for rent, opening on Spring street. The second floor is given up to editorial and reporters' rooms and a few offices to rent. The third floor is devoted wholly to the news room and bindery. Geo. N. Stacy has his business desk in the counting room and still holds his position as manager of the advertising department. The fact that he has held the same position for more than nine years, is pretty good evidence that he gives satisfaction. Mr. Lowrie, the senior member of the firm, is an old veteran in the newspaper business, having owned the Adrian Expositor before the war. Although his whitening locks betoken the approach of years, his heart is as young as ever, and is regarded as a model newspaper man. He possesses more than a state reputation as a journalist, having served as treasurer of the National Press Association. In Mr. Black, the junior partner, he has a valuable assistant, and the firm is conducting a very strong and lucrative newspaper business.

Royal Beardsley's family are residents of Elgin. Mrs. Beardsley was formerly Louise Walker and taught school in Tecumseh abut twenty years ago. Royal is now a motorman on the street railway. Will Walker, a brother of Scove Walker, is foreman of the electric plant that furnishes power for the street railway and incandescent system of lighting. He has a very responsible position and gets a good salary. Will Beardsley has a subordinate position in the same shop. Scove Beardsley, a twin brother of Will, has a good position in the press room of the News office. Mr. Clarkson, who married Edna Beardsley, is the foreman in the press room of the Courier office. This brief recital shows that "our relation" are pretty well taken care of by the electric light works and newspapers of Elgin.

We found David Burger in a cozy little shoe shop in the basement room of a store on Chicago street, head over heels in work. He is doing well there. All of his children, but one son, are now living in the city, which makes it very pleasant for Mr. and Mrs. Burger. We never got fully reconciled to Mr. Burger's leaving Tecumseh, as he was our family shoemaker for years and years when he held down a shoe bench for Henry Nyland. But we are glad to know that he is prospering.

On Monday evening we had the pleasure of attending a stereopticon lecture on the Yellowstone Park, given by Rev. J. H. Selden, pastor of the Congregational church. Brother George managed the lantern for him and the large audience present seemed to be highly pleased with the entertainment. George has recently fixed up an electric light attachment, of his own invention, to the stereopticon, which works very nicely. It is as easily managed as an oil lamp and makes as brilliant a light as the oxy-hydro-calcium light.

Tuesday morning an hour's ride brought us into Chicago, where we remained a couple of days. But as this yarn is long and strong enough for one dose, we defer the recital of our experience in the Windy City until next week.

SHALL CUBA BE FREE.

[Original poem by H. C. Rose, of the Dr. Miles Medical Co., read at the mass meeting in Buckley Opera House, Elkhart, Ind., Oct. 26, 1895.]

Wake, sons of Liberty!
A wail comes from the sea
With every tide;
And when it turns again,
A dolorous refrain
Doth still abide.

Oh, list our plaintive cry,
And to the rescue fly
Of that fair isle,
Whereon your statua
Of Bella Liberta
Refuse to smile.

Have you forgot when ye
Scanned the tempestuous sea
For sail or sign
Of an approaching foe,
Who fain would overthrow
Your holiest shrine?

Shall we stand idly then,
When groans of dying men
Are borne across
A land of new made graves,
Where e'en the palm tree waves
It's funeral moss?

Is brotherhood a dream?
Doth valor only seem
What it should be?
List! Just beyond your shores
The tyrant's cannon roars
Defiantly!

Sons of departed sires,
Who lit the altar fires
At Freedom's birth;
Rest not, nor hold your peace,
Till tyrants shall release
Their hold on earth.

What erst the gods have willed
Shall surely be fulfilled;
The fair bride of the sea,
Ravished by cruel fate
And wronged by tyrant's hate,
Fair Cuba shall be free

A STORY OF JOE JEFFERSON.

Many boys and girls have seen the famous actor, Joe Jefferson, in his great play, Rip Van Winkle, that delightful story of the Catskill fairies, and in it that weird scene where he partakes of the spirits that the elves give him, making him sleep for twenty years. Well, there is a good story told about Jefferson in that particular scene. Once being near some good fishing grounds, he spent the day drawing in the gamy trout, and was thoroughly tired when the curtain rolled up for the evening performance. Things moved smoothly enough until he is supposed to fall asleep. Now that sleep in fiction lasts twenty years, but on the stage about two minutes. This time, however, the two minutes were lengthened out into ten, much to the amusement of the audience and provocation of the stage-manager. Jefferson had really fallen asleep, and his snores, it is said, were quite audible beyond the footlight. Several remarks were fired at him by the audience, and, finally, the stage-manager had to go beneath the stage and open a trap near where Jefferson was lying to try and wake him up. He called and called, but it was no use, and in desperation he succeeded in jabbing a pin into him, which made Jefferson jump up with a sharp cry, and quickly realize where he was.

Mrs. Gordon R. Wolfe was calling on Adrian friends Tuesday.

R. P. Mills and Gust Lundquist took in Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti Monday.

Frank McGuire went to Texas Wednesday, where he will spend the winter.

See to it that you secure your lecture course tickets at once, as the time is short.

Frank M. Thompson and son, Charles, were calling on Tecumseh relatives Sunday.

James W. Bradnet has been quite indisposed the past week, but is some better at present.

John Middlebrook, of Norwalk, Ohio, spent a few days the first of the week among his Clinton friends.

Geo. A. Kies left Saturday for Utica, N. Y., to prepare for a business trip. He expects to be gone a week.

The friends of Mrs. T. H Warner are very anxious about her, as she is suffering from an attack of typhoid fever.

Harry Davis has greatly improved his residence by having it painted in an artistic manner by Jas. Gillen & Son.

Mrs. J. S. Kies returned Tuesday from a visit of several days with her daughter, Mrs. C. F. Field, at Tecumseh.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rogers, of Springville, came over Friday and spent the day with Wm. C. Rogers and family.

The condition of C. S. Baker not improving as hoped for, his removal to the private asylum at Flint is contemplated.

Mrs. Martin Whelan, of Tipton, and Mrs. Laura Barlow, of Petersburg, were the guests of Peter Kishpaugh's family Monday.

Lavern Bradstall, of Brooklyn, and Miss Mazie Beach, of Wampler's Lake, were the guests of Harlow Welch's family Sunday.

Mrs. George Rentschler and child, of Toledo, arrived Tuesday for a visit with relatives and friends here and in Bridgewater.

L. W. Kimball drove to Adrian Saturday afternoon to meet Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Smith, who had been spending some time in Gotham.

A. H. St. John, E. T. VanDeMark, Frank Palmer and several other Clintonites were in Tecumseh Sunday afternoon and evening.

Charles S. Burroughs is contemplating removing from Clinton for a time. He has not fully decided whether he will go east or west.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Michael Scully, Sunday morning, a son. No wonder Mike wears so broad a smile. This completes a fine pair.

Twenty-four from the Baptist society here attended the B. Y. P. U. rally at Manchester Saturday evening. They report a delightful time.

We are happy to state that our venerable friend, Mrs. E. P. Felton, who has been quite ill, has nearly recovered her usual health and strength.

The bank on the east side of the coal house at the Woolen Mill having caved in, they are clearing away the earth and will put it a substantial wall.

The next Episcopal social will meet with Mrs. Ella Rose at the Edrose next Thursday afternoon and evening. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Rev. and Mrs. W. R. Blachford spent Tuesday here, he performing his parochial duties and she calling on friends. They dined with Mrs. Louise Clark.

Wednesday evening the M. E. society gave a chicken pie supper at the church parlors. This completed the annual suppers of this kind for the season.

Clark Bailey attended the quarterly meeting at the Friends' church, Tecumseh, the last of the week. Friday evening, he was accompanied by Geo. Tag.

Miss Alma Swift is making her farewell visits here, before returning to her home in Greenville. She makes her headquarters with Dr. and Mrs. J. E. White.

The interior of Dr. J. E. White's home on Jackson street has been greatly improved. It is wonderful what changes can be wrought by paint and paper.

The Noone house on Jackson street is ready for the plasterers. When completed it will be one of the most convenient and attractive cottages in the village.

Several of our lady Maccabees paid a fraternal visit to their sister Maccabees at Britton, Friday. To say that they were royally entertained but lightly expresses it.

Mr. Whinnery, an artist of Adrian, has secured a large class in drawing and painting. He will remain for two weeks and give instruction both forenoon and afternoon each day.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Babcock, formerly of Britton, visited Will Hause and wife Tuesday. Will is to travel in Michigan for a Wisconsin firm and has not as yet decided where he will reside.

Mrs. Hattie Johnston went up to Manchester last Friday to attend the meeting of the Eastern Star Chapter and remained over Sunday, the guest of her sister, Mrs. Kate Conklin.

Next Wednesday and Thursday Mrs. Sarah Stevens and daughter, Mrs. Grace Kennedy, will give 5 o'clock tea to their lady friends at the residence of Moses Bartlett on west Chicago street.

Miss Stella Lewis, who recently had the misfortune to get her hand crushed in one of the machines at the Woolen Mill, has so far recovered that she resumed her position in the mill Monday.

The aroma of orange blossoms which has pervaded the air of this community for some time is becoming stronger and almost stifling. Cupid must have been applying his art very effectively for some time.

The south side of East Chicago street presents a better appearance than a week ago. A large portion of it has a new walk and the balance has been repaired. This will be appreciated by pedestrians generally.

Col. A. T. Bliss Tent, K. O. T. M., is just now experiencing a season of great prosperity. At their two last regular meetings 18 candidates were elected for the degrees, and the end is not yet. No danger but what the goat will have sufficient exercise for some time to come.

Wm. C. Rogers left Monday for Texas where he expects to spend some time, perhaps all winter. He goes to sell his wire fence. He has one advantage over the army of fence men who are working that state, as he is not restricted to territory, having a state right.

R. B. Gillespie and Will Rector have recently purchased one of the celebrated machines for husking corn. Chas. Avery has been engaged to run it with his engine. It is expected to have it in operation at the farm of Will Rector on Saturday (tomorrow), and any one desiring to see the modus operandi are invited to call in person.

Last Tuesday evening, at Albion, occurred the wedding of Mr. Calvin T. Smith and Mrs. Libbie F. Allen. The bride was well known in this community, having been born and reared in Bridgewater, and her host of friends join in congratulations. Those from here who were present were Geo. and Eda VanGelson. They went to Jackson Saturday and spent Sunday with friends and then went on to Albion.

Officers Sherwood and Muir were the victims of a practical joke Holloween night. They saw a number of youngsters running off two carriages, one belonging to Chauncy Ogden and the other to Ed. Clark. Seeing an opportunity of distinguishing themselves, they called a halt, when Chauncy and Ed were found seated in their respective vehicles, being propelled in this novel manner. The laugh was on Will and Buck.

December 15th is the day fixed for the Annual Episcopal Fair at the Town Hall. In the afternoon a large array of useful and beautiful articles will be offered for sale, after which an elegant supper will be served and in the evening a choice entertainment will be given. The reputation of the ladies having charge is too well established for any words of commendation from us; will only say it is expected this will eclipse all former ones in all respects.

Mrs. June met with a painful accident last Thursday: In attempting to split a stick of wood the axe struck not the stick but some wood that was piled, which changed matters materially. The axe came over, striking her on the head, making an ugly gash. For a time she was stunned Finally she got to Mrs. Carroll's, a neighbor, but presented a pitiful sight. Her clothing was completely soaked with blood. A physician was called, the wound sewed and dressed and she made quite comfortable. It was a close call for her.

Henry Starrett and A. H. St. John, who have been placing the new pews in St. John's Episcopal church, completed their labors Saturday afternoon and last Sunday morning they were used for the first time. They are very easy and pretty and an important factor in the transformation which the interior of this cozy church has undergone, making it not only more modern in construction, but very attractive to the eye and one of the prettiest churches in the diocese. When the pews are nicely upholstered, and stained windows replace the present ones, then it will be complete in all respects.

Clinton, not to be behind her sister towns in the way of a lecture course, got a hustle on herself recently, and we are pleased to announce that the committee have completed a fine course of five entertainments, which will consist of the following:

Thos. McLary: The Mission of Tramps
Glenville P. Kleiser: Monologue Artist, Our American Cousin.
Unity Concert Co: 1st. part instrumental—2d part, Broken Ties.
H. H. Emmett: Either Indian Question, or, Boy of To-day.
J. Hugh DeWitt Miller: Uses of Ugliness.

The price of tickets has been placed at one dollar for the course. Within three days 150 course tickets were sold. The first entertainment will be given about Dec. 1st.

FRANKLIN FACTS.

Remember the lyceum at Seth Simmons' next Saturday night.

Mrs. Laura Barlow, of Petersburgh, has been visiting Franklin friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Love have removed to Adrian. Seymour will make a model landlord.

Mr. and Mrs. Watson Hunt left last Thursday for Iowa, where they will visit Mrs. Hunt's parents.

Weak and Nervous

Describes the condition of thousands of people at this season. They have no appetite, cannot sleep, and complain of the prostrating effect of warmer weather. This condition may be remedied by Hood's Sarsaparilla, which creates an appetite and tones up all the organs. It gives good health by making the blood pure.

Hood's Pills are the best after-dinner pills, assist digestion, cure headache. 1

An exquisite reproduction in 14 colors of DeLongpre's water-color Chrysanthemum picture, size 12x28 inches, is given to every subscriber, with the December issue of Demorest's Magazine, published November 15. This issue is enlarged and bound in a beautifully printed colored cover, and is replete with illustrations and reading matter pertaining to the Xmas holidays. It is sold for 20 cents a copy. The chrysanthemum plate alone in this one number is worth more than the price of a year's subscription; do not fail to get it. The original painting by DeLongpre is valued at $1,000 and the publishers guarantee that none but an expert can detect the difference between the original and the copy. Any of our readers who wish this beautiful picture can, by cutting out this notice and sending it to the Demorest Publishing Co., 110 Fifth Avenue, New York, with 20 cents in stamps, receive it by mail, carefully packed, and at the same time a copy of the Xmas Demorest. The magazine for the coming year is to be improved in many ways. It is to be made the very best magazine for the family circle in existence. The publishers offer to give the original painting to the person sending in the most subscribers before May 1st. The offer is printed in the December issue.

ONE MAN'S SUFFERING.

The Trials and Tribulations of a Battle Creek Citizen—How He Comes to Tell This Story.

(From the Battle Creek Moon.)

Among the moulders at the works of the Michigan foundry company can be found Mr. Amos Maynard; he has lived in Battle Creek for over ten years, is honored and respected by all who know him; such is the man who makes this statement, he says: "I have had kidney trouble for years, and it has made my life miserable. The heavy lifting, necessary in my business, made me worse. I have been compelled to lie in bed in a helpless condition for as long as nine days at a time; the greatest pain was from my back, which sometimes felt as though a bayonet was being run through me in the region of my kidneys; many citizens of Battle Creek knew how bad I was. I could not move without the greatest caution, for as soon as I attempted to stoop over, bend to one side, or even turn in bed, the pain was simply unbearable. I wore porous plasters constantly for the little temporary relief they brought me. Whenever I caught the slightest cold it went straight to my kidneys and made me worse. I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills, and got some. I have taken in all four boxes of them, and I now feel as active as ever. A few months ago I would have ridiculed the idea of being cured so quickly, and being able to work as I can now. All the long-standing pains are gone, and the former traces of kidney disorders found in my urine have disappeared. I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to many friends who were troubled as I was, and in every case I have learned they proved as beneficial as with me. Doan's Kidney Pills would be cheap to me at almost any price."

Knights of the Maccabees.

The State Commander writes us from Lincoln, Neb., as follows: "After trying other medicines for waht seemed to be a very obstinate cough in our two children we tried Dr. King's New Discovery and at the end of two days the cough entirely left them. We will not be without it hereafter, as our experience proves that it cures where all other remedies fail." —Signed F. W. Stephens, State Com.— Why not give this great medicine a trial, as it is guaranteed and trial bottles are free at Orr & Temple's drug store. Regular size 50c, and $1.00. 6

At an estimated saving to the country of $200,000 a year, the department of agriculture, on Oct. 1, stopped distributing free seed to farmers.

The Silver Craze.

Silver has greatly depreciated in commercial values, and may be found impracticable for money purposes, but thousands suffering from dyspepsia, indigestion and constipation have found that 50c or $1 in silver invested in Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is worth its weight in gold. Trial sizes (10 doses 10c,) by Orr & Temple. Nov

Mrs. Higgins, of New York City gave birth to triplets, two boys and a girl. They weighed five, six and seven pounds.

No Humbug.

Foley's Honey and Tar does not claim to perform miracles. It does not claim to cure all cases of consumption or asthma. But it does claim to give comfort and relief in advanced stages of these diseases and to usually cure early stages. It is certainly worth trying by those afflicted or threatened with these dread diseases. 50c. Orr & Temple. Nov

London has another scandal. Lady Frances Gunning is under bail for forging her dead father's name. Other charges against her are being inquired into.

Miss Anna Fellows, of Saline, was the guest of her friend, Miss Frances Logan, over the Sabbath.

Mrs. J. W. Patchin and children, of Traverse City, are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Watkins.

Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Halladay, of Norvell, attended the Farmers' Club, at L. M. Baldwin's, last Friday.

The marsh on the Coy farm, just southwest of town, is on fire and doing considerable damage in the standing timber.

Several farmers hereabouts, among the number Geo. Heimerdinger, will try threshing a part of their corn this week.

Mrs. Goddart and daughter, of Denver, Colo., and Mrs. W. G. Doty, of Ann Arbor, are guests of their cousin, Mrs. J. F. Spafard.

Rev. I. B. Buffum, pastor of the F. B. church of this place, was at Capac, Mich., the first of the week, in attendance at the Free Baptist Association.

Mrs. A. W. Spencer and daughter, Ella, returned the last of the week from Bath, N.Y., where she visited her parents and attended their golden wedding.

The Universalist society and other friends held a social at Mrs. T. J. Thorn's on Wednesday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Carr. That day was her 81st birthday.

For more than a hundred years the Shakers have been studying the remedial properties of plants. They have made many discoveries, but their greatest achievement was made last year. It is a cordial that contains already digested food and is a digester of food. It is effective in removing distress after eating, and creates an appetite for more food so that eating becomes a pleasure. Pale, thin people become plump and healthy under its use. It arrests the wasting of consumption. There never has been such a step forward in the cure of indigestion as this Shaker Cordial. Your druggist will be glad to give you a little book descriptive of the product.

MAYERS' MAGNETIC CATARRH CURE.

The only safe and reliable medicine for catarrh, hay fever and asthma used by vapor inhalation. One bottle to last for a three months' treatment. This grand remedy will positively cure all forms of those terrible diseases. June cold and hay fever cured.

JUNE COLD AND HAY FEVER CURED.
Oakland, Md.

To the Mayers' Drug Co.

I feel it my duty to say something in regard to the merits of your Magnetic Catarrh Cure. I have been a sufferer from rose or June cold for the last 15 years. It comes on about the middle of June and lasts about six weeks or two months. I commenced using Mayers' Catarrh Cure about the middle of April as a preventive, and it certainly did the work. I passed through the summer without the slightest return of the disease. I am station baggage master at Oakland, Md. Respectfully,

It May Do as Much for You.

Mr. Fred Miller, of Irving, Ill. writes that he had a severe Kidney trouble for many years, with severe pains in his back and also that his bladder was affected. He tried many so called Kidney cures but without any good result. About a year ago he began use of Electric Bitters and found relief at once. Eletric Bitters is especially adapted to the cure of all Kidney and Liver troubles and often gives almost instant relief. One trial will prove our statemnt. Price only 50c. for large bottle. To the Sufferers of Rheumatism.

After using Groff's Rheumatic Cure for some time in my practice I take great pleasure in saying that it is the most wonderful remedy for rheumatism; in fact, it is the only one I have found for the cure of this disease in all its various forms. DR. E. E. TULL, Chicago.

No beauty without good health.
No good health with impure blood.
No impure blood if Foley's Sarsaparilla is used. Trial size, 50c. Orr & Temple. Nov

A contract has been made for printing international revenue stamps next year by which the government will save $5,000.

"Turn the rascals out"—the familiar party-cry—may be applied to microbes as well as to men. The germs of disease that lurk in the blood are "turned out" by Ayer's Sarsaparilla as effectually as the old postmasters are displaced by a new admistration. 1w

Hot weather proves depressing to those whose blood is poor. Such people should enrich their blood with Hood's Sarsaparilla. 1w

Much depression prevails in business circles in Venezuela. Money is scarce and a financial crisis may be expected within three months.

An Importance Office.

To properly fill its office and functions, it is important that the blood be pure. When it is in such a condition, the body is almost certain to be healthy. A complaint at this time is catarrh in some of its various forms. A slight cold develops the disease in the head. Droppings of corruption passing into the lungs bring on consumption. The only way to cure this disease is to purify the blood. The most obstinate cases of catarrh yield to the medicinal powers of Hood's Sarsaparilla as if by magic, simply because it reaches the seat of the disease, and by purifying and vitalizing the blood, removes the cause. Not only does Hood's Sarsaparilla do this but it gives renewed vigor to the whole system, making it possible for good health to reign supreme. 1w

"Nothing venture, nothing have."

Rev. John Reid, Jr., of Great Falls, Mon., recommended Ely's Cream Balm to me. I can emphasize his statement. "It is a positive cure for catarrh if used as directed."—Rev. Francis W. Poole, Pastor Central Pres. Church, Helena, Mon.

It is the medicine above all others for catarrh, and is worth its weight in gold. I can use Ely's Cream Balm with safety and it does all that is claimed for it.—B. W. Sperry, Hartford, Conn. 1w

A Great Book Free!

When Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., published the first edition of his work, The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, he anounnced that after 680, 000 copies had been sold at the regular price, $1.50 per copy, the profit on which would repay him for the great amount of labor and money expended in producing it he would distribute the next half million free. As this number of copies has already been sold, he is now giving away, absolutly free, 500,000 copies of this most complete, interesting and valuable common sense medical work ever published—the recipient only being required to mail to him, at above address, twenty-one (21) one-cent stamps, to cover cost of mailing only, and the book will be sent post-paid. It is a veritable medical library, complete in one volume. Contains 1008 pages, profusely illustrated. The Free Edition is precisely the same as that sold at $1.50 except only that the books are in strong manilla paper covers instead of cloth. Send now before all are given away. 1w

Generous Offer—$200 In Gold Given.

R. H. Woodward Company, Baltimore Md., are making a very generous offer of $200.00 to anyone who will sell within three months 200 copies of "Talks to Chidren about Jesus." This is one of the most popular books of recent years. Agents often sell from 10 to 15 copies a day. It contains a great many beautiful illustrations, and is sold at a remarkably low price. They give credit and pay freight and send complete canvassing outfit for 35 cents. It is just the book to be sold for the holidays. They also offer an Estey Organ, retail price $270, to anyone who will sell 110 books in three months.

It is an excellent opportunity for a church or society to secure one of these organs. A $100 bicycle to be given for selling 80 copies in two months, or a gold watch for selling 60 copies in one month. This premium is in addition to the regular commission. They have also published a new book, Gems of Religious Thought, by Talmage, which is having a large sale. Same terms and premiums as on Talks to Children about Jesus. Agents who do not get any of the premiums are given a liberal commission. They also make a specialty of other books and Bibles for Xmas holidays. Write them immediately. 3w

Grorgia beat her record with the peach crop this season, and there is every indication that the pear crop, too, will be by far the largest ever raised.

Business Failures.

Statistics prove that out of men who engage in mercantile pursuits, 96 fall short of success. As to why so large a percentage are left behind in the race, a great variety of opinions prevail. This is shown by the answers of the following distinguished men, who are on the top rounds of the ladder of fame and fortune. When asked why so many failures in commercial pursuits take place, their answers were as follows:

John D. Rockefeller, the Standard oil king:

"Lack of business training in the home and public schools."

A. J. Carnegie, the iron and steel magnate:

"The credit system has much to do with it."

P. D. Armour, the man who controls the meat supply of the United States:

Dr. Franklin Miles, the great specialist in nerve, brain and heart disorders, whose Restorative Nervine, New Heart Cure, and other remedies are used all over America:

"Over anxiety in their pursuits has much to do with it. The competition is so strong and the race so exciting that the strain becomes too great and collapse follows. A large number of my patients are business men under middle age, who suffer from nerve disorders induced by mental strain. As the knowledge of my restorative remedies increases, the percentage of business failures will surely decrease." 1w

Always a leader, the Ohio Central Lines mileage ticket, with latest additions is the Best. Covering the Big Four, B. & O., C. H. & D., Ohio Central and innumerable other systems, it is the favorite Travelers' Companion. 4w

Mrs. J. P. Bell, Ossawatomie, Kan. wife of the editor of The Graphic, the leading local paper of Miami county, writes "I was troubled with heart disease for six years, severe palpitations, shortness of breath, together with such extreme nervousness, that, at times I would walk the floor nearly all night. We consulted the best medical talent. They said there was no help for me, that I had organic disease of the heart for which there was no remedy. I had read your advertisement in The Graphic and a year ago, as a last resort, tried one bottle of Dr. Miles' New Cure for the Heart, which convinced me that there was true merit in it. I took three bottles each of the Heart Cure and Restorative Nervine and It completely cured me. I sleep well at night, my heart beats regularly and I have no more smothering spells. I wish to say to all who are suffering as I did; there's relief untold for them if they will only give your remedies just one trial."

Dr. Miles Heart Cure is sold on a positive guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. All druggists sell it at $1, 6 bottles for $5, or it will be sent, prepaid, on receipt of price by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

OUR WHEELMEN ABROAD.

Up and Down the Appenines, Through Florence and Pisa to Old Rome.

MR. EDITOR:—We feel so proud of the manner of which we climbed the Appenines that I am going to tell you first and impressively that we reached the highest point of the pass without doing any walking—we rode in the saddle 51 miles of up grade and the last 10 miles very steep. Of course you don't care if we rode with one leg and with both eyes shut. Editors are so far above interest in physical feats! Well, we had both eyes open. We saw sun burned hills, dried up mountain courses, remains of old Roman aqueducts and the plain and ugly mountains on all sides; none of the grandeur or beauty of the Alps.

About noon we passed mountain towns where the whole populations were laying lazily upon the mountain side, smoking, eating and sleeping in the shade. We saw mountain-valley-sides completely covered with chestnut trees, and from the summit we saw Pistoja lying thousands of feet below us in the valley and from that height we began one of those exciting plunges down into the valley. The road is like the track of lightning and our speed was only a few knots an hour less than that same phenomenon. Soon we reached the luxuriant vines and vegetation of the Tuscan valley. Pistoja is a quaint, time-stained city, so dusty that it might have traveled a long journey itself, but as it is guarded by a wall and moat and many soldiers, I suspect it got its dust from other travelers.

It was nearly sunset when we left that city for Florence. The road was lined with houses of the contadinie, and many a beautiful Tessa walked among her companions, and wore hats and other things in straw. Only by using superhuman eloquence did I persuade Harry that he did not need a straw hat. But darkness came to my aid and we could not see the beautiful signoras any more. We wandered in the gloom thro' innumerable suburban towns, pushing our way among throngs of revellers of the lower classes. In Italy, everyone lives out of doors in the evening. Italians like to exercise their lungs and the discordant cries made us feel very strangely indeed. Venders were hooting, small urchins yelling, girls giggling, mothers screaming, and children shrieking. Lamps were very rare and flared in bizarre and grotesque corners. Florence at last and the moon just rising over it. We passed the good guardsman at the gate and were riding in the enchanted city. The music and crowd in a Piazza attracted us, and in that piazza we found a desirable hotel where we rested gladly from our 90 mile ride.

We stayed two days in Florence, and saw—I have half a mind to make you read "Romola" to learn what we saw—but I will catalogue a few things. There is the old palace with its airy tower which rises, a slender mast, and the superb dome of the cathedral, and that massive stone prison of art, the Pitti palace, and linked with it by the corridor over the old bridge, the Uffizi palace. Then the doors of the Baptistry, one of which Michael Angelo said was worthy to be at the entrance of Paradise; Santa Croco, the cathedral where Florence has buried her famous dead. Most charming of all are the singing girls with their guitars. Those fair musicians haunt the cafes and are real sirens to attract custom.

We left Florence one hot afternoon and followed the course of the Arno down to Pisa. The river was small and muddy, and the hills which shaped its course were dry and parched. It was on the following morning that we reached Pisa, after passing the night in a wayside inn which was discouraging on the exterior but contained a surprise bedroom with frescoes and lace curtains and a canopied bed, all very clean. Pisa has all its attractions in one out of the way corners. We rode eagerly to the corner and after the first glimpse at the leaning tower, I found myself involuntarily "ducking," for fear that the tower would lose its equilibejum before we should reach it. We stood and marveled for a time and then entered the cathedral near by. When we came out there were several Capucinian monks and three blind beggars examining our wheels. I had to repair my tire some and the blind men, in spite of their infirmity watched the operation with breathless interest.

We extricated ourselves from Pisa and began a ride to Rome which I shall never repeat. I heartily recommend to bicycle riders all of the roads and climate and countries, through which we had previously passed, but whoever undertakes that ride to Rome should have epidermis of a salamander and bicycle tires as impervious as an armadillo. As my friend expressed it: "Every vegetating thing in this infernal country grows a thorn." The roads are so dusty that the tires rolling in them sound like flapping sails, and the heat is as if the air above was burning glass. We first saw the Mediterranean at about sunset. I can see vividly now the light green of the shore, the dark green of the waters, and the deep blue of the isle of Elba, near which was the red of the setting sun, flanked by dark gray clouds.

We purged our minds of one popular fallacy. All roads do not lead to Rome. Most of them lead anywhere else. My recollections are a mixture of the horrible and beautiful. I see little fishing villages where the sailors are squabbling with market women about the price of pears. I see the flashing waters of harbors dotted with white sails, and that vision gives place to chalk-white roads filled with thorns and no shade in which to mend punctures, except the shade of mile stones. Then rises the blue outline of the Appenines, and while admiring that we come to a sandy, ugly river with no bridge, and we have to stand and scorch until the ferryman arrives. This is followed by a blur of dust, heat and blackberries.

One night we rode too late, and at last, in desperation we sought lodging in a castle situated high on a hill to whose summit we toiled. We found several men there who said in answer to a plea for a bed, that we must ask the captain. The captain came out and said that it was impossible, we must go on. We dragged our wheels down to the plain and pedaled laboriously on until we found a house at a railroad crossing. Our pleadings finally secured us a bed here, and a promise of milk in the morning. At dawn I heard a knock and bade the visitor to enter. He did. It was our host leading a goat into our bed chamber. He seemed greatly injured because we refused the goatish beverage. We rode on over waste lands which look much like our Colorado deserts. By the road sides are remains of massive gates which have outlasted their walls, and they are overgrown with vines. On these plains roam herds of white cattle—very picturesque. Near the sea are occasional lemon orchards and cork trees. The mountains are very near the shore at times, and old mediaeval cities are seen perched on a hill-top and the houses built closely together around the edge of the hill so they may serve as a wall. In one more letter I will relate the remainder of our venture.

FARMERS' SOCIAL CLUB.

The Club met at Mrs. Rector's home on the evening of Oct. 29th. The good attendance at this, the first meeting of the season was good evidence that all were disposed to make the winter meetings interesting and profitable. The literary program was engaging throughout. The question, regarding discoveries and inventions was opened by Mr. Finch, reading an excellent paper. He considered iron the most important of all discoveries and he so efficaciously applied his argument that there was but little opposition. One member thought the plow had proved the greatest invention for the farmer, while another thought it would be inconvenient indeed to get along without money. The club will hold the next meeting at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Remington on Tuesday evening, Nov. 26th. Meeting to commence at 7-30 o'clock. Program:

Dec.—Ralph Gillespie.
Select Reading.—The First Thanksgiving.—Ida Rector.
Paper—Is the present year as disastrous as it appears?—J. F. N. Bowen.
Dialogue—Frank and Lava Gillespie.
Charade—Mr. and Mrs. Remington.
Question—Is the present state of taxes justifiable at any time, and especially during such financial depression? Opened by O. P. Remington.

If you have no school for this winter enter the Fayette Normal University and prepare yourself for a permanent position at a good salary. You can enter at any time. Send to Pres. J. E. Dodds Fayette, O., for catalogue and circulars.

The Annual meeting of Tecumseh Masonic Association will be held at Masonic Temple, Monday evening, Nov., 18th, at 7 o'clock. All members of Tecumseh Lodge, No. 69, F. & A. M., and Tecumseh Chapter, No. 42, R. A. M. are requested to be present.

On or before December 31, 1895, is the time for making nominations in the Stock Farm $6,000 purse. The nomination fee of $5 includes a year's subscription to the Stock Farm and new subscribers will get the paper until Jan. 1897, thus receiving the rest of this year free. For particulars address the Kentucky Stock Farm, Lexington, Ky.

James Whitcomb Riley has completed a new series of poems in which he varies the treatment of each one to such an extent that they are said to show the Hoosier poet's versatility to a remarkable degree. He has given the series to The Ladies' Home Journal, the first is about to be published. A. B. Frost has been engaged by the magazine to illustrate the poems.

In the November number of the North American Review the Hon. W. C. Oates, Governor of Alabama, discusses the "Industrial Development of the South." Governor Oates gives a remarkable clear and practical account of the revival of business in the South, especially in Alabama, and speaks hopefully of the continuance of the financial recuperation now going on in that section.

Next Sunday evening Rev. C. M. Brown will begin a series of sermons on "The Home." The subjects will be as follows: 1st. The Wife and Mother; 2d. The Husband and Father, Nov. 17; 3d. The Children, Dec. 8. 4th; Family Reunions, Dec, 15. On Sunday, Nov. 24 will occur the annual praise service of the missionary circle; on Dec. 1st. Illustrated sermon, Wonderful Nazerine. The public are cordially invited to all of these services.

The Friends Quarterly meeting was well attended, many coming from a distance. The Gospel of Jesus was preached with power by Rev. J. W. Malone, from Cleveland, President of the Christian Workers training school of that place. The influence of that meeting was good, and many expressed themselves by saying it was the best quarterly meeting we ever had. The Friends expect to commence their revival soon; an evangelist from Cleveland will conduct the meetings.

Services will be held at the Baptist church next Wednesday evening and Thursday forenoon, afternoon and evening, consisting of preaching in the evening services by pastors from other parts of Southern Michigan. The services during the day Thursday will be given up to discussions and laying plans for aggressive christian work. These meetings are known as the Workers' Conference of the Lenawee Baptist Association. An invitation is extended to the public to be present and participate.

The Masons of Detroit are arranging for a big expositon which is to be held Nov. 25 to Dec. 7. Many novelties and interesting displays are promised from all over the United States and even from the land of the Orient. There will be elaborate decorations inside the big new temple which is just being finished. Many professional entertainers have been engaged for the performances in the Turkish and American theatres and in the "Streets of the Orient," which will be thoroughly equipped with goods and attractions now being secured by a special agent who is searching Persia, Turkey and Egypt for novelties. The booths will be varied in architecture and style, each being equipped from the land it represents. The wonderful painting of "Trilby" will be on exhibition and a big art loan display, with several new pictures never shown in the west, will occupy one floor. The entire building, and it is seven stories in height, will be used for exhibition purposes. Additional particulars will be given hereafter.

A teachers Institute will be held at Ridgeway on Nov. 23rd for the teachers of Ridgeway, Macon, Clinton, Raisin, Tecumseh and the east half of Adrian and Franklin townships.

Alex Easlick, of Lake Ridge, has been seriously ill for some time, but we are glad to learn that his symptoms are somewhat more encouraging and we hope to see him up town again soon.

Editor Field held quite a family reunion at his house last Saturday. The following guests from abroad were present; Mrs. Geo. Talbot and daughter, Mamie, of Denver; Mrs. G. W. Doty, of Ann Arbor; Mrs. John Chaplin of Sylvania, Ohio; Mrs. John Field and J. F. Spafard, wife and daughter of Manchester.

The secretary of state has issued 17,500 deer licenses, and still hunters clamor for more. As there is probably half that many deer in Mich. the state is realizing handsome profits on the license law. It is a pity, however, to think of the large number of nimrods who will expend their cash and energy by shooting the air full of holes.

With the December issue the price of the Arena will be reduced from $5.00 to $3.00 a year, but notwithstanding that fact, The Arena for 1896 will be abler, brighter and more inviting than ever. This magazine is now recognized as the leader of liberal thought in periodical journalism, and the field it occupies has been thoroughly cultivated. We predict a large increase in circulation and influence under the new departure. And Editor Flower deserves all the success which his enterprise will doubtless bring him.

Within six weeks Adrian will be enabled to talk with New York and Chicago over the telephone, provided it has the price, which will be $7 for five minutes with New York and $2.50 for a like period of connection with Chicago. A metallic line, starting from Detroit, and running through Ann Arbor, Clinton, Tecumseh, Adrian, Hudson, Hillsdale, Coldwater and Three Rivers, is now in course of construction, and within another week it is expected the line will be completed to this city, when Chicago and New York connections can be made via Detroit.—Adrian Times.

A fearful calamity occurred in Detroit on Wednesday morning, one of the worst that ever befell the city. The large boilers in the basement of the Detroit Daily Journal building let go with terrific force, scattering death and destruction on every hand. The force of the explosion was so great that a portion of the building collapsed, and with it scores of busy people were buried in the wreck and ruins. To add to the horror of the situation the ruins caught fire and the fire department which hastened rapidly to the scene was compelled to do the double duty of fighting the fire and rescuing the people engulfed under the tons of debris. According to the latest estimate 40 people were killed outright and about 30 were injured. Up to last evening 34 bodies had been recovered. The entire city is shrouded in gloom over the awful catastrophe. None of the editorial staff of the Journal were in the building when the explosion took place. The press of the state will unanimously tender its sympathies to the Journal in its misfortune.

High School Happenings.

Naomi North was absent Friday and Monday.

Florence Kishpaugh visited the High School last Friday.

Some of the pupils needed an eye opener and a remedy for that tired feeling on the day after Halloween.

The North branch school was closed yesterday, that the teacher Miss Millspaugh might visit some of the other schools.

Some of the dignified senior and jolly junior girls, feeling the need of more exercise than walking, indulged in a game of "crack the whip" Tuesday noon.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

SOUTHERN MICHIGAN SHAKEN.

Detroit, Nov. 1.—The earthquake which agitated the Mississippi valley was very generally felt over Michigan. In Detroit the guests at the Wayne and Metropolitan hotels were aroused from their sleep and went rushing to the first floor in their night clothes. Advices from the state show that the shock was general in the southern portion of the lower peninsula, but north of Grand Rapids no indications of the earthquake were observed. Lansing was shaken twenty seconds and beds were set trembling so that the occupants were awakened and doors swung to and fro. At Ann Arbor five distinct waves were felt, which lasted two minutes and began at ten minutes after five o'clock. Prof. Hall of the university could not believe it because his seismoscopes failed to register it. Kalamazoo people were awakened by the shaking of their beds. At Niles the shock was very violent. Buildings trembled, windows were cracked, pictures fell from the walls and people ran from their houses in terror.

In Grand Rapids the shock swayed the big buildings and many of the residents of the hills ran out of their houses in alarm. The shock at Jackson was so severe that hundreds of people in the western section of the city hurriedly dressed and sought the streets. The guests in the Albion house, Albion, deserted the hotel in a body, fearing it would fall. At Blissfield the earthquake broke windows and scared the people generally, and at St. Joseph the shock was so violent that the large fire bell sounded a single stroke. Dishes were shaken down and broken at Pinckney, and at Concord a man was almost thrown from his bed.

In Munith more than 500 dishes were smashed and people badly frightened. The residents of Benton Harbor ran into the streets in a fright, and a loud report and rattling of windows was heard at Cassopolis. Guests in the Lawrence hotel ran out of the house without stopping to dress. Reports received from Adrian, Buchanan, Saugatuck, Pawpaw, Decatur, Galesburg, Three Rivers, Marshall, Allegan, Schoolcraft, Sturgis, Constantine, Coldwater, South Haven, Hastings, Grand Haven, Belleville and Hudson show that the shock was plainly felt in all these places, and the people were generally alarmed at the unusual occurrence.

SLAUGHTER OF DEER.

Thousands of Hunters to Take Advantage of the Open Season.

Lansing, Nov. 2.—The open season for the killing of deer in Michigan commenced Friday and the exodus to the north woods during the last few days has been enormous. It is estimated that over 10,000 licenses to hunt deer have been granted by the county clerks. Each license entitles the holder to kill five deer, and a coupon must be attached to each animal shipped. If every deer hunter kills the number to which he is entitled there will not be enough deer left in Michigan to perpetuate the species. The license fee is 50 cents for residents and $25 for non-residents. Pot hunters who desire to slaughter a large number of deer will find an opportunity to evade the law by taking out several licenses under different names.

A Water Famine.

Hubbardston, Nov. 6.—The water famine has extended itself to this vicinity. A majority of the wells are dry, and, in boring new ones, persons have gone down 50 to 60 feet, passing three and four strata of gravel, without discovering a semblance of moisture. Others drive four and five miles to buy their drinking water, paying for it at the rate of ten cents a barrel.

Streams Drying Up.

Schoolcraft, Nov. 1.—The wells, streams, lakes and marshes are drying up. Never have they been so low as at this time of year. Many wells have dried up entirely and have been sunk from three to six feet deeper after water. Lakes have receded. Weed's lake and Mud lake are dry, Ransom's and Sugar lakes receded four to eight feet.

Teachers to Meet.

Lansing, Nov. 6.—The executive committee of the State Teachers' association has decided to hold the annual meeting of the association in this city on December 26, 27 and 28, and if possible to secure Stanley Hall, of Clark university, to deliver the principal address. Section work will be the great feature of the session.

Accidentally Killed.

Mount Clemens, Nov. 3.—Robert B. Mitchell, of Warren, while alighting from a boat at the Lakeside pier, pulled a gun out towards him. The hammer caught on the seat, and the charge penetrated his breast. He died.

An Adamless Eden.

Ann Arbor, Nov. 2.—Over 500 women students of the university attended a reception given by the sophomore girls Friday. All male students were carefully excluded, and the men in the orchestra were hidden by a screen.

Cannot Be Sold for Taxes.

Lansing, Nov. 1.—An injunction was issued restraining the sale of the Michigan branch of the Wisconsin Central railroad upon an execution obtained by the state for $5,000 for the unpaid specific taxes of 1891.

Ex-Gov. Jerome Dying.

Saginaw, Nov. 5.—The family of ex-Gov. David H. Jerome, of this city, received word Monday that the governor is in a very critical condition at the sanitarium at Watkins, N. Y., and death is imminent.

Found Guilty.

Kalamazoo, Nov. 3.—Dr. Joel A. Thomas, on trial for several days for causing the death of Miss Helen Bos by a criminal operation, was found guilty Saturday morning of manslaughter.

Election in Port Huron.

Port Huron, Nov. 6.—Boyntin (rep.) is elected mayor by 431 majority and the rest of the republican ticket with him. Democrats get but three of the ten aldermen chosen.

INTERESTING PARAGRAPHS.

A Budget of News from Various Localities in Michigan.

Plymouth's new reservoir, which has just been completed, will hold 1,500,000 gallons.

Ex-Senator Palmer has written a letter denying the rumor that he is a candidate for governor.

The Bryant Paper company, with a capital stock of $125,000, will erect a big mill in Kalamazoo.

Lumber on Churchill Bros.' mill stock at Alpena burned, causing a loss of $25,000; one-third insured.

Heavy falls of snow and good sleighing have already been reported from several points in the state.

The annual convention of the state association Knights of the Grip is to be held in Lansing next month.

Surviving members of the Twenty-eighth Michigan infantry held a reunion recently at Kalamazoo. Eighteen of the old veterans were present, although the secretary reported that there were still living 400 members scattered all over the land.

Four horses were cremated in a burning livery barn at Ann Arbor recently. They belong to William Wallace.

Col. Michael Jeffers, of Saginaw, will erect a monument to the memory of Saginaw valley soldiers who died in the rebellion.

The condensed milk factory at Howell is to double its capacity. Over 50,000 pounds of milk are now being handled daily.

At Gagetown, Saturday, Tooley & Son's $10,000 roller mill burned to the ground and 400 cords of wood were reduced to ashes.

The citizens of Flint have held a mass meeting and passed resolutions asking congress to grant Cuban insurgents belligerent rights.

Benjamin Constant's life-size portrait of Senator James McMillan has arrived at the state capitol and will be hung in the senate chamber.

William Choats, a farmer living a few miles west of Lansing, has found a four-foot vein of soft coal on his farm. It is about 60 feet down, and covered by a 12-foot layer of slate.

The cold weather and severe frosts have about ruined the celery crop in the Au Gres country in the upper peninsula. One farmer named Harris has lost $1,400, this being his first year in the business.

Rev. Fred B. Spindler, a former pastor of the Lutheran church at Grand Haven, was found dead with three bullet holes near his heart on the outskirts of Minneapolis Wednesday. Whether murder or suicide is a mystery.

At Detroit, on Friday, the Michigan Political Science association elected Judge J. W. Champion, of Grand Rapids, president. Methods of government of various Michigan cities were discussed from every point of view.

Wants an Investigation.

McBain, Nov. 2.—A petition has been freely circulated in this vicinity and signed by a large number which is to be sent to Gov. Rich. The petition asks the governor to order an investigation of the killing of John Smalley here August 24, 1895, stating among other things that the petitioners believe he died innocent of the crimes charged against him, the Fennville hold-up August 20 and the killing of Detective George W. Powers on August 22.

Terminal Route Decided Upon.

Marquette, Nov. 6.—It is understood that the matter of terminals for the Ishpeming & Lake Superior railway, which is to be built and in working order shortly after the opening of the next ore-shipping season, was settled here by the choice of what is known as the North Marquette route. The construction contract has been let to Winston Bros., St. Paul, Minn.

Passed Bad Bills.

Coldwater, Oct. 31.—"Shovers of the queer" got in their work here, passing a $50 counterfeit greenback on the ticket seller at the opera house, where the Chicago marine band was playing, and a $20 bill on the ticket agent at the Lake Shore depot. The fellow who passed the money escaped. The work on the bills was fine, but the paper was poor.

Found Hanging from a Rafter.

Sturgis, Nov. 6.—John C. Drake, of the firm of J. C. Drake & Co., founders and machinists, committed suicide by hanging. His body was found hanging from a rafter in the upper portion of the store building. He had stood on an empty nail keg, which he kicked from under him. Ill-health is supposed to have unsettled his mind.

Prominent Saginaw Citizen Dies.

Saginaw, Nov. 6.—George H. Durand, Sr., one of Saginaw valley's most prominent citizens, died Tuesday, aged 82. He was the father of Hon. George H. Durand, ex-congressman and ex-chief justice of the supreme court; Mrs. John P. Williams, of Chicago, and Hon. L. T. Durand, of this city.

A Block Burned.

Benton Harbor, Nov. 2.—The Stevens block, one of the finest in the city, was badly damaged by fire Friday morning. The fire started from spontaneous combustion in the basement and soon the three storerooms above and three floors above that were burned out. The loss is $20,000.

Will of the Late Mrs. Emery.

Lansing, Nov. 2.—The will of the late Sarah E. V. Emery, author and lecturer, has been admitted to probate. The greater part of her estate, valued at $35,000, is to be held in trust for the education of the children of her brother and nephew to the third generation.

RECOVER THE STOLEN MONEY

Brown's Confession Enables the Sheriff to Secure the Kessler Plunder.

Allegan, Nov. 2.—Sheriff Stratton and the officials for the Lake Shore railway and United States Express company have secured $1,565 in currency and $85 in gold in Isabella county as the result of Jim Brown's confession of the Kessler robbery. The money was found in a tin can buried where Brown said it was hidden. Brown gave the sheriff letters asking his wife and brother-in-law, Charles Robbins, to turn over the money, besides the title to a hotel in McBain, valued at $1,000. All were turned over to the United States Express company. The hotel was bought with part of the Kessler plunder. Brown's confession implicated only two besides himself in the job at Kessler, John Smalley was one, the name of the other not being given. Brown's share was $3,090.

Lansing, Nov. 3.—Gov. Rich has honored the requisition of Gov. Matthews, of Indiana, for James W. Brown.

ALL FOR CHARITY.

Grand Rapids Young Ladies Give a Bench Show Many Entries.

Grand Rapids, Nov. 5.—The bench show held under the management of the Butterflies, a dozen young women who are pledged to maintain a free bed in the Union Benevolent association home and hospital, opened Monday afternoon with every assurance of financial success. There are 144 entries, in 95 classes, with a total of 206 animals, including some of the best dogs in the country. The most interesting exhibits are the pugs and the poodles from the Eberhart kennels, Cincinnati; bloodhounds from Rockwood kennels, Lexington, Ky., and from the Ovid kennels, of Ovid, Mich.; and Great Danes from Oakhurst kennels, owned by Dudley E. Waters, of this city. A. G. Eberhart, of Cincinnati, is judge. The show is not given under the authority of the American Kennel club, but the rules of that organization will govern the awarding of prizes, which will not be matters of record.

PINGREE WINS.

Elected Mayor of Detroit for the Fourth Consecutive Term.

Detroit, Nov. 6.—Mayor Pingree swept this city for the fourth consecutive time Tuesday, being elected by a majority of 10,400 over Sam Goldwater, democratic and labor candidate, in a total vote of 30,000, with one precinct missing. The mayor's great running ability is evidenced by the returns from the Fifth, Seventh, and Ninth wards, largely populated by Germans and Poles, and nominally strongly democratic. The mayor's potato patches caught their votes and his majority in these wards aggregated 1,200. With the mayor the remainder of the city ticket was elected by majorities nearly as great. Out of 16 aldermen elected the democrats have secured only three.

County Seat War.

Lansing, Nov. 5.—Lansing and Mason are now preparing for the hottest kind of a county seat war. Mason is now the nominal county seat, but two terms of circuit court are annually held at Lansing. The magnificent new city hall building at Lansing is intended for the joint use of the city and county. The fight will be precipitated at the January meeting of the supervisors when a proposition to remove the county seat may be submitted to the people.

Sale of State Lands.

Lansing, Nov. 6.—On November 15 there will be offered at public sale at the state land office some very valuable state lands. Among the most valuable are sections 11 and 12 of the Bois Blanc island lands, which were reconveyed to the state by Contractor George W. Webber, of Ionia, in settlement of the state's claim that the Bois Blanc island state road was not constructed according to contract. These lands are heavily timbered.

Famous Stallion Dead.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Nov. 2.—The famous stallion Ambassador, the property of the Kalamazoo Farm company, died at Kalamazoo farm Friday morning. But three years ago S. A. Browne & Co. were offered $60,000 for Ambassador. The purchase price was $18,500. Among his most illustrious offspring are Sciota, Lady Wilkin, Cuckoo, Dan Court and Wyandote, all with records better than 2:20.

Value of Marsh Lands.

Galesburg, Nov. 4.—The capabilities of the marsh lands in Kalamazoo and Calhoun counties, once considered valueless, have been fully illustrated during the past season. The little station of Sonoma, in Calhoun, ships daily from three to four car loads of cabbage, averaging 200 heads to the ton. Fully one-half as many onions are also freighted out. One man has shipped 5,000 bushels of onions.

A Heavy Failure.

Bay City, Nov. 2.—The third big lumber failure in three weeks was that of John McLennan & Son, hardwood dealers, who filed four mortgages amounting to nearly $70,000 Friday. It is believed that their assets are greater than their liabilities. The failure was caused by the poor condition of the lumber market and the refusal of banks to renew paper.

Convicted of Passing Forged Check.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 4.—John S. Granger, alias Gideon Granger, who was convicted of passing a $50 forged check, was Saturday sentenced by Judge Chapin to one year's imprisonment in the house of correction. The sentence is a very light one. Granger said he was innocent, but took his sentence calmly.

Hackley Park Assembly Sold.

Muskegon, Nov. 5.—Rev. H. W. Bolton, of Chicago, president of the Hackley Park Assembly association, signed a deed Monday transferring to Albert Dodge, of Grand Rapids, all of the assembly property; consideration, $26,000. He will organize another association, and says an assembly will be held next year.

CANCER CURED —AND A— LIFE SAVED By the Persistent Use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"I was troubled for years with a sore on my knee, which several physicians, who treated me, said was cancer, assuring me that nothing could be done to save my life. As a last resort, I was induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, after taking a number of bottles, the sore began to disappear and my general health improve. I persisted in this treatment, until the sore was entirely healed. Since then, I use Ayer's Sarsaparilla occasionally as a tonic and blood-purifier, and, indeed, it seems as though I could not keep house without it."—Mrs. S. A. FIELDS, Bloomfield, Ia.

Who does not know women and young girls who are continually in tears? Who always see the dark side? Who have frequent fits of melancholy without any apparent cause? But there is a cause. It is to be found by the intelligent physician in some derangement of the complicated and delicate feminine organs of generation. The woman who half understands herself, feels that she cannot always be complaining; she cannot always have the doctor in the house. The young girl suffers, bodily and mentally, in silence. The trouble usually comes so gradually it is attributed to some outside cause. There is undue weariness, unexpected pain, unreasonable tears and fits of temper. All these symptoms are simply protests of the silent, long-suffering nerves. The trouble shows in dark circles below the eyes, a downward curve of the mouth, a sallow, brownish-yellow neck.

Unregarded, the trouble grows. A few years of tortured invalidism, probably insanity, before merciful death comes. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the fruit of years of study. It is the product of an investigating mind united with a generous nature. When an intelligent person gives years of study to a subject there must be some good result. The "Favorite Prescription" is a compound of extracts of herbs that make a strengthening, soothing medicine. Acts directly upon the distinctly feminine organs. It stops drains from lining membranes by healing diseased parts, thereby curing also the inflammation that is always present.

"I was in a critical condition. Often was in despair. I experienced a great improvement by taking one bottle of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I have taken six bottles, and am sure that it will not only cure ulceration in all diseases of females." Yours truly, (Mrs.) R. T. Rudd.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Lesson For the Week Beginning Nov. 10. Comment by Rev. W. J. Yates, A. M. Topic, Opening the Church to the Gentiles.

SCRIPTURE READING.—Acts x, 1-48.

An officer of the Roman army, benevolent, prayerful, God fearing, believing in the Jehovah of the Hebrews, having heard of Jesus of Nazareth, seeks to know more of the true way. His vision is evidence that he was deeply thoughtful on the matter of the gospel message and earnestly desired salvation. The hesitation of Peter to go to such a man shows clearly how deep was the Jewish prejudice against the gentiles. If even the most advanced leaders of the disciples is yet so bound in prejudice that he needs a threefold vision to move him, how deep must have been the formalism of those less liberal minded.

The manifestations which accompanied the outpouring of the Holy Spirit on the day of Pentecost appearing in Cornelius and those with him is proof to Peter that God has granted salvation to the gentiles as well as to the Jews. He is a practical man of good sense rather than one who arrives at his conclusions by a long process of reasoning. If these heathen have the Holy Ghost as truly as his own countrymen why should they not be at once baptized and be recognized as brethren with the disciples of Jesus, the Christ? It seems reasonable to him and so he baptizes them. This is an event of utmost importance not only to the followers of the Nazarene and the orthodox Jews, but to the world for all ages.

When Peter returned to Jerusalem he was at once charged with his breach of custom in associating and eating with uncircumcised heathen. This was an offense of gravest character, and stirred the church as deeply as the preaching of Stephen had stirred the synagogue and council. This act of Peter is the overturning of all the exclusiveness of Judaism in practice. It brings matters to a crisis.

In theory the followers of Christ had been by the Master's teaching and example gradually enlarging in their thoughts of the kingdom of God. Some few, like Stephen, had grasped the idea of the worldwide extension of gospel privileges to gentiles as well as Israelites. But this was all in doctrines merely and future fulfillment of prophecy. When the actual case came of breaking down the division walls, prejudice and long education made severe opposition. One less prominent and influential than Peter could scarce have stood against the tide of opposition. One less bold than he would never have dared to do the deed of opening the door to the gentiles.

The question was important as settling the point whether the followers of Jesus were to become merely another Jewish sect, bound under the laws and ceremonials of Judaism, or if Christianity was to expand into a world religion adapted to the needs of men in all ages and of all nationalities. Stephen prepares the church for its work by his unanswerable arguments and exposition of prophetic truth, and by his death. Peter practically begins the work, but it remains for St. Paul, for a greater than either one of these, by a lifelong devotion and heroic self sacrifice to accomplish the task of bringing the gentiles into the church.

The Outlook.

All signs point to an era near at hand of wonderful revival of righteousness. Substantial faith in the Christian Scriptures was never before as prevalent as now. The age of skepticism is well nigh passed. The spirit of controversy and division no longer dominates the church. Bible truth is known and believed and applied as in no previous time. Individual righteousness in heart and life is now looked upon as the essential characteristic of every true man. Still further, social righteousness is coming to be looked upon as indispensable to the well being of community. Sociology is the newest and greatest of the sciences. Men are waking to the fact that society, as well as the individual, must be saved. Society must be Christianized. This is the supreme duty of the hour. The work of the League is along these lines. Theory must be mastered and truth clearly apprehended must be followed by practical godliness and exhibition of brotherly love.

Work of the Church.

The church of Christ was designed to represent Him on earth and to minister to all the moral needs of men. She must send out preachers and teachers; she must organize and by sacraments, liturgies and all needed appliances preserve the form of godliness; she must build churches, schools and all institutions for carrying on the moral reform of the world. But she has not completed her work when all this is done, but must seek out in alleys and slums of the city, in palace and factory, in mine and forecastle, on farm and in counting room, in the home and in the place of work and recreation, all classes of men. The rich as well as the poor need the gospel. Like sunlight, her influence must permeate every nook of society with life giving power. She is set for the moral renovation of the race, and so, like the sea, must press up on every shore line of society and flow into every inlet with her tides of cleansing and healing.

Opening Doors.

It is but a few years since the great prayer of the church was that God would open the doors of heathenism for the gospel. Wondrously has that prayer been answered. At that time Japan, China, India, Africa, Mexico, a large part of South America and many other regions were closed to all efforts to evangelize the people. Now all doors stand wide open. Every mail coming from the orient contains facts which appeal to Christians to consider the needs of the world and plan for the conversion of the world.

ATTORNEYS

ADVENTURES IN ARCTIC ASIA.

Such is the title of the lecture to be given at the Opera House tomorrow evening by Geo. Kennan, the noted traveler. It will doubtless be one of the best entertainments in the Star course. Below is a synopsis of the lecture.

Departure from San Francisco. Fifty-seven days in the bay village of Kamchatkan village of Petropavlovsk. Kamchatkan scenery and flowers. The Russian Language, with a few illustrations. A horseback ride through the Kamchatkan peninsula. The first great storm of winter. Lost in the Sanranka mountains. Three days in the wilderness without food. Terrible with the wandering Koraks. Korak hospitality and domestic economy. A Korak wedding. Religious incantations of the Korak "shamans." The murder of the evil and sicks. Camp life in winter on the great Siberian steppes. Effects of intense cold. The Siberian "winter dress. Arrival at Anadyrsk. Improvising as American flag. Social life on the Arctic Circle. A Siberian dancing party, with illustrations of Siberian dance music. A midnight search for a lost party. Narrow escape from death. Sunset of a winter night. Loneliness and monotony of Arctic life. Methods of passing away the time. Winter amusements. Astronomical lectures to native audiences. An American saint in Siberia. Native opponents of American progress. The circulation of "American" newspapers in Arctic Asia. A magnificent display of the Arctic aurora. A disappointment of our enterprise, and return to America.

The first of George Kennan's course of lectures under the auspices of the Boston Press Club, was given last evening in Tremont Temple. Mr. Kennan's voice is of a pleasing quality, and apparently without effort he filled the large hall, every word being distinctly heard by those in the rear seats. The subject was 'Adventures in Arctic Asia.' The lecturer gave a remarkably interesting account of his first visit to Siberia as a member of the first exploring party of the Russo-American Telegraph Expedition. The summer beauty of Kamchatkan scenery was described in a charming way, and the customs of the people of that little-known country were explained. The horrors of a winter in that desolate land were vividly portrayed, and a graphic account given of a successful search for a lost party. Mr. Kennan's description of the aurora borealis was a wonderful bit of word painting, and at its close the audience burst into applause. The Russian songs given by Mr. Kennan caused much amusement; his humorous account of some incidents in his travels and of the intricacies of the Russian language created much laughter, which alternated with the intensity of interest in the other parts of the lecture.

MORTGAGE SALE.

ON the first day of September, A. D. 1892, James Boyd mortgaged to Joseph Russell all those certain tracts or parcels of land situate and being in the township of Franklin, in the county of Lenawee and state of Michigan, and described as follows, to-wit: The southwest quarter of the southeast quarter and the northeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section seven (7) of town five (5) south of range three (3) east, containing of both parcels eighty (80) acres of land more or less, to secure the payment of one thousand dollars, in ten equal annual instalments next ensuing the first day of September, 1892, with interest from the date thereof at six per cent per annum payable annually, which mortgage was, on the 7th day of September, A. D. 1892, recorded in the Register of Deeds' office for the county of Lenawee, Michigan, in Liber 91 of Mortgages, on page 79, &c. And whereas said mortgage contains a provision that should any default be made in the payment of said interest or any part thereof, or any default in payment of principal or any part thereof, on any day whereon the same is made payable as above expressed, and should the same remain unpaid and in arrear for the space of sixty days, then and from thenceforth, that is to say, after the lapse of said sixty days, so much of the aforesaid sum of one thousand dollars as from time to time shall remain unpaid, with all arrearages of interest thereon, shall, at the option of said party of the second part, his executors, administrators or assigns, become and be due and payable immediately thereafter, although the period above limited for the payment thereof may not then have expired.

Default having been made in the payment of the principal of said mortgage the undersigned hereby elects to declare and does hereby declare the whole amount due both principal and interest, amounting at the date of this notice to the sum of nine hundred, nine and 9-100 dollars, and no proceedings at law or in equity having been commenced for the recovery of said sum or any part thereof, notice, therefore is hereby given that, by virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage contained, and of the statutes of the state of Michigan in such case made and provided, for the purpose of realizing the moneys above mentioned and interest thereon to accrue, costs of this foreclosure and sale, including the attorney fee provided by law, I shall on the third day of February, A. D. 1896 at 9 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, at the front door of the court house in the city of Adrian, Lenawee county, Michigan, that being the building in which the circuit court for said county of Lenawee is holden, sell at public vendue to the highest bidder the lands and premises above described.

Dated November 7th, 1895.

JOSEPH RUSSELL,
Mortgagee.

CHARLES BURRIDGE, Att'y for Mortgagee.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss.

At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the probate office, in the City of Adrian, on Monday the 28th day of October, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five.

Present, Richard R. Robbins, Judge of Probate.

On reading and filing the petition duly verified of George Exelby, alleging, among other things, that he is a principal creditor of said deceased, and that more than thirty days have elapsed since the death of said Jay A. Santus and no one interested in said estate have applied for administration upon said estate, and praying that administration of said estate may be granted to Cornelius Exelby or some other suitable person.

It is Ordered, That Monday the 25th day of November next, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition and that the heirs at law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be holden at the Probate Office in the City of Adrian, and show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is Further Ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate, of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in THE TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

RICHARD R. ROBBINS, Judge of Probate.

Valuable Maps.

Messrs. Rand, McNally & Co., of Chicago, the famous map firm, have issued a wall map of this great State, which should be in every home, office and school-room.

This Map Illustrates the complete system of United States Land Survey and by a special process of Relief Line engraving presents all the details without confusion.

Each county is clearly shown by different colors and the name printed in large, clear type.

Each Railroad system is represented and named.

The location of every railroad station, post office and town is plainly designated and can be readily located by section lines which are clearly delineated, the township and range numbers are printed in the plainest possible manner.

Rivers, creeks, small lakes, and innumerable details are clearly and correctly located. Taken all in all it is a marvel of beauty.

Notwithstanding the great cost of production the price is as low as could be expected. The prices are $4.00 for the paper back wall map, or $5.00 for the cloth back, at which rate they are sent postpaid.

The same firm issues another map which is worth mentioning. It is 46 inches from top to bottom. One side shows the largest United States map ever printed on one sheet. The other side shows a similar map of the World. Either of these maps is sold for $5.00 when put up on cloth back, but this one map will be supplied for $1.50 postpaid.

We advise any of our readers who wants profitable work should write to this firm for agents' terms. Good canvassers earn from $15.00 to $35.00 per week. 5w

A VETERAN PROSTRATED BY SUNSTROKE.

It was Accompanied by Insomnia, Nervous Prostration and Heart Failure—It is the Talk of Troy, Lansingburgh and all the Grand Army Posts.

WHAT ACTION WILL THE RENSSELAER COUNTY MEDICAL SOCIETY TAKE?

His Friends, who Knew of His Sunstroke During the War, Now Interested—Hand Once Twisted by Rheumatism Relieved of Pain—The Soldier as Spry as Ever—How it was Done—Detailed Description of the Method Employed—General Interest in the Case.

From the Times, Troy, N. Y.

R. W. Edwards, 433 Fourth avenue, Lansingburgh, is a well known and respected resident of that village, a prominent officer of Post Lyon, G. A. R., of Colora, and a past aide-de-camp on the staff of the commander-in-chief and assistant inspector for Albany County.

When the reporter called upon him he was engaged in active work about his house, something which he has not been able to do with any freedom for years. He gave the following story, which is well worth perusal:

"I was wounded and sent to the hospital at Winchester during the war. They sent me together with a batch of wounded to Washington. Having no room in the box cars we were placed face up on the bottom of flat cars. The sun beat down upon our unprotected heads. We rode about one hundred miles in this fashion. When I reached Washington I was insensible and was unconscious for ten days while in the hospital. An abscess gathered in my ear and broke; it has been gathering and breaking ever since. Since I took Pink Pills the matter discharged has been very small in quantity and is steadily decreasing. The sharp, knife-like pains have almost left me entirely and my head feels clear as a bell, where before it continually felt as though it would burst. The sunstroke which befel me on that one hundred-mile ride brought on heart disease, nervous prostration and insomnia. I had that terrible sinking feeling at the heart and at times would faint dead away. I became fearfully nervous and any steady mental effort was absolutely impossible. I could not sleep at nights, and many a time have I got up out of bed and walked the floor with my body racked with pain unable to find relief. No one knows how I suffered. In addition to this six years ago rheumatism fastened upon me and I could not shake it off. I went to a doctor. I bought patent medicines; I tried nearly every remedy with no good effect. As a last resort I purchased a box of Pink Pills, and it helped me to such a degree that I procured another and still another, until up to the present time I have bought in all seven boxes. My rheumatism is gone, my heart failure, dyspepsia, and constipation are about gone, and my once shattered nervous system is now nearly sound. Look at those fingers," Mr. Edwards said, "do they look as if there was any rheumatism there?" He moved his fingers rapidly and freely and strode about the room like a young boy. "A year ago those fingers were gnarled at the joints and so stiff that I could not hold a pen. My knees would swell up and I could not straighten my leg out. My joints would squeak when I moved them. That is the living truth.

"When I came to think that I was going to be crippled with rheumatism, together with the rest of my ailments, I tell you life seemed not worth living. I used to drop a pencil, knife, spoon, or any article which I had in my hands, my crippled and nervous fingers refusing to retain their hold. I suffered from dejection. I cannot begin to tell you," said Mr. Edwards, as he drew a long breath, "what my feeling is at present. I think if you lifted ten years right off my life and left me young and vigorous at forty-seven I could feel no better. I was an old man and could only drag myself painfully about the house. Now I can walk out without any trouble. That is how I continued Mr. Edwards, "would be sufficient to give me cause for rejoicing, but when you come to consider that I am no longer what you might call nervous and that my heart is apparently nearly healthy and that I can sleep nights, you may realize why I may appear to speak in extravagant praise of Pink Pills.

"I know that if I had not taken that first box of Pink Pills that to-day I would have been one of the most wretched of men. There were years when I would not sleep more than an hour or two a day. Do you realize what that means? My nerves were like aspens, subject to the slightest shock. That was due to sunstroke. Those pills quiet my nerves, take that awful pressure from my head and at the same time enrich my blood. There seemed to be no circulation in my lower limbs a year ago, my legs being cold and clammy at times. Now the circulation there is as full and as brisk as in any other part of my body. I have regained color, such as I have not had in many years. Why, do you know, I used to be so light-headed and dizzy from my nervous disorder that I frequently fell while crossing the floor of the house. I could not walk a straight line upon a sidewalk, and I was afraid that people that think me intoxicated. I do not fall any more and I can walk straight. That's another thing I owe to Pink Pills. Every spring I fall ill was in very poor health. Spring coming on and I never felt better in my life. I am looking forward to a long season of work.

"The sores in my ear have been greatly improved. I think that results from my generally improved physical condition.

"I cannot work overhead for years on account of dizziness, but to-day I am all right. Do you think I am too loud in my praise of Pink Pills? If they had done for you what they have accomplished for me you would have been as enthusiastic as I have been and."

The foregoing is but one of many wonderful cures that have been credited to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Diseases which before have been supposed to be incurable, such as locomotor ataxia and paralysis succumb to this wonderful medicine as readily as the most trifling ailments. In many cases the rapid cures have been investigated by leading newspapers and verified in every possible manner and in no case has the least chance of fraud been discovered. Those has spread to all parts of civilization there is hardly a country in this or abroad where they cannot be found.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain in a condensed form the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effects of la grippe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions, all forms of weakness either in male or female. Pink Pills are sold by dealers, or will be sent post paid on receipt of price, (50 cents a box, six boxes $2.50) they are never sold in bulk or by the 100) by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

OUR WHEELMEN ABROAD.

A Visit to the Eternal City, and Then Homeward Bound.

The eternal city was 50 miles away when I closed my last letter. I did not tell, did I? how we went swimming in the Mediterranean. We did at 10 o'clock one moonlight night when we rode so near the sea that the sirens out on their reef, and the mermaids on the imaginary dolphins back, and the murmuring, lapping waves on the hungry beach all allured us and we left our wheels and crawled down the black rocks to the bed of dry seaweed which the tide had left and the sun had dried. But "sharks!" you exclaim. Oh, yes, but we had forgotton about them and they weren't at home. It was a glorious swim.

We reached Civita Vecchia that night and after getting into the slums of the city and being fairly mobbed by the roughest element in Italy we found a respectable lodging and sleep. Early in the morning we started on to make Rome that morning. The famous old Aurelian Way was our road, and at first in the dawning hour with the sea by our side, and the black rocks with slimy seaweed, now a charming villa and again an old ruin, we thought our woes were over but soon we left the sea, rocks and villas and entered upon the barren Roman campagna. The dust was terrible, the heat "tirriblissimi" and hills unintermitten. The land near Rome waves into huge billows and they break at last in the seven historic hills. Hill after hill we toiled up, coasted for a brief moment and then struggled up again. Sisyphus and the stone he rolled up hill, which always rolled down again, isn't a parallel to the actual fact of pushing a bicycle up the hills in the infernal plains about Rome. Sweat rolled from us until our veins seemed as dry as the dust about us. There was no water to be had. No houses, no towns, no ruins (even they have vanished from that forlorn region) no people; all we could see on the horizon was St. Peter's dome and that seemed a mirage so long we were in reaching it. The man who wrote poetry about this campagna deserves the lowest round in Dante's purgatory. We wished more than once that the geese had not saved Rome. We had for the first time implicit faith in the Romulus and Remus and the wolf story. Nothing but a she wolf would abide in such desolateness and she would take care of the boys just for sociability. These are the thoughts we indulged in before seeing the city but the last hill was climbed and the Niobe of nations was before us. We shouted for joy and thrilled with triumph. We felt as great, as proud, and as exalted as ever Caesar returning from his victories. The marble wilderness was ours; belonged to our eyes at least.

Battle, flood, time and fire have worked upon the city's wonders; so too the Vandal and the Christian; but where they have obliterated a work of art, they have left history, romance and legend until memory and imagination are overwhelmed by the demands upon them. But I should be writing in blank verse if I continued this strain long. You know what we saw in Rome. One without imagination would see little more than a quasry in the Forum, three huge old water tanks in the Pantheon and Coleseum and Mausoleum of Hadrian, and an old church with about half a mile of useless colums in a circle around the front dooryard, would adequately describe St. Peters for him. Well we had imagination and we grew poetic, bombastic and eloquent at the proper times. We got ambitious and ascended St. Peter's dome and you arn't very far from the owners Golden Gate when you are at the top. The guidebook makes you chase around after a lot of fountains, and old remains of walls. Then we did the Sistine chapel, a room like a huge coffin box and fully as dark and gruesome, but with some of the world's rarest gems painted upon the walls. Likewise the Vatican and its sculpture and painting.

Our hotel in Rome, when the name and situation are translated, was the "Hotel of the Sun," in the plaza of Paradise. Now when we were driven out of Paradise we went to Naples, and that is the devil's own city. After getting our bikes on board of the "Werra," the boat on which we were to retun to America, we spent a day in Naples. We had made a duty deposit on our wheels when we etered Italy and were to get it back when we should leave. Such a time as we had getting that money. Every custom house officer told us to go to somebody else, and at last I was ordered to get the signiture of an officer who was somewhere in the bay of Naples. There were only 5,000 boats and ships there. I got the services of an oarsman who knew the officer and we started upon our quest. He rowed around every individual boat in Naples' bay but we did not find the officer. Then I became desperate and told a head officer at the custom house that it was an outrage to daily so about a plain matter and I made some vague threats about the U. S. counsul. Thereupon he signed my paper, which he might have done three hours before, and I received my money. Then we began sight-seeing. In Naples that consists chiefly in watching the people. Boys as old as twelve roll in the dirt, naked, in the street. Older boys have a rag which passes over the shoulder and holds up a pair of trousers which have neither definite division for the legs or the completeness of a skirt. In Naples your business is everybody's business. If you turn a corner someone runs and grasps your shoulder and with frantic gesticulations informs you that that isn't the way. "The way to what?" you ask. "Why where you are going." "But I am going anywhere," you reply. "Well, that isn't the way anyhow." In the early morning on the following day we saw milkmen going around with cans and goats and milking them before the doors of customers. Gladly we escaped the dirt, vice and annoyance of Naples and boarded the tender which soon conveyed us to the "Werra."

From the deck as the boat left the bay we took a last look at Vesuivius smoking tranquilly in the distance. passed the isle of Capri and soon, except the faint blue of the mountainous coast, there was nothing but that marvelous scintillating blue of the Mediterranean all about us. Night came and passed and with the dawn we began to see the faint line of that beautiful Riviera, the coast which flanks Genoa east and west. Soon we were entering the bay amid a forest of masts and a wilderness of cranes and through the web of cordage we could see Genoa with its white buildings and dirt. It is built upon a mountain-side and from the sea looks like half of a great amphitheatre. There we lay three days, and with the ship as our stronghold we, in company with two other American boys, made sallies up into Genoa where we saw Columbus' monument and innumerable palaces and made life a burden for backmen, whom we never intended to patronize, but with whom we haggled and bartered then decided not to indulge, to their disgust. Then the hour of departure, and throngs of fat and greasy Genoese came to the wharf to see their friends in the steerage sail. We got out to sea at mid-day and that evening, could you endure the discription of just one more sunset? As the sun disappeared the whole sea from the horizon to the vessel's side had a robe of gold. Above this was a red stained cloud. Then almost magically the golden robe was withdrawn and soon was as enchantingly spread. This in time seemed torn into strips and between the lines of gold were lines of cerulean blue. Finally the wind seemed to blow away the film and that soft Mediterranean blue lay like a richly brocaded silk. In the sky there was a gold rayed fan upon which colors came and went as if vibrations of the pendulum of beauty. There it wasn't so bad; or did you skip it?

We passed the Balearic Islands with their rocky, seamed and convoluted cliffs. The shores look as crude as if just from the Creator's hand. Then the coast of Spain, a stern and rocky succession of headland, presenting a dark, rude and forbodding shore, and behind were snow capped mountains. Africa too was sighted at last; a long low shore rising just opposite Gibralter to a mountain peak. Gibralter itself is a stupendous rock which we approached from the rear and then rounded to where we saw the long stone seawall and the white and yellow houses above it, on above, burned vegetations and at the summit the broken ledge of the lofty ridge. The boat stopped five or six hours there and then set sail for America.

We began to make acquaintances and worried out the creeping hours studying them. There was the lady who wanted a "price list of the passengers" and whose sympathy went out to the steward in the following beautiful phrase "I should think the waiters would get tired a bringin of grubs to the womins." Then the baby faced innocent man who isn't helpless at all, but he insists that he is. He had crossed a dozen times and yet couldn't sleep nights for fear the boat was going down. He wondered why the motion of the screw wasn't utilized for making ice cream or butter. "All it does now is to make this boat go," he added naively. A great cause of the sea was the water in it; so he wisely concluded. This fellow was always "surprised" and "dead with fright" at every new event on board. He called all the men waiters "Marys" and some "queer Marys." He had lived everywhere four years, and when we passed among the Azores he described his dwelling in each village that we sighted on the island shores. Then there was the ship's band which tortured us from early morn till dewy eve. They did not mind whether they were in time as long as they made noise enough. I must tell how there were four women and two parrots in one state room, and then set my friend and myself safely on land, and thank you for watching our travels with kindly interest, and close. C. H. VANTYNE.

THE STATE PUBLIC SCHOOL.

How Michigan Cares for Her Dependent and Neglected Children.

The State Public School, for the care of the dependent, neglected and ill-treated children of Michigan, is an institution of which the people of Michigan may well be proud. It has solved the financial problem of taking care of these children, and as a protective measure against pauperism, vice and crime, its value to the public is immeasurable. Before its foundation there was no place for the children thrown upon public charge, except the county houses, where they were necessarily under the debasing influence of pauperism and vice. At a time in their lives when impressions received are most lasting, they were thrown among those whose influence is almost uniformly bad, and their young lives were thus blighted.

The establishment of the State Public School marked an epoch in the child life of Michigan. The state assumes the right to the guardianship of those children who are dependent, neglected or ill-treated, and cares for them by furnishing them a temporary home at the school where, by means of perfect physical comfort and healthful moral training, they are led to forget their old life and become prepared to take their places with their more fortunate fellows in the families and public schools throughout the state. Before admission to the school they have known little of comfort and happiness. Their residence there, short though it usually is, gives them a new idea of life and they have no desire to return to the old manner of living. The price of admission is dependence or ill-treatment, and the qualifications are that they shall be between one and twelve years of age and sound mentally and physically. They are not tainted with crime.

Since the opening of the institution in 1874, nearly 3,500 children have been received and cared for. There are now in the institution about 200, and over 1,300 are with good families throughout the state and under the supervision of the school. The others have passed out from under the school's control. Those with families are placed on contracts which provide for their proper care and education.

Is it not probable that there are many in this vicinity who would gladly take one or more of these children into their homes and make them their own?

The best selections are boys from 4 to 8 years of age, and it is believed that the homes would be blessed fully as much as the children by taking the children into them.

Any information desired may be had by addressing A. J. Murray, Superintendent, Coldwater, Mich., or Joseph R. Bennett, agent for Lenawee county, Adrian, Mich.

Thanksgiving Proclamation.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, EXECUTIVE OFFICE.

To the People of the State of Michigan, Greeting:

In pursuance of a time-honored custom, I do hereby appoint Thursday, November 28th, as a day of general thanksgiving. The people of this state are requested on this day to abstain from the ordinary avocations of life and devote the day to exercises and recreation appropriate to the occasion.

It is a good time to forgive offenses, to gather the family together, to forget or suspend differences of opinion in relation to politics, religion and beliefs, to remember the needy, to do kind deeds and return thanks for blessings enjoyed.

Given under my hand, etc.

JOHN T. RICH.

By the Governor,
WASHINGTON GARDNER,
Secretary of State.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to express our sincere thanks to the kind neighbors and friends who assisted in our recent bereavement.

GUMBO'S GRAB BAG.

RULES OF WHIST.

If you the modern game of whist would know,
From this great principle its precepts flow:
Treat your own hand as to your partner's joined.
And play, not one alone, but both combined.
Your first lead make your partner understand
What is the chief component of your hand;
And hence there is necessity the strongest
That your first lead be from your suit that's longest.
In this with ace and king, lead king then ace;
With king and queen, king also has; first place;
With ace, queen, knave, lead ace and then the queen;
With ace, four small ones, ace should first be seen.
With queen, knave, ten, you let the queen precede;
In other cases, you the lowest lead.
Ere you return your friend's your own suit play
But trumps you must return without delay.
When you return your partner's lead, take pains
To lead him back the best your hand contains,
If you receive not more than three at first:
If you had more, you may return the worst.
But if you hold the master card, you're bound
In most cases to play it second round.
Whene'er you want a lead, 'tis seldom wrong
To lead up to the weak or through the strong.
If second hand, your lowest should be played,
Unless you mean "trump signal" to be made;
Or if you've king or queen, or ace and king,
Then one of these will be the proper thing.
Mind well the rules for trumps, you'll often need them:
When you hold five 'tis always right to lead them;
Or if the lead won't come in time to you,
Then signal to your partner so to do.
Watch for your partner's trump request,
To which, with less than four, play out your best.
To lead through honors turned up is bad play,
Unless you want the trump suit cleared away,
When second hand a doubtful trick you see,
Don't trump it if you have more trumps than three:
But having three or less trump fearlessly.
When weak in trumps yourself, don't force your friend:
But always force the adverse strong trump hand.
For sequences, stern custom has decreed,
The lowest you must play if you don't lead.
When you discard, weak suits you ought to choose,
For strong ones are too valuable to lose.

SHE WAS IN TRAINING.

"What's the matter with Mabel?" asked the girl in blue. "I never see her in society any more."

"I think she has gone into training," replied the girl in pink.

"Into training!" exclaimed the girl in blue.

"Yes. I understand young Mr. Tillotton has jilted her and she is dieting in order to show the ravages of blighted affection when the time comes to sue him for breach of promise or something of that sort. Mabel is a very thoughtful and painstaking girl."—Chicago Post.

DANGEROUS GROUND.

Hicks—"What made you run out of that jewelry store the other day when the policeman came in?"

Wicks—"Why, there was any quanlity of wedding and engagement rings there."

Hicks—"What of that?"

Wicks—"What of that! Don't you know they can arrest a fellow for being present where there are gambling implements?"—Boston Transcript.

The doctor is a gentleman of elegant presence and ministerial bearing and is often mistaken for a clergyman. A good story was related of him some time ago by the Chicago News. Being in Chicago one day the doctor stepped into a hat store to make a purchase and having selected a shining galgatha, asked the price. "Seven dollars," answered the clerk. The doctor placed his hand on the clerk's shoulder and observed solemnly, "My friend, that's a little high." "You are a clergyman, are you not?" asked the clerk. The doctor nodded ministerially. "Then I can let you have it for six dollars." The doctor hesitated. "It is rather shiny for my plain people." "O, no; just the thing," chirped the clerk. "Well," resumed the doctor, as he "tawed" over the cash, "I'll take it, and if my congregation don't like it they can go to ——."

The Historic Route.

The Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis R'y, the model railroad of the South in equipment, roadway and service, is also the greatest in historical interest, more than fifty famous battlefields and five national cemeteries being located on the various lines of this system. This is the preferred route to Atlanta for the Cotton States and International Exposition, open from September 18, to December 31, 1895, for which very low excursion rates have been made. Through sleeping car service from St. Louis to Atlanta via Evansville, Nashville and Chattanooga. This is the route of the famous Dixie Flyer through sleeping car line which runs the year round between Nashville and Jacksonville, Fla. For further information, address Briard F. Irve Hause has moved from the Priest house to Mrs. Wastell's house on West Chicago street.

Rev. W. R. Blachford will hold Thanksgiving services at this place next Thursday morning.

Mrs. Martha Camburn, of Macon, visited her daughter Mrs. Will Niblack, the first of the week.

George R. Brown's condition still continues very serious and his friends are very anxious about him.

The show given by the Dan Rice Specialty Co. was very rocky, we learn by those who were present.

Fred Bostedor and family of Eaton Rapids are making their relatives and friends of this vicinity a visit.

Tom McGuire left for Toledo Saturday, where he has secured a position. His friends wish him success.

Henry Jacobs made a business trip to Toledo the first of the week and made his friends a little visit as well.

Rev. P. J. Ternes, of St. Josephs church Adrian will exchange pulpits with Rev. Frederic Heidenreich next Sunday.

The Jubilee Singers were greeted by a very large and appreciative audience Tuesday evening, and they gave a fine entertainment.

Geo. A. Kies left Monday night for a business trip through the northern part of the state. He expects to be gone about three weeks.

Mrs. Fanny Huntoon has taken the position with the Clinton Provision Co. made vacant by the departure of Minnie Humphrey to Toledo.

E. L. Clapp's team indulged in another run away Tuesday noon. They started from the Clinton Plow Company's plant. But little damage was done.

Walt Osborn of Tecumseh, came up Saturday to see his father-in-law, Geo. R. Brown, since which time he has been very ill from heart trouble.

"Chris" believes in having a cage before getting a bird, consequently has the Fenn house on East Chicago street very prettily and completely furnished.

Miss Anna Kirchgessner is now clerking for Ed. at Tecumseh. She went down last week to take the place of Mont Rowland who has gone to Chicago.

Keep in remembrance the Episcopal fair at Town Hall December 12th. You will be sure to find something not only useful but elegant for Christmas presents.

Miss Mary Murphy visited her sister, Mrs. Fanny Wilder, at Adrian over Sunday. She attended the confirmation and other services at the Catholic churches.

James Keboe, daughter Alice and Tessie Sullivan spent last Sunday at Adrian. Miss Alice was one of those confirmed by Fishop Foley at St. Mary's Catholic church.

VanTuyle Brothers do not confine their business entirely to their home community, but are branching out over a large territory. They shipped a car of hogs from Grass Lake Saturday.

The game of foot-ball Saturday resulted in a decided victory for Tecumseh, they scoring three touch-downs, making the score 12 to 0. It was a very pretty game notwithstanding the unexpected result.

Henry Lancaster had the misfortune to lose a fine Banker mare. She was taken sick Sunday while driving to Ogden, they finally got her home, but all efforts to relieve her were unavailing and she died Monday.

The funeral of Conrad Berg, who died of consumption at his home east of town Friday, was held at the residence Sunday morning at 7:30, Rev. D. H. Ramsdell officiating. The remains were taken to Ogden for interment.

Monday was the birthday of Mrs. James B. Wells and the event was duly celebrated by an elegant family dinner at her cosy home on Church street. None but relatives were present save Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Smith. It also being Mrs. Smith's birthday the two being the same age. It was a very pleasant occasion.

Miss Minnie Humphrey left yesterday for Toledo, where she will take the position of book-keeper for Shurtz Brothers, who have an extensive market on St. Clair street. Minnie will be greatly missed, not only by her relatives and the members of St. Dominic's church, where she has not only been organist and leader of the music, but a great worker in all departments of church work, but by the entire community, among whom she is a general favorite. The best wishes of all accompany her to her new field of labor and it is hoped the change will be to her benefit every way.

Miss Eva VanTuyle, who accompanied Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Woodward when they moved to Hudson some weeks ago, returned home Friday last. She is well pleased with the city and expects to return after a visit with home friends.

Tuesday morning at an early hour, Rev. T. H. Warner at his residence, pronounced the all important words which united in marriage two of our most popular young people, George Jacobs and Cora Ward. After the wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's parents, they left on the morning train for Detroit and other points. It is expected they will reside at Plymouth, Mich., where George will engage in the bakery business. While we regret to lose them from our community, they have the best wishes of one and all and the people of Plymouth are to be congratulated for their coming among them to reside.

George R. Brown feeling that, on account of advanced age and feeble condition, he wished to be relieved from business cares, recently disposed of his real estate among his children. His division was most satisfactory and equitable. Thomas receives the homestead farm; Alexander, that part of the VanDeMark farm lying west of the road; Horace, the land lying on the east side of the road, with sufficient means to erect a house and barn, and Mrs. M. R. King receives the residence and lots in town. This transaction is in keeping with Mr. B.'s life-long custom of having his affairs in shape for any emergency.

Sunday morning about church time, Jackson street was the scene of great excitement. Mrs. Chris Saley and daughter Martha were coming to church, as was also Mrs. Al VanGeison and two children. When near the residence of Mrs. House, Mrs. VanGeison turned out to go by Mrs. Saley, but her calculations were faulty, in some way one thill struck the top of the Saley carriage penetrating it and overturning the carriage, throwing the occupants violently to the ground. Mrs. VanGeison's horse became frightened, wheeled around and ran towards home. When reaching Charles Strum's corner, the horse turned west and taking to the south side of the street struck a tree and overturned the carriage. Neither Mrs. VanGeison or children were injured, but the others were not so fortunate. Mrs. Saley was found to be unconscious and it was feared she was injured internally, and Miss Martha received an ugly cut over the eye. Dr. White attended to the sufferers and shortly after they were removed to their home. Aside from the top no damage was done to the Saley carriage, but VanGeison's was badly wrecked. It was fortunate that the result was not more serious.

ONSTED ODDS.

Very nice weather for fall.

Fred Mashie has gone to Minnesota.

J. F. Brooks' new house is nearly ready for occupancy.

The Discovery Saved His Life.

Mr. G. Caillouette, Druggist, Beaversville, Ill., says: "To Dr. King's New Discovery I owe my life. Was taken with La Grippe and tried all the physicians for miles about, but of no avail and was given up and told I could not live. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in my store I sent for a bottle and began its use and from the first dose began to get better, and after using three bottles was up and about again. It is worth its weight in gold. We won't keep store or house without it." Get a free trial at Orr & Temple's drug store. 2

CROSS-EXAMINATION

Could Not Weaken Such Testimony As This.

(From the Kalamazoo Telegraph.)

The following statement is one of great interest to many a citizen of Kalamazoo and a man as well known as Mr. Wallace should carry more than ordinary weight with our readers. Here it is as taken down by our representative:

"My name is John A. Wallace. I am a member of the firm of J. A. Wallace & Co., doing business as tinners, etc., at 106 Eleanor Street, Kalamazoo, in which city I also reside. For the past nine or ten months I have been having attacks of kidney complaint, the pain in my back over my hips was very severe at times; my urinary system was also in a bad state of derangement, sometimes the urine was scanty and then again the amount would be excessive, and a difficulty of passage always existed. I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills at a time when I felt that I was going to be sick, but their use warded off an attack, and I am now feeling very much better; the urinary organism has regained a normal condition, and the terrific pain in my back is much reduced in severity, while it is now fast going away altogether. I am continuing the use of Doan's Kidney Pills, with positive feeling that they will effect on me a permanent and speedy cure. I have unbounded confidence in Doan's Kidney Pills as a remedy for all kidney ailments; have good reason to be, as they have done so much for me."

Can you ask any more than this? Doan's Kidney Pills are relieving more backs of the burdens they have been forced to bear through the kidneys than all other means devised, and, better still, they are doing this right here in Michigan. Ask any one who has ever taken them and see what they will say.

MORTGAGE SALE.

ON the first day of September, A. D. 1892, James Boyd mortgaged to Joseph Russell all those certain tracts or parcels of land situate and being in the township of Franklin, in the county of Lenawee and state of Michigan, and described as follows, to wit: The southwest quarter of the southeast quarter and the northeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section seven (7) of town five (5) south of range three (3) east, containing of both parcels eighty (80) acres of land more or less, to secure the payment of one thousand dollars, in ten equal annual instalments next ensuing the first day of September, 1893, with interest from the date thereof at six per cent per annum payable annually, which mortgage was, on the 9th day of September, A. D. 1892, recorded in the Register of Deeds' office for the county of Lenawee, Michigan, in Liber 91 of Mortgages, on page 731, &c. And whereas said mortgage contains a provision that should any default be made in the payment of said interest or any part thereof, or any instalment of principal or any part thereof, on any day whereon the same is made payable as above expressed, and should the same remain unpaid and in arrear for the space of sixty days, then and from thenceforth, that is to say, after the lapse of said sixty days, so much of the aforesaid sum of one thousand dollars as remains unpaid, with all arrearages of interest thereon, shall, at the option of said party of the second part, his executors, administrators or assigns, become and be due and payable immediately thereafter, although the period above limited for the payment thereof may not then have expired.

Default having been made in the payment of the principal of said mortgage, the undersigned hereby elects to declare and does hereby declare the whole amount due both principal and interest, amounting at the date of this notice to the sum of nine hundred, nine and 9-100 dollars, and no proceedings at law or in equity having been commenced for the recovery of said sum or any part thereof, notice, therefore, is hereby given that, by virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage contained, and of the statutes of the state of Michigan in such case made and provided, for the purpose of realizing the moneys above mentioned and interest thereon to accrue, costs of this foreclosure and sale, including the attorney fee provided by law, I shall, on the third day of February, A. D. 1896 at 9 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, at the front door of the court house in the city of Adrian, Lenawee county, Michigan, (that being the building in which the circuit court for said county of Lenawee is holden) sell at public vendue to the highest bidder the lands and premises above described.

Generous Offer—$200 In Gold Given.

R. H. Woodward Company, Baltimore Md., are making a very generous offer of $200.00 to anyone who will sell within three months 200 copies of "Talks to Chidren about Jesus." This is one of the most popular books of recent years. Agents often sell from 10 to 15 copies a day. It contains a great many beautiful illustrations, and is sold at a remarkably low price. They give credit and pay freight and send complete canvassing outfit for 35 cents. It is just the book to be sold for the holidays. They also offer an Estey Organ, retail price $270, to anyone who will sell 110 books in three months.

It is an excellent opportunity for a church or society to secure one of these organs. A $100 bicycle to be given for selling 80 copies in two months, or a gold watch for selling 60 copies in one month. This premium is in addition to the regular commission. They have also published a new book, Gems of Religious Thought, by Talmage, which is having a large sale. Same terms and premiums as on Talks to Children about Jesus. Agents who do not get any of the premiums are given a liberal commission. They also make a specialty of other books and Bibles for Xmas holidays. Write them immediately. 3w

Electric Power for November.

Electric Power for November is devoted principally to the electric railway. Those readers who are not interested in this branch of engineering will, of course, not be disappointed, for there are such articles as Mr. Sachs on the Electrical Equipments of Modern Office Buildings; Mr. Thompson's paper on the Principles of Invention; Mr. Wiener's serial on Electrical Measuring Instruments is continued, and the Literary Review is quite extensive. Nevertheless, it is a railway number. Prof. Bemis and Mr. Foster each presented a paper on Municipal Ownership of Street Railways, and Mr. Osterberg adds an editorial on the subject. The Metropolitan Elevated Road of Chicago has been quite fully described, but there are still some points of interest left, which Mr. Hazleton has pointed out in an able manner. Those interested in the historical progress of the science of electricity will find a review of the electric locomotive, with which they will certainly be pleased.

Table Talk.

Table Talk is well to the front as a Thanksgiving magazine, touching that subject many times in various ways between its covers. The leading article is "Thanksgiving Day," by Mrs. Burton Kingsland, including a typical dinner menu,—also a fin-de-siecle one. Other menus are given elsewhere, as well as a recipe for thanksgiving Plum Pudding. The Housekeeper's Inquiry Department is full of excellent recipes, old and new, just as needed by the subscribers, and besides you will find the Kindergarten for mothers ably upheld in 'The Priestly Office,' by Miss Nora A. Smith: the 'Food in Bright's Disease' by Dr. H. H. Hawxhurst; how 'Miss Dorothy entertains,' by Mrs. M. C. Myer; much about 'The Dignity and Beauty of the Household Arts,' by Lucy C. Andrews, the well-known lecturer on Cookery; how to give a pretty 'Bicycle Luncheon,' as well as a menu for every meal, and much else of equal value our limited space does not allow us to mention. Our readers, however, are invited to send for a sample copy to the Table Talk Publishing Company of Philadelphia.

HEART DISEASE, like many other ailments when they have taken hold of the system, never gets better of its own accord, but Constantly grows worse. There are thousands who know they have a defective heart, but will not admit the fact. They don't want their friends to worry, and Don't know what to take for it, as they have been told time and again that heart disease was incurable. Such was the case of Mr. Silas Farley of Dyesville, Ohio who writes June 19, 1894, as follows:

"I had heart disease for 23 years, my heart hurting me almost continually. The first 15 years I doctored all the time, trying several physicians and remedies, until my last doctor told me it was only a question of time as I could not be cured. I gradually grew worse, very weak, and completely discouraged, until I lived, propped half up in bed, because I couldn't lie down nor sit up. Thinking my time had come I told my family what I wanted done when I was gone. But on the first day of March on the recommendation of Mrs. Fannie Jones, of Anderson, Ind., I commenced taking Dr. Miles' New Cure for the Heart and wonderful to tell, in ten days I was working at light work and on March 19 commenced framing a barn, which is heavy work, and I hav'nt lost a day since. I am 56 years old, 6 ft. 4½ inches and weigh 250lbs. I believe I am fully cured, and I am now only anxious that everyone shall know of your wonderful remedies."

Dyesville, Ohio. SILAS FARLEY.

Michigan Press Association Bound for the Cotton States Exposition at Atlanta.

About the first of November the Buckeye Press Association planned for their annual meeting at Cincinnati to be followed by a trip to Atlanta. They extended an invitation to the members of the Michigan Press Association to accompany them, which was very generally accepted, and a right royal trip it proved to be.

Having decided to take advantage of this opportunity to visit the Cotton States Exposition, which we have had in contemplation ever since it opened, we left old Tecumseh on Monday afternoon, the 11th, over the Lake Shore, bound to Toledo taking supper at the Burnett House. When business calls us to Toledo, even for one day, we generally make this hotel our headquarters. It is centrally located and is well managed. It is a favorite resort for drummers, and they generally keep track of the best hotels. After making two or three business calls we left about midnight over the C., H. & D. for Cincinnati.

An all night's ride brought us to the Queen City about 7 a. m. and we proceeded directly to the Burnet House, where the Ohio bretheren were to hold their meeting. The Cincinnati Burnet differs from its Toledo namesake in one respect—the former is spelled with one "t" and the latter with two. But they are both well kept houses. Here we remained twenty-four hours, until Wednesday morning, and we enjoyed ourselves very much. The Burnet is the best hotel in the Queen City, without an exception, and every pains possible was taken to promote the pleasure of their guests. At the breakfast table we met Fred Blosser, of Manchester, who came down the day before, and on Wednesday morning we met A. J. Kempton, of the Addison Courier, who was accompanied by his sister. Most of the Michigan men arrived Tuesday morning, although they came stringing along all day, and when we left Cincinnati on Wednesday morning the party numbered altogether about three hundred. The forenoon of Tuesday was devoted to business matters, securing our transportation and getting our sections allotted in the sleepers, as the party made the trip from there to Atlanta in a special train of Pullman coaches.

After dinner on Tuesday the Enquirer and a citizens committee took the party in charge and proceeded to thrust upon us a big dose of Buckeye hospitality. Joseph M. Bossong, of the Enquirer staff, was chairman of the committe—"Uncle Joe" is the name he generally wears round—and he proved himself fully equal to the occasion. The following extract from the Enquirer of the following morning gives a very apt recital of the doings of that memorable afternoon:

The newspaper men were taken in hand by the Enquirer after dinner, and from that time until after midnight were the guests of this paper. A few minutes after 1 o'clock Weber's great military band, in full uniform, started the ball of pleasure rolling in the corridor of the Burnet House with the now celebrated "Enquirer March," and Louis W. Brand, the talented composer, was one of the players, who were under the direction of John Weber himself. The playing of the band was one of the features of the occasion, and it was complimented in the highest terms. A better band, for the number engaged yesterday, could not be put together in this country.

The crowd of visitors marched behind the band to the Chamber of Commerce, and were welcomed on Change by Vice President William McCallister.

His Honor Mayor Caldwell, who is always to the front for the good of the Queen City, made a happy speech of welcome to the Buckeye Press. He was glad they were here, and the freedom of the city was offered to them in an eloquent and enthusiastic way that received loud applause. Mr. E. A. Meigs, editor of the Detroit Saturday Night, the orator of the party, responded. He told briefly and forcibly the influence of the country press upon all classes of trade, and he paid a kind compliment to the Enquirer, proclaiming it the best newspaper in the United States.

Another Michigander, Mr. T. W. Crissey, of Midland, President of the Board of Control for the Michigan School for the Blind, was the last speaker, and he displayed still more the oratorical ability of the members of the association. From the Chamber of Commerce the Enquirer took its guests to the Cliffe engine house, where Chief Archibald personally superintended an exhibition of rapid hitching, which astonished and excited the admiration of the party. The popular Chief was exceedingly kind and accommodating, and wanted to give an exhibition of ladder raising, but on account of lack of time his invitation was reluctantly declined. Everybody in the crowd was in ecstacies over the City Hall. They had never seen anything like it, and said so. Superintendent Lillard, Mayor Caldwell and Chief Deitsch were unremitting in their attentions to the rural newspaper people, and did their full share to leave a good impression on the minds of their callers.

The visitors, numbering nearly 300, went to the Zoo by the Clifton avenue and McMillan street, the Vine street cable and the Mt. Auburn electric roads. They thoroughly appreciated the generosity of President Kilgour, of the Cincinnati Street Railway Company, and Receiver Brent Arnold, of the Mt. Auburn Inclined Plane Road, in placing their lines at their disposal without cost. The lunch at the Zoo, with the compliments of the Enquirer, was served at 4:45 o'clock, and while the discussion of the substantials liberally provided by Caterer Smith was in progress Weber's Band played some delightful selections on the balcony. There was a liberal supply of the famous Moerlein export beer, and it was drank and praised by every one. With their invariable courtesy the Christian Moerlein Brewing Company contributed more than their share to the enjoyment of the feasters. Mr. Goetz, the Vice President of the company, insisting on supplying the finest cigars in addition to the beer.

In the evening the guests had invitations to attend either Robinson's Opera House or the People's Theatre, most of whom took advantage of one or the other, and at the close of these performances the gentlemen of the party, with quite a number of ladies, visited the Enquirer building on Vine street and saw the typesetting machines and presses work. Those who took in this part of the program got back to the Burnet about 2 o'clock in the morning.

Wednesday morning all was hustle and hubub for about two hours, while the guests were getting breakfast and departing for the train. At 9 a. m. our train, composed wholly of Pullman sleepers, left the Louisville & Nashville depot and was soon over the Ohio river, speeding on its way toward Louisville. The country is quite rough along the south bank of the Ohio, until within twenty miles of Louisville, when we struck a beautiful level section dotted with elegant buildings and large plantations. We reached Louisville at 1 o'clock, where we enjoyed a bountiful dinner, and arrived at Nashville at eight in the evening, where we made a halt of one hour for supper. The balance of the trip was an all-night ride. At 7 o'clock Thursday morning the train pulled into the grand Union Depot at Atlanta. About two hours were consumed in getting to our headquarters, obtaining breakfast, and procuring our admission tickets, and then we were taking in the Fair. The two associations stopped in a body at the Hotel Derwent, only two blocks from the Exposition grounds. We found it a good place to stop and a very convenient one, as it didn't take half the time to travel back and forth down town.

Some of our experience at the Fair will be given next week.

In spite of the drizzling rain a fair crowd turned out to see the excellent game put up by both teams, which resulted in a victory for T. H. S. by a score of 12 to 0. In the first half a touch-down was made in 19 minutes, which was followed three minutes later by another one making the score 8 to 0, Smith carrying the ball from the 3rd lines and making a fine run. Clinton being strengthened in the second half by Taylor, ex-centre-rush of Albion college, a stronger game was played, Anderson making the first and only touch down of this half in 19 minutes. At the call time, the ball was in Tecumseh's possession, 1yd from Clinton's goal. The features of the game were Taylor's strong playing for Clinton, Smith's and Anderson's long runs and Tansley's fine tackling for Tecumseh. Referee, Huntington; Umpire, Bidwell; Lineman, Jones; Time two thirty-minute halves. Score: T. H. S. 12; C. H. S.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Mattison celebrated their fifteenth marriage anniversary on Sunday, Nov. 17th, 1895, at their pleasant home north of the village.

It is rumored that a change of time will occur on the Lake Shore Sunday. The probable change will effect the noon train which will likely pass through here considerably earlier than now.

LaMont Rowland left for Chicago last Friday afternoon where he will be in the employment of S. P. Hosmer & Sons. LaMont has a host of friends here who wish him every success in the great metropolis.

Dr. E. Hause is again in the field with a new book. This time it is Rev. Frances E. Clerk's "Our Journey Around the World," which comes well recommended. A full account of the work appears in another column.

Engineer Thomas M. Thompson, who ran the boilers in the Detroit Journal building which exploded with a result that thirty-seven lives were sacrificed, has been indited for manslaughter, a true bill for every death having been filed against him. His hearing has been set for Dec. 6th.

At the M. E. Parsonage, on Monday evening, Nov. 18, 1895, by Rev. J. P. Varner, occured the marriage ceremony which united for life the lives of Mr. Bert H. Nichols and Miss Adah E. L. Conger. Both young people have always lived in this vicinity and the best of success and happiness is wished them by all.

Lovers of beautiful flowers can now enjoy a visit to the greenhouse of Mr. and Mrs. Rowland, where they will find a profusion of choice flowers which they have grown since they rented the Spalding property. People wishing cut flowers can have their order promptly filled by calling at the greenhouse, at prices to suit the times. Leave orders for Thanksgiving flowers as early as possible next week, and you will be pleased with the results.

The new Lake Shore depot is now completed and Agent Satterthwaite took possession Monday. The depot is a very creditable and serviceable structure consisting of two waiting rooms, ticket office, and baggage room. It is of the regulation style, neat and attractive in appearance, finished inside with varnished white pine trimmed with red oak. Just two months were taken to build and finish the building during most of which time work was given by the company to five carpenters and two laborers living here.

Mary E. Wilkins has done something new in the piece of work just completed and given by her to the Ladies' Home Journal for publication. It is a series of neighborhood types. These types are the most unique characters, and are found in a supposed New England village; to the portrayal of each type Miss Wilkins devotes a separate sketch. Thus she pictures a striking male character in the Wise Man of the Village; one of the most natural of children in The Village Runaway; a familiar figure in the Neat Woman of the Town, with three other characters equally distinct. There are six types and all are illustrated.

The chrysanthemum show was a success and the ladies of the Research Circle found in the success of their scheme ample returns for their work and enterprise. The weather of Tuesday was so unfavorable that the opportunity was extended the next day, and many availed themselves. Fifty varieties were on exhibition, all but seven grown here and owned for the most part by the members of the circle. A few other choice plants were tastily arranged as background, among them being a cactus owned by Mrs. Ketcham for forty-five years. Altogether, the exhibition was flattering to the promoters, and will do much toward stimulating the propagation of this wonderfully interesting flower in Tecumseh.

The Rev. W. R. Blachford is in receipt of a letter from the Rev. J. Wainwright Ray who was pastor of St. Peter's church in 1855. The letter is in answer to an invitation to attend the anniversary services held a month ago. Mr. Ray recounts several of his acts and experiences while living in Tecumseh. One was the re-marriage of a couple who had already been married by an Ohio clergyman in this state. Michigan did not allow ministers from another state to take privileges properly belonging to those within her own [illegible]ers, but as each clergyman received [illegible] $20 there was no jealousy in the [illegible] Many names of well-known [illegible] families are still fragrant in which [illegible] gentleman's memory, of "I did [illegible]ctions a few. The remains of Mrs. J. D. Sholes were brought here from Detroit Wednesday accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Cummins, at whose home in that city she died Tuesday at the age of 68 years. Mrs. Sholes was an old and well known resident of Tecumseh and leaves an endearing memory in the hearts of many friends. The funeral was conducted at the home of Mrs. Hettie Brewer, Rev. Blachford officiating.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package. also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

MURDERED BY TRAMPS.

Luther H. Beecher Killed and Then Placed on a Railroad Track.

Lapeer, Mich., Nov 16.—The engineer of a north-bound Michigan Central train saw a man on the track about three miles south of here Wednesday night. The train could not be stopped, but was run back and the body picked up. The head was cut off and the remains greatly mangled. Shortly after the body was brought to this city it was identified as that of Luther H. Beecher, the grandson of the late Luther Beecher, a millionaire of Detroit. Developments show that young Beecher had been waylaid and murdered by tramps, his valuables taken away and the body placed on the track. Two tramps were seen near the place about the time Beecher's body was discovered, and the men are known to have taken a freight train to Saginaw.

Young Beecher was in poor health, and as a means of recreation and pleasure was in the habit of journeying about the state on his bicycle, stopping wherever night overtook him. He had nothing to do and plenty of money, and preferred to spend his time this way. The Beecher estate, of which the young man would have had a large slice on the death of his father, has no interest that would have called him to Lapeer. No trace of his bicycle has been found, although officers have searched diligently for it and for the two tramps.

INDICT THE ENGINEER.

Held Responsible for the Larned Street Boiler Explosion in Detroit.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 18.—The grand jury which Friday started an investigation of the Larned street boiler explosion Saturday afternoon returned an indictment against Thomas M. Thompson, the engineer in charge of the boilers operating the Journal plant, charging him with manslaughter in having caused the death of Hattie Hiller, one of the victims of the disaster. Engineer Thompson was brought to court from Grace hospital and arraigned. His attorneys asked for 20 days in which to plead to the indictment, which was granted, and the prisoner was returned to the hospital.

Needed for Michigan Harbors.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 19.—The annual report of Gen. Craighill, chief of engineers, to the secretary of war has been made public. Estimates for continuing the work on Michigan river and harbor projects are submitted as follows, the amount to be expended in the next fiscal year: Portage Lake and Superior canal, $75,000; Michigan City harbor, $95,000; St. Joseph harbor, $30,000; Grand Haven, $25,000; Muskegon harbor, $30,000; Charlevoix harbor, $25,000; Saginaw river, $40,000; Sand Beach, $20,000; Detroit river, $30,000.

Burrows for Chairman.

Detroit, Nov. 15.—The News says Senator Burrows is being urged by his friends for the temporary or permanent chairmanship of the republican national convention, and that Gen. Alger is likely to head the Michigan delegation. Gen. Alger will be a probable candidate for secretary of war, a position which he had anticipated under the Harrison administration.

Lack of Miners Is Serious.

Bessemer, Nov. 18.—Miners are so scarce on the Gogebic range that the companies have been compelled to offer an increase of about 15 per cent. in wages. Still there is a scarcity. If this continues it will be a serious drawback to the expected activity next season, which is expected to eclipse the palmy days of 1888 and 1889 on the Gogebic.

Will Issue Bonds.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 18.—The Detroit Railway company filed a trust mortgage Saturday morning for $1,800,000 to secure an issue of bonds which is to be made immediately. The mortgage is dated November 1, 1895, and runs to the Cleveland Trust company, of Cleveland, and draws interest at the rate of five per cent., payable semi-annually.

For a Deaconess' Home.

Lansing, Nov. 15.—At the concluding session of the Woman's Home Missionary society of the Methodist Episcopal church, of Michigan, it was voted to raise $500 for the Aldrich Deaconess' home in Grand Rapids for the coming year. Mrs. A. A. Knappen, of Albion, was elected president. The next session will be held in Ionia.

Thinks His Sister Was Murdered.

St. Clair, Nov. 19.—The probate court for the county of St. Clair has granted to Horace M. Carleton the administration of the estate of Miss Olive Carleton, who met her death in a mysterous manner a month ago. The estate is valued at $7,500. The administrator of the estate still insists that his sister was murdered.

Product of Pingree's Farm.

Detroit, Nov. 20.—Mayor Pingree's famous potato farm has this year yielded 61,840 bushels of potatoes, 1,000 bushels of beans, 3,000 of turnips, 1,000 of beets, 420 of corn, 4,668 heads of cabbage, 400 squashes and 500 pumpkins. At present market prices the total value is $1,997.30.

Bankers Enter Suit.

Bay City, Nov. 19.—Orrin Jump, president of the old Second national bank of Bay City, has sued Estey & Calkins for $17,000. The suit is the result of the recent failure of that firm. Mr. Bump claims the security given his bank is worthless.

Arm Ground to Pulp.

Manistee, Nov. 15.—Dollie Crowley, employed on the Daily News, had her right arm drawn into the cogs of a press. The flesh was ground to a pulp above the elbow. She wore balloon sleeves, and these were the cause of her misfortune.

Dividend Declared

Washington, D. C., Nov. 19. — The comptroller of the currency has declared a dividend of 15 per cent. in favor of the creditors of the Northern national bank of Big Rapids, Mich.

MICHIGAN MATTERS.

Twelve counties in Michigan have decided to set prisoners at work.

Gerrit Douwma, aged 18, son of a farmer in Ottawa county, committed suicide by shooting.

At the special election held in Cadillac the blanket charter was rejected by a vote of 267 to 85.

An auditorium capable of holding 6,000 persons is to be built, it is said, at Ann Arbor. It will be used for musical purposes.

Alfred Kinney, who killed George Betts in a Port Sahilac saloon row, waived examination and will be tried in January.

Pauline Oesterle has sued the village of Chisea for $10,000 damages sustained last winter by a fall on a defective sidewalk.

The Ludington board of trade is considering how the town can secure a new railroad, new depot, new hotel and a few new factories.

Men are boring for coal about six miles from East Jordan. They struck a four-foot vein and will begin active mining operations.

Harry Jacks, of Niles, has begun the publication of a new paper called "The Stamp." It is devoted wholly to the interests of stamp collectors.

The Manistee & Luther Railroad company have resumed work on the road, which is now nearing completion. The track is laid within eight miles of Luther.

The recent heavy freeze caught many farmers in Manistee county with their late potatoes yet undug, and the loss is variously estimated at from 12,000 to 15,000 bushels.

The report of the secretary of the Woman's Home Missionary society of the M. E. churches in the state shows the memberships to be 1,162. Last year $2,500 was raised for missionary purposes.

Previous to the earthquake Coldwater lake had risen four inches. Since that time it has been falling rapidly. On the other hand, creeks and rivers near Bronson and Tekonsha that were nearly dry are gradually rising.

A movement is on foot at Niles looking to the pardon of Guy Bathrick, who killed his father in December, 1892, and is serving a seven-years' sentence at Ionia therefor. The deed was committed while protecting his mother from the assaults of her husband.

May Renew the Fight.

Detroit, Nov. 19.—Tom L. Johnson, of Cleveland, O., president of the Detroit Citizens' Street Railway company, announced on Monday that unless the city would within a few days agree to a readjustment of his company's franchises the company would hereafter charge straight five-cent fares and give no transfers except those required by the company's ordinances. The raise in fares, it is expected, will cause a renewal of street-railway hostilities.

Arrested for the Kramer Murder.

Hancock, Nov. 16.—Sheriff Dunn arrested John Griff, who runs a small sawmill on Portage lake, in West Hancock, for the murder of Mr. and Mrs. Kramer, four weeks ago. The crime was a brutal one. Both had their throats cut from ear to ear, and the woman's face was butchered beyond recognition with a hatchet. The evidence collected apparently weaves a net around Griff which he can hardly escape from.

Church to Rival Saloon.

Flint, Nov. 16.—The trustees of the Congregational church of this city have given the pastor authority to open the church doors on Saturday afternoons and invite farmers and all others who come to the city to trade to enter and warm themselves and spend a pleasant hour instead of going to the saloons. Music will be provided, and a committee of women will be present to entertain all the callers.

Flower Show at Grand Rapids.

Grand Rapids, Nov. 15.—The first annual chrysanthemum show under the auspices of the Grand Rapids Florist club and for the benefit of the children's home and hospital opened Thursday night in Lockerby hall. There are 12 exhibitors, representing nearly all the florists in West Michigan. The display is large and brilliant.

Becomes Part of a University.

Kalamazoo, Nov. 20.—By arrangements which have practically been completed, the Kalamazoo college will become affiliated with the University of Chicago. The latter institution will furnish lecturers and teachers to supplement the work of the college, and will lend its apparatus and books when needed.

Give Up Racing at Lansing.

Lansing, Nov. 19.—The Lansing Driving association will dispose of its property and retire from the field. Although it has one of the best tracks in the country, it has failed to make business pay expenses.

Convicts Paroled.

Lansing, Nov. 15.—Gov. Rich paroled two convicts, eight of the men being in charge of the state prison.

ANOTHER HORROR.

Detroit Match Factory Burned and Three Lives Lost.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 18.—Another fire, attended with terrible fatalities, occurred about 3:30 o'clock Saturday morning, when the factory of the Improved Match company at Bellevue avenue and Frederick street was burned and three lives lost. The dead are:

Agnes Yettke, 17 years old.

After destroying the main building and gutting the smaller one the fire burned itself out. The bodies of Davis and Miss Yettke were recovered, burned beyond recognition. The building, machinery and stock destroyed were valued at $60,000; insured for $6,000.

The factory has been working night and day. About 3:30 a shift of 30 hands were busily employed, when the fire suddenly started, probably by friction. The flames spread with great rapidity. All the employes except the above escaped.

Davis and Wagner, assisted by the Yettke girl, secured the fire hose and attempted to put out the fire. Before they were aware of their danger flames sprang up all around them and they were unable to escape.

The Improved Match company is a new concern not in the trust, which was organized by a number of Detroit citizens and filed articles of incorporation last week.

BOMB WRECKS DRUG STORE.

Desperate Attempt to Kill Dr. John Sweetland at Mottaville.

Constantine, Nov. 15.—At Mottaville, a small place six miles southwest of here, at ten o'clock Wednesday night some fiend threw a dynamite cartridge through the window of Dr. John J. Sweetland's drug store in the main street. The cartridge exploded with terrific force, and the heavy front door was blown clear across the street. The explosion also tore a hole three feet in diameter in the floor, slivered heavy joists, and demolished everything in the building. Dr. Sweetland miraculously escaped injury, but one of his patients, Andrew Gray, who was present, was not so lucky. Gray received serious injuries from flying timbers and lies in a dazed and precarious condition at his home. Dr. Sweetland is said to have made many enemies, owing to a long-standing feud, and it is thought one of these tried to blow him up.

For Good Roads in Michigan.

Lansing, Nov. 20.—Gov. Rich is daily in receipt of petitions asking him to call a mass meeting of citizens of Michigan who are interested in the subject of good roads, the meeting to be held in this city at a date to be selected by the executive, the object being to organize a state league to agitate the desirability of improving the highways of the state. The governor has not yet taken any action in the matter, but will doubtless grant the request.

Detroit's Big Street Railway Mortgage.

Detroit, Nov. 18.—The Detroit railway, the three-cent-fare company, has filed a trust mortgage for $1,800,000 to secure an issue of bonds to that amount which is to be made immediately. The mortgage runs to the Cleveland Trust company, of Cleveland. The capital stock of the Detroit railway is $1,000,000, and, according to its attorney, $1,700,000 has been expended in equipping the system.

Earthquake Makes Him Insane.

Niles, Nov. 18.—The recent earthquake disturbance has caused D. L. Pierson, a prosperous resident of New Buffalo, to become insane. When the earthquake occurred Mr. Pierson was suddenly aroused and in his frightened state imagined that the end of the world had come. Since then he has been unable to recover from the hallucination, and was placed in an asylum.

Detroit Swells the Fund.

Detroit, Nov. 18.—Two concerts were given at the Auditorium Sunday afternoon and evening in aid of the fund for the survivors of the victims in the Journal disaster. Complete Recovery by the Use of

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"Some years ago, as a result of too close attention to business, my health failed. I became weak, nervous, was unable to look after my interests, and manifested all the symptoms of a decline. I took three bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, began to improve at once, and gradually increased my weight from one hundred and twenty-five to two hundred pounds. Since then, I and my family have used this medicine when needed, and we are all in the best of health, a fact which we attribute to Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I believe my children would have been fatherless to-day had it not been for Ayer's Sarsaparilla, of which preparation I cannot say too much."—H. O. HINSON, Postmaster and Planter, Kinard's, S. C.

The Great Healer of Inflamed Injuries and Disorders.

It never fails to restore the natural color to the skin and equalize the circulation of the blood. By this means a controlling power is gained over the most malignant forms of disease. It penetrates to every portion of the human frame, searching every bone, muscle, vein, nerve and ligament, and healing influence. Hence it copes successfully with internal as well as external diseases.

Over 40 Years

This Ointment has been used by the people throughout the United States, and our confidence in its qualities is such that we have no hesitancy in saying that of the numerous certificates of cures which we have from all parts of the country, we never used this Ointment in any case which has not given satisfaction. Those who have had experience with it will recommend it to their friends, and one trial in a hundred would do the same. It is perfectly satisfactory in its results. Directions for use will be found on the wrapper around each bottle.

Lesson For the Week Beginning Nov. 24. Comment by Rev. W. J. Yates, A. M. Topic, The First Missionary Journey.

SCRIPTURE READING.—Acts xiii, 4, to xiv, 28.

A new section of the book of Acts opens with this lesson, as a new section of history opened for the Christian church in the events which it records. The center of interest and influence is transferred from Jerusalem to Antioch. The evangelization of the Jews wanes, and that of the gentiles increases in importance. Peter is no longer the important figure, but Saul of Tarsus comes to the front, to be henceforth known as Paul the Apostle to the Gentiles.

The Impulse.

Special religious services among the disciples at Antioch, probably having special reference to the further evangelization of the gentiles, leads to the consecration of Barnabas and Saul for work as missionaries. It is noteworthy that this forward movement is undertaken under special direction from the Holy Spirit, and that this illumination and determination come as the Christians are seeking to know God's will.

The Course.

It is intensely interesting to follow in the Bible narrative the journey of these two devoted men in this first Christian missionary tour. The sojourn in the island of Cyprus, the voyage to Perga and climb up the tableland of Asia Minor to Antioch, in Pisidia; popularity followed by persecution; flight to Iconium, where the same experience is endured; escape to Derbe and Lystra, with alternate triumphs and perils, are all described most vividly. The firm establishment of the church in all these places and appointment of officers is accomplished before the region is left, and the evangelists retrace their steps to Antioch, in Syria, and report to the home church. The whole season from spring to autumn was probably occupied in this journey. Its excitement, frequent perils by sea and land, at the hands of robbers, fellow countrymen and heathen, positive suffering and danger to life, its hopes and fears, its honors and indignities, all left their impress on body and mind.

Results.

The wisdom of the church and direction of the Holy Spirit were demonstrated in the selection of the two men. Any less determined, less consecrated, possessed of less tact and skill with men would have failed, and the forward movement might have ended there. These men conquered in spite of all difficulties and opened the path to the church for all coming ages into the heart of heathenism. They showed how the work must be done. They developed the full strength of the opposition and demonstrated the power of the gospel of Christ to overcome.

Pilgrim Shrines.

Great care is taken in Plymouth, Mass., to preserve everything known to have connection with pilgrim history. The Forefathers' Rock is under a granite canopy and inclosed with an iron fence. Visitors during the day may enter and stand on the rock. It is in the original position, except the filling of the street has caused it to be raised about three feet above its former bed. In the upper part of the canopy, inclosed in a metallic case, are remains of some of the victims of the first winter's hardships. It has been proposed to remove the canopy and restore the rock to more of its former appearance.

Thanksgiving.

Many of those who annually observe this festival give little thought to its origin. It would make an excellent evening's exercise for any chapter to take up this subject. It dates back to pilgrim days at Plymouth. Great privations and perils had been endured. During the first three months on shore 50 graves had opened and then closed over the remains of loved ones, till but half the original number who landed in December saw the flowers of spring. Abundant harvests in the autumn relieved the fear of famine, and so a day of thanksgiving to Almighty God was appointed. Religious services were followed by a feast of all good things possible. This was according to the Bible custom, and the harvest feast was instituted by divine command. Rejoice in the abundance God has given you. Recognize the Giver. Freely as ye have yourselves received, free y give. Share your blessings and multiply your enjoyment.

Pilgrim History.

After the study of Methodist history and some attention to general church and Bible history, it will be well to give attention to the story of the pilgrims. The difference between the pilgrims and Puritans, the life in England and Holland, the voyage in the Mayflower, exploration of Cape Cod, settlement and first year at Plymouth will give items for various members of a chapter to investigate and the essays or talks upon them will instruct as well as entertain.

Darkness In the Sudan.

In the Sudan, Africa, there are 60,000,000 people ignorant of Christianity and salvation through Christ.

Council Chamber, November 11th, 1895.

Adjourned session. Present; the entire council except Trustee Hall.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

The chairman of the ordinance committee reported that committee had prepared an ordinance relative to licensing hawkers, peddlers of goods by transient traders [illegible], and also licensing shows [illegible]tainments; also an ordinance regulating the speed of railway trains passing through the village, which were read to the council. Moved that report of committee be accepted. Supported. Carried.

Chairman of committee on electric lighting reported that a schedule for Lighting and extinguishing lamps for a term of four months from the first of November, had been prepared and that manager of Electric Co. had agreed to be governed thereby, that they had authorized clerk to issue order in payment of lights for October. Moved that report be accepted. Supported. Carried.

Chairman of committee on fire department reported that they had investigated the cost of a set of swinging harness and that by buying collars and having balance of harness made by local harness makers, same would cost not to exceed $300. Moved that report be accepted and adopted and that committee procure a set of swinging harness for the fire department if not to exceed $300. Supported. Carried.

AN ORDINANCE RELATIVE TO LICENCES

SEC. 1. The village of Tecumseh ordains that no person or persons shall hawk, peddle, or offer for sale any goods, wares, merchandise, patent medicine, jewelry or other property of any kind or description, in any of the streets, lanes, parks, public places, alleys, or on any vacant lots, within said village, without first having paid for and obtained from the clerk of the village a license therefore, upon the terms hereinafter provided.

SEC. 2. Hawkers or peddlers going about said village from place to place or from door to door with any vehicle drawn by any beast, horse, mule or any other means of locomotion, or peddling any cart, wagon or barrow, carrying with them and selling or offering for sale any of the articles or property mentioned in section 1 of this ordinance, shall pay a daily license of two dollars for each and every day or part of a day while so engaged.

SEC. 3. Any person or persons selling or offering for sale any of the articles or property mentioned in section one of this ordinance, from any carriage, cart, buggy, wagon, dray, show stand, show case, box or barrel or in any other manner, in the streets, public parks, spaces, alleys or on any sidewalk in said village, shall pay a daily license of six dollars for each day or part of a day while so engaged.

SEC. 4. Any person or persons selling or offering for sale any of the articles or property mentioned in section one of this ordinance, from any carriage, cart, buggy, wagon, dray, show stand, show case, box or barrel or in any other manner, in the streets, public parks, spaces, alleys or on any sidewalk in said village, shall pay a daily license of six dollars for each day or part of a day while so engaged.

SEC. 5. Persons selling fish on the streets or from place to place shall pay a yearly license of five dollars or for a daily license the sum of one dollar for each day or part of a day.

SEC. 6. Any transient merchant or trader selling or offering for sale at private sale, any of the articles or property mentioned in Section 1, in any building or store building in said village, shall pay twenty five dollars per month or two dollars for each day or part of a day, if such license is issued for a shorter period than one month.

SEC. 7. No person or persons shall engage in, carry on or exercise the business or occupation of an auctioneer, or sell or offer for sale any of the articles or property mentioned in section one, without first having paid for and obtained from the clerk of the village a license therefor. Provided, that this ordinance shall not prevent the sale of any goods, wares, merchandise or property by virtue of any legal process issuing from any court. Provided, further, that this ordinance shall not apply to sales of any second hand furniture or household goods.

SECTION 8. Auctioneers shall pay for a license for the term of one year, which shall be from January first until December thirty first of each year, the sum of ten dollars, or for each day or part of a day while selling goods at auction or offering the same for sale, two dollars.

SEC. 9. No person, persons, company or companies shall exhibit or show in said village any circus, menagerie, sideshow, exhibiting under any tent or canvas, or any play, theatrical exhibition or performance, any exhibition of any natural or artificial curiosities, or give any concert, show or exhibition for which an admission fee is charged or demanded, without first having paid for and obtained a license from the clerk of the village.

SEC. 10. The proprietor, manager or person in charge of any circus, menagerie or show, showing under a tent, tents or canvas, shall pay for a license the sum of fifteen dollars for each day.

SEC. 11. Every sideshow of natural or artificial curiosities, exhibiting or performing, attending or traveling with any circus or menagerie, shall pay for a license three dollars for each day.

SEC. 12. Proprietors, managers or persons in charge of any show or performance, not being a circus, menagerie or sideshow traveling with or attending any circus or menagerie, but exhibiting under any tent or canvas, shall pay a license of five dollars for each day.

SEC. 13. The proprietor, manager or person in charge of any concert, musical entertainment, show, theater, theatrical exhibition, play or game, for which an admission fee is charged or demanded, shall pay for a license the sum of three dollars for each day or part of a day. Provided: nothing in this section contained shall apply to any exhibition of any public or private school, musical association, music teacher, order, society or any entertainment for the benefit of any church.

SEC. 14. Any person, company, manager, agent or person in charge of any hall, building or opera house within said village, where entertainments mentioned in the preceding section are given may obtain a yearly license by paying an annual license fee of ten dollars, which license shall be dated from January first and shall expire December thirty-first of each year, which yearly license shall exonerate all companies or persons giving entertainments or shows therein, from payment of a license mentioned in the preceding section.

SEC. 15. That all licenses granted under the provisions of this ordinance shall be issued by the clerk of the village upon application and payment to him in advance of the fee required therefor by this ordinance.

SEC. 16. All licenses shall state therein the name of the licensee, kind of business, occupation or vocation, place where same is to be exercised or carried on and the time for which said license is granted.

SECTION 17. No license shall be transferable nor assignable in any manner, nor shall any person other than the one named in said license do any act or carry on any business thereunder; any transfer or assignment of said license shall be void and any person working thereunder shall be liable to prosecution the same as if working without a license.

SEC. 18. It shall be the duty of the village marshal to ascertain whether every person, who shall be carrying on any business, occupation or trade for which a license is required by any ordinance of said village, has paid for and taken out a license and to make complaint to any justice of the peace of the township of Tecumseh, of all who violate the provisions of any ordinance relative to licenses.

SEC. 19. The common council may, at any time revoke or annul any license that may be granted, whenever, in their opinion, it shall be expedient so to do. Whenever any license shall be revoked or annulled it shall be the duty of the clerk to give notice thereof in writing to the person or persons to whom such license was granted.

SEC. 20. Any person or persons violating any of the provisions of this ordinance shall, upon conviction thereof before any justice of the peace of the township of Tecumseh, be punished by a fine of not more than fifty dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than sixty days, or by both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court, together with costs of prosecution. Upon default in the payment of any fine and costs such person shall be confined in the county jail for not more than sixty days, unless such fine be sooner paid, and any person so sentenced to imprisonment may be kept at labor during the term thereof.

SEC. 21. An ordinance passed August 7th, 1871, entitled "An ordinance relative to licenses," as amended March 3rd, 1881, and December 6th, 1886, and all ordinances or parts of ordinances the provisions of which in any wise conflict with the provision of this ordinance, are hereby repealed.

SEC. 22. This ordinance shall take effect December 1st, 1895.

Passed November 11th, 1895.

J. H. SMITH, President.
W. J. INGERSOLL, Clerk.

Moved that above ordinance be adopted and passed, supported. Yeas, Trustees Boyd, Satterthwaite, Heesen, Smith, Wright—5. Nays, none. Declared passed.

The following ordinance, entitled "An ordinance relative to the speed of railway trains," was introduced.

AN ORDINANCE RELATIVE TO THE SPEED OF RAILWAY TRAINS.

SEC. 1. The village of Tecumseh ordains: That it shall not be lawful for any railroad company to run or propel its locomotives, trains or cars within or through the corporate limits of the village of Tecumseh at a greater rate of speed than six miles an hour.

SEC. 2. Any railroad company violating the provision of this ordinance shall pay a penalty of twenty-five dollars for each offence, which penalty shall be recovered before any justice of the peace of the township of Tecumseh, in an action of assumpsit, together with costs of suit.

SEC. 3. The conductor, engineer or other employee of any railway company, in charge of or running any locomotive, railway train or cars, in or through said village at a greater rate of speed than six miles an hour, shall be punished, upon conviction thereof before any justice of the peace of the township of Tecumseh, by a fine of not more than twenty-five dollars or by imprisonment in the county jail not more than fifteen days, or by both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court, together with costs of prosecution.

Passed Nov. 11th, 1895.

J. H. SMITH, President.
W. J. INGERSOLL, Clerk.

Moved that above ordinance be adopted and passed, supported. Yeas, Trustees Boyd, Satterthwaite, Heezen, Smith, Wright—5. Nays, none. Declared passed.

Council then adjourned.

W. J. INGERSOLL, Clerk.

Illustrated and Descriptive C. H. & D. Folder of the Great Atlanta World's Fair.

The Winter season of Southern travel is at hand, this year made doubly attractive by the Atlanta Cotton-States and International Exposition, which is (excepting only the Columbian Exposition) the grandest and most comprehensive American International exhibit ever accomplished, reflecting great glory upon the enterprising Gate City, upon the State of Georgia, and upon the South generally.

The Railways of the North have made unusually low rates, and even lower figures may be obtained on specified dates in connection with special parties now being formed to start from Detroit and other Northern centres.

A beautifully illustrated and descriptive folder of the Exposition, and also setting forth the perfect Southern service of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton Railway, can be had free by addressing D. G. Edwards, G. P. A., Cincinnati, or any C. H. & D. Agent.

The Masonic Fair at Detroit.

Those who are conversant with preparations made for the masonic fair and exposition in the new masonic Temple, Detroit, Nov. 25 to Dec. 7, say it will require a whole day to see it.

Mr. D. D. Thorp, who heads the soliciting committee, had reports read at the recent meeting of this committee showing that the contributions to the fair extended over the whole country. From California and Mexico came offers of semi-tropical fruit, from the south the products of that sunny land and from the east the fruit of the loom, the spindle and the factory.

Sometime ago it was decided to secure a warehouse in which to store the various contributions offered and an amusing incident occurred at a recent meeting of the woman's auxiliary committee when Mrs. John Walker, President, read the request that each sub-presiding officer should send the goods she had secured to this warehouse. Mrs. Jules A. Dresser, in a very dry and plaintive way, convulsed the members of the committee by asking how on earth she could get the 40 acres of land and horse she had secured into the warehouse. Mrs. W. E. Robinson, wife of the superintendent of schools, suggested that Mrs. Dresser get somebody to give a wagon and harness and haul the acreage down to the warehouse, load at a time.

For an international display of curios, novelties and numismatics, Messrs. Wm. Carson, H. E. Hatch and John Walker, respectively chairman of the named committees, have secured the most valuable collection ever seen in this country. Mr. Hatch has all the electric novelties of these fin de siecle times. Mr. Carson has secured the curios of the police departments of Detroit and other cities,—most interesting of themselves,—and John Walker has ransacked both this and the old continent for valuable souvenirs and has secured four most valuable, including the cross of Napoleon, the medal of the Legion of Honor and that struck off by George IV commemorating the capture of Detroit.

The music which will enliven the fair will probably be the most expensive and pleasing, as well as artistically perfect, that has ever been heard in Michigan. Chairman C. M. Hayes has secured promises from all the leading musical organizations of the city for special nights and each afternoon and evening of the fair will reveal a wealth of musical talent.

To Hon. Geo. H. Barbour a great deal of credit and congratulation is due. He has procured that grand masterpiece of George Rochegrosse, "The Fall of Babylon," that picture which amazed with admiring wonder the Paris salon of 1891 and created such a marked sensation in New York later. This masterpiece which marks an epoch in Michigan art, is the one which Anthony Comstock endeavored to have suppressed because of the lifelike nude figures so realistically depicted in it. All the railroads will run excursions to the fair on dates to be announced later.

THE GUNMAKER OF ILIO

Jefferson M. Clough, the Man Who Developed Two Greatest American Rifles—The Remington and the Winchester.

He Refused a Tempting Offer From the Chi Government—His Health Would Not Permit His Acceptance.

From the Springfield, Mass. Union.

As the result of long and arduous attention to business for many years, Jefferson M. Clough, now of Belchertown, Mass., who has just turned sixty-five years, found himself disabled by muscular rheumatism, two years and more ago and was obliged to relinquish the position of general superintendent of the Winchester Repeating Arms Company, of New Haven, Conn., where he had been employed for eleven years at a salary of $5,000 for the first few years of his service, but which was increased to $7,500 by the voluntary action of the company. Previous to his service for the Winchester Repeating Arms Company he had filled the responsible position of superintendent at E. Remington & Son's armory, at Ilion, N. Y., for seventeen years; during which time large quantities of arms were made for foreign governments as well as our own, besides sewing machines and typewriters—Mr. Clough having perfected the first of the latter machines that was exhibited. After leaving the Remingtons and previous to making an engagement with the Winchester Arms Company, the secretary of the Chinese Legation in this country came to Belchertown and negotiated with Mr. Clough to go to China to build arms for the Chinese government; but the long delay in getting the answer from the Chinese decided him in accepting the offer to go to New Haven. It was during his service for the Arms Company he visited the leading armories of England, France and Germany in company with the vice-president of the company, in order to learn whatever new methods there might be in the manufacture of muskets. It was after this long term of active labor as a business man that, finding himself incapacitated for further service by the embargo which rheumatism had laid upon him, he resigned his position more than two years ago and returned to Belchertown, where he owned what was originally the Phelps farm, about three miles southeast of the centre of the town, in a retired spot where he has five hundred acres of land.

From this quiet home he began to seek a remedy for the muscular rheumatism which was located largely in the muscles of his shoulders, chest and back. He employed Dr. Holbrook, of Palmer, and received great benefit from his treatment for a time; but was so anxious to gain faster that he decided to seek another treatment, and being a man of means did not spare the cost, and was treated by baths at celebrated springs without receiving any benefit worth notice. He then tried various remedies advertised for rheumatism without receiving any good effect. During the summer of 1893 and the winter of 1894 Mr. Clough was confined to his house in Belchertown, being unable to rise from his bed without assistance, and suffering continually with acute pains and with no taste or desire for food, nor was he able to obtain sufficient sleep.

Early in the year 1894 Mr. Clough heard of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People through his brother James M. Clough, of Easthampton, Mass., who came to visit him, and was induced to make a trial of them. He began taking these pills about the first of March, 1894, and continued to do so until the first part of September following. The first effect noticed was a better appetite and he began to note more ability to help himself off the bed and to be better generally. Last August (1894) he was able to go alone to his summer residence, an I farm of 163 acres on Grenadier Island, among the Thousand Islands, in the river St. Lawrence, where from the highest land of his farm he commands a view for thirteen miles down the river.

Instead of being confined to his bed Mr. Clough is now and has been for some time able to be about the farm to direct the men employed there, and he is thankful for what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for him.

A Society Girl.

From the Oswego, N. Y., Palla

"For months I lived in an agony thought surely I was going to die greeted me as one not long for this Physicians were unable to help me believe that I would have died but for writing to me from Detroit, Michigan, commending that I try Dr. Williams' Pills for Pale People. I did so reluctantly with little faith in their efficacy. I am now and I know that I owe my restored health to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for People, and to them alone."

That is the story Miss Elizabeth Wi of 110 West Third Street, a lady promine society circles, told a reporter of the Os N. Y., Daily Palladium, who called upon at her home in that city yesterday. Miss Williams is the daughter of the late Capt. Williams, who was for many years maste some of the finest passenger steamers on great lakes and an inspector and rater of l for the Lloyd's marine records on the la Continuing the story of her illness in her own way, Miss Williams said:

"I was always regarded as healthy an bust by my family and friends; in fa hardly knew what sickness was until the ter of 1893-4. I was then taken down w attack of la grippe from the attending of which I did not recover for months. seemed to be a general break-down health and constitution, winding up early summer with nervous prostrati sciatic rheumatism. I can't describe symptoms. My appetite was gone and I was unable to eat or relish food lu ingly. I lost flesh rapidly and was as a shadow. Local physicians attended stantly. After months of treatment missed both and took my brother's adv tried Pink Pills. He had found them cious for kidney trouble. Before I had taking the first box I noticed an improv in my physical condition. I began t my food and my rheumatism trouble Gradually the general tone of my s proved and my rheumatic pains le tirely. I regained strength and was until to-day I regard myself as fres from all ailment and in perfect h My friends noted my improvement and never hesitated to tell them what Dr. liams' Pink Pills did for one sufferer, that others may be benefited that I make statement and relate my experience."

The foregoing is but two of many wo cures that have been credited to Dr. Pink Pills for Pale People. Even heretofore have been supposed to be such as locomotor ataxia and paralysis to this wonderful medicine so most trifling ailments. In many cases ported cures have been investigated leading newspapers and verified in every sible manner, and in no case has the semblance of fraud been discovered. fame has spread to the far ends of the and there is hardly a drug store in the or abroad where they cannot be found.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain, in densed form, all the elements necessary new life and richness to the blood and shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache after effect of la grippe, palpitation of heart, pale and sallow complexions, all of weakness either in male or female. Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent post paid on receipt of price, 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

Britton, Mich.

The divine that is in man constantly seeks after the infinite. Hence among all peoples there is an universal searching after God. As are the cult and the morals of the people, so their idealization of the preexistent. All, however, clothe Him with righteousness and confess Him to be the supreme almoner of the universe. Gratitude is neither dead nor asleep, and as men receive so the wells of thankfulness send forth bubbling waters whose ripples make music of praise. Among Christian nations, where conceptions of the All-Good have reached greatest perfectness, the lesson of gratitude is most frequently taught and most universally practiced. Long anterior to the birth of the American nation the people were wont at the close of the aftermath to set apart a day in which to consider the tender mercies, the boundless love, the generous hand of God, in order that their hearts might swell and throb in responsive touch to His beneficence. This practice, born amid the rocky hills of New England, has been perpetuated annually by a nation, which, above all peoples that have been and are, has most cause to be glad.

Here indeed do the rocks pour out rivers of oil, the earth yields marvelous increase and only the sins and shortcomings of men make possible want or suffering anywhere. Among this people is the greatest personal liberty, broadest interpretation of the rights of the individual, highest aspirations after comforts and luxuries and greatest general faith in the promise and fulfillment of a more exalted condition of universal happiness. With this people, as with no other people, are greater diversity of climate, more varied yields of vegetation and a wider range of employment for the masses than is found anywhere else upon the globe. In this country men have need to their comfort to employ less hours for labor and may devote more time to enjoyment and pleasure than their fellow-beings in other lands.

Recalling these superior benefits our people have cause indeed for gratitude; not because they enjoy privileges that would seem to be denied others but for the reason that their lines are cast in pleasant places. The grateful heart is best capable of appreciating, and he who remembers his blessings cannot fail of according praise where praise belongs. Retrospecting the year and its results there are suggestions that the barns are filled to fatness with golden grain, the wheels of industry whirl and whirr, the marts of trade are active with hurrying feet and the hope and promise of better things are potent. Remembering his divinity as well as his mortality; recalling the Providence that is over all and giveth all, he who receives should not fail of a grateful heart nor selfishly measure his own gifts by those of his neighbor.

There are those who sorrow, because from the beginning the laughter of the joyful has rung out amid the cry of hearts made desolate; but there is the universal promise of comfort to the mourner. At this season of the year the once green leaves are sered, fallen upon the ground, betrodden under foot of man; but the naked trees, through which the chilly blast of the west wind now moans, shall, with the warming days of spring, put on new beauty and freshness. So the days that are to be give assurance of peace to spirits that may be troubled. The night comes, but the glad sun is on its course and its rays will spread life and light upon all. The mortality of man confirms suffering at intervals, but the divine that is in him lifts him up out of the depths, and in the higher life he sees and adores the beneficent God of all. It is a good thing to remember mercies, to forget afflictions and to give thanks to the All-Giver.

WILLIAM ROSSER COBBE.

A THANKSGIVING HYMN.

Sacred wine of Jove's libation
To the Father ever more,
Gratitude and consecration
From our hearts we'll daily pour.

In the hand extended o'er us,
In the golden days behind,
In the sky-bright hopes before us,
Thy compassion we may find.

For the friendships that engirt us,
For affection's sacred flame,
For Thy law which doth convert us,
We would magnify Thy name.

Thanks we give for home and nation,
For the blood that made us free,
Seeking still the consummation
Of our perfect liberty.

For the altar fires glowing
With religion's holy light;
For the spirit breezes blowing;
For the faith transcending sight;

For the storm, the sun, the rainbow,
Verdant pastures, pleasant ways—
For Thy mercies' constant inflow
Hear our orisons of praise.

High School Happenings.

Paul Bowen entered school last Monday.

Miss Hartbeck went to Detroit Tuesday.

Miss Harriet Osborn visited A room Monday.

Philosophy class are still studying Pneumatics.

Charles Hurry will spend Thanksgiving in Albion.

Floyd Pentecost, of Franklin, visited the High School Thursday.

Calvin Snell ably discussed the topic of self-sacrifice in A room Tuesday morning.

It has been proposed that the students in some of the rooms be provided with Siberian winter suits.

Misses Ethel Hampton, Cora Burtless and Veda Pentecost, of Franklin, were visitors in A room Thursday.

A lyceum was held in A room Wednesday, consisting of essays, recitations and music. It was the first one of the season and was well attended. Among the visitors were Mrs. North, Mrs. Waring, Mr. Joe Eaton, Miss Mary Eaton and Miss Grace Burnett.

FARMERS' SOCIAL CLUB.

Upon invitation from Mr. and Mrs. Remington the club held a meeting at their home on Tuesday evening, Nov. 26. The gathering was not as large as was desired owing no doubt, in a measure, to the prospects of a disagreeable and stormy evening. All who went were warmly welcomed by Mr. and Mrs. Remington and found their home a pleasant place for a meeting.

The literary program consisting of quotations, paper, declamation, charade, etc., was good. The paper read by J. F. N. Bowen showed that in many respects the depression of the present time was not as great as it appeared. The question of taxes was but briefly discussed. The general opinion being that the school and road tax was entirely justifiable, but that county and state taxes were often increased by the extravagance of officials. The club will meet with Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Gillespie, Tuesday evening, Dec. 17th.

PROGRAM.

Music—Ora Gillespie.
Rec.—Katharine Remington.
Reading—Ida Rector.
Rec.—Edna Hendershot.
Music—Bertha Roberts.
Rec.—Lovina Schreder.

Election of officers.

It is hoped that all members of the club will be present at this meeting, and an invitation is extended to the other clubs to send delegates to this meeting, that the advisability of holding a Farmers' Institute be considered.

Resolutions of Respect.

Since it has pleased the Great Commander to remove from us to his reward Lyman Randall, our late comrade, we would record our appreciation of him as a brave soldier, who served his country in the days of her greatest peril. He died Nov. 15th, 1895, at his home in Cambridge, of Bright's disease. During his last illness he professed faith in Christ as his Saviour. He leaves a wife, one child and an aged father to mourn his death. His funeral was held in the Congressional church, of Little Hope, under the auspices of Beers Post, No. 140, G. A. R. A very appreciative sermon was delivered by the pastor of the church, after which his remains were by Comrades deposited in the cemetery near the church, in the presence of the bereaved family and sympathizing friends. Therefore RESOLVED, That we extend to the bereaved friends our sincere sympathy in this their great affliction.

DOWN IN THE SUNNY SOUTH.

A Few Notes on the Great Cotton States Exposition Now in Progress at Atlanta.

We stopped our recital last week just as we were preparing to enter the Exposition grounds. Upon arriving at the Union Depot in Atlanta, at 7 o'clock in the morning, we found half a dozen trains in the depot from as many different directions, all discharging a load of humanity into the crowded streets. The depot is located in the center of the business part of the city, and hence it is always crowded, but the whole town is a typical western hustler. It reminds one of Chicago or Kansas City, for it is on the boom every day from sunrise until midnight. The growth of Atlanta since the war has been phenominal. During the last two years of the great conflict it was almost wiped out of existence, the battle of Atlanta itself, which was fought on the outskirts of the present city, being one of the bloodiest engagements of the war. But the few citizens left then possessed genuine American pluck and business sagacity, and, with the return of peace, they boldly set about the task of rebuilding the city. It was no holiday play spell, either. The city itself was almost a ruin, while the farming area for hundreds of miles in all directions was devastated. The city, however, possesses a fine geographical location for an inland town. Nature has made it a railroad center, and it has aptly been named the "Gate City" of the South. Her leading men grasped this idea and made the most of it from the outset. The railroads then centering there were improved and extended and new lines were projected. The state capital was secured by reason of her railway facilities, and Atlanta began the race in improvement, which has since been felt in all portions of the "New South." The city now contains a population of about 110,000 and it will doubtless contain 150,000 by the close of the century. It has many elegant hotels and business blocks that rival the best ones in Cincinnati, Cleveland or Detroit. It is well provided with churches and school buildings. It has a first-class water works, a fine electric street railway system, and a big electric light plant. It possesses all the characteristics of our best northern cities, and, but for its mild climate and clear blue sky, a northern visitor would hardly mistrust that he was in a southern clime.

The members of the two press associations were provided with passes to the Exposition grounds, good for five days, and hence they set out at once to make the most of the time allotted them. The grounds are located north of the city, about two miles from the Union Depot, and were formerly known as Piedmont Park. The Exposition is reached from the city by the Southern railway, carriages, and three electric car lines, and there are several large hotels near the grounds—only a block or two distant. We put up at the Derwent, only one block from the main entrance. The house is well managed and furnished a good home during our stay in Atlanta.

Upon entering the grounds at the west or main entrance, the first thing which strikes the attention of the visitor is the natural beauty and lovely landscape features of Piedmont Park. The park is set on a succession of hills, ranged upon four general levels, and contains 189 acres. We will attempt to picture, to the mind's eye of our readers, one of the most picturesque spots that the art of the landscape gardener, supplementing the work of nature, has ever produced. Go with us to the Art Gallery, located at the northwest corner of the park, and take a seat on the steps of the front portico, where we can view the landscape at our leisure. At first the eye wanders to the south, east and west and takes in the general surroundings. We behold a beautiful, undulating country, with wooded hills and shady dells rising one above another on every hand. The range of vision is narrowed down and the eye is then fixed upon the acres within the Exposition walls, when an ideal picture of harmony and beauty bursts upon the view. Our point of observation is the highest on the grounds and gives us an unobstructed view of nearly all the buildings on the Park, spread out before us like a grand panorama. The scene is a great amphitheatre, in the production of which nature and art have vied with each other and finally combined their efforts to captivate the eye and please the brain of the spectator. Fifty feet below is the Plaza, a level flat of ground, bounded by a broad walkway, oblong in form and about half a mile in circumference. This level plat is divided into walks and patches of green sward, ten in number, of various shapes and sizes, ornamented with plants, shrubs and evergreens, the walks being paved with crushed limestone. The various shades of green and golden yellow, combining with the gray pavements and the silver mist of the great fountain playing in the center of the Plaza, produce a most striking effect. After admiring this scene and the surroundings from the steps of the Art Gallery, let us descend and take our observations from the Plaza, near the center fountain. To the west, and twelve feet above stand the Auditorium, the Georgia, and Agricultural buildings. The ascent is made in a circle, by the gentle slope of the walk-way or up a terrace by broad, easy steps, which are bounded by balustrades of rustic rock masonry. Further to the west is the main entrance and the Administration building. North of this are located the structures of Pennsylvania and New York, the Piedmont Club and Fire building, and then the Art Gallery, all from thirty to fifty feet above. Skirting the Plaza on the South, and nearly twenty feet below, is a broad walk, just beyond which reposes beautiful Clara Meer, whose placid surface is twenty-five feet below. In form the lake resembles an immense stocking, with the toe pointing to the west and the leg northward, a rustic bridge spanning it at the ankle. At the instep plays a magnificent electric fountain. No more beautiful effects can be witnessed on this continent than by this electric fountain that glitters over beautiful Clara Meer like a rainbow, at night. The water presents the appearance of a mass of gorgeous flowers, rising to a height of one hundred and fifty feet, and changing their colors as they fall. The central part of this mass represents a geyser, a stream of water emitted from a two-inch pipe and descending in a spray around the fountain. Encircling this mass is a mist bank, which is an entirely new effect in hydraulics. It envelopes the fountain in a dense mist of spray, illuminated with colored lights in endless combinations. On the bosom of the lake gaily bedecked gondolas, electric launches and other craft flit gaily to and fro. Clara Meer is entirely surrounded by a broad walk from five to ten feet above the water level. Directly south of this lake stands the Machinery building, west of which, twenty feet above the lake, is the Mineral and Forestry building, its bold outlines clothed with a natural coat of bark. The latter has a large roof garden, used for the Aragon restaurant and cafe. The grounds about the central Plaza vary from twenty-five feet below to thirty feet above the Plaza and the various buildings all face the fountain that throws its spray from the center of this Plaza. East of the Machinery building are the California, Georgia, Manufacturers', Negro, and a number of minor structures. East of Clara Meer, the north arm of it, are located the Transportation and Electricity buildings. On the flat between the Plaza and the north arm of the lake stands the Woman's building, and a few rods north of this is the Liberal Arts, the largest structure on the grounds. North of the Plaza on the upper level are located the U. S. Government building, the Chinese tower, and a number of state and private structures and cafes. The first level is twenty feet, the second level thirty feet, the third level forty feet and the fourth level fifty feet above the Plaza. These are reached by easy flights of steps in different directions, all of which are bordered by massive balustrades of rustic rock masonry. The numerous terrace slopes are covered with grass and running vines of sweet scented, ever blooming honeysuckles. The massive outlines and peculiar arrangement of the buildings, the placing of statuary, fountains and vases, the location of parks and Clara Meer with its fountains, the enchanting vine covered terraces, all combine to produce a glorious landscape effect. On the terraces south of Machinery and Forestry runs the Midway street with its manifold attractions. A complete water system, with three miles of mains, furnishes an abundant supply of pure water. Ample provision is made for the public comfort by a complete system of sewers and a model electric light plant turns night into day.

These are the main features of Piedmont Park, but there are many minor details which will be briefly described hereafter. Compared with the great Columbian Exposition of 1893, it is a secondary show, that is true, but it rivals all other expositions that this country has ever seen.

Next week we will give a detailed description of some of the main buildings and exhibits.

CLINTON, MICH., NOV. 29, 1895.

Fred Koering was an Adrian visitor Saturday.

Remember the Ladies' Fair, Wednesday, Dec. 11th.

Miss Lizzie Sharts, of Toledo, is visiting at Henry Lancaster's.

M. Alexander, of Tipton, visited S. W. Demuth and family on Monday.

John Tuttle was home from the University to spend Thanksgiving season.

Communion was celebrated at St. John's church Thanksgiving afternoon.

Mrs. Chas. Cummins, of Detroit, was the guest of Mrs. Geo. Kies last Saturday.

The large cross was blown from the St. Dominic's church last Monday night.

A very pleasant social party was held at the home of Wm. Muir last Monday night.

Miss Zoa Fitch, of Deerfield, has been visiting at Mrs. W. D. VanTuyle's this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacobs, of Deerfield, have been visiting at C. Giger's part of this week.

Santa Claus will be at the Fair, Dec. 11th. Come and buy your Chistmas presents from him.

Miss Sara Huntington gave a very pretty lemon tea to the members of Co. V on Thursday of last week.

Alonzo Marshall has been drawn as juror for the December term of the circuit court at the county seat.

Invitations are out announcing the marriage of Chas. Bostedor and Miss Belle Order next week Wednesday.

The annual election of officers in Clinton Lodge No. 154, F. & A. M., will occur at the regular meeting tomorrow night.

Fred Greenleaf, who has been very ill for some weeks, is able to sit up part of the time and will doubtless soon be about.

Walt Osborn, who was taken so seriously ill at his father-in-law's, Geo. Brown's, has been taken home to Tecumseh.

Frank Gillespie has a position with King Richardson & Co. of Cleveland, Ohio, and commences work with the firm this week.

Minnie Humphrey was home from Toledo over Sunday and filled her accustomed place at the organ of St. Dominic's church.

Quite a jolly crowd of dancers tripped the light fantastic at the town hall Wednesday night, working up a spirit and appetite for Thanksgiving.

S. W. Demuth and R. B. Mills were hauling duck at Evans' lake Tuesday. It was a little but rough Tuesday, but we presume it was an excellent day for ducks.

The Clinton high school had it out on the gridiron with a like collection of young men at Tecumseh yesterday. A full account of the game appears in another column.

The first lecture of the Clinton course will be given by Thos. McClarry, on Dec. 14th. His subject for this occasion will be "The Mission of Mirth"—a gay topic at least.

Dan Davis made a partially successful attempt to get into one of Demuth's show cases last Tuesday. The affair has been fixed up, however. That is, the show case has.

Union services were held at the Congregational church on Thanksgiving day and were well attended.—Rev. Marshall of the Baptist church, delivered the address.

Dr. Herman Brown was called from Chicago by telegram Saturday on account of the serious condition of his father. He returned Monday, it being impossible for him to leave his practice for any length of time.

Wm. C. Rogers, who went to Texas a few weeks since to spend the winter, returned Saturday noon from that land of flowers. The winter there was so short that he will now have a chance to spend the winter in both places.

Chris Wallinger and Miss Lizzie Kirk were very quietly married last Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Codling in Tecumseh. The couple are well known here and have the congratulations of many friends.

The budding orange blossoms, whose heavy fragrance burdened the people as far away as Adrian, are unfolding pretty fast now. Will Katner and Miss Hattie Platt will also take a hand in the orange blossom business next Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Editor Field, of Tecumseh, was here Tuesday in the interests of the News. We predict a very newsy Clinton page for that paper this week—for nowhere are our fair sisters more at home than in the reportorial field.

The transformer which supplies that particular part of electric fluid which goes to the post office, Dr. White's office and a part of Preese's store, has been out of repair lately causing those people to resort to the ancient kerosene lamps.

Wiltsey & Son have let the contract to Fred Sherwood for building them a store on the lot north of the Woodard foundry, which they purchased some time ago. The cite is an excellent one for their business and they will soon be stitching harness under their own roof.

Arrangements for the Clinton lecture course have been perfected, the entertainments and dates being as follows: Thos. McClarry, December 14th; Granville P. Cleiser, December 28th; H. H. Emmet, February 7th; Unity Concert Co. February 18th; John DeWitt Miller, March 24th.

The suit of T. R. Kyle, administrator of the estate of William Anderson, deceased, vs. H. W. Stevens, all of Tecumseh, before Justice Smith was decided Tuesday in favor of the defendant. Both plaintiff and defendant were really nominal parties and the suit was brought to determine the ownership of a lot of butcher's tools at one time owned by Wm. Anderson and subsequently seized by officer Stevens on some process.

Mrs. Archie Crane, who resided north of Clinton in the town of Bridgewater, has been a sufferer from consumption for some time past. Lately, however, she was somewhat better and last Saturday was able to be about the house. At night she was taken much worse and passed away early Sunday morning. The funeral was held Tuesday.

The ladies of St. John's society have changed the date of their fair from Thursday, Dec. 12th to Wednesday, Dec. 11th. They will have for sale many fancy articles, both useful and ornamental. A good supper will be served from 4:30 to 8:30. In the evening the Cantata, 'Areia, the Fairy of the Waters,' will be given by twenty children.

It is nearly always fatal for beings of lowly and common-place origin to effect the sublimity of romantic nativity or poetic existence. A doting mother, of Clinton, of the lowly name of Tidlidewinks bestowed upon her tender offsprings the names of Glamora and Ione. This did very well during the days of baby innocence, but with the hard experiences of maturer days the sweet things pined and died. How sad! when 'Tom' and 'Tabby' would have spared their lives for usefulness. The moral is apparent. Take warning.

The uses to which the electric alarm bell can be put to for domestic purposes are a source of wonderful revelation to some. It has proved to be equally alert when put in an innocent looking couch as when affixed to a door or window. It can be so nicely adjusted that it will remain quiet when only one person occupies the couch, but when two endanger the springs with their combined weight the little bell gives an awful alarm of distress. This is not guess work, but is a fact well established by recent practical tests in Clinton.

RAISIN RACKET.

Mr. and Mrs. George Kishpaugh and Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Bowerman visited Clinton last week.

Mrs. Stanley Harkness and father left last week for California where they will make their home.

Rev. L. C. Chase will preach a Thanksgiving sermon at the Church of Christ, Little Hope, next Sunday.

Miss Anna Chase is visiting friends and relatives here this week; it seems quite natural to see her again.

The grippe has begun to secure a hold for winter. Mrs. Art Chase, the first victim here, has been very ill the past week.

About thirty friends gathered at Frank Bowerman's Saturday evening and gave him a little surprise, it being the gentleman's twenty-eighth birthday. All report a good time.

P. H. Bowerman, wife and daughter, Miss Celia, will go to Brooklyn Wednesday, to attend the wedding of Miss Bertha Fuller and Mr. Fleming. Miss Fuller is a sister of Cassius Fuller and will be remembered as a former resident of this place.

The camel is a beast of great strength and endurance. Nothing hurts it until the the proverbial "last straw" is added to its burden. It is really astonishing how much abuse it will stand. Sometimes, however, something worse than usual will be eaten, and will go through the stomach into the bowels, and there it will stick—that's constipation. Nine-tenths of all human sickness is due to constipation. Some of the simplest symptoms are coated tongue and foul breath, dizziness, heart-burn, flatulence, sallowness, distress after eating, headaches and lassitude. A little thing will cause constipation, and a little thing will relieve it. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pallets are a certain cure for constipation. They are tiny, sugar-coated granules, mild and natural in their action. There is nothing injurious about them. Sold by druggists.

The balance of nature has surely been somehow disturbed. It takes 800 expensive roses to make a teaspoonful of perfume, while a penny worth of cooked onions will scent a whole neighborhood.

A Household Treasure.

D. W. Fuller, of Canajoharie, N. Y., says that he always keeps Dr. King's New Discovery in the house and his family has always found the very best results follows its use; that he would not be without it, if procurable. G. A. Dykeman, Druggist, Catskill, N. Y., says that Dr. King's New Discovery is undoubtedly the best cough remedy; that he has used it in his family for eight years, and it has never failed to do all that is claimed for it. Why not try a remedy so long tried and tested. Trial bottles free at Orr. & Temple's Drug store. Regular size 50c., and $1.00. 3

Hunters' Rates.

Agents of Ohio Central Lines are selling Hunters' Tickets to all points in the hunting territory at hunters' rates. See Ohio Central agents. tf

The Shakers have made a great hit. Their digestive Cordial is said to be the most successful remedy for stomach troubles ever introduced. It immediately relieves all pain and distress after eating, builds up the feeble system and makes the week strong.

The fact is, foods properly digested are better than so-called tonics. The Cordial not only contains food already digested, but is a digester of other foods. Food that is not digested does more harm than good. People who use the Cordial insure the digestion of what food they eat, and in this way get the benefit of it and grow strong.

The little pamphlets which the Shakers have sent druggists for free distribution, contain much interesting information on the subject of dyspepsia.

LAXOL is not a mixture of drugs. It's nothing but Castor Oil made palatable. 1w Disappointed Contributor—I don't see why you can't print my story. Isn't it punctuated properly? Editor—Oh, yes; but, as far as I can see, there isn't any other point to it.

"If taken into the head by the nostrils two or three times a week, Thomas' Electric Oil will positively relieve the most offensive case of catarrh." Rev. E. P. Crane, Dunkirk, N. Y. 1w

Three Crops a Year

Can be grown on the same land in eastern Mississippi and southern Alabama along the line of the Mobile & Ohio railroad. The summers are cooler, the winters are milder, the death rate is lower than in the north. Improved farms $10 to $15 per acre; unimproved land $3 to $5 per acre near railway stations. It is the best portion for raising fruits and early vegetables, stock raising and general farm crops. Lands are advancing; now is the time to buy. Very low rate excursions monthly. The Mobile & Ohio has put on two through fast trains each way daily between St. Louis and Mobile. It is the shortest and quickest route to the South. An illustrated pamphlet telling all about our country will be sent free to all who wish it. Apply to F. W. Greene, general agent, No. 108 North Broadway, St. Louis, Mo., or to E. E. Posey, general passenger agent Mobile & Ohio R'y, Mobile, Ala. tf

LOOKING BACKWARD.

Look after the Back: A Fall, a Strain, a Constant Sitting or Stooping Position Brings Backache—Do You Know This Means the Kidneys are Affected!

How few people realize when their back begins to ache that it is a warning provided by nature to tell you that the kidneys are not working properly. You have a severe fall, you strain yourself lifting or perhaps you are compelled to maintain a sitting or stooping position for long intervals at a time, your back begins to ache, then your head, you become listless, tired and weary, but do you understand the real cause? We think not, else you would not use plasters and liniment on the back, which only relieve but do not reach the cause. If you would rid yourself of the pain and cure the root of the trouble, at the same time save many years of suffering and perhaps life itself, you will take a kidney remedy that has been tried and proven that it will cure.

Mr. John Robsoin of 661 Russell Street, Detroit, says: "As a result of exposure during the war I have suffered ever since with rheumatism and kidney trouble. Pains would start in my hip and go around to my back. Highly colored urine denoted kidney disorder. The pain in my back was often so bad I had to give up work until the severity of the attack passed away. I have used many liniments and other things, but received very little relief. Some time ago I started using Doan's Kidney Pills and they have worked a wonderful change in me. My back is all right now and I owe it all to the almost magical influence of Doan's Kidney Pills."

Mr. Robsoin was a member of the Fifty-first Illinois Regiment, which served through the war with honor and distinction. Doan's Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers—price, 50 cents. Mailed by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo N. Y., sole agents for the U. S. Remember the name, Doan's, and take no other.

No Humbug.

Foley's Honey and Tar does not claim to perform miracles. It does not claim to cure all cases of consumption or asthma. But it does claim to give comfort and relief in advanced stages of these diseases and to usually cure early stages. It is certainly worth trying by those afflicted or threatened with these dread diseases. 50c. Orr & Temple. Nov

Mr. Henpeck anxiously.—Can I bring proceedings in court, Mr. Blackstone, to set aside my wife's will? Lawyer—Why, your wife isn't dead, man, is she? Mr. Henpeck—No; that's just the trouble.

Does Me Lasting Good.

"I was afflicted with bowel trouble, and could get nothing that would help me until last fall I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. I have found it to be the only medicine that has done me any lasting good. It is the best blood purifier and regulator of the system." R. L. Richardson, 511 Mountain St., West Bay City, Mich.

Hood's Pills cure indigestion, billiousness. 1w

"Strikes me that Vanerchump is awfully conceited. He is; you know how it came about? No. Why, several years ago the report got out that he was dead. Several papers printed his obituary and of course, he read 'em!

A word to the wise is Sufficient.

I suffered terribly from roaring in my head during an attack of catarrh, and because very deaf, used Ely's Cream Balm and in three weeks could hear as well as ever. A. E. NEWMAN, Grayling, Mich.

DIRECTIONS for using CREAM BALM. Apply a particle of the Balm well up into the nostrils. After a moment draw strong breath through the nose. Use three times a day, after meals preferred, and before retiring.

Price of Cream Balm is fifty cents.

The prisoner offered this court a bribe of 50 cents to turn him loose, said the indignant crossroads justice. No, your Honor, replied the lawyer, it was $2.00. Now, that's something like it—I stand corrected. Let him go.

The numerous cures of Rheumatism by the use of the old standard blood-purifier, Ayer's Sarsaparilla, show conclusively that it is an effective remedy if not indeed the specific for this most painful and persistent of maladies. What has cured others will also cure you. 1w

I do not understand it, said the philosopher. What is bothering you now? inquired the other. If a man is two hours late arriving at home, his wife raises a row, while if he is gone two years she will give him a royal welcomes. Women are peculiar.

That soft, rich, glossy sheen, so much admired in hair, can be secured by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. All the assistance that nature requires to make the hair strong, beautiful, and abundant is supplied by this excellent preparation.

OBITUARY.

The many friends and acquaintances of Courtland Snedicor will regret to learn of his death, which occurred at his home near Ithaca, Mich., on Monday night near midnight, after being confined to his bed for nearly eight weeks with consumption. Mr. Snedicor learned the blacksmith trade with James Peck, over thirty-five years ago, after which he run a shop of his own in our village. He was united in marriage with Miss Helen Crego, of Monroe, in the fall of 1860 and began housekeeping in this village in the house now the property of Mrs. Wm. Andrews on South street where they lived until the spring of 1876, when he moved on a farm in the township of Augusta, northeast of Milan village. After one year of farm life he returned to our village, working at his trade until the winter of 1881, when he moved with his family on an 80-acre farm of woodland two miles and a half east of Ithaca, then a wilderness, where they struggled with pioneer life and cleared up their farm which has blossomed into one of the finest farms in Gratiot county. Three sons were born to them; Carl, the youngest, was hurt during the fireworks at a 4th of July celebration in Ithaca the summer of '87, from which he died. Mr. Snedicor leaves a widow and two sons to mourn the loss of a husband and father. The funeral services were held at his late home on Wednesday afternoon. The remains were consigned to the tomb in the family lot in the Ithaca cemetery.

The school entertainment last Saturday night was excellent; in fact, there was so much that was good that it seemed almost a pity that half of it couldn't have been saved for a second entertainment. The music by Mr. and Mrs. Fulkerson and John and Vern Austin was an unlooked for and very welcome treat.

A Famous Prescription.

WHETSTONE, M. D.

IN ENGLISH.

"O Jupiter" Aid Us—

"With a hot drink before a warm, cosy fire, bed well aired, Pretzinger's Catarrh Balm to be thoroughly snuffed up the nostrils before retiring. Repeat as Required."

The above prescription was published by Dr. Whetstone in a Cincinnati journal last winter and was copied by nearly all the leading journals of the country and it is probable that thousands of people, as a result, have tried its efficacy. In the original a hot lemonade was specially recommended as being the best sedative. If you keep your feet dry this winter you are not apt to take cold unless exposed to a draught or unless the house is badly heated or ventilated, but we will have rains and snow this winter and thousands of people will be certain to take cold and Dr. Whetstone's prescription should be cut out and carefully preserved as it is a certain cure for a cold in the head, the incipient catarrh that so often follows will be cured and the inflammation reduced by the use of Pretzinger's Catarrh Balm. Pretzinger's is not a secret medicine; its contents are well known and is constantly prescribed by physicians, and is kept by nearly every family as a preventive and cure for cold in the head. Serious cases of catarrh, accompanied by the horrible choking, are relieved at once as if by magic. Its uses cannot be too highly recommended. Druggists sell it for 50 cents, or a small sample can be obtained by sending a 2 ct. stamp to Pretzinger Bros., Chemists, Dayton, Ohio.

I don't know what I'm going to do about my memory, said a member of a London club. I'll have to take some kind of mental gymnastics for it. I'll forget my own name next. That's easily fixed, was the reply. How? Go over to America and lose a yacht race. People seem to never forget then.

JUNE COLD AND HAY FEVER CURED.

Oakland, Md.

To the Mayers' Drug Co.

I feel it my duty to say something in regard to the merits of your Magnetic Catarrh Cure. I have been a sufferer from rose or June cold for the last 15 years. It comes on about the middle of June and lasts about six weeks or two months. I commenced using Mayers' Catarrh Cure about the middle of April as a preventive, and it certainly did the work. I passed through the summer without the slightest return of the disease. I am station baggage master at Oakland, Md. Respectfully,

A Generous Offer—$200 in Gold Given

R. H. Woodward Company, Baltimore, Md., are making a very generous offer of $200 to anyone who will sell within three months 200 copies of "Talks to Children about Jesus." This is one of the most popular books of recent years. Agents often sell from 10 to 15 copies a day. It contains a great many beautiful illustrations, and is sold at a remarkably low price. They give credit and pay freight, and send complete canvassing outfit for 35 cents. It is just the book to be sold for the holidays. They also offer an Estey Organ, retail price $270, to anyone who will sell 110 books in three months. It is an excellent opportunity for a church or society to secure one of these organs. A $100 bicycle to be given for selling 80 copies in two months, or a gold watch for selling 60 copies in one month. This premium is in addition to the regular commission. They have also published a new book "Gems of Religious Thought," by Talmage, which is having a large sale. Same terms and premiums as on "Talks to Children about Jesus." Agents who do not get any of the premiums are given a liberal commission. They also make a specialty of other books and Bibles for the Xmas holidays. Write them immediately.

Electric Power for November.

Electric Power for November is devoted principally to the electric railway. Those readers who are not interested in this branch of engineering will, of course, not be disappointed, for there are such articles as Mr. Sachs on the Electrical Equipments of Modern Office Buildings; Mr. Thompson's paper on the Principles of Invention; Mr. Wiener's serial on Electrical Measuring Instruments is continued, and the Literary Review is quite extensive. Nevertheless, it is a railway number. Prof. Bemis and Mr. Foster each presented a paper on Municipal Ownership of Street Railways, and Mr. Osterberg adds an editorial on the subject. The Metropolitan Elevated Road of Chicago has been quite fully described, but there are still some points of interest left, which Mr. Hazleton has pointed out in an able manner. Those interested in the historical progress of the science of electricity will find a review of the electric locomotive, with which they will certainly be pleased.

Table Talk.

Table Talk is well to the front as a Thanksgiving magazine, touching that subject many times in various ways between its covers. The leading article is "Thanksgiving Day," by Mrs. Burton Kingsland, including a typical dinner menu,—also a fin-de-siecle one. Other menus are given elsewhere, as well as a recipe for thanksgiving Plum Pudding. The Housekeeper's Inquiry Department is full of excellent recipes, old and new, just as needed by the subscribers, and besides you will find the Kindergarten for mothers ably upheld in "The Priestly Office," by Miss Nora A. Smith: the 'Food in Bright's Disease' by Dr. H. H. Hawxhurst; how 'Miss Dorothy entertains,' by Mrs. M. C. Myer; much about 'The Dignity and Beauty of the Household Arts,' by Lucy C. Andrews, the well-known lecturer on Cookery; how to give a pretty 'Bicycle Luncheon,' as well as a menu for every meal, and much else of equal value our limited space does not allow us to mention. Our readers, however, are invited to send for a sample copy to the Table Talk Publishing Company of Philadelphia.

From LaGrippe.

How Dr. Miles' Nervine Restored One of Kentucky's Business Men to Health.

NO DISEASE has ever presented so many peculiarities as LaGrippe. No disease leaves its victims so debilitated, useless, sleepless, nerveless, as LaGrippe.

Mr. D. W. Hilton, state agent of the Mutual Life Insurance Co., of Kentucky, says: "In 1889 and '90 I had two severe attacks of LaGrippe, the last one attacking my nervous system with such severity that my life was despaired of. I had not slept for more than two months except by the use of narcotics that stupefied me, but gave me no rest. I was only conscious of intense mental weakness, agonizing bodily pain and the fact that I was hourly growing weaker.

When in this condition, I commenced using Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. In two days I began to improve and in one month's time I was cured, much to the surprise of all who knew of my condition. I have been in excellent health since and have recommended your remedies to many of my friends."

THANKSGIVING AT KINGSLEY HALL.

BY

Miss Victoria Kingsley, of Kingsley hall, could afford to be a little eccentric, people said. Not only was she rich and beautiful and highly accomplished, but she had reached the mature age of six-and-twenty and was mistress of her own fortune. Prior to the death of her parents, both of whom had succumbed in the same month to a prevailing fever, the family had resided in the city, spending a portion of each summer only at their handsome country seat. But soon after her bereavement the young lady had gone into seclusion at Kingsley hall, which was a part of her heritage, and had since lived in the strictest retirement there, receiving no visitors except when her younger brother, Robert, brought a party of his boon companions up from town for a few 'days' recreation during the shooting season.

It was now three years since Miss Kingsley had been left an orphan. At her age this was a long time to renounce society, and it was not strange that the world pronounced her eccentric. But that portion of the world residing in the wealthy and eminently respectable village of Pennstock began to have hopes for her when she suddenly emerged from her sequestration so far as to become the hostess of a Thanksgiving dinner party. The truth was that Miss Kingsley had been doing some serious thinking. It had occured to her, upon reflection, that people had a right to conclude that she was supremely selfish and proud, and she decided to set aside this verdict, if possible, by giving a series of entertainments at her house. Thanksgiving day was at hand, and she began to put her plan into execution by inviting a number of her church acquaintances in the village to dine at Kingsley hall on that day.

Of course the invitations were all promptly accepted, and the event was looked forward to as something out of the ordinary in Pennstock. As for Miss Kingsley, she was surprised to find that she took a lively interest in the preparations for the dinner, and when Thanksgiving day dawned, with a frosty and nipping air, she was inclined to be proud of the success of her undertaking in one respect. It had proved to her that there was a pleasanter way of passing her time than in brooding over her sorrow. All day she was strangely buoyant and cheerful, as if possessed by a presentiment that something very pleasant was about to happen.

And that afternoon something did happen—something that was not down on Miss Kingsley's programme. The busy young woman had entered the kitchen to give some final directions to the cook, when she observed that a strange man was sitting quietly in a chair on the opposite side of the room. She paused abruptly and stared at him, with a flash of startled recognition in her eyes.

But Miss Kingsley did not hear. The color was coming and going in her cheeks, and she grasped the back of a chair as if to steady herself.

"Maurice Granby!" she said, in a low but distinct voice. "Can it be possible?"

The recognition was evidently mutual. The stranger rose to his feet, a picture of astonishment and confusion. He was a strikingly handsome man, tall and straight as an arrow, with a drooping brown mustache. He certainly had not the appearance of a tramp, except that his clothing was threadbare, and even ragged in places, and he wore no overcoat.

"I-I beg pardon!" he stammered. "I did not know—"

But Miss Kingsley seemed to suddenly recover her self-possession. Turning to the cook she said:

"Never mind, Hannah; I will see this gentleman myself. He is an old friend of the family." Then, addressing the man: "Will you please come with me, Mr. Granby?"

He looked as if he would have preferred to sink through the floor, but she had turned and was leaving the kitchen before he could reply. He followed her hesitatingly, mechanically, like one in a dream. She led the way to a small room adjoining the library. There she turned and faced him.

"Mr. Granby, will you kindly tell me what this means?"

He stood before her, fumbling his hat in his hands. Her question seemed to increase his confusion, and he had to clear his throat several times before he could find his voice.

"It is all an unfortunate blunder," he exclaimed at last. "I did not know that this was your home. I chanced to be passing, and I thought—well, I was hungry, and I—no, I will not sit down," as she waved her hand toward a chair. "If you will be good enough to let me go now I will be careful not to intrude upon you again."

"You mistake my meaning," said Miss Kingsley, with a look of distress. "I am not asking why you are here. God knows I am glad to see you. What I want to know is what has brought you to this—this—condition? I cannot believe that you have voluntarily adopted the life of a—"

"Of a tramp?" he said, finishing her sentence with a bitter smile.

"Pardon me," she added, hastily; "I have no right to question you. Pray, don't misjudge my motive. I know that you are not to blame for the change in your fortunes; I know that you are incapable of a wrong act."

He gave her a sharp look, as if he would read her thoughts.

"That is a remarkable statement," he said, slowly. "Can it be that you have forgotten why I ran away from home five years ago?"

"I have not forgotten the miserable story that was told at that time," she replied, firmly; "but I have heard a different story since. Mr. Granby, my unhappy brother has told me everything."

The man started.

"He has told me," continued the woman, her face white with suppressed excitement, "that it was he and not you who forged the check for $15,000!"

"He told you that? Good heavens! does your father know?"

"My father and mother have both gone to another world, Mr. Granby. Robert and I have been orphans for three years. It was not until after their death that he made his confession to me. He told me of his youthful infatuation for gambling and horse races; how he became so deeply involved that in a moment of desperation, to avert the disgrace he saw staring him in the face, he forged the signature of a depositor in father's bank, hoping thus to retrieve his losses and replace the money before its withdrawal was discovered. You, as teller of the bank, cashed the check without suspicion. Afterward, when the money was squandered, and Robert realized that he could not hope to conceal his crime, he confided in you and begged you to help him out of his trouble. He said that his exposure would kill his mother, bring disgrace upon his family, and cause his father to forever disown him. Then it was that you sacrificed yourself to save him and his family. You told him you would divert suspicion from him if he would keep his own counsel and promise on his oath to never gamble again. You kept your word by suddenly disappearing, thus bringing suspicion upon yourself, so that when the forgery was discovered nobody could doubt that you were the criminal, and that you had fled to escape the consequences of your crime. Oh, it was a noble thing to do! Not one man in a million could have made such a sacrifice!" Miss Kingsley's voice betrayed her agitation now, and there were tears in her eyes. "But you do not know what a shock it was to—to—father and the rest of us to be forced to believe you guilty. We had such faith in you. Thank heaven, the story never got into the papers. Robert and I have tried hard for two years to find some trace of you, that we might make such reparation as lay in our power. And Robert says that in some mysterious way the bank has recovered the amount that was lost on the forged check, including the interest."

Maurice Granby, by this time, was smiling with the air of a man who has had a great burden lifted from his mind.

"I am glad you know the truth," he said, with an expression of profound relief. "When I left New York I went west and enlisted in the regular army under an assumed name. I served five years. But I was in communication with an intimate friend—a young lawyer—and when my aunt in Vermont died last spring, making me her sole heir, I had my friend convert the property into cash and turn it over to the bank. There was just enough, with what I had been able to save from my pay as a soldier, to replace the $15,000 with the accrued interest. I had assumed the debt, you know, and thought I ought to pay it. On leaving the army I started back to New York, where I still have a few friends. I had not money enough to take me clear through, so I concluded that a tramp of a hundred miles or so would do me no harm. I am accustomed to marching."

"You have outdone Don Quixote himself!" exclaimed Miss Kingsley. "Of course, every dollar of that money will be returned to you, and my fortune and Robert's are at your disposal."

"But, after all," said Granby, seriously, "you must not give me too much credit for what I have done. Perhaps I should have hesitated if your answer to that audacious note of mine had not made me wretched. Do you remember it? I felt that I had nothing to live for after that. Of course, I don't blame you; it was the worst kind of presumption on my part, a poor man, to offer myself—"

"Don't say that!" she interrupted, with a note of entreaty in her voice. "I could go down upon my knees to you now, in your rags, and beg your forgiveness for wounding you. I was young then, and scarcely knew my own mind, but I—I found out—afterward—"

"Victoria!"

"But we are wasting precious time," she said, hastily, glancing at her watch. "Do you know this is Thanksgiving day? I am to have some guests for dinner. You are to stay and dine with us."

"I? In these clothes?"

"My brother has a room and a wardrobe here, and I am sure his clothes will just fit you. You will find everything you need. No; I will hear no excuses. I will call a servant to show you upstairs, and will send up a luncheon at once. To-night you will stop at the village hotel, and to-morrow you will come and see me before resuming your journey to New York."

And so it came about that Maurice Granby, transformed from a tramp into a conventional gentleman in evening dress, sat at the right hand of the hostess at the grand turkey dinner that evening, having been introduced to the other guests as an old friend of the family. At least two persons at that table were in harmony with the spirit of the occasion, for their hearts throbbed with gratitude and joy during the whole of that Thanksgiving feast.

It was only two months later that Kingsley hall was the scene of a brilliant wedding reception, and Maurice Granby had come there to stay.

Mr. Lewis, who has been conducting a shoe sale here, moved his goods to Jonesville yesterday. Mr. Lewis is much pleased with Tecumseh and expects to put in a permanent stock of clothing, boots and shoes here early in the spring.

The ordinance, enacted by the Council, putting a license tax on peddlers, has caused some unfavorable comment, and the Evening News of Wednesday contains a sharp criticism upon it. The writer of that article is evidently misinformed, for the ordinance is practically the same that existed here for years under the old charter. We do not understand that it taxes any resident of the village for selling books, or any farmers who may sell produce in town. However, if the ordinance should prove to be too stringent in practice, it can easily be modified hereafter.

Rev. Jas. Hageman preached his farewell sermon at the Friend's church last Sunday evening, and has gone to visit his parents near Cincinnati, Ohio.

The wind storm last Tuesday morning was quite general throughout Michigan. Several buildings in Detroit and Toledo were unroofed and otherwise damaged.

The pulpit of the Friend's church will be occupied next Sabbath by J. Edgar Williams, of Cleveland, O. He comes to fill the place of pastor for a time, as successor to Jas. Hageman.

Marshall Doolittle has returned home from Oregon and expects to remain here during the winter. He has been in California, Washington and Oregon sin... he left here almost a year and a half ago.

The Detroit Masonic Fair is a great success, and will be in full blast all next week. A special train will be run over the Wabash next Tuesday and many will doubtless avail themselves of that chance to visit the fair.

It was feared by many that the Steamer Marquette might have been caught out in the big storm Tuesday and seriously damaged. Word has been received from Capt. Chilson that both steamer and crew are all safe.

Mrs. E. R. Crossman has been seriously ill for several weeks. Last Monday her brother, Dr. J. B. Haynes, of Dundee, came up to see her and she returned home with him, where she can receive better care and treatment.

It is an ill wind that blows nobody good, for Lew Waldron has had his hands full since Tuesday. Five windmills were blown down flat that morning and many others damaged in this vicinity. Seven men called at his house Wednesday to see him about repairing damaged mills and he sold two new mills that day.

Nearly every store in town was closed yesterday afternoon and many of them were closed the entire day. Family parties were quite numerous, the weather was delightful, and our citizens generally made the most of the holiday. Thanksgiving is more and more generally observed every year and it is well that it should be so.

A sumptuous Thanksgiving dinner was served at the Lilley House yesterday to an extra large company of guests. In addition to the transients and regular boarders many of our village residents happened around about dinner time and were escorted to the dining room. The Lilley House has become noted for its holiday repasts, but yesterday's banquet broke the record in that regard. An elegant menu card served as a neat souvenir of the occasion.

The Eastern Star Chapter will give a unique entertainment next Tuesday evening, Dec. 3rd., called a birthday party. It seems to be a sinister scheme to inveigle the old maids and old bachelors into revealing their age. A neat invitation, bearing these dainty lines, tells the whole story:

The little sack that doth attend
The invitation that we send,
Will serve to hold, if you will give,
A penny for each year you live,
Until the present, anyway,
A mile-stone for each bright birthday
Please drop them in and bring the sack.
Of good refreshments none shall lack.
Then come along, but if you fail,
Just send the sack by hand or mail,
Or pass it over to a friend.
Who will his pence and presence lend,
To grace our temple bright and fair,
And meet the many gathered there.

Tecumseh was visited with an all day's rain last Monday. During the night the rain broke and turned into a gale, which amounted almost to a hurricane. The wind blew for several hours with terrific fury and considerable damage resulted in this section. Shade trees about the village were badly broken and a few were uprooted entirely. Many fences were leveled to the ground. An electric wire, to which the street circuit was attached, was broken, and the street lamps were thus extinguished. The wind mill on Mrs. Judge Stacy's place was blown over and the wind mills on John Fisher's and Mrs. Frank Rector's farms were laid flat. The awning of Anderson Bros. store was literally blown into strings. A portion of the roof on the Globe Mill grain elevator was blown off. The photographic show case belonging to Miss Lynne Daly, at the foot of the stairs, was wrenched from its fastenings and blown against the west window of Wright's drug store cracking the large plate glass. These are the principal casualties with the back towns yet to hear from.

Winter is coming early this year.

The regular monthly meeting of the W. F. M. society of the M. E. church will be held on Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 4th, at the home of Mrs. L. B. Ayers; meeting to begin promptly at 2:30 o'clock.

Sunday services in St. Peter's church for the month of December will be in the morning. Next Sunday the second quarterly payment for Diocesan Missions is due, and the Rector asks that the subscribers send in their amounts in the usual way.

In the Stock Farm $6.000 purse for foals of 1895 to be contested in 1897 it costs only one-twentieth of one per cent to start, and the last and largest payment does not have to be made until June 1. 1897, the year of the race. Address the Kentucky Stock Farm, Lexington, Ky.

Died, Nov. 25th, of quick consumption at his home in Ithaca, Mich., Mr. Courtland Snedicor, aged 58 years. The deceased was the oldest and only brother of Ed. and C. H. Snedecor of this place. Mr. Snedecor will be remembered by many as a Ridgeway blacksmith, where he ran a shop for several years.

Brook's drug store and hardware store at Onsted were entered by burglars Saturday night. The only booty secured was a watch from the latter place. An attempt was made to enter a grocery store, but the proprietor awoke in time to scare a man away from the front door, where he was working with a chisel.

The Bean-Chamberlain Co., at Hudson, has procured suitable quarters and proposes to go into the manufacture of high grade wheels on a large scale about the first of the year. The gent's wheel will be named "The Hudson," and the ladies' wheel, "Lady Hudson." The factory will add largely to the force of workmen in the city on the Bean.

Mrs. Jos. H. Emery has begun suit through her attorney, J. E. Bird, for $5,000 damages against the Lake Shore railway company, on account of the accident at the intersection of the Beecher and Madison street crossing one dark, rainy night during September. The contest will be made on the grounds that the company should have provided guard rails for the bridge off which Mr. and Mrs. Emery went into a deep ditch in the dark.—Telegram.

The statement has recently been made in several Sunday papers that Will Carleton is writing very little nowadays, and stays at home "nursing his health." The statement is true with these exceptions: Mr. Carleton writes more and lectures more than ever, has just published a book of new poems, has a book of prose nearly ready for the press, is in perfect physical health, and has been so almost uninterruptedly for the past ten years.

A very quiet wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Codling last week Thursday, in which Chris Wallinger, of Clinton, and Miss Lizzie Kirk, of Manchester, were principal actors. Both parties have many friends in Tecumseh. They are now keeping house in Clinton.

Detroit was honored with a Tecumseh wedding last Tuesday; at least the contracting parties and many of the guests were residents of our village. At eight o'clock in the evening in the cosy parlors of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Gray, their daughter, Margaret, became the wife of Mr. Benson J. Garlinghouse. Rev. C. M. Brown tied the nuptial knot in the presence of about forty guests. The bridal party returned home the same evening via the Wabash line and Brighton and began at once the serious duties of housekeeping in the house of Mrs. J. Phelps, on Shawnee street, which had been fitted up to receive them. The groom has always resided in Tecumseh and no one among our younger business men is more highly esteemed. The bride, during her residence here as a teacher in the High School, gathered about her a large circle of friends, who will gladly welcome her back as a permanent resident. The HERALD begs leave to join in the congratulations which will be bestowed upon them as they begin their matrimonial voyage.

IN SIMPLE UNIFORM.

Proposed Changes with Reference to State Troops.

Lansing, Nov. 25.—The state military board, consisting of the adjutant general, quartermaster and inspector general, have recommended changes in military regulations and rules which are of interest to the members of the Michigan national guard. These recommendations have been approved by the commander-in-chief. The principal changes are as follows: It has been ordered that all uniformed dress coats and helmets be returned to the quartermaster general; that the company letter and regimental figure be placed on the collars of the blouse; that the chevrons of non-commissioned officers be worn on the blouse in white and on the overcoat in blue. That portion referring to dress uniforms and helmets meets with the hearty approval of members of militia. They were never liked on account of their weight. It is presumed that the felt hat will be used entirely by the privates and the small caps by the officers.

BOWERSOX BEATEN.

Judgment of $3,044 Against Him for Alienating His Son's Affections.

Niles, Nov. 23.—About seven years ago Miss Rebecca Reinhardt, then of this city, was married to Richard Bowersox. They went to Three Rivers to live near Richard's parents. After one year of bliss without warning Richard suddenly left home, and the young wife naturally began an investigation. An attorney was engaged and Father-in-Law Bowersox was sued for $15,000 damages. It was shown that he had made the son's life a burden, and for the sake of peace of mind he concluded to depart. The suit for damages has been hanging fire for a long time, but has just come to trial, and Mrs. Bowersox was on Saturday awarded damages in the sum of $3,044. An appeal was taken to the supreme court.

FARES RAISED.

Citizens' Street Railway of Detroit Makes Good Its Threat.

Detroit, Nov. 25.—T. L. Johnson, president of the Detroit Citizens' Street Railway company, on Sunday put straight five-cent fares into effect, with the exception of the "workingmen's" tickets night and morning. The action was in pursuance of a threat made by President Johnson to Mayor Pingree to the effect that if the city government persisted in refusing to meet the company part way in the matter of extending the company's franchises the six-for-a-quarter tickets would be abolished.

Big Masonic Fair.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 26.—The biggest masonic fair ever held in the west opened here Monday. It is the first use made of the new Masonic temple, which is the finest building in the world devoted exclusively to masonry, and will cost over $500,000. Goods from every state in the union and every country in the world are among the exhibits. The exhibition of curios and numismatics is considered the finest yet seen in this country. The opening was a society event.

Horribly Mangled.

Tustin, Nov. 24.—Mrs. Nels Gunnison, an aged Swedish lady living one mile north of this village, was instantly killed by a Grand Rapids & Indiana railway train some time Friday night, the body being shockingly mutilated and the head being torn from the trunk. She was subject to temporary fits of insanity. After the remainder of the family had retired, she got out of the house and made her way to the railroad with the above result.

Money for Pottawatomies.

Niles, Nov. 25.—On Christmas day at South Haven the United States government will distribute $10,400 among the 300 Pottawatomie Indians who live in this part of the state. The amount to be divided among the Indians is the balance of $200,000 which the government owed the red men for their land, which was purshased in 1833. The Indians claim they have been defrauded out of $50,000 by the government.

Seeks Heavy Damages.

Adrian, Nov. 26.—Mrs. Joseph Emery began suit against the Lake Shore railroad for $5,000 damages for injuries received last September. A horse she was driving was frightened by an engine and plunged off a bridge. She claims the company's duty was to protect the bridge with a railing.

Balanced Accounts.

Lansing, Nov. 22.—Ex-Secretary of State Jochim does not now owe the state a cent. The excess of his salary drawn under the fraudulent amendment was $900, and a check for $400 received by the state treasurer closes up the matter, as the other $500 had already been received.

Fatal Fall.

Grand Haven, Mich., Nov. 26.—William Kelly, a marine engineer on the steamer City of Milwaukee, fell from the hurricane deck to the crankroom floor, when the boat was just outside Monday morning. His skull was fractured and he died a few hours later.

Assets Have Depreciated.

Lansing, Nov. 24.—It has been learned that the assets of the defunct Central Michigan savings bank will not pay the depositors more than 70 per cent. of their claims, having depreciated from $864,000 to $519,600 since the bank failed in May, 1893.

Files More Mortgages.

Detroit, Nov. 22.—W. H. Mitchell & Co., the wholesale millliners who Thursday filed chattel mortgages aggregating $30,000, Friday morning filed additional mortgages to the amount of $78,000 to secure 70 western creditors.

Hunted Deer with Dogs.

Baldwin, Nov. 23.—Leonard Newhouse, Albert Kimball, James Kelly, Frank Rohler and V. H. Woodruff were tried and convicted before Justice E. E. Decker here and fined $50 each upon the charge of hunting deer with dogs.

A. O. U. W. MEN BARRED.

Adrian, Nov. 26.—The funeral of Ludwig Shaaf, member of St. Stephen's German Lutheran church, took place Sunday under the auspices of the Ancient Order of United Workmen, to which he belonged. Rev. Mr. Detzer, the pastor, refused to allow members of the order to enter the church with the remains. They offered to go in as individuals and he consented, provided they would remove their badges. They refused, and arranged for services at the house. Mr. Detzer refused to officiate there, and the sons of the deceased secured Rev. Mr. Bancroft, of the Methodist church, and after some delay the obsequies were concluded. Mr. Detzer's objection was to secret societies.

THE WILL STANDS.

Decision in a Contested Case at Muskegon.

Muskegon, Nov. 24.—Judge S. A. Aldrich, of the probate court, handed down a very important decision Saturday afternoon in the case of Edwin Hayward, whose will was contested. Mr. Hayward died in Casnovia last May, leaving an estate valued at $43,000. Carrie Hayward was keeping the company of a young man at the time of her father's death, and her father did not like her knight. In his will Hayward provides that his daughter should have $4,000 if she did not marry this young man, and if she did marry him she was to receive but $400. In his decision Judge Aldrich held that the will is legal and has sustained its provisions.

TO CONSOLIDATE.

Big Mines in Michigan to Be Worked Jointly.

Iron Mountain, Mich., Nov. 26.—The dispatches announcing the purchase of the Hamilton and Luddington mines by the Chapin were premature. Papers have been drawn for the consolidation for the property and will probably be signed this week. Owing to the mines being connected under ground, the question of unwatering and the caving of the ore render it almost imperative that the three big properties be worked jointly. The three mines can easily produce 1,500,000 tons of iron ore next season if placed under one management.

MOTHER TO HOMELESS ONES.

Mrs. E. O. Turbush Adopts and Rears Twenty-One Children.

Bay City, Nov. 23.—Preparations are being made to honor Mrs. E. O. Turbush on her 81st birthday for her long career in charitable work. She has adopted 21 children and reared them to maturity. All have gone out into the world with honest enterprise and most have been successful. The good lady seldom speaks of her benevolence. It is said she will give a site for a children's home to any association that will establish one. Financially she is independent.

Makes a Strong Protest.

Saginaw, Nov. 23.—The Saginaw Valley Lumber Dealers' association is making a strong protest to the state board of insurance-policy commissioners against the use of the rider known as the percentage-value clause in insurance policies. It declares the clause is a violation of the intent of the legislature and an undue hardship upon the insurer, increasing his insurance for the benefit of the insurance companies and making the value of an insurance policy uncertain, fluctuating with every change in the amount of stock on hand.

Evade the Tax.

Lansing, Nov. 26.—It is evident that the law passed by the last legislature requiring nonresident deer hunters to pay a license fee of $25 to hunt in Michigan is not a success. Although hundreds of hunters from other states have sought the fastnesses of Michigan forests this year in pursuit of deer, the state treasurer has up to date received but one license of $25, or the state's portion thereof, from county clerks.

Again Defeated.

Benton Harbor, Nov. 23.—In the suit for $15,000 damages of Alderman Charles W. Shriver versus W. W. Bean the jury was out nine hours, finally agreeing to a verdict in favor of Bean, finding that the shot was accidental and that the plaintiff had no cause for action.

Death of a Detective.

Jackson, Nov. 25.—James Z. Ballard died at his residence here Saturday of Bright's disease, aged 67 years. Mr. Ballard became noted as a detective in connection with the celebrated Crouch murders, which occurred here 12 years ago.

Met a Violent Death.

Detroit, Nov. 23.—Patrick Thomas, foreman in charge of a derrick hauling material to the top of a 14-story building, lost his footing Friday and fell nine stories to an adjoining building and was killed.

School Law Enforced.

St. Clair, Nov. 22.—The first case in Michigan under the new compulsory school law came up in this city, when two parents were fined five dollars each for refusing to send to school their daughters.

Woolen Mill Burned.

Yale, Nov. 24.—Andrew Bros.' woolen mill in this village has been totally destroyed by fire, about 30 men being thrown out of employment. The mill was valued at $15,000 with but $3,500 insurance.

Husband and Wife Burned.

Menominee, Nov. 26.—By an explosion of a lamp in the residence of Angus F. McGillis both he and his wife were badly burned about the head, hands and face. Both are lying in a critical condition.

Charged with Bomb Throwing.

Wintervliet, Nov. 22.—George Franks, of this city, has been arrested, charged with complicity in the attempt to blow up Dr. Sweetland, of Mottville, Ind., by throwing a bomb into his office.

INTERESTING PARAGRAPHS.

A Budget of News from Various Points in the State.

A post office has been established at Wesley, Mason county.

By a majority of 35 Mason has voted to reject the blanket charter.

Hog cholera is reported prevalent among the herds of farmers near Alma.

To pay quarterly pensions, the Detroit office has received the sum of $1,800,000.

Muskegon cyclists are organizing for the purpose of building a plank road five feet wide from that city to Ravenna.

Good land can be bought in some parts of Roscommon county, it is said, at three dollars and five dollars per acre.

Owing to the prolonged coal war in Port Huron the dealers are now expecting a coal famine before the winter is over.

Niles has organized a military company with 25 men and will try to secure admission to the Michigan national guard.

As the work of compiling the state census is about completed, Secretary of State Gardner has begun discharging clerks.

It is said that Senator A. Oren Wheeler, of Manistee, will be a candidate before the republican convention for the nomination for governor.

The receipts of the post office at Ewen having aggregated $1,900 for the past four quarters, it will be made a presidential office on December 1.

The Crouch farm, well known as the site of one of the most outrageous and mysterious murders in Michigan, has been sold for $6,000 on a mortgage sale.

At the recent meeting of the Western Baseball league in Chicago the franchise was taken away from Grand Rapids, and that city dropped from the league.

In the vicinity of Ithaca there are about 40,000 bushels of potatoes yet in the ground. The famers did not think it worth while to dig them and let them freeze.

The Michigan Sunday School association has decided to meet in Kalamazoo next year. Its session at Detroit has closed. Fifteen hundred delegates were in attendance.

Pontiac has secured the Kelly Potato Digger company's factory by donating a $12,000 site. An additional bonus of $5,000, with which to equip the plant, has also been provided.

The annual exhibit of the Michigan Poultry and Pet Stock association will be held at Saginaw, December 10 to 13 inclusive. Birds from all parts of the state, as well as Canada, will compete for premiums.

In an interview at Detroit Hon. Stanley Turner predicts the election of Gen. Russell A. Alger as delegate-at-large to the republican national convention. It is understood, also, that Gov. Rich will be a candidate.

Capt. N. Robbins, superintendent of the 11th United States Life-saving district, is making the rounds of the life-saving station on the west shore, paying the crews for the last time this season. This station will close December 10.

Berrien county farmers are considering the advisability of raising more sugar cane the next year. Near Pipestone there is a sorghum mill which this year will put out over 600 gallons of pure sirup. Fifty people were given employment.

Kalamazoo is to have another industry. A number of Lansing and Kalamazoo capitalists and experts in the lumber business are to form a company called the Kalamazoo Hard Wood Finishing company, to manufacture lumber used in the interior finishing of houses.

Ex-Postmistress Found Guilty.

Grand Rapids, Nov. 23.—Mrs. Addie B. Holland, formerly postmistress at North Grand Rapids, was found guilty in the United States court Friday morning on the charge of embezzling money-order funds. The charge was that bogus money orders were issued on other offices and collected by her son. Before she was arrested she claimed the office had been robbed, but the robbery was only a blind.

Potato Growers Alarmed.

Galesburg, Nov. 24.—Considerable alarm is manifest among extensive potato growers here regarding the decay of the harvested crop. In almost every instance where they have been buried in pits, settling from the top indicates with certainty the loss of the entire contents, and a large proportion of those stored in cellars seem destined to the same fate.

To Prison for Life.

Monroe, Nov. 22.—Thursday afternoon Judge Kinne sentenced Mrs. Enos Larkins to Jackson for life. No disposition has yet been made of the twins which were born in the jail here, and the officers do not know what to do with them, as the prison authorities positively refuse to receive them in Jackson with their criminal mother.

May Vote on Local Option.

Lansing, Nov. 26.—There is but little doubt that Ingham county will be dry after May 1 next. A mass convention held Monday decided by a vote of two to one to circulate the necessary petitions for an election to decide whether local option shall be adopted in this county.

Elections in Michigan Cities.

Lansing, Nov. 26.—At special elections in Michigan citizens of Holland and Charlotte voted against the blanket charter. Charlotte voted $12,000 more in bonds to extend the waterworks system, and Ludington voted $10,000 in bonds to take up outstanding orders.

THE BEST FAMILY MEDICINE She Has Ever Known. Words of Praise from a New York Lady for AYER'S PILLS

"I would like to add my testimony to that of others who have used Ayer's Pills, and to say that I have taken them for many years, and always derived the best results from their use. For sick headache and liver troubles, and for the suffering of headache caused by these derangements, Ayer's Pills cannot be equaled."

When my friends ask me what is the best remedy for disorders of the stomach, liver, or bowels, my invariable answer is, Ayer's Pills. Taken in season, they will break up a cold, prevent la grippe, check fever, and regulate the digestive organs. They are easy to take, and are, indeed, the best all-round family medicine I have ever known."—Mrs. MAY JOHNSON, 368 Rider Avenue, New York City.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Lesson For the Week Beginning Dec. 1. Comment by Rev. W. J. Yates, A. M. Topic, The Council at Jerusalem.

SCRIPTURE READING.—Acts xv, 1-29.

The abhorrence of idolatry and all its attendant abominations had led to isolation, social and religious, on the part of the Jews. It is difficult for us to fully understand the feelings of a pious Jew concerning social and religious fellowship with the surrounding heathen of Paul's age. Grossest licentiousness was connected with the idol feasts and worship of Antioch and other places. In all the cities of that part of the world the Jews had synagogues and conducted worship which led them to utterly detest the impurity of the heathen ceremonies and refuse any companionship which might in any way compromise their own principles.

Under the preaching of Paul and Barnabas many gentiles had accepted Christ as their Saviour. They were uncircumcised and untaught in the Jewish customs and laws of Moses. How can these two elements, the Christian Pharisees and gentile Christians, be harmoniously united in one church? This was the burning question of the time. It was a problem on whose solution hung all the future of the church of Christ and the world.

Certain teachers from Jerusalem having come to Antioch declared that the gentiles must be circumcised or they could not be saved. Paul vehemently opposed them. The contention was sharp, and finally it was agreed to refer the matter to the decision of the church at Jerusalem.

Accordingly Paul and Barnabas, taking Titus, a gentile convert, with them, went up to Jerusalem. After a thorough discussion of the whole matter the decision was made that the converts from heathenism were not to be circumcised, neither required to keep the Mosaic law. But as the Jews were everywhere dispersed, and held in abhorrence all things offered to idols, and things strangled, and the eating of blood, the gentile converts, in order to have fraternal and social union with them, should also shun these things. The one most prominent evil of Antioch and Syria was licentiousness connected with idolatry. This was a moral evil to be strictly shunned.

By wisdom, tact and real Christian courtesy the great danger of division in the early church was thus avoided and a basis of unity found.

Paul gives additional light on the events of this convention at Jerusalem in his epistle to the Galatians in the second chapter.

The Epworth League House.

In many communities there is little or no call for "slum work." Institutional churches cannot be sustained in all localities—in fact, are not needed everywhere. But there are places, especially in the great cities, where every appliance and device that can be invented by sanctified sound sense is demanded. In Boston at the north end, almost under the eaves of the Old North church of Paul Revere fame, we have an Epworth League house which is doing good work in saving the people of that vicinity. Another in Chicago is equally successful. The needs of every locality should be studied, and then just the thing needed there should be done, without special regard to what some one else is doing.

A Notable Stone.

Bishop Asbury, in 1785, laid the cornerstone of Cokesbury college, at Abingdon, Md. This was so named from the first bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church, Coke and Asbury. It was the first Methodist college in America. The building was burned in 1795 and never rebuilt, and the college soon after was given up.

A block of granite weighing 300 pounds from the old foundations was secured in 1893 and has been polished and is to be placed in the foundation of Asbury Memorial hall of the great Washington university, thus linking this latest Methodist school with the earliest.

It Grows.

In many places the church grows slowly, but we must guard against thinking that because we see no great gain right about us, therefore the church is doing little or nothing. The Methodist Episcopal church during the past year has begun 1,000 new Sunday schools in the United States and aided 3,000 others, all through its Sunday School union. Every school, congregation and individual who contributed to its funds is a partner in this good work, even if it is ignorant of the dividends its investment has earned. The work does grow even if we didn't see it all. Help a little and it will increase more rapidly.

Temperance Work.

This must not be lost to mind. The most prominent evil in society at the present time is the open saloon and the drink traffic. The League should be active in efforts to assist the temperance reform. Occasional meetings to pray and counsel together should be held. Circulate the pledge. Secure the votes of friends for no license. Have a talk on some phase of the work. Do whatever is possible to increase interest, arouse conviction and save the young people from contracting the habit of using intoxicating liquors as a drink.

Helps to Study.

Careful reading of the Bible, comparing passage with passage, will give much insight into the truth. There is no substitute for this.

After all this has been done one can profitably read "Ben-Hur" for a knowledge of life in Antioch in the time of Paul.

Probably no better single volume can be found to assist in clear understanding of the present lessons than the "Life of St. Paul," by Conybeare and Howson. The "Life of Paul," by Farrar, is also of much value.

THE FOOT BALL GAME.

The discordant fish horn and the howls of faithful cranks proclaimed loudly to us yesterday morning that the annual foot ball game between Clinton and Tecumseh was in progress. The Clinton team was coached by Hollis Taylor and greatly to Mr. Taylor's credit be it said that he brought upon the field the best team Clinton has ever placed in opposition to the home team. At 11 o'clock the umpire's whistle sounded and Wade kicked off for Clinton. The ball was immediately stopped and punted back down the field where it was cleverly recovered by Tecumseh and went down for the first scrimmage. Tecumseh played her halfback for good sharp gains and on the third down Davidson planted the ball squarely behind Clinton's bar. Smith kicked goal. Score, Clinton, 0, Tecumseh, 6. Time 6 minutes. Wade kicked off again and the ball was as promptly punted back and recovered. Tecumseh lost the ball on a fumble and Clinton took a turn losing the ball on 3rd. down. A mix in Tecumseh's signals threw the ball back of the line and to save a loss it was punted down, the field where Burger recovered it on Huntington's fumble. A halfback play took the ball within a yard of Clinton's goal line, when our boys forced it through Clinton's left end. Davidson touched the ball down. Smith failed to kick goal. Score, C. 0, T., 10; time, 13 minutes. Clinton now tried her only hope, bucking the line which constituted her principal line of play, and in the next six minutes advanced steadily to Tecumseh's twenty-five yard line, when time was called.

SECOND HALF.

Heesen kicked off. Clinton failed to hold the ball and it was downed almost where it struck. Fast work by Tiffany and Smith took the ball within a foot of Clinton's line. Tecumseh shoved Davidson and Tiffany through Clinton's right end and scored the ball. Smith kicked goal. Score, C. 0., T. 16; time, 5 minutes.

Again Clinton failed to freeze onto Heesen's kickoff and the same operations were repeated with the variation of Tecumseh being fined 10 yards on a foul tackle; Clinton ditto. Clinton got another chance to buck the line without material gains. Wade let the ball slip when tackled and Davidson gobbled it. Loose interference allowed Davidson to score. Smith kicked goal., C. 0, T. 22; time 9 minutes.

Heesen slipped in kicking off and the ball went over the north touch line. Clinton brought it in for a scrimmage. Clinton lost the ball on down. Tecumseh was fined twenty-five yards for advancing the ball in the hands of the quarter back. Smith made a 35 yard run and was downed on the 15 yard line. Second down Smith scored, failing of goal. Score, C 0, T. 26; time, 7 minutes. In the next four minutes the teams sawed up and down the field, each one trying every scheme to advance. Time found the home team far into Clinton's territory again.

Clinton's team lined up the heaviest and their gains were mostly made by forcing through our lines steadily, but the rapid play and excellent running qualities of the home team made Clinton's best efforts useless. Yesterday's attendance 500.

VERY SERIOUSLY BURNED.

A distressing accident happened at the home of night police Ashley Walker, on Merrick street, this morning, in which a gasoline stove was the cause.

Miss Georgia Elliget, an eighteen years old girl employed as domestic in the family of Mr. Walker, was preparing breakfast about 7:30 o'clock. A fire had been kindled in the kitchen stove, but as this was slow in burning and it was nearly school time, the girl thought to hurry matters by using the small gasoline stove. The reservoir of the stove needed filling, and taking a dish she went out to get a measure full of gasoline. In the hurry some of it was spilled on her hand in filling, and as she lighted a match it took fire. In a second the light wrapper she wore was on fire. This frightened her so that instead of running out the side door, she rushed screaming through the house, and out the door into the front yard where she threw herself on the ground and rolled in the snow. Her clothing, with the exception of a few shreds, was entirely burned from her body. As she ran through the house wrapped in flames Mr. Walker grabbed after her to snatch off the blazing dress, but failed.

The girl's terrible screams alarmed the neighbors, who at once summoned Dr. Todd. The doctor was on hand in an instant and did everything possible to relieve the girl's awful suffering. The body was blistered and burned across the shoulders and around the hips. One limb was burned nearly the whole length. The arms and hands were badly burned and the long flowing hair on the girl's head was nearly burned off. The injuries are very serious but the sufferer's strong constitution is in her favor and she may recover.

The ceiling of the kitchen was smoked up some by a blaze that started around the stove, but no damage to speak of was done, as the fire was quickly put out.—Adrian Telegram Nov. 22d.

COTTON STATES' EXPOSITION.

A Brief Description of Some of the Principal Buildings and the Exhibits They Contain.

Having given our readers a general idea of the topography of Piedmont Park and the location of the main structures, we are now prepared to examine the Exposition in detail.

At the foot of Fourteenth street, which is the terminus of the Peachtree street motor line, is located the main entrance, which is combined with the Administration building. This building is 132 feet in length and the entrance gates are located in the center. It is modeled after the famous Blarney Castle in Ireland and the Tower of London. Old fashioned quarried leaded glass is used for all the windows, and every detail is carried out in harmony with the general antique design. The building is given up entirely to offices for the various branches of the administration department, where visitors can obtain all desired information from the officials in charge.

Directly east from the main entrance, and about ten rods distant, stands the Auditorium. It is 194 feet in length and 104 feet in width. The east front rests on a level ten feet below the west front. The main audience room is arranged in the form of an amphitheatre with a seating capacity for 3,000 people. Cafe and restaurant accommodations are provided, and a special feature consists of large boxes for private parties and distinguished guests. The building is utilized for a variety of purposes, lectures, musical entertainments, receptions and convention hall. Its acoustic properties are excellent and the building is commodious and airy. The rostrum is located in a recess on the east side of the room in the center and will accommodate about 200 performers. The room is brilliantly lighted with electricity.

South of this building stands the Agricultural structure. This is one of the largest buildings on the grounds, being 305 by 160 feet. There are four towers at the principal corners. The building stands on a terrace, which adds materially to its appearance when viewed from the east or south. In this department most of the Southern states have made a special effort to demonstrate the progress made by their section in agriculture, and their efforts have been crowned with signal success. Neither are the Northern and Western states behind, for their products were never shown to better advantage. Mexico, Guatamala, Venezuela and the Argentine Republic are also admirably represented. The building is divided into sections, lettered from A to N. Sections B K and C are taken by Florida and Arkansas. The booths are decorated with cotton on a black background, trimmed with varicolored bunting, producing a beautiful effect. Three more sections are occupied by South Carolina and Louisiana. Here the varied products of these states are grouped so as to be shown to the best advantage. The remaining sections are mostly occupied with private exhibits, of which there is a wonderful display. Among these might be mentioned the following, as worthy of special notice: The Cottolene exhibit by N. K. Fairbank & Co.; an immense display of cigars from Tampa, Fla.; preserved fruits by the Illinois Packing Co.; an extensive show of meats, lards and oils by the Hammond Packing Co. of Omaha; a splendid array of prepared foods by the American Cereal Co.; baking powder and flavoring extracts by the Sauer Co. of Richmond; a wonderful show of milk products by the Condensed Milk Co. of New York.

Farther south, on a lower level and around the west end of Clara Meer, is located the Minerals and Forestry building. This is a rustic structure built entirely of natural Southern woods, all of which are found in Georgia. It contains no less than twenty different varieties of wood. Wahoo and blackwood bark are used to cover the outside, the whole design being of rustic work. The exhibits consist of a variety of forest products, in the shape of logs, sections of trees, ornamental and fancy woods in veneers, as well as an extensive collection of minerals, all very effectively and beautifully arranged. The roof of the building is used as a complete roof garden, where tropical plants and foliage are shown. The Government exhibit is the most complete exhibition of the flora of the South ever gathered together. It covers 3,000 square feet in the center of the building. In the east end of the building is a fine exhibit from the Argentine Republic. This edifice is brilliantly illuminated at night by the Welesbach incandescent gas light system, which is in itself an important exhibit. The principal feature is the burner, which is made from a peculiar mineral, monazite sand, found only in North Carolina. A powerful, soft, blue light is produced, equal to an incandescent electric lamp, and the burner can be used with any illuminating gas.

A few rods eastward on the same level stands the Machinery building, an imposing structure five hundred feet in length by one hundred in width. The front facade is relieved by three large porticoes enclosed by colonnades of great Corinthian columns. The principal pediments contain beautiful staff figure work in appropriate design. Underneath the floor is a large basement where all the main and counter shafting are placed. An annex on the south 232 feet long is used for a boiler house. Here are four batteries of boilers of enormous size, which furnish steam for the ponderous engine in the main building. These latter have a capacity of 2,250 horsepower and supply the power necessary for all the purposes of the Exposition. This building rivals in interest the immense Palace of Machinery at Chicago. The floor area is divided into sections, many of which contain wonderful exhibits. Here is a cotton seed oil mill from Dayton, Ohio. There is a large collection of wood working machinery from Boston. Here is a big show of saws from Chicago. There are some ice making machines. In another is cotton weaving machinery from Woonsocket, R. I. In another is a show of cotton mill machinery from Castleton, England, and near by are a lot of cotton gins from Boston. An envelope machine in operation, turning out envelopes by the thousand, excites much curiosity. In another section is a Hoe printing press and type setting machine exhibited by the Atlanta Journal. Here is a knitting machine and there a loom, warper, twister and spooler. In one section is an immense display of soap and machines for making the same. These are a few of the principle exhibits, but not a tithe of what the building contains.

East of this is the California state structure, which contains a grand show of fruits from the Pacific coast, and near by is a train shed with six tracks on which trains of cars and locomotives are shown. Among these is a locomotive used during the war, on the Western & Atlantic, taken by Gen. Sherman's troops. Also a Pullman train and a palace train of the Plant System, one of the trunk lines of the South.

The structure which excites more curiosity and interest, perhaps, than any other, is the Negro building. It is located near the southeast corner of the Park and is a large edifice 270 feet in length. The exhibits within cover a period of over fifty years. It is the first building ever erected at an exposition for the sole purpose of showing the progress of the Negro race in the arts of civilization. The contractors and laborers employed in its construction were all of the colored race. The colored schools and colleges of the South have a wonderful show of exhibits, and the display of bric-a-brac and woman's work is large and beautiful. This building is a tangible proof of what the colored people are doing for themselves towards improving and elevating their race.

Directly north of this is the structure erected by the Georgia Manufacturers' Association. It differs materially from the other main buildings, being decidedly Moorish in both architecture and color. A beautiful rotunda, the roof of which is supported by eight arched trusses, extends the entire width of the building. The edifice is constructed wholly out of Georgia material and every exhibit in it is shown by a Georgia manufacturer. It contains some of the best exhibits, especially in the line of cotton manufacturing, to be seen on the grounds. Near by is a neat and unique building, octogonal in plan, erected by the Southern Railway System. This is the longest trunk line in the South, extending from Richmond and Washington through the gulf states to New Orleans, with a northern spur from Chattanooga to Cincinnati.

We now come to the Transportation building, one of the largest on the Park, located east of Clara Meer. Probably no other industry surpasses that of transportation in utility, and, considering the capital invested, it overshadows every other. The building contains a wonderful array of farm implements and machinery and all the latest improvements in railroad construction and coaches. Road wagons and carriages are shown in profusion. There is also a gas light exhibit in this building and a display of disinfectant fluids and machines. Among the curiosities are some rice hullers and a combined harvester and thresher. There is a large display of cane mills and grain mills and a gasoline engine and boat.

A Modern Mother

Has found that her little ones are improved more by the pleasant laxative, Syrup of Figs, when in need of the laxative effect of a gentle remedy than by any other, and that it is more acceptable to them. Children enjoy it and it benefits them. The true remedy, Syrup of Figs, is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only.

AUNT TABITHA TROTT.

A Few Common Sense Thoughts About Popular Amusements and Christianity.

HERALD:—Thomas Trott was brought up in the Methodist church, and it took him a long time to overcome the prejudices he imbibed there against many things that are of no material account when we come to talk about the welfare of the human race, both religious and secular. It only took the two recent issues of the HERALD, containing the address of a certain gentleman before a certain society you are more or less interested in, to settle his mind in regard to the amusements spoken of.

"Thomas," said I, after I had read the two articles mentioned, "do you suppose that preacher has ever studied astronomy?"

"Why do you ask that?" inquired Thomas.

"Because," I answered, he seems to have a small idea of the Great Creator. When I think of the vastness of space, and the innumerable worlds it contains all showing us weak mortals that we cannot even get the faintest conception of the greatness and power of the Creator, it seems ridiculous that Christians should do so much to belittle God and make him seem puerile."

"Recent discoveries in astronomy, by the aid of photography, have proven that there are stars in the milky way that are many times larger than our sun. They are so far away that astronomers have not computed the distance, and it may be some time before they do, but it cannot be said that they cannot do it. I am not surprised at any statement made by them, and it makes me think our old idea of a deity very small. How can we insignificant creatures injure Him?"

"I give it up! said Trott, "ask me something easier."

Without noticing what he said I went on. "Here is a preacher who says, "profanity is worse than theft, or arson or murder, for these crimes are attacks on humanity—that is an attack on Almighty God."

"The idea!" I exclaimed, "that we could injure Almighty God by what he calls profanity, which is but a vaporing of the breath, while theft, arson and murder are actual crimes and injuries to God's creatures. The thing seems so absurd to me that I cannot imagine the gentleman thought of what he was saying when he uttered the words."

"I agree with the gentleman in what he says about an innocent game of ball and when we consider that their so called league games are but means for gambling, I, also condemn them. As for women playing ball, I do not know that there is anything wrong about it any more than for the men and boys. If they are strong enough to stand the violent exercise it may do them good, and one thing you may be certain of, that is, if women were to mix in such games many of the objectionable things would disappear."

"What do you think of what he says about dancing?" asked Thomas.

"I do not agree with him entirely," I replied. "What is more natural than for a thoroughly happy person to feel light and joyous? Let a hand organ come onto the street and watch the children gather around it. Who can see the happy, innocent little things dance, prance around, thrilled to the heart by the, to them, beautiful strains and say that there is anything sinful about it? Why it is as natural to them as it is to sing when their little hearts are free from care and worry. A social dance among friends and acquaintances is no more sinful than a Methodist campmeeting, for many a crime has been committed in those delectable places. No one will admit that a public ball where men and women of all classes and conditions may mix indiscriminately is above reproach, neither are Thanksgiving tables soiloaded with rich and indigestible food that people, Christians, make gluttons of themselves and violate nature's laws, which are God's laws.

"The gentlemen says, "every Christian denomination in the world today renounces the dance." The gentleman is mistaken, and very much so. If he were not prejudiced he would realize that his saying is untrue. The Episcopalians, Universalists and the Catholic churches do not, and they are as much Christian as the denomination to which the gentleman belongs. They may be as nearly right, and they may be as wrong in their doctrines.

"His reference to that blatherskite, for money, Sam Jones, is not worth touching upon, but what he says about card playing and theatre going can be taken up with some interest, for they show that he is either an arrant humbug, or very ignorant of his subject."

"Guess you are about right, Tabby," said Thomas, and I went on.

"According to his reasoning churches should be shunned more than the theatre, for crimes and murders have been committed in them, and by preachers, too, as much as that fact is to be deplored. There is no more wrong or sin in a game of cards among friends then there is in the amusements his reverence would probably endorse. A game of cards can be made a source of wrong as can a Methodist choir meeting. There are many people who are too dull to master an intricate game of cards, but they can learn all the religious bigotry that is afloat.

"As to the theatre, the gentleman probably never saw a decent one, and there are thousands of them, where the objectionable play he mentions could not be seen or heard for any amount of the money even the preachers worship. The age for such bigotry, ignorant rot about the theatre is past. Your Aunt Tabitha has heard plays that were sermons to be remembered a life time, while she will acknowledge she would have hard work to remember a half dozen sermons from the pulpit, and she has heard many illustrious preachers. I could mention a number of plays that the gentleman could see and hear with profit, and gain in truly Christian ideas."

It gives me a very tired feeling when I come across the emanations of such religious bigots, for no other term will fill the bill. They will fret and groan about the non-essentials, such as games, dances and other amusements, and say nothing that will offend the wealthy members of the congregation, when the time might better be passed in denouncing the wrongs done the poor through unjust laws and usages. The preachers are very careful not to say anything that will offend the rich man who sits under the drippings of the sanctuary, though he may be guilty of usurious extortion, and even greater wrongs.

In politics the preachers are usually on the side of one or the other of the popular parties, whichever seems to be likely to bring the most credit to them from the worldly part of the congregation. There are very few Myron W. Reeds and Rev. Passmores, men who are brave enough to denounce wrong, even though it brings disaster upon their own heads. When Mr. Passmore denounced the worldliness of the Methodist bishops he brought a hornet's nest about his ears, for he told truths that were likely to prejudice the faithful, and that would mean reduced revenues.

Your Aunt Tabitha longs to see the day when we will have more real Christianity and less churchanity. A time when the gentlemen who fill pulpits for a yearly stipend will look more after the material welfare of their flocks, which will redound to their spiritual welfare. It is all folly trying to prepare places in a Heaven they are all very uncertain about for people whose stomachs have a chronic feeling of emptiness. Glittering robes in a New Jerusalem are of very little use to people in this life who have not a decent suit to their backs.

If the reverend gentlemen would use some of their time in trying to reform Congress and the state legislatures and put a stop to corruption in high places, instead of attempting to lessen the innocent amusements of mankind by decrying those that they know nothing of, or are too stupid to learn, they might earn their salaries.

Being good Christians does not consist in going about with long faces and crying, "woe, woe!" unto those who happen to be trying to enjoy the faculties for pleasure and amusement given them by their Creator. Give us more practical Christianity and less sham. Give us more comfortable, well supplied homes and less robbery with religious universities endowed by the plunder of powful, but legalized thieves.

True Christianity needs but a few words to give its creed. "Do unto others as you would others should do unto you." Nothing there about dancing, card playing or theatre going. All else besides those eleven words for any religion is superfluous. All else is mere doctrinal bosh, taken to build up creeds of churchanity. A man or woman can even go to the theatre on Sunday without violating the golden rule, and no religion needs more than that. Vice is as bad in the church as out of it. It will be impossible for any religious organization to ever convince all people that amusements are bad because they sometimes are abused. All the senses are abused by some people, but that is no reason why others should be derived of their senses. The preachers should get down to hard common sense, and they cannot do it too soon. These are the sentiments of your Aunt, Mrs. Whittlesey and children, of Toledo, and Mrs. Landon Dudley and two sons, of Battle Creek, spent Thanksgiving at the Wm. Whittlesey home and returned Monday.

Be sure to hear Thos. McClarry in his lecture on "The Mission of Mirth" next Saturday the 14th. Mr. McClarry comes well recommended and we should give the opening night our hearty support.

You will find funny and fine fancy fabrics at the Episcopal Fair next Wednesday. Supper served from 4:30 to 6:30. Cantata, "Areia, The Fairy of the Waters," by twenty children in the evening.

Mrs. Mary Biddle, mother of William Biddle, died at her home in Macon last Friday, at the age of 78. The funeral was conducted Sunday afternoon by Rev. Ramsdell at the Baptist church in Macon.

Go to the entertainment at the K. O. T. M. hall, Tuesday evening, and hear the ravings of John McColough; it was taken in his cell when he was crazy. This selection alone is worth the price of admission.

The remains of Mrs. Harriot Morgan were brought here from Mason last Saturday and taken to the home of Mr. Crittenden in Macon. The funeral was held at that place Sunday morning, Rev. Ramsdell officiating.

J. R Coller will give one of his Graphophone concerts under the auspices of the K. O. T. M., at their hall, Tuesday evening, Dec. 10. Don't fail to go and hear the wonderfull machine. Admission to all, 10c.

The younger voices, of both boys and girls, which are being trained for the cantata to be given at the Episcopal Fair next Wednesday evening, are developing very satisfactorily and will be worth the trouble to hear.

Rev. Ramsdel pronounced the ceremony last Tuesday noon which united the lives of Wm. Katner and Miss Hattie Platt, both of Clinton. The wedding took place at the home of the bride and the bridal couple took the afternoon train for Detroit, accompanied by the congratulations of many friends.

A very pretty wedding occurred in Clinton last Wednesday evening, when Rev. Ramsdell again tied a nuptial knot this time uniting Miss Belle Ogden and Chas. Bostedor with the ties that bind. The couple are well and favorably known here and the best wishes of many friends go with them.

The annual election of officers of the Clinton lodge, No. 175, F. & A. M. held last Wednesday evening resulted in the following choice:

W. M.—Geo. DePuy.

Treas.—Geo. Runyan.
Sec.—J. R. Blanchard.
S. D.—Chas. Fabrique.
J. D.—Frank Dorr.
Stewards—Henry Davis, J. L. Kishpaugh.
Tyler—Henry Sterritt.

Rev. C. C. Marshall has been on the sick list for a few days, and was unable to hold service on Sunday. It being the night for union service at the Baptist church, there was no service in town except at the Episcopal church.

Mr. and Mrs. Dr. Brown, of Chicago, were here Monday on account of his father's funeral. The Doctor returned Tuesday to Chicago while Mrs. Brown and child will visit her parents at Adrian on her return.

Geo. R. Brown, who has been ill some time past, died last Friday night at the home of his daughter, Mrs. King, where he had made his home recently. The deceased was an old resident of this township and had been identified with the history and development of the locality for a great many years. He had foreseen the approaching end and had made a suitable and equitable division of his property among the children. The diceased was 77 years of age and leaves two daughters and four sons, Mrs. Wm. Marshall, Mrs. M. R. King, Alexander, Horace and Thomas Brown of Clinton, and Dr. Heman Brown of Chicago. The funeral was held at the home of Mrs. King, Rev. Ramsdell officiating, and was largely attended.

A GREAT EXPENSE

To Carry on an Almost Helpless Fight.

—At Last the Fight is Over.

(From the Battle Creek Moon.)

Our representative called at 26 Battle Creek Avenue, the residence of S. I. Robbins, and in an interview with him brought out the following facts: Mr. Robbins tells of his wife's experience in a manner that carries conviction with his words He says: "I am sorry my wife is not at home this P. M., but no one knows better than I how she has suffered during past years. For twenty years she has been afflicted with the various forms of kidney complaint and an enlargement of the liver She was often confined to her bed for more than two weeks at a time suffering untold agony. She has doctored constantly, and I have paid out in doctors' bills for her alone as much as $900.00, and then her relief was only such that she would be able to be around for a spell. Some time ago she felt the symptoms of another attack coming on, such as a pain in through the kidneys and back. I hardly know what induced me to get a box of Doan's Kidney Pills, instead of sending for the family physician; however, I got some and she commenced their use. It was a surprise to us both to see their action; the attack was warded off, and she continued taking them with marked improvement each day of their use. She is better now than she has been in years, the pain in the back and others in the kidneys have entirely gone. Hardly a day goes by that we do not mention the great good Doan's Kidney Pills have done her. I was always opposed to patent medicines, but confess that my wife's experience with Doan's Kidney Pills has done much to change my opinions. If it were not for those pills she would not have been able to be out this afternoon.

The sick man knocking at the door of health gets in if he knocks the right way, and stays out if he doesn't. There are thousands of ways of getting sick but only one way to get well. Do whatever you will, if you do not put your digestion in good order, and make your blood rich and pure, you will not get well. Rich, pure blood is the only thing that can bring perfect health. Constipation is a disease of the blood. A large part of all diseases are traceable directly to impurities in the blood, and can be cured by eliminating them with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The first thing it does is to put the whole digestive system into perfect order. It stimulates the appetite, excites a copious secretion of the digestive fluids and promotes assimilation. It searches out disease germs wherever they may be, kills them and forces them out of the system. The Golden Medical Discovery has been used with unvarying success for over 30 years. 1w

The Shakers have made a discovery which is destined to accomplish much good. Realizing that three-fourths of all our sufferings arise from stomach troubles, that the country is literally filled with people who cannot eat and digest food, without subsequently suffering pain and distress, and that many are starving, wasting to mere skeletons, because their food does them no good, they have devoted much study and thought to the subject, and the result is this discovery, of their Digestive Cordial. A little book can be obtained from your druggist that will point out the way of relief at once. An investigation will cost nothing and will result in much good.

Neighborhood News.

BRITTON BUDGET.

Cass Zeluff is on the sick list.

Don't forget the play Saturday night.

Miss Bertha Britton is visiting friends in Milan.

Mr. Beal, of Ypsilanti, was in town Thursday.

Miss Carie Shaler, of Detroit, is visiting in town.

Lawyer Smith, of Adrian, was in our village Friday.

A. C. Hosgland and Art Curtis were in Adrian Tuesday.

A. P. B. Hardy made a business trip to Tecumseh Friday.

Mike VanNess, who has been ill for a week, is much better.

Make your arrangements to attend the donation next Wednesday.

We have a new hay firm in town; Swan & Hughes are the principals.

Admission to the Play, Saturday night, Dec. 7th, 10c., to any part of the house.

Rev. Mudge expects to preach his farewell sermon one week from next Sunday.

Mrs. Hattie Cox and son Harry spent Thanksgiving with her sister Mrs. W. Allen.

The Play at Exelby hall Saturday night will be given by the members of Frank J. Dean Co.

Leonard Kramer who has been visiting at W. Taylors, returned to his home in Detroit Monday.

Frank Brown was able to be out Wednesday for the first time since he returned from the woods.

Only a little more snow to make the sleighing perfect. It is excellent even where the roads are smooth.

The social Wednesday evening, given by the L. O. T. M., was somewhat slimly attended on account of the show which played in town that night.

Oats are in much favor at the depot and you can always find one or two nice selections there. Some new ones will soon arrive. Watch out for them.

The annual society meeting of the Christian Union church for the election of officers and other business will be held at the church parlors to-morrow p. m.

The Exchange Bank of Britton, has changed quarters and the firm will now hereafter do doing business at the store of Sharp & Linn. The safe was moved Saturday.

John Zeluff and family were sleighing for rabits last Tuesday, but were unfortunate enough to not even find a rabbit. The sleigh ride was much enjoyed, however.

Next Wednesday James McCarbery will move the old Beal's farm which was recently occupied by Alex Peters. The farm was sold at Administrator's sale for the sum of $31.50 per acre.

The F. J. Dean Company, who met with such successes here the first of the week, have been induced to put on an other "Rohman's Luck" at Exelby's Hall Saturday night. Don't miss it.

I am expecting to make a change in business soon, I would respectfully ask all persons indebted to me to kindly settle their account before Jan. 1st, the latest. JAS. HAIGHT.

The annual nominations in the K. O. T. M. took place last Tuesday night and election will take place at the next meeting. A candidate will also be present and every member should be present.

Gross. have a bookkeeper who was on trial. He will be seen at the store daily every day. If his duties are punctually attended to in the future as in the past he will doubtless be taken into the firm soon.

Will Underwood, while gamboling with a hog which he was driving Monday, stepped suddenly into a hole, severely strained the ligaments in his ankle. The injury will probably lay him up for some time.

Arnold, of Adrian, who represents the Page Wire Fence Co., recently announced a runaway east of town. The horse became frightened, ran and collided with the sleigh of Joe VanValkenburg. There was quite a squabble for a few minutes, but the rigs were finally separated with little injury.

Colby has been to considerable expense repairing his side walk and having completely overhauled it. As a result breakage was largely due to passage of heavy trucks, he has no more than fare to ask for heavy trucks to use some other than that made for foot passengers.

The annual donation of the Christian church will be held at the parlors of the church next week Wednesday, Dec. 4th. This is the last chance which the people will have to show their appreciation of the work which has been done in our midst by our pastor, let all turn out and make the donation a success.

The young ladies of Britton have long been looking for an opportunity to reward their admirers for the many attentions of past years, and they are already making most elaborate preparations for the leap year of femenine priviliges. The first day of the chosen season will be realized and a jolly party given New Years night, and doubtless many more thereafter during the year will be realized in some way by the fair sex.

The Frank J. Dean Company which played a three nights engagement here the first of the week deserved and received the most flattering success. Monday night was given "Woman against Woman" Tuesday "The Country Girl" Wednesday "Peck's Bad Boy." All popular plays were put on in first class style by the company, which by the way, is composed of artists in their particular roles. Barnstormers usually get a cold shoulder in Britton but the fact that the attendance increased with each nights performance of the company speaks stronger than words their popularity and excellence.

Surprise parties and cyclones are similar in some respects. One hardly knows their source, but after they have come and gone one knows that they have been, and those who have passed through both think the surprise party preferable. At least that is Walter Swick's decision, for he passed through one of those surprises Saturday evening, Nov. 30. Mr. Swick and wife, formerly Miss Bertha Underwood, reside with Walter's father, Lute Swick, one mile north of Britton. Saturday evening, as the family was seated around the fireside visiting, perhaps thinking of the sweet repose that would soon encircle their minds, their meditations were disturbed by the sound of voices outside. The door was soon thrown open and in marched an army of friends and neighbors to the number of 35, headed by James Underwood's family and followed by brothers and sisters of Mrs. Swick, with their families, also friends and neighbors. The evening's entertainment opened with happy greetings of one to another, followed by a time of sociability. Then the table was drawn out and loaded down with the rich provisions which the good ladies had not forgotten to prepare. When ready, the company gathered around the table and satisfied their apetites with the rich viands. This act over, Lute Swick took down the fiddle and the bow and entertained the company with some favorite selections, which was followed by the sweet strains of the organ and singing by the company. This continued until quite a late hour when the party broke up and the good byes were said and the company departed, feeling it had been an evening well spent, and that the strong cord of love which binds families, friends and neighbors together had been more closely drawn.

RIDGEWAY RAMBLES.

Good sleighing.

Mrs. John H. Davis, of Milford, has sent invitations to a Christmas celebration to Franklin relatives. It will be the anniversary of their wedding day. 1864.

The next Lyceum will occur at E. J. Whelan's two weeks from last Saturday night. A good program is being prepared and an interesting debate will follow led by Wm. Spaulding and Andrew Taylor. We notice on the program a speech from H. Taylor, Declamation, G. W. Allen; song., Mrs. Van Doren; paper., Alma Whelan, and A. Taylor, a dialogue and other things too numerous to mention. Come out.

RAISIN RACKET.

Mr. VanNorman has moved into the Houghtby house.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Kishpaugh visited at Hanover this week.

Miss Nellie Bowerman came home from Clinton to spend Thanksgiving.

A Sunday school convention is to be held at the Friends church, at the Center, next Saturday at 10 a. m, Palmyra and Raisin townships.

Mrs. Butler, who has been living at Joseph Bowerman's, died Saturday. She had been suffering with la grippe, but it is thought died in an epileptic fit.

The severe wind took the roof from the shed at the Quaker church last Monday night and left it in the berry patch at Lee Hoag's. The men made a "bee" Saturday and repaired it.

DR. HARTMAN SAYS

Now is the Time to Guard Against Colds—The First Cold Weather.

In a recent lecture at the Surgical Hotel Dr. Hartman is reported as saying that no one need catch cold if he willing to give the matter slight attention; that a cold is the beginning of chronic catarrh, consumption, disease of the liver, stomach, kidneys and pelvic organs. All this could be prevented by taking his advice. The doctor's professional duties compelled him, for many years, to be on the road night and day, by carriage, railroad and steamboat. During all this time he never caught a cold. This could not have been done without Pe-ru-na, he says. At the slightest evidence of a cold a few doses of Pe-ru-na invariably check it.

This is especially seasonable advice, for the cold winter is here, with its storms, sudden changes, slop, rain and snow. Thousands of people will contract diseases from which they will never recover, by catching cold. Dr. Hartman's advice should be heeded. Pe-ru-na cures catarrh of any stage or location. It is the most popular remedy for la grippe, coughs, colds, etc.

Send for a free copy of an illustrated book on catarrh. It contains sixty-four pages of valuable instruction. Address The Pe-ru-na Drug Manufacturing Company, Columbus, O. Ask your druggist for a copy of the Pe-ru-na Almanac for 1896.

The Historic Route.

The Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis R'y, the model railroad of the South in equipment, roadway and service, is also the greatest in historical interest, more than fifty famous battlefields and five national cemeteries being located on the various lines of this system. This is the preferred route to Atlanta for the Cotton States and International Exposition, open from September 18, to December 31, 1895, for which very low excursion rates have been made. Through sleeping car service from St. Louis to Atlanta via Evansville, Nashville and Chattanooga. YEARS OF INTENSE PAIN.

Dr. J. H. Watts, druggist and physician, Humboldt, Neb., who suffered with heart disease for four years, trying every remedy and all treatments known to himself and fellow-practitioners; believes that heart disease is curable. He writes:

"I wish to tell what your valuable medicine has done for me. For four years I had heart disease of the very worst kind. Several physicians I consulted, said it was Rheumatism of the Heart.

DR. J. H. WATTS.

It was almost unendurable; with shortness of breath, palpitations, severe pains, unable to sleep, especially on the left side. No pen can describe my sufferings, particularly during the last months of those four weary years. I finally tried and was surprised at the result. It put new life into and made a new man of me. I have not had a symptom of trouble since and I am satisfied your medicine has cured me for I have now enjoyed, since taking it

Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure,

Three Years of Splendid Health.

I might add that I am a druggist and have sold and recommended your Heart Cure, for I know what it has done for me and only wish I could state more clearly my suffering then and the good health I now enjoy. Your Nervine and other remedies also give excellent satisfaction." J. H. WATTS.

Humboldt, Neb., May 9, '94.

Dr. Miles Heart Cure is sold on a positive guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. All druggists sell it at $1, 6 bottles for $5, or it will be sent, prepaid, on receipt of price by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

TECUMSEH, MICH., DEC. 6, 1895.

A WORD TO OUR PATRONS.

The HERALD is looking forward to the year 1896 with a determination to make it the most successful one in the history of the paper. And we have concluded to confer with our readers in regard to the lines upon which the paper shall be conducted next year. Our patrons look upon the old HERALD, in a certain sense, as their own, and so far as we can do so without surrendering our own convictions, we desire to respect their wishes as to the class of reading which its columns shall contain.

We are now printing six columns of general news each week, three of Michigan state news and three of condensed news items. We take it for granted that the local news of Tecumseh and the surrounding towns should be kept up to its present standard and extended whenever possible. This news cannot be obtained in so complete a form elsewhere. Most of our readers, however, take some city weekly, in which the general news is furnished more fully. Shall the HERALD discard its six columns of news, and if so, what shall be substituted in its place? Hence these questions:

1. Shall we retain the three columns of Michigan News, or substitute therefor neighborhood and county items and a short story?

2. Shall we keep the three columns of condensed news, or substitute free silver coinage matter in their place?

3. Shall we run a dairy column, a temperance column, or both?

4. Shall we continue the Epworth League and Grab Bag columns?

Five minutes' time and the expenditure of one cent for a postal card will enable every subscriber on our list to answer these questions. Answer the question you consider the most important, or, better still, all of them. Don't be bashful. Speak out frankly. Add to your direct answers such comments as may occur to you. Send in your postals between this date and Christmas. They will be collated and examined immediately thereafter, and the HERALD for the coming year will conform, as nearly as possible, to the recommendations which they may contain.

THE T. & F. FARMERS' CLUB.

THE HERALD FOR 1896.

Again the "Old Reliable" greets its patrons. The hard times of the past two years are slowly but surely improving, and we have reason to expect a fair business year during 1896. It behooves us all, therefore, to set our house in order and be prepared to take advantage of the revival when it comes.

The HERALD will enter the coming year better equipped than ever to meet all requirements upon it—to tide over close times, if such shall be its destiny, or to make hay while the sun shines, if the opportunity shall be offered. In any event, therefore, its weekly visits will be continued during 1896, as they have been for over forty-five years. The character of the paper will be substantially the same as heretofore. First and foremost, it will fill the bill as a first-class local newspaper, giving such additional matter as seems to be most satisfactory to a majority of its patrons. It will not be the organ of any party, sect or clique, but will be independent in all things, and it will never shrink from expressing its honest convictions on all subjects, whenever occasion seems to demand it. Our rates have been placed upon a hard pan basis for 1896, and we offer a few extra combinations for those who regard them with favor; and we take pride in the fact that we can meet all competition in this direction. We print the most favorable club list ever presented in these columns, which will be found elsewhere. Here are the combination offers in detail.

NUMBER ONE.

The Marsh Reading Stand and Revolving Book Case is the best article of that kind now on the market. It has a strong metal base and the sides are handsomely finished. It revolves easily, shelves and top are of solid oak, has six feet of shelf room and will hold forty small or medium volumes. The price has been recently reduced to $5.00, and by a special arrangement with the manufacturers we can sell this useful article for only $4.00, which will include a full year's subscription to the HERALD. Never before has this elegant piece of furniture been offered at such a price.

NUMBER TWO.

Everyone knows something about the great map publishing firm of Rand, McNally & Co. Their atlases and wall maps have gained a world-wide reputation. Their new state map of Michigan is the best one ever issued. It is 41 by 58 inches in size, full mounted with rollers, showing all organized townships, beautifully colored, and sells for $2.00. The former price was $3.00. This map can be furnished at the regular price, $2.00, with a year's subscription to the HERALD included.

NUMBER THREE.

The Housekeeper, published monthly at Minneapolis, is one of the oldest and best of the domestic periodicals, widely circulated and popular. It has recently been enlarged to twenty pages and the price reduced to $1.00 a year. For $2.00 we will furnish both the HERALD and Housekeeper one year with any one of these six premiums: Buckeye Cook Book, Poultry Raiser's Guide and Candy Making, a six-bladed chopping knife, a pair of nickel plated curling irons, the Silver Lustre egg beater, a serrated bread knife. Two dollars will pay for any one of these premiums, The Housekeeper and the HERALD.

NUMBER FOUR.

The Practical Home Physician is the best book of that character published in recent years. Its authors are men of national repute. It contains about 1200 pages, weighing six pounds, is printed in bold, clear type, on extra good paper and is handsomely bound in English cloth. This book sells for $6.50, but, by a special arrangement with the publishers, we can furnish it for only $3.50, which will also include a year's subscription to the HERALD. This is a bargain.

NUMBER FIVE.

The People's History of the United States has just been issued by the noted author and historian, John Clark Ridpath, L.L.D. It is the very best history of the United States now extant, comprised within the limits of a single volume. The cloth bound edition is sold only by subscription at $3.75 per copy. We can furnish this great work at only $2.50 per copy, with a year's subscription to the HERALD included. This is an unprecedented offer.

Christmas and New Year Holidays.

The Cincinnati, Jackson & Mackinaw R'y will sell special excursion tickets at rate of one and one-third first class fare for the round trip, account of the Christmas and New Year holidays. Tickets on sale December 24, 25 and 31, 1895, and January 1, 1896, good going on date of sale and good returning up to and including Jan. 2, 1896. Excursion tickets will be on sale at all stations to points on the C., J. & M. R'y, and at principal station points on connecting lines.

EVERYBODY LIKES HER.

There is a type of girl that everybody likes. Nobody can tell exactly why, but after you have met her you turn away to some other woman and say: "Don't you like Miss Grosvenor?" Now, the reason you like her is a subtle one; without knowing all about her you feel just the sort of a girl she is.

She is the girl who is not "too bright and good" to be able to find joy and pleasure all over the world.

She is the girl who appreciates the fact that she cannot always have the first choice of everything in the world.

She is the girl who is not aggressive and does not find joy in inciting aggressive people.

She is the girl who, whether it is warm or cold, clear or stormy, finds no fault with the weather.

She is the girl who, when you invite her to any place, compliments you by looking her best.

She is the girl who is sweet and womanly to look at and listen to, and who doesn't strike you as a poor imitation of a demimondaine.

She is the girl who makes this world a pleasant place because she is so pleasant herself.

And, by the by, when you come to think of it, isn't she the girl who makes you feel she likes you, and, therefore you like her.

THE SUPREME COURT BARS KODAKS.

Visitors and tourists are not allowed to take kodaks into the Supreme Court room in Washington. The dignified members of that high judicial tribunal were deeply mortified recently by the report that a kodak fiend took a snap shot at Mr. Associate Justice Gray, of Massachusetts, while he was "dozing" on the bench. Judges of the Supreme Court frequently take 'forty winks' during the arguments if the talk happens to be uninteresting, but they manage to conceal the fact from all but the closest observers. Justice Gray is the tallest member of the court and for that reason he is the most conspicuous; besides he has a peculiarly shaped head, which always attracts attention and elicits comment from visitors.

Unfortunately for Mr. Justice Gray, he is more given to 'nodding on the bench' than any of his associates, and when he takes a nap his head falls low upon his breast, his mouth hangs open and he could not truthfully be called a 'sleeping beauty.' It was during one of his naps that the kodak fiend got in his work. Naturally Mr. Justice Gray is very sensitive on the subject, and he was further mortified one day by receiving a severe reprimand from his wife. She had taken some friends to the capitol to witness the proceedings of the court, but principally to show off her husband in his rich silk gown. It so happened that the case pending before the court was dull and the attorneys uninteresting, so that when Mrs. Gray and her friends entered the court room Judge Gray was sound asleep in his chair.—New York Sun.

EXECUTIVE VIEWS

Of What Is the Matter With the United States.

GREENBACKS THE CHIEF TROUBLE

A Message Almost Entirely Devoted to the Burning Question of Finance.

LITTLE SAID ABOUT THE TARIFF.

Review of the Difficulty in Keeping the Gold Reserve Intact—Bond Issue That Gave Only Temporary Relief—Suggestions as to What Should Be Done to Put Uncle Sam's Monetary Affairs on a Safe Basis—Argument Against Free Silver—Remarks on Cuba, Armenia, and the Venezuela and Alaska Boundary Questions.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—The president's message was delivered to both house of congress today. It begins with a recommendation to congress to give the department reports careful scrutiny and examination. He then calls attention to the fact that the Argentine republic has amended its tariff in recognition of the opening of our interest to its wool, so as to admit to that country a number of products of the United States at reduced duties.

The first subject of importance touched upon is the disordered condition of affairs in China, following upon the close of the war with Japan, the consequent weakening of the central authority of the government and the serious outbreaks of the old fanatical spirit against foreigners is discussed. The demands of the United States and other powers for the punishment of the aggressors and the compliance of the Chinese government are related, as is the demand of the United States for a special commission to investigate the disturbances when they first broke out.

Of the Waller incident the message says: "The customary cordial relations between this country and France have been undisturbed with the exception that a full explanation of the treatment of John L. Waller by the expeditionary military authorities of France still remains to be given."

The official record of the trial has been furnished this government, says the message, "but the evidence adduced in support of the charges—which was not received by the French minister for foreign affairs till the first week in October—has thus far been withheld, the French government taking the ground that its production in response to our demand would establish a bad precedent. The efforts of our ambassador to procure, however, though impeded by recent changes in the French ministry, have not been relaxed, and it is confidently expected that some satisfactory solution of the matter will shortly be reached. Meanwhile it appears that Mr. Waller's confinement has every alleviation which the state of his health and all the other circumstances of the case demand or permit."

TAKES UP THE TARIFF PROMPTLY.

Refers to Our Commercial Relations With Kaiser Billy's Domain.

Our relations with Germany he says are influenced by the "delusive doctrine that the internal development of a nation is promoted and its wealth increased by a policy which is undertaking to reserve its home markets for the exclusive use of its own producers without considering that such a policy necessarily obstructs their sales in foreign markets and prevents free access to the products of the world; the desire to retain trade in time-worn ruts, regardless of the inexorable laws of new needs and changed conditions of demand and supply, and our own halting tardiness to invite a freer exchange of commodities, and by this means imperil our footing in the external markets naturally open to us, have created a situation somewhat injurious to American export interests, not only in Germany, where they are perhaps most noticeable, but in adjacent countries." The effect of this particularly on food products and also on our insurance companies is pointed out. The necessity for open handed fairness in dealing with other nations is stated, but it is argued that if necessary to provide restrictions similar to those from which we suffer, in order to guard against unfair discrimination, the way to such a course is easy, but should not be lightly entered upon.

The president goes on as follows: "It is not to be forgotten that international trade cannot be one sided. Its currents are alternating and its movements should be honestly reciprocal. Without this it almost necessarily degenerates into a device to gain advantage or a contrivance to secure benefits with only the semblance of a return. In our dealings with other nations we ought to be open handed and scrupulously fair. This should be our policy as a producing nation, and it plainly becomes us as a people who love generosity and the moral aspects of national faith and reciprocal forbearance.

"These considerations should not, however, constrain us to submit to unfair discrimination nor to silently acquiesce in vexatious hindrances to the enjoyment of our share of the legitimate advantages of proper trade relations. If an examination of the situation suggests such measures on our part as would involve restrictions similar to those from which we suffered, the way to such a course is easy. It should, however, by no means be lightly entered upon, since the necessity for the inauguration of such a policy would be regretted by the best sentiment of our people, and because it might naturally and logically lead to consequences of the gravest character."

The Bering Sea Question.

The vexatious points of the Bering sea questions referred to the failure of the arbitration tribunal provide a means of settlement are pointed out. The insufficiency of the British patrol of Bering sea and the necessity for a more effective enforcement of regulations have, it is said, been pointed out to the British government. If it is hoped to save the seals from extinction. Of the proposal to pay $425,000 to Great Britian in settlement of British claims for damages, which was refused by the last congress, the president recommends that it again be considered and sanctioned.

If this is refused we are bound by every consideration of honor and and good faith, he says, to provide for a speedy settlement by arbitration. A treaty of arbitration is to be laid before the senate. An appropriation for the completion of the Alaska boundary survey which follows the contour of the coast is recommended. The importance of an international agreement as to the line of the 141st meridan which forms the rest of the boundary is dwelt upon. Attention is also called to the unsatisfactory condition of the boundaries with Canada in the Great Lakes and the necessity for a joint commission on the subject.

ASSERTS THE MONROE DOCTRINE.

Substance of the Communication to Great Britain About Venezuela.

Of Venezuela the message says that a statement of the interest and policy of the United States regarding the boundary dispute was sent to Great Britain in July last. "The general conclusions therein reached and formulated," says the president, "are in substance that the traditional established policy of the government is firmly opposed to a forcible increase by any European power of its territorial possessions on this continent; that this policy is as well founded in principle as it is strongly supported by numerous precedents; that as a consequence the United States is bound to protest against the enlargement of the area of British Guiana in derogation of the rights and against the will of Venezuela; that, considering the disparity in strength of Great Britian and Venezuela the territorial dispute between them can be reasonably settled only by friendly and impartial arbitration, and that the resort to such arbitration should include the whole controversy, and is not satisfied if one of the powers concerned is permitted to draw an arbitrary line through the territory in debate and to declare that it will submit to arbitration only the portion lying on one side of it. In view of these conclusions the dispatch in question called upon the British government for a definite answer to the question whether it would or would not submit the territorial controversy between itself and Venezuela in its entirety to impartial arbitration. The answer of the British government has not yet been received but is expected shortly, when further communication on the subject will probably be made to the congress."

Hawaii is dismissed with a reference to the uprising last January, the demand made upon the Hawaiian government for the rights of American citizens concerned therein and the demand for the recall of Minister Thurston.

The padroni is denounced as responsible for such manifestations against helpless aliens as the lynching of Italians in Colorado. Congratulations are offered on our good relations with Japan, in view of her vast gains in greatness. Unimportant references are made to our relations with Mexico, Nicaragua and Russia. He also gives a brief resume of the British-Nicaragua difficulty, without comment.

The Insurrection in Cuba.

Of Cuba the president says the United States must preserve international faith, whatever the sympathy of our citizens with the insurgents. He continues: "Though neither the warmth of our people's sympathy with the Cuban insurgents nor our loss of material damage consequent upon the futile endeavors thus far made to restore peace and order, nor any shock our humane sensibilities may have received from the cruelties which appear to especially characterize this sanguinary and fiercely conducted war, have in the least shaken the determination of the government to honestly fulfill every international obligation, yet it is to be earnestly hoped on every ground that the devastation of armed conflict may speedily be stayed and order and quiet restored to the distracted island, bringing in their train the activity and thrift of peaceful pursuits."

Hopes That Europe May Settle Turkey.

The president expresses his regret that the Turkish government should have thwarted the purpose to send to the disturbed quarter of the empire the United States consul at Sivas in order to investigate and report. Every effort, he says, is put forth to insure the safety of American citizens and the United States minister is alert. But, he goes on, several of the most powerful European powers have assumed a duty as agents of the Christian world in Turkey to restrain fanatical brutality, and "it is earnestly hoped that prompt and effective action on their part will not be delayed."

We have sent ships as far toward the points of actual disturbance as it is possible for them to go, where they offer refuge to those obliged to flee, and we have the promise of other powers which have ships in the neighborhood that our citizens as well as theirs will be received and protected on board those ships. On the demand of our minister orders have been issued by the sultan that Turkish soldiers shall guard and escort to the coast American refugees.

These orders have been carried out, and our latest intelligence gives assurance of the present safety of our citizens and missionaries. Though thus far no lives of American citizens have been sacrificed, there can be no doubt that serious loss and destruction of mission property have resulted from riotous conflicts and outrageous attacks.

To Insure Against Massacres.

By treaty several of the most powerful European powers have secured a right and have assumed a duty not only in behalf of their own citizens and in furtherance of their own interests, but as agents of the christian world. Their right is to enforce such conduct of the Turkish government as will restrain fanatical brutality, and if this fails their duty is to interfere as to insure against such dreadful occurances in Turkey as to have lately shocked civilization. The powers declare this right and this duty to be theirs a one, and it is earnestly hoped that prompt and effective action on their part will not be delayed. The new consulates at Erzeroum and Harpoot, for which appropriation was made last session, have been provisionally filled by trusted employes of the department of state. These appointees, though now in Turkey, have not yet received their exequaturs.

The arbitration of the claim of the Venezuela Steam Transportation company under the treaty of Jan. 19, 1892, between the United States and Venezuela resulted in an award in favor of the claimant.

Used Our Good Offices.

The government has used its good offices toward composing the differences between Venezuela on the one hand and France and Belgium on the other growing out of the dismissal of the reprentatives of those powers on the ground of a publication deeme offensive to Venezuela. Although that dismissal was coupled with a cordial request that other more personally agreeable envoys be sent in their stead, a rupture of intercourse ensued and still continues.

Our Consular Service.

In view of the growth of our interests in foreign countries and the encouraging prospects for a general expansion of our commerce, the question of an improvement in the consular service has increased in importance and urgency. Though there is no doubt that the great body of consular officers are rendering valuable services to the trade and industries of the country, the needs of some plan of appointment and control which would tend to secure a higher average of efficiency is not denied. The importance of the subject has led the executive to consider what steps might properly be taken without additional legislation to answer the need of a better system of consular appointments. This matter having been committed to the consideration of the secretary of state, in pursuance of his recommendations, an executive order was issued on the 20th of September, 1895, by the terms of which it is provided that after that date any vacancy in a consulate or commercial agency with an annual salary or compensation from official fees of not more than $2,500 or less than $1,000 should be filled either by transfer or promotion from some other position under the department of state of a character tending to qualify the incumbent for the position to filled, or by the appointment of a person not under the department of state, but having previously served thereunder and shown his capacity and fitness for consular duty, or by the appointment of a person who, having been selected by the president and sent to board for examination is found, upon such examination, to be qualified for the position. Posts which pay less than $1,000 being, usually, on account of their small compensation, filled by selection from residents of the locality, it was not deemed practicable to put them under the new system.

The boundary dispute which lately threatened to embroil Guatemala and Mexico has happily yielded to pacific counsels and its determination has, by the joint agreement of the parties, been submitted to the sole arbitration of the United States minister to Mexico.

The commission appointed under the convention of Feb. 18, 1858, to set new monuments along the boundary between the United States and Mexico has completed its task.

FINANCES OF THE UNITED STATES.

Fully half the message is devoted to a discussion of the financial situation. "By command of the people, the message says, a customs revenue system designed for the protection and benefit of favored classes at the expense of the great mass of our countrymen and which, while inefficient for the purpose of revenue, curtailed our trade relations and impeded our entrance to the markets of the world, has been superseded by a tariff policy which in principle is based upon the denial of the right of the government to obstruct the avenues to our peoples cheap living or lessen their comfort and contentment, for the sake of according especial advantages to favorites, and which, while encouraging our intercourse and trade with other nations, recognizes the fact that American self-reliance, thrift and ingenuity can build up our country's industry and develop its resources more surely than enervating paternalism. But this and the repeal of the silver purchase law, it is said, fall far short of curing the financial evils from which we suffer.

The currency denominated United States notes and commonly known as greenbacks was issued in large volume during the late civil war and was intended originally to meet the exigencies of that period. It will be seen by a reference to the debates in congress at the

J. C. HAZLETT.

Then the laws were passed authorizing the issue of these notes that their advocates declared they were intended for only temporary use and to meet the emergency of war. In almost all the laws relating to them some provision was made contemplating their voluntary or compulsory retirement. A large quantity of them, however, were kept on foot and mingled with the currency of the country, so that at the close of the year 1874 they amounted to $381,999,073.

[The president then gives a history of the laws providing for the resumption of specie payments and the authority to issue bonds for that purpose, and that and the law forbidding the further cancellation and retirement of the greenbacks passed in 1878.]

Redemption That Don't Redeem.

The law of 1878 did not stop at distinct prohibition but contained, in addition, the following provision: "And when any of said notes may be redeemed or received into the treasury under any law from any source whatever and shall belong to the United States, they shall not be reissued, canceled, or destroyed, but they shall be reissued and paid out again and kept in circulation." This was the condition of affairs on the 1st day of January, 1879, which had been fixed upon four years before as the date for entering upon the resumption and retirement of all these notes, and for which such abundant means had been provided. The government was put in the anomalous situation of owing to the holders of its notes debts payable in gold on demand which could neither be retired by receiving such notes in discharge of obligations due the government, nor cancelled by actual payment in gold. It was forced to redeem without redemption and to pay without acquittance.

Fluctuation of the Gold Reserve.

There has been issued and sold $95,500,000 of the bonds authorized by the resumption act of 1875, the proceeds of which, together with other gold in the treasury, created a gold fund deemed sufficient to meet the demands which might be made upon it for the redemption of the outstanding United States notes. This fund, together with such other gold as might be from time to time in the treasury available for the same purpose, has been since called our gold reserve, and $100,000,000 has been regarded as an adequate amount to accomplish its object. This fund amounted on the first day of January, 1879, to $114,189,390, and though thereafter constantly fluctuating, it did not fall below that sum until July, 1882. In April, 1882, for the first time since its establishment, this reserve amounted to less than $100,000,000, containing at that date only $97,011,330.

In the meantime and in July, 1890, an act had been passed directing larger governmental monthly purchases of silver than had been required under previous laws, and providing that in payment for such silver treasury notes of the United States should be issued payable on demand in gold or silver coin at the discretion of the secretary of the treasury. It was, however, declared in the act to be "The established policy of the United States to maintain the two metals on a parity with each other upon the present legal ratio, or such ratio as may be provided by law."

In view of this declaration it was not deemed permissible for the secretary of the treasury to exercise the discretion in terms conferred on him by refusing to pay gold on these notes when demanded, because by such discrimination in favor of the gold dollar the so-called parity of the two metals would be destroyed and grave and dangerous consequences would be precipitated by affirming or accentuating the constantly widening disparity between their actual values under the existing ratio. It thus resulted that the treasury notes issued in payment of silver purchases under the law of 1890 were necessarily treated as gold obligations, at the option of the holder. These notes on the 1st day of November, 1893, when the law compelling the monthly purchase of silver was repealed, amounted to more than $355,000,000. The notes of this description now outstanding added to the United States still undiminished by redemption or cancellation constitute a volume of gold obligations amounting to nearly $500,000,000. These obligations are instruments which, ever since we have had a gold reserve, have been used to deplete it.

The reserve, as has been stated, had fallen in April, 1893, to $97,011,330. It has from that time to the present, with very few and unimportant upward movements, steadily decreased, except as it has been temporarily replenished by the sale of bonds.

WHAT CAUSED THE SHRINKAGE.

Several Reasons Given That Brought the Reserve Down to $65,438,376.

Among the causes for this constant and uniform shrinkage in this fund may be mentioned the great falling off of exports under the operation of the tariff law until recently in force, which crippled our exchange of commodities with foreign nations, and necessitated to some extent the payment of our balances in gold; the unnatural infusion of silver into our currency and the increasing agitation for its free and unlimited coinage, which have created apprehension as to our disposition or ability to continue gold payment; the consequent hoarding of gold at home and the stoppage of investments of foreign capital, as well as the return of our securities already sold abroad; and the high rate of foreign exchange, which induced the shipment of our gold to be drawn against, as a matter of speculation.

In consequence of these conditions the gold reserve on the 1st day of February, 1894, was reduced to $65,438,377, having lost more than $31,000,000 during the preceding nine months, or since April, 1893.

[The president then gives the history of the two first bond sales, but says that in both cases disappointment was the result, the reserve after both sales becoming depleted in the same old way until in February, 1895, the reserve had fallen in $41,340,181. He also tells of his application to congress for authority to issue a low-interest bond, which met with refusal.]

End of Gold Payments Imminent.

In February 1895, therefore, the situation was exceedingly critical. With a reserve perilously low and a refusal of congressional aid everything indicated that the end of gold payment was imminent. The results of prior bond issues had been exceedingly unsatisfactory and the large withdrawal of gold immediately succeeded their public sale in open market gave rise to a reasonable suspicion that a large part of the gold paid into the treasury upon such sales was promptly drawn out again by the presentation of United States notes or treasury notes and found its way to the hands of those who had only temporarily parted with it in the purchase of bonds. In this emergency, and in view of its surrounding perplexities, it became entirely apparent to those upon whom the struggle for safety was devolved not only that our gold reserve must, for the third time in less than thirteen month, be restored by another issue and sale of bonds bearing a high rate of interest and badly suited to the purpose, but that a plan must be adopted for their disposition promising better results than those realized on previous sales.

The Celebrated Bond Syndicate.

An agreement was therefore made with a number of financiers and bankers whereby it was stipulated that bonds described in the resumption act of 1875, payable in coin thirty years after their date, bearing interest at the rate of four per cent per annum, and amounting to about $62,000,000, should be exchanged for gold, receivable by weight, amounting to a little more than $65,000,000.

This gold was to be delivered in such installments as would complete its delivery within about six month from the date of the contract, and at least one half of the amount was to be furnished from abroad. It was also agreed by those supplying this gold that during the continuance of the contract they would by every means in their power protect the government against gold withdrawals. The contract also provided that if congress would authorize their issue, bonds payable by their terms in gold and bearing interest at the rate of 3 per cent. per annum might within ten days be substituted at par for the 4 per cent. bonds described in the agreement.

On the day this contract was made its terms were communicated to congress by a special executive message in which it was stated that more than $16,000,000 would be saved to the government if gold bonds bearing 3 per cent. interest were authorized to be substituted for those mentioned in the contract. The congress having declined to grant the necessary authority to secure this saving, the contract, unmodified, was carried out, resulting in a gold reserve amounting to $107,871,320 on the 8th day of July, 1895. The performance of this contract not only restored the reserve, but checked for a time the withdrawals of gold and brought on a period of restored confidence and such peace and quiet in business circles as were of the greatest possible value to every interest that affects our people. I have never had the slightest misgiving concerning the wisdom or propriety of this arrangement and am quite willing to answer for my full share of responsibility for its promotion.

Withdrawals of Gold Begin Again.

Though the contract mentioned stayed for a time the tide of gold withdrawal its good results could not be permanent. Recent withdrawals have reduced the reserve from $107,357,320 on the 8th day of July, 1895, to $79,383,906. How long will it remain large enough to render its increase unnecessary is only a matter of conjecture, though quite large withdrawals for shipment in the immediate future are predicted in well-informed quarters. About $16,000,000 was withdrawn during the month of November.

The foregoing statement of events and conditions develops the fact that after increasing our interest bearing bonded indebtedness more than $162,000,000 to save our gold reserve we are nearly where we started, having now in such reserve $79,383,906, as against $65,438,377 in February, 1894, when the first bonds were issued.

Though the amount of gold drawn from the treasury appears to be very large, as gathered from the facts and figures herein presented it actually was much larger, coin durable gains having been acquired by the treasury within the several periods stated without the issue of bonds. The president here gives figures showing that since Jan. 1, 1879, $460,000,000 in gold has been withdrawn, and of this $346,000,000 went to redeem greenbacks all of which are still in circulation.

PAID THEM BUT STILL OWE THEM.

Retirement of the Greenbacks the Only Remedy For This Situation.

In other words, the government has paid in gold more than nine-tenths of its United States notes and still owes them all. It has paid in gold about one half of its notes given for silver purchases without extinguishing by such payments one dollar of these notes. When added to all this we are results to carry on this astounding financial scheme the government has incurred a bonded indebtedness of $95,000,000 in establishing a gold reserve, and of $1,315,400 in efforts to maintain it; that the annual interest charge on such bonded indebtedness is more than $911,000.00 that continuance of our present course may result in further bond issues, and that we have suffered one threat now with all this for the sake of supplying gold for foreign shipment or facilitating its hoarding at home, a situation is exhibited which certainly ought to arrest attention and provoke immediate legislative relief.

The Only Practical Remedy.

I am convinced the only thorough and practicable remedy for our troubles is found in the retirement and cancellation of our United States notes, commonly called greenbacks, and the outstanding treasury notes issued by the government in payment of silver purchases under the act of 1890. I believe this could be quite readily accomplished by the exchange of these notes for United States bonds of small as well as large denominations, bearing a low rate of interest. They should be long-term bonds, thus increasing their desirability as investments, and because their payment could be well postponed to a period far removed from present financial burdens and perplexities, when, with increased prosperity and resources, they would be more easily met.

One Feature of the Plan.

To further insure the cancellation of these notes and also provide a way by which gold may be added to our currency in lieu of them, a feature in the plan should be an authority given to the secretary of the treasury to dispose of the bonds abroad for gold if necessary to complete the contemplated redemption and cancellation, permitting him to use the proceeds of such bonds to take up and cancel any of the notes that may be in the treasury or that may be received by the government on any account. The increase of our bonded debt involves in this plan would be amply compensated by renewed activity and enterprise in all business circles, the restored confidence at home, the reinstated faith in our monetary strength abroad and the stimulation of every interest and industry that would follow the cancellation of the gold-demand obligations now afflicting us. In any event the bonds proposed would stand for the extinguishment of a troublesome indebtedness, while in the path we now follow there lurks the menace of unending bonds, with our indebtedness still undischarged and aggravated in every feature. The obligations necessary to fund this indebtedness would not equal in amount those from which we have been relieved since 1864 by anticipation and payment, beyond the requirements of the sinking fund, out of our surplus revenues.

What Would Supply the Currency.

The currency withdrawn by the retirement of the United States notes and treasury notes, amounting to probably less than $346,000,000, might be supplied by such gold as would be used on their retirement or by an increase in the circulation of our national banks. Though the aggregate capital of those now in existence amounts to more than $664,000,000, their outstanding circulation based on bond security amounts to only about $180,000,00. They are authorized to issue notes amounting to 90 per cent. of the bonds deposited to secure their circulation, but in no event beyond the amount of their capital stock, and they are obliged to pay 1 per cent. tax on the circulation they issue.

I think they should be allowed to issue circulation equal to the par value of the bonds they deposite to secure it, and that the tax on their circulation should be reduced to one fourth of one per cent, which would undoubtedly meet all the expense the government incurs on their account. In addition they should be allowed to substitute, or deposit, in lieu of the bonds now required as security for their circulation those which would be issued for the purpose of retiring the United States notes and treasury notes.

The banks already existing, if they desire to avail themselves of the provisions of law thus modified, could issue circulation in addition to that already outstanding, amounting to $187,000,000, which would nearly or quite equal the currency proposed to be cancelled. At any rate, I should confidently expect to see the existing national banks or others to be organized avail themselves of the proposed encouragements to issue circulation and promptly fill any vacuum and supply every currency need.

It has always seemed to me that the provisions of law regarding the capital of national banks which operate as a limitation to their location fails to make proper compensation for the suppression of state banks, which come near to the people in all sections of the country and readily furnished them with banking accommodations and facilities. Any inconvenience or embarrassment arising from these restrictions on the location of national banks might well be remedied by better adapting the present system to the creation of banks in smaller communities or by permitting banks of large capital to establish branches in such localities as would serve the people—so regulated and restrained as to secure their safe and conservative control and management.

Would Expect Gold to Circulate.

But there might not be the necessity for such an addition to the currency by new issues of bank circulation as at first glance is indicated. If we should be relieved from maintaining a gold reserve under conditions that constitute it, the barometer of our solvency, and if our treasury should no longer be the foolish purveyor of gold for nations abroad or for speculation and hoarding by our citizens at home, I should expect to see gold resume its natural and normal functions in the business affairs of the country and cease to be an object attracting the timid watch of our people and exciting their sensitive imaginations. I do not overlook the fact the cancellation of the treasury notes issued under the silver purchasing act of 1890 would leave the treasury in the actual ownership of sufficient silver, including seigniorage, to coin nearly $178,000,000 in standard dollars. It is worthy of consideration whether this might not, from time to time, be converted into dollars or fractional coin and slowly put into circulation, as in the judgment of the secretary of the treasury the necessities of the country should require.

Whatever is attempted should be entered upon fully appreciating the fact that by careless, easy descent we have reached a dangerous depth, and that our ascent will not be accomplished without laborious toil and struggle. We shall be wise if we realize that we are financially ill and that our restoration to health may require heroic treatment and unpleasant remedies.

EFFECT OF THE REVENUE RECEIPTS.

No Gold Now Being Received in Payment of Duties on Imports.

In the present state of our difficulty it is not easy to understand how the amount of our revenue receipts directly affects it. The important question is not the quantity of money received in revenue payments, but the kind of money we maintain and our ability to continue in sound financial conditions. We are considering the government holdings of gold as related to the soundness of our money and as affecting our national credit and monetary strength. If our gold reserve had never been impaired or if no bonds had ever been issued to replenish it; if there had been no fear and timidity concerning our ability to continue gold payments; if any part of our revenues were now paid in gold, and if we could look to our gold receipts as a means of maintaining a safe reserve, the amount of our revenues would be an influential factor in the problem. But unfortunately all the circumstances that might lend weight to this consideration are entirely to the contrary. In our present predicament no gold is received by the government in payment of revenue charges, nor would there be if the revenues were increased. The receipts of the treasury, when not in silver certificates, consist of United States notes and treasury notes issued for silver purchases. These forms of money are only useful to the government in paying its current ordinary expenses, and its quantity in government possession does not in the least contribute toward giving us that kind of safe financial standing or condition which is built on gold alone.

Easy Proposition to Answer.

If it is said that these notes if held by the government can be used to obtain gold for our reserve the answer is easy. The people draw gold from the treasury on demand upon United States notes and treasury notes, but the proposition that the treasury can on demand draw gold from the people upon them would be regarded in the same light with wonder and amazement. And even if it should be done, there is nothing to prevent those thus parting with their gold from repeating it the next day or the next hour for the presentation of the notes they received in exchange for it. The secretary of the treasury might use such notes taken from a surplus revenue to buy gold in the market. Of course he could not do this without paying a premium. Private holders of gold, unlike the government, having no party to maintain, would not be restrained from making the best bargain possible when they furnished gold to the treasury; but the moment the secretary of the treasury bought gold on any terms above par he would establish a general and universal premium upon it, thus breaking down the parity between gold and silver which the government is pledged to maintain and opening the way to new and serious complications.

Would Be a Pretty State of Things.

In the meantime the premium would not remain stationary, and the absurd spectacle might be presented of a dealer selling gold to the government and with United States notes or treasury notes in his hand immediately clamoring for its return and a resale at a higher premium.

It may be claimed that a large revenue and redundant receipts might favorably affect the situation under discussion by affording an opportunity of retaining these notes in the treasury when received and thus preventing their presentation for gold. Such retention to be useful ought to be at least measurably permanent, and this is precisely what is prohibited so far as United States notes are concerned by the law of 1878 forbidding their further retirement. That statute in so many words provides that these notes when received into the treasury and belonging to the United States shall be "paid out again and kept in circulation."

I will moreover be readily seen that the government could just refuse to pay out United States notes and treasury notes in current transactions when demanded and insist on paying out silver alone and still maintain the parity between that metal and the currency representing gold. Besides the accumulation in the treasury of currency of any kind exacted from the people through taxation is justly regarded as an evil and cannot proceed far without vigorous protest against an unjustifiable retention of money from the business of the country and a denunciation of a scheme of taxation which proves itself to be unjust when it takes from the earnings and income of the citizen money so much in excess of the needs of government support that large sums can be gathered and kept in the treasury. Such a condition has heretofore in times of surplus revenue led the government to restore currency to the people by the purchase of its unmatured bonds at a large premium, and by a large increase of its deposits in national banks, and we easily remember that the abuse of treasury accumulation has furnished a most persuasive argument in favor of legislation radically reducing our tariff taxation.

LARGER REVENUE NOT A REMEDY.

The President Thinks It Would Not Settle the Difficulty.

Perhaps it is supposed that sufficient revenue receipts would in a sentimental way improve the situation by inspiring confidence in our solvency and allaying the fear of pecuniary exhaustion. And yet, through all our struggle to maintain our gold reserve, there never has been any apprehension as to our ready ability to pay our way with such money as we had; and the question whether or not our current receipts met our current expenses has not entered into the estimate of our solvency. Of course the general state of our funds, exclusive of gold, was entirely immaterial to the foreign creditor and investor. His debt could only be paid in gold, and his only concern was our ability to keep on hand that kind of money.

On July 1, 1893, more than a year and a half before the first bonds were issued to replenish the gold reserve, there was a net balance in the treasury, exclusive of such reserve, of less than $13,000,000; but the gold reserve amounted to more than $114,000,000, which was the quieting feature of the situation. It was when the stock of gold began rapidly to fall that fright supervened, and our securities held abroad were returned for sale and debts owed abroad were pressed for payment. In the meantime extensive shipments of gold and other unfavorable indications caused restlessness and fright among our people at home. Thereupon the general state of our funds, exclusive of gold, became also immaterial to them, and they, too, drew gold from the treasury for hoarding against all contingencies. This is plainly shown by the large increase in the proportion of gold withdrawn which was retained by our own people as time and threatening incidents progressed. During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1894, nearly $85,000,000 in gold was withdrawn from the treasury and about $77,000,000 was sent abroad, while during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1895, over $177,000,000 was drawn out, of which only about $66,000,000 was shipped, leaving a balance of such withdrawals to be accounted for by domestic hoarding.

Change in Our Finances Needed.

Inasmuch as the withdrawal of our gold has resulted largely from fright, there is nothing apparent that will prevent its continuance or recurrence with its natural consequences, except such a change in our financial methods as will reassure the frightened and make the desire for gold less intense. It is not clear how an increase in revenue, unless it be in gold, can satisfy those whose only anxiety is to gain gold from the government's store. It cannot, therefore, be safe to rely upon increased revenues as a cure for our present troubles. It is possible that the suggestion of increased revenue as a remedy for the difficulties we are considering may have originated in an intimation or distinct allegation that the bonds which have been issued ostensibly to replenish our gold reserve were really issued to supply insufficient revenue. Nothing can be further from the truth. Bonds were issued to obtain gold for the maintenance of our national credit. As has been shown, the gold thus obtained has been drawn again from the treasury upon United States notes and treasury notes. This operation would have been promptly prevented, if possible; but those notes having thus been passed to the treasury, they became the money of the government, like any other ordinary funds, and there was nothing to do but to use them in paying government expenses when needed.

Government Not in Need of Money.

At no time when bonds have been issued has there been any consideration of the question of paying the expenses of government with their proceeds. There was no necessity to consider that question. At the time of each bond issue we had a safe surplus in the treasury for ordinary operations, exclusive of the gold in our reserve. In February, 1894, when the first issue of bonds was made, such surplus amounted to over $18,000,000; in November, when the second issue was made, it amounted to more than $42,000,000, and in February, 1895, when bonds for the third time were issued, such surplus amounted to more than $100,000,000. It now amounts to $98,672,830.80. Besides all this, the secretary of the treasury has no authority whatever to issue bonds to increase the ordinary revenues or pay current expenses. I cannot but think there has been some confusion of ideas regarding the effects of the issue of bonds and the results of the withdrawal of gold. It was the latter process—and not the former—that by substituting in the treasury United States notes and treasury notes for gold increased by their amount the money which was in the first instance subject to ordinary government expenditure.

Although the law compelling an increased purchase of silver by the government was passed on the 24th day of July, 1890, with rewards of gold from the treasury upon the notes given in payment of such purchases did not begin until October, 1891. Immediately following that date the withdrawals upon both these notes and United States notes increased very largely and have continued to such an extent that since the passage of that law there has been more than thirteen times as much gold taken out of the treasury upon United States notes and treasury notes issued for silver purchases as was thus withdrawn during the eleven and a half years immediately prior thereto and after the first day of January, 1879, when specie payments were resumed.

SILVER LAWS PARTLY RESPONSIBLE.

Provided a New Treasury Obligation to Redeem in Gold.

It is neither unfair or unjust to charge a large share of our present financial perplexities and dangers to the operation of the laws of 1878 and 1890, compelling the purchase of silver by the government, which not only furnished a new treasury obligation upon which its gold could be withdrawn, but so increased the fear of an overwhelming flood of silver and a forced descent to silver payments that even the repeal of these laws did not entirely cure the evils of their existence.

Free Coinage of Silver Discussed.

While I have endeavored to make a plain statement of the disordered condition of our currency and the present dangers menacing our prosperity and to suggest a way which leads to a safer financial system, I have constantly had in mind the fact that many of our countrymen, whose sincerity I do not doubt, insist that the cure for the ills now threatening us may be found in the single and simple remedy of the free coinage of silver. They contend that our mints shall at once be thrown open to the free, unlimited and independent coinage of both gold and silver dollars of full legal-tender quality, regardless of the action of any other government, and in full view of the fact that the ratio between the metals which they suggest calls for 103 cents worth of gold in the gold dollar at the present standard, and only 50 cents in intrinsic worth of silver in the silver dollar. Were there infinitely stronger reasons than can be adduced for hoping that such action would secure for us an honest bimetallic currency moving on lines of parity, an experiment so novel and hazardous as that proposed might well stagger those who believe that stability is a supreme condition of a sound money and no government on human contrivance of legislation has ever been able to hold the two metals together in free coinage at a ratio appreciably different from that which is established in the markets of the world. Those who believe that our independent action, at an artificial ratio with gold of 16 to 1, would restore the parity between the metals, and consequently between the coins, oppose an unsupported and improbable theory to the general belief and practice of other nations, and to the hitherto unbroken current of the ages and economists of the world, both in the past and present, and what is far more conclusive, to our own actual experience.

Twice Tried in Our History.

Twice in our earlier history our lawmakers in attempting to establish a bimetallic currency undertook free coinage upon a ratio which accidentally varied from the actual relative values of the two metals not more than three per cent. In both cases, notwithstanding greater difficulties and cost of transportation than now exist, the coins whose intrinsic worth was undervalued in the ratio gradually and surely disappeared from our circulation and went to other countries where their real value was better recognized. Acts of congress were impotent to create equality where natural causes decreed even a slight inequality. Twice in our recent history we have signally failed to raise by legislation the value of silver. Under an act of congress passed in 1878 the government was required for more than twelve years to expend annually at least $2,000,000 in the purchase of silver bullion for coinage. The act of July 14, 1890, in a still bolder effort increased the amount of silver the government was compelled to purchase, and forced it to become the buyer annually of 54,000,000 ounces, or practically the entire product of our mines. Under both laws silver rapidly and steadily declined in value. The prophecy and the expressed hope and expectation of those in the congress who led in the passage of the last mentioned act, that it would re-establish and maintain the former parity between the two metals are still fresh in our memory.

United States Could Not Do It Alone.

In the light of these experiences, which accord with the experience of other nations, there is certainly no secure ground for the belief that a act of congress could now bridge an inequality of 50 per cent. between gold and silver at our present ratio, nor is there the least possibility that our country—which has less than one-seventh of the silver money in the world—could by its action alone raise not only our own, but all silver, to its lost ratio with gold. Our attempt to accomplish this by the free coinage of silver at a ratio differing widely from actual relative values would be the signal for the complete departure of gold from our circulation, the immediate and large contraction of our circulating medium, and a shrinkage in the real value and monetary efficiency of all other forms of currency as they settled to the level of silver moneom tallism. Every one who receives a fixed salary and every worker for wages would find the dollar in his hand ruthlessly scaled down to the point of bitter disappointment if not pinching privation.

A change in our standard to silver monometallism would also bring on a collapse of the entire system of credit which, when based on a standard which is recognized and adopted by the world of business is many times more potent and useful than the entire volume of currency and is safely capable of almost indefinite expansion to meet the growth of trade and enterprise.

In a self invited struggle through darkness and once haunty our humiliation would be increased by the consciousness that we had parted company with all the enlightened and progressive nations of the world and were desperately and hopelessly striving to meet the stress of modern commerce and competition with debased and unsuitable currency and in association with the few weak and laggard nations which have silver alone as their standard of value.

Warned by All History.

All history warns us against rash experiments which threaten violent changes in our monetary standard and the degradation of our currency in the past is full of lessons teaching not only the economic dangers, but the national immorality that follows in the train of such experiments. I will not believe that the American people can be persuaded after sober deliberation to jeopardize their nation's prestige and proud standing by encouraging financial nostrums, nor that they will yield to the false allurements of cheap money, when they realize that it must result in the weakening of that financial integrity and rectitude, which thus far in our history has been so devotedly cherished as one of the traits of true Americanism. Our country's indebtedness, whether owing by the government or existing between individuals, has been contracted with reference to our present standard. To decree by act of congress that these debts shall be payable in less value dollars than those within the contemplation and intention of the parties when contracted would operate to transfer by the fiat of law and without compensation in amount of property and a volume of rights and interests almost incalculable. Those who advocate a blind and headlong plunge to free coinage in the name of bimetallism and professing the belief, contrary to all experience, that we should thus establish a double standard and a concurrent circulation of both metals in our coinage are certainly reckoning from a cloudy standpoint. Our present standard of value is the standard of the civilized world and permits the only bimetallism now possible—or at least that is within the independent reach of any single nation, however powerful that nation may be.

While the value of gold as a standard is steadied by almost universal, commercial and business use, it does not despise silver or seeks its banishment. Wherever this standard is maintained there is at its side in free and unquestioned circulation a volume of silver currency sometimes equaling and sometimes even exceeding it in amount, both maintained at a parity notwithstanding a depreciation or fluctuation in the intrinsic value of silver.

STANDARD OF VALUE AND CURRENCY

Two Things the President Holds to Be Vastly Different.

There is a vast difference between a standard of value and a currency for monetary use. The standard must necessarily be fixed and certain. The currency may be in divers forms and of various kinds. No silver-standard country has a gold currency in circulation; but an enlightened and wise system of finance secures the benefits of both gold and silver as currency and circulating medium by keeping the standard stable and all other currency at par with it. Such a system and such a standard also give free scope for the use and expansion of safe and conservative credit, so indispensable to broad and growing commercial transactions and so well substituted for the actual use of money. If a fixed and stable standard is maintained such as the magnitude and safety of our commercial transactions and business require the use of money itself is conveniently minimized.

Every dollar of fixed and stable value has through the agency of confident credit an astonishing capacity of multiplying itself in financial work. Every unstable and fluctuating dollar fails as a basis of credit, and in its use begets gambling speculation and undermines the foundation of honest enterprise.

Free Coinage a Serious Menace.

I have ventured to express myself on this subject with earnestness and plainness of speech because I cannot rid myself of the belief that there lurks in the proposition for the free coinage of silver, so strongly approved and so enthusiastically advocated by a multitude of my countrymen, a serious menace to our prosperity and an insidious temptation of our people to wander from the allegiance they owe to public and private integrity. It is because I do not distrust the good faith and sincerity of those who press this scheme that I have imperfectly but with zeal submitted my thoughts upon this momentous subject. I cannot refrain from begging them to re-examine their views and beliefs in the light of patriotic reason and familiar experience, and to weigh again and again the consequences of such legislation as their efforts have invited. Even the continued agitation of the subject adds greatly to the difficulties of a dangerous financial situation already forced upon us.

In conclusion I especially entreat the people's representatives in the congress, who are charged with the responsibility of inaugurating measures for the safety and prosperity of our common country, to promptly and effectively consider the ills of our critical financial plight. I have suggested a remedy which my judgment approves. I desire, however, to assure the congress that I am prepared to co-operate with them in perfecting any other measure promising thorough and practical relief, and that I will gladly labor with them in every patriotic endeavor to further the interests and guard the welfare of our countrymen whom in our respective places of duty we have undertaken to serve.

Alternates—Chas. McNeil and Wm. Smith.

The local chapter of the Eastern Star was born again last Tuesday night. Anyway it was a birthday party of that popular organization and probably the largest party of the kind ever held in Tecumseh. A very large percentage of the membership was there to offer congratulations and a goodly number of their friends joined in wishing them many recurrences of the day. In addition to the festivities usually incident to the celebrations of the natal day, a very entertaining though informal program was carried out. The Eastern Star is a comparatively young organization here, but the collective ages of its members amount to many centuries of existence and experience. Each invitation contained a bag with directions to bring it filled with as many pennies as the donor had passed years upon this earth. As the attendance was large and the company by no means composed of infants, the receipts amounted to nearly $100. There must have been a good many old men there as it would take 625 ladies at 10 cents each to make that amount.

At the Methodist church next Sunday night, Rev. J. P. Varner will have for his subject: "Profit and Loss."

The suit of Philip Kehoe vs Whiting Cleveland for the recovery of disputed claims for threshing, ditch digging, etc. is being tried before Justice Fraser to-day.

Mrs. Wm. E. Caligan, of Jackson, writes us a postal which says: "Please state in your paper to the citizens not to put salt on their cement walk, as it cuts the top finish, thus injuring the looks of it."

Hon. Henry Hayden, of Jackson, died very suddenly Wednesday, of heart disease. He came to Jackson in 1838 and has always been a very prominent citizen, having held the office of Mayor of the city. He was an elder brother of Wm. Hayden of this village.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

Epps's Cocoa

BREAKFAST—SUPPER.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided for our breakfast and supper a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 4.—In the estimates presented for cost of construction of public buildings, improvements on rivers, harbors, etc., the following are for Michigan. For continuing improvements on rivers and canals the sums asked are as follows:

Black river, $8,000; Clinton river, $2,500; Detroit river, $30,000; Saginaw river, $40,000; Rouge river, $5,000; St. Joseph river, $500; waterway from Keweenaw bay to Lake Superior, $75,000.

The appropriations asked for continuing the improvement of the mouth of harbors were as follows:

Alpena, $2,500; Charlevoix, $25,000; Cheboygan, $13,000; Frankfort, $10,000; Grand Haven, $10,000; Grand Marais, $30,000; Holland, $10,000; Ludington, $6,000; Manistee, $15,000; Marquette, $30,000; Monroe, $5,000; Muskegon, $30,000; Ontonagon, $7,000; Pentwater, $2,500; Petoskey, $10,000; Portage Lake, $15,000; St. Joseph, $30,000; Sand Beach, $20,000; Saugatuck, $10,000; South Haven, $10,000; White Lake, $2,500, and Menominee, $7,150.

Other appropriations asked are: For a public building at Detroit, $125,364; for Manistique light, $32,000; for Poe Reef light ship, Straits of Mackinaw, $25,000.

MAJ. POST TO TAKE CHARGE.

Directed by Secretary Lamont to Oversee Public Works at Detroit.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 4.—On the recommendation of Gen. Craighill, chief of engineers, the secretary of war has directed Maj. J. C. Post, corps of engineers, to take charge of all the public works in the vicinity of Detroit, formerly in charge of Col. O. E. Poe, deceased. These works include the improvements in progress on the St. Mary's river and canal, the St. Clair flats ship canal, the Detroit river, the ship canal connecting the waters of the great lakes between Chicago, Duluth and Buffalo, the dry dock at St. Mary's Falls and the dredging of Crosse Point channel, St. Clair flats ship canal and St. Mary's Falls canal.

MRS. HOLLAN SENTENCED.

Convicted Ex-Postmistress Fined and Given a Two-Years' Sentence.

Grand Rapids, Nov. 30.—In the United States circuit court Judge Severens sentenced Mrs. Addie B. Hollan, ex-postmistress of North Grand Rapids, convicted of embezzling money order funds, to serve two years in the Detroit house of correction, and to pay a fine of $260. Fred M. Hollan, her son, who confessed to having presented fraudulent money orders issued by his mother, for payment at various offices, was next arraigned for sentence. After giving the young man some good advice the judge deferred passing sentence for a few days.

Sued for $50,000 Damages.

Lansing, Dec. 4.—B. B. and A. J. Blake, of Racine, Wis., have been made defendants in a $50,000 damage suit, to be commenced in the United States court at Milwaukee by the North-Molitor Manufacturing company of Lansing. The latter asserts that the Racine firm has caused many of its customers to cancel orders by wiring letters reflecting on the business and goods of the plaintiff.

Game Law Saves the Deer.

Lansing, Dec. 4.—State Game Warden Osborn reports that the application of the new law requiring deer hunters to be licensed has resulted in a great saving of game during the open season this year. He has been informed by the Wisconsin warden that the effect of the license law was to flood that state with hunters from Ohio and Indiana, who heretofore camped in Michigan.

Packers Back a Big Tannery.

Alpena, Nov. 30.—The Alpena Hide and Leather company has started to work its new plant here, one of the largest hemlock tanning concerns in existence. The plant is tanning 1,000 hides a day to start with. It is understood Kansas City and other western packers are backing this concern to get rid of their hides without selling them to the trust.

Will Raise Mint.

Hoppertown, Dec. 2.—A Chicago syndicate which owns nearly 600 acres of marsh land near here, Allegan county, last year cleared nearly 250 acres, after raising an immense amount of garden truck during the summer. The concern has now decided to put its entire thract to mint and will put a large force of men at work in the spring.

Albert Waters Murdered.

Detroit, Dec. 1.—Lemuel Armstrong and Albert Waters, colored men, quarreled in a house at 192 Willis avenue, east, at 11 o'clock Saturday night. During the melee Armstrong drew a knife and began cutting his opponent. He finally plunged the knife into Waters' heart. Waters dropped dead. Armstron ran away.

Earnings of Michigan Railways.

Lansing, Nov. 30.—The earnings in Michigan of railroad companies in September were $2,798,807.88, as against $2,602,000.65 in September, 1894. Up to October 1, this year, the aggregate earnings were $22,447,779.04, an increase of $1,553,916.41, or 7.44 per cent. over the same period of last year.

State Federation of Labor.

Saginaw, Dec. 4.—The eighth annual convention of the Michigan Federation of Labor began Tuesday. President Flanigan's address took up the entire session. He condemned the last legislature as hostile to labor and advocated more stringent laws relative to child labor.

Diphtheria Raging.

Benton Harbor, Nov. 30.—Diphtheria is raging in this vicinity to an alarming extent. Several country schools near town are closed. Forty cases have been reported within two weeks, with six deaths. Hydrogen peroxide spray is used successfully in treatment.

Hold on to the Fees.

Cheboygan, Nov. 30. — The county clerks of northern Michigan will not pay over to the auditor general of the state the fees received for hunting licenses. They claim the fees as their own perquisites.

BLIND VETERAN REWARDED.

Rev. Couden's Election as House Chaplain Pleases Michigan People.

Port Huron, Dec. 3.—The election of Rev. Henry N. Couden, the blind expastor of the Universalist church in this city, as chaplain of the national house of representatives is a fitting reward for a brave man. Port Huron people of all denominations have worked hard for his appointment. Mr. Couden lost his sight in the service of the union. He enlisted at the age of 18, when the first call for volunteers was made, serving in the Sixth Ohio infantry, and reenlisted for three years when his term was out. He was with McClellan in the West Virginia campaign, and took part in the battle of Shiloh. In February, 1863, he was transferred to the First Mississippi marine brigade. Near Austin, Miss., he received a charge of small shot in his eyes, causing total blindness. After an honorable discharge Mr. Couden found there was no hope of recovering his eyesight. He entered the blind school at Columbus, O., taking a course of seven years. Afterward he entered the theological seminary at Canton, N. Y. His first pastorate was at Madrid, N. Y.; later he preached at Willoughby, O., Chatham, Mass., and four years ago came to Port Huron. Mr. Couden's pastorate here was highly successful. He increased the membership of the Universalist church and brought about the erection of a fine new edifice several months ago. He is a man of scholarly tastes, lovable character and great spirituality.

BLOW TO LOAN ASSOCIATIONS.

Michigan Societies Seriously Affected by a Court Decision.

Houghton, Dec. 4.—In the suit of the Northern Michigan Building and Loan association against Mary H. Gottstein, brought to secure a deficiency judgment, the mortgaged property having been previously foreclosed, Judge Hubbell directed the jury to find for the defendant. The case is one of far-reaching importance, it being held by the court that Mrs. Gottstein, as a married woman, could not legally bind herself to pay more than simple interest on a loan, and hence she could not legally hold borrowed stock in a building and loan association. If Judge Hubbell's ruling is upheld by the supreme bench every building and loan association in Michigan will be seriously affected.

TRAGEDY AT CHURCH.

Colored Men at Detroit Killed by Members of Their Own Race.

Detroit, Dec. 1.—William Glover, a prominent negro, was shot and killed Saturday afternoon by Isom Hess, also colored. The difficulty occurred at a church meeting and was witnessed by the pastor and congregation. Glover had been expelled from membership some time ago and called upon the church officials to explain why he was dismissed. A difficulty arose between him and Hess, who is one of the church officials, which resulted in the shooting of Glover. Hess was conveyed to Monticello for safe keeping.

Fire Near Morley.

Morley, Nov. 29.—Fire Thursday morning destroyed Nicholas Higbee's farm home, five miles northwest of this place. The residence, which was completely destroyed with all its contents, was one of the finest in this part of the state. A large, two-story hall, one boarding house and two storehouses were also destroyed. Loss on buildings and contents will reach $20,000; insured for $6,000. The fire caught from a furnace in the residence.

A Cowardly Murder.

Bessemer, Nov. 29.—Matt Pelander, a leading and influential Finlander, was stabbed to death by an unknown man, who jumped on him from behind and stabbed him in the abdomen. He reeled backward and fell in the snow, where he was found dead when the officers arrived. A posse was immediately organized and the guilty parties tracked to an Italian house, at the Anvile mine, and arrested.

Pardoned on Thanksgiving Day.

Lansing, Nov. 30.—Gov. Rich pardoned Ollie J. Watkins, sent from Detroit June 12, 1894, to Jackson, for three years for forgery; also pardoned John M. Dewitt, sent from Iosco county December 3, 1892, to Ionia for four years for larceny of a boat. The sentence of Stephen Kosmitzki, sent from Detroit January 31, 1894, to Ionia for four years for larceny, was commuted so as to expire Thanksgiving day.

Free Home for War Veterans.

Niles, Dec. 3.—C. Wire, living near Berrien Springs, has erected a building on his farm in which he has established a retreat for old soldiers. The home has been furnished with everything necessary for the welfare of the veterans. Already several homeless soldiers are enjoying the hospitality of the retreat and others are invited.

Holds Grain for Seventeen Years.

Decatur, Nov. 30.—Seventeen years ago Curry brothers became dissatisfied with the ruling prices for wheat and decided not to thrash their grain until its value increased. Year after year the stacks increased until this season, when they were all thrashed out, the older stacks yielded considerable marketable grain.

Was Postmaster for Twelve Years.

Battle Creek, Dec. 4.—William Wallace, a resident of this city since 1842, is dead, aged 88 years. He was a prominent figure in Michigan republicanism many years, and postmaster here under Grant, Hays, Garfield, Arthur and for 18 months under Cleveland.

Buried With High Honors.

Saginaw, Dec. 4.—Judge R. B. McKnight, who died at sea, was buried with masonic honors here. The entire grand commandery of the state was present.

Straw Kills Horses.

Wakalee, Dec. 3.—About a dozen horses have died here this winter and many more are sick from the effects of eating straw.

First Rally for Foreign Missions.

Lansing, Dec. 3. — The American board of foreign missions of the Congregational church has arranged for a series of foreign missionary rallies to be held throughout the state for the purpose of awakening interest in the cause of foreign missions. The first rally was held here Monday night and was largely attended, delegates being present from all the churches of central Michigan. President Sperry, of Olivet college, presided, and addresses were made by President Angell, of the University of Michigan, Gen. Byron M. Cutcheon, of Grand Rapids; Dr. W. H. Davis, of Detroit; Rev. W. E. Strong, of Jackson, and Dr. J. W. Bradshaw, of Ann Arbor.

To Meet at Detroit.

Detroit, Dec. 3.—A national conference of colored leaders will be held in this city on the 12th inst. The conference will be a gathering of representative colored men from all sections of the country to discuss the industrial, social and political interests of the race. A permanent organization will probably be completed.

A Lumberman Killed.

Saginaw, Nov. 30.—Isaac Bearinger, the millionaire lumberman of this city, received word Friday that his brother, Henry Bearinger, who represents him in his lumber operations at Pantha, W. Va., had been killed by a pile of lumber falling on him. Deceased was well known in Michigan lumber circles.

George W. Smith for Judge.

A SPECIFIC FOR La Grippe, for Colds, Coughs, AND LUNG TROUBLES, AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL

"Two years ago, I had the grippe, and it left me with a cough which gave me no rest night or day. My family physician prescribed for me, changing the medicine as often as he found the things I had taken were not helping me, but, in spite of his attendance, I got no better. Finally, my husband, reading one day of a gentleman who had had the grippe and was cured by taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,—procured, for me, a bottle of this medicine, and before I had taken half of it, I was cured. I have used the Pectoral for my children and in my family, whenever we have needed it, and have found it a specific for colds, coughs, and lung troubles."—EMILY WOOD, North St., Elkton, Md.

K. B.

The Most Thorough Purifier of the Blood Yet Discovered.

It purifies the Blood.
It invigorates the Liver.
It regulates the Bowels.
It strengthens the stomach.
It gives vivacity in place of lassitude; cheerfulness in place of gloom, and robust vigor in place of debility.

Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Disordered Liver, Constipation, Nervous Affections, General Debility, in short all the numerous diseases and discomforts caused by impure blood are speedily conquered by this powerful corrector, the chief and sovereign of all ancient or modern medical discoveries.—KING OF THE BLOOD.

Its name is its best description, as it is a royal dispenser of the blessings of health and vitality, and pronounces the foes that lurk in the blood.

It banishes PIMPLES, SALT RHEUM, SCALD HEAD, ERUPTIONS, ULCERS, SCALD HEAD, FEVER SORES and all SCROFULOUS DISORDERS.

It checks CONSUMPTION in its early stages, has frequently cured it when advanced.

It dispenses TUMORS and CANCERS without the Surgeon's knife.

It cures DROPSY, general or partial.

It cures FEMALE WEAKNESS and DISEASE.

It reduces in a safe and effectual manner all swellings, external or internal.

It eradicates the effects of Venereal Disease, Mineral Poisons and establishes a sound constitution.

Many certificates, much further information and full directions for using will be found in pamphlet, "Treatise on Diseases of the Blood," in which each bottle is enclosed.

Price $1 per bottle containing 2½ ounces, 50 doses. Sold by dealers in medicine.

If your druggist does not happen to have it on hand, request him to order a supply of K. B. It will be cheaper than for you to order one bottle of us, and less trouble.

TRASK'S

Magnetic Ointment

The worst Sores, Bruises, Cuts, Burns, Scalds, Skin Disorders, Sore Throat, Rheumatism, Lameness, Piles, and all external and internal affections characterized by INFLAMMATION, yield to its influence as if by magic. It is a purely vegetable preparation by a noted physician of eminence, and its success is simply marvellous in the most obstinate cases. Sold by Druggists and Dealers at 25 and 50 cts.

The Great Healer of all Inflamed Injuries and Disorders

It never fails to restore the natural tone of the skin and equalize the circulation of the blood. By this means a controlling power is given over the most malignant forms of disease, as it penetrates to every portion of the human system, every bone, muscle, vein, nerve and fibre is searched out and made sensible of its genial and healing influence. Heals at once and with internal as well as external treatment.

Over 40 Years.

This Ointment has been used by the people throughout the United States, and for many years in its qualities is such that as we have no space here to insert any of the numerous certificates of cures which we have from all parts of the country, we simply ask those readers of this paper who have ever used this Ointment to write and state their experience with it to inquirers. We feel that if but one in a hundred would do this we should be perfectly satisfied with the result. Full directions for use will be found on pamphlet around each bottle.

Prices 25 and 50 cents per bottle, put up by dealers in medicine.

Lesson For the Week Beginning Dec. 8. Comment by Rev. W. J. Yates, A. M. Topic, Paul's Second Missionary Journey.

SCRIPTURE READING.—Acts xv. 36, to xviii. 11.

Paul in Antioch feels a desire to visit the churches established on his first preaching tour, and proposes it to Barnabas. The latter is determined to take his young relative, John Mark, who, on the former occasion, deserted them in a critical part of the journey. Paul objects. Barnabas and Mark go to Cyprus. Paul and Silas go to Asia Minor. Here they visit all the churches, and give them the decrees of the apostles and elders at Jerusalem as to the freedom of the gentile converts from obligation to keep the Jewish ceremonial laws.

Timothy, a devout young man, becomes Paul's helper and companion.

After traveling all the region previously visited and circumstances preventing further preaching in Asia, they pass over into Europe and begin the evangelization of a region hitherto unvisited by Christians. Beginning at Philippi, they follow the Roman road toward the southwest, preaching in each of the cities along the way till they reach Berea. The usual events occur in each place. At first they are listened to gladly. Some Jews accept Christianity. Gentiles being also received on equal terms of faith and not obligated to observe the burdensome ritual of Judaism, enmity is aroused. The popularity of the apostle and his companions awakens the jealousy of the Jews. Persecution is raised. The synagogue is closed against them. The civil power is appealed to, and mob violence is the usual outcome. Here occurs the notable beating and imprisonment which is followed by the conversion of the Philippian jailer and family.

Driven from Macedonia, Paul goes to Athens. Waiting for his companions to come, he speaks to those willing to listen to his message, but does not succeed in establishing a church. No speech ever uttered by a native Athenian has become so widely known and done so much to preserve the name and knowledge of that city as his speech on Mars hill.

Thence Paul goes to Corinth. Here he finds congenial soil for the gospel. He labors for many months, working at his trade and teaching the way of Christ. A large church is gathered.

He determines to visit Jerusalem again at the season of one of the great feasts. He sails from Cenchrea, the port of Corinth, touches at Ephesus, lands at Cæsarea, and going up to Jerusalem salutes the church. No incidents of this visit are recorded. After a brief stop he goes to Antioch, which had become the center of active propagandism for the enlarging church. How wonderfully have the boundaries enlarged since he first set out from this place to preach Christ!

Timely Activity.

Revival services should not be postponed until January if it is possible to arrange for them before the holidays. Active operations should be instituted in all departments. The plans of the literary and social departments should have been matured long since and now be in process of execution. All members should be at work. Push the reading course. Let the lecture course have proper attention. Music must not be neglected. Welcome strangers at all the church services. Let the handshaking committee be on the alert. Above all, see that the prayer and class meetings are well sustained and are made interesting. Seek the unconverted and cultivate their acquaintance and secure their attendance at the church services. If we are as diligent in this as the members of the various fraternities and clubs we shall succeed in our work as well as they succeed in theirs.

Stars In the Darkness.

Chicago is undoubtedly a wicked city, but the power of Christ and his church is also present there. The Methodist Episcopal church has in the city 188 church buildings and 17 missions. Services are conducted in seven different languages. Some people think only of the vice in these great centers. It is well occasionally to become acquainted with the reform agencies and religious institutions and recognize the work they are doing.

The Wesley of the Nineteenth Century.

William Booth may well be called such. He possesses many of the characteristics of the founder of Methodism. He is a born leader of men. Energy, tact, consecration, deep love for men and absorbing faith in Christ have been used of God to make the Salvation Army under General Booth's management a power for good around the globe, second only in influence to Methodism. His work is practical Christianity in earnest. Bodies and minds of men are ministered to in order to reach their souls. Unlike Wesley, Mr. Booth had in his wife a helper worthy of him and one who will ever share with her husband the credit for the wonderful work done in organizing and directing the Salvation Army.

Washington, Dec. 4.—In the United States senate yesterday the president's message was read. There were 272 bills and 16 resolutions introduced, but a majority were reprints of measures which failed to pass last session. Among the bills were the following: To establish a uniform system of bankruptcy; for the compulsory education of Indian children; for the exclusion of alien anarchists; for the amendment of the tariff laws, so as to admit free of duty all material used in the construction or equipment of vessels built in the United States; to limit the president's term to six years without reelection, and repealing all laws permitting the issuance of bonds. In the house the president's message was read, after which bills were introduced to establish a uniform system of bankruptcy; to amend the immigration laws; to equalize pensions on account of service in the Mexican war; to provide that no alien shall be admitted to citizenship who has not for the continued term of five years preceding his admission resided within the United States, and who cannot speak, read and write the English language.

JOURNEY AROUND THE WORLD.

Rev. Francis E. Clark's New Book of His Travels.

This highly instructive and splendidly illustrated volume is a record of a recent journey around the world, by Rev. Francis E. Clark, D.D., President of the United Societies of Christian Endeavor, and his wife. Throughout the long journey, which occupied more than a year, and covered nearly fifty thousand miles by sea and land, they enjoyed rare opportunities for observation and study. It is one of the most valuable books ever issued by the American press.

The reader is personally conducted through Australia, India, China, Japan, Egypt, Palestine, Turkey, and many other lands. We see these countries through American eyes, and obtain a perfectly clear view of them and their people, supplemented by two hundred and twenty splendid illustrations from photographs, most of which were taken by Dr. Clark himself; for he carried a complete photographic outfit with him.

Dr. Clark was one of the last Americans to travel through China and Japan before the war between these countries was begun. In this rare volume he gives us the latest and best insight into the daily life of a Chinaman in his own country; his favorite food and odd dishes; opium fiends and their ways; the singular rites witnessed in the temples; the public execution of criminals; Chinese farms and farming; the seamy side of Chinese life; Japanese acrobats and their wonderful performances; Japanese life, queer customs, art, wonderful skill, etc.; the burning ghats of India, where the bodies of the dead are consumed on high piles of wood (a ceremony Dr. Clark witnessed); the Towers of Silence where the dead are exposed to be devoured by thousands of waiting vultures that constantly sit on the walls; wonderful native jugglers, fearless snake charmers and fakirs—these are but a few of hundreds of interesting topics presented. Their route led across the land that Joseph gave to his father and brethren; past the very fields where the Israelites made bricks without straw, and along the highways where once rolled the chariots of the Pharaohs. The story of the discovery of the mummy of the Pharaoh who oppressed the children of Israel, is wonderfully interesting. It was found among those of forty other mummies of kings, queens, and princes in the royal mortuary chamber in the Theban Hills, and the identification of Pharaoh is complete. Illustrations from photographs show where the mummy was found, and others give full-length, profile, and front views of this ancient king who was contemporary with Moses and reigned in Bible times, thus enabling all to see "just how Pharaoh looked."

A journey was made of hundreds of miles in an old spring wagon across Turkey and Armenia, through an unknown country, infested by robbers and hostile natives, the scene of the late horrible massacres of Armenians by Turks and Khurds. Dr. Clark was the last Christian to travel across these countries before the terrible massacres were perpetrated. The story of this perilous trip is full of thrilling interest and exciting adventures.

Mrs. Clark accompanied her husband everywhere. She draws a vivid picture of life in far-off lands, "As seen through a Woman's eyes." Her narrative is packed with anecdotes, incidents, and personal experiences. Her story of the long journey in the wagon is highly entertaining, its privations and perils, especially to a woman, being many. She was the only woman in the party, which consisted of herself and seven men.

Dr. Clark's name is a familiar household word, and his fame as President of the United Societies of Christian Endeavor, with its two and one half million members, has extended to every corner of the world. Many distinguished persons urged him to write this book. They knew that he had acquired in this remarkable journey a wealth of material which, with his unique collection of photographs, would make one of the most valuable books of the day.

It contains steel-plate portraits of Dr. Clark and of his wife, from recent photographs; a large map, exhibiting the whole world at a single glance, showing the author's journey from the beginning to the end, and 230 fine illustrations, from photographs from life. These must be seen to be appreciated.

We do not know when 640 pages have given us more genuine pleasure. If we speak warmly of the book, it is because it richly deserves it. It is sold only by agents, and is meeting with an enormous sale. Agents who introduce a first-class work like this ought to be cordially welcomed. We believe that the best way to keep out poor books is by introducing good ones, and a better one than this has never been brought to our notice. Put it into your homes. It will be read over and over again by old and young, with pleasure and lasting profit.

The work is published by the old and well-known firm of A. D. Worthington & Co., Hartford, Conn., whose imprint is sufficient guarantee of the excellence of the volume.

THE ATLANTA WORLD'S FAIR.

Greatest Show on Earth Since the Columbian Exposition.

As the winter season draws on apace, and the fancies of the tourist and health seeker turn to thoughts of balmier climes, the great Atlanta Cotton-States and International Exposition presents itself as decidedly the biggest thing this country has ever seen outside of the Columbian Fair, reflecting glory upon the thriving Gate City, upon the state of Georgia and the South in general. With this "greatest show on earth" now fully opened up and in perfect running order, all who can, should not fail to avail themselves of this grandly instructive opportunity to view the "New South" as portrayed by Atlanta's magnificent Exposition, which must be seen to truly appreciate its great magnitude.

The Railways of the North have made unusually low rates, and even lower figures may be obtained on specified dates in connection with special parties now being formed to start from Detroit and other Northern centres.

A MODEL RAILWAY.

The C. H. & D has long been recognized as occupying enviable rank among America's Railway Systems of noted prominence. This high regard is thoroughly merited by the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton Railway Company, affording to its patrons, as it does, all the conveniences, comforts and luxuries of modern travel, which, conjoined with unsurpassed roadway, absolute mechanical perfection, superb equipment, maximum speed, close connections, and all appliances, accessories and benefits incident to the highest standard of railway excellence, unquestionably enables this popular line to offer, in many respects, superior advantages in the accommodation of Southern travel.

With solid trains and through car service from Detroit, Toledo, Chicago, Indianapolis, etc., and comprehensive traffic arrangements from all points in the North and Northwest, the C. H. & D. feel warranted in soliciting a good share of Atlanta Exposition and other Southern winter excursion and regular travel, from all Northern territory natural to the Cincinnati gateway.

Visitors from Detroit, Toledo and all Michigan and tributary Northern and Eastern points are offered by the C. H. & D., perfect service, consisting of four solid daily trains to Cincinnati, carrying magnificent parlor cars and sleepers.

From Chicago, two through solid vestibuled to Cincinnati, morning and evening—via the "Monon," Indianapolis and the C. H. & D., give to the traveler sumptuous accommodation. The day service is parlor car, cafe dining car (a la carte,) and elegant day coaches; the night train consists of Pullman open and compartment sleepers, the finest of day coaches, and the entire train is steam heated and gas lighted. The sleeping car service of the "Monon" and C. H. & D. is absolutely the finest running between Chicago, Indianapolis and Cincinnati.

From Indianapolis, in addition to the above service from Chicago, three thro' fast ample equipped trains to Cincinnati permit departure via the C. H. & D. almost at will.

No trip via Cincinnati is complete without a brief stop-off in the famous "Queen City," to visit the various noted points of interest. This is easily accomplished through the most excellent schedules of the C. H. & D., landing passengers in Cincinnati in the early morning, allowing an all-day stay thereat, and a resumption of their journey by the fast evening service of the Queen & Crescent to Louisville & Nashville Roads, or connection at Cincinnati morning and evening with these lines as afforded, as may be desired.

On November 15 and 25, and December 5 and 16, very low round trip rates to Atlanta will be in effect from all C. H. & D. points, and correspondingly from tributary territory. A beautifully illustrated and descriptive folder of the Exposition can be had free by addressing D. G. Edwards, G. P. A., Cincinnati, or any C. H. & D. Agent.

The World's Fair Tests showed no baking powder so pure or so great in leavening power as the Royal.

FROST has crimsoned all the leaves,
But the barn is rich with sheaves,
Ricks of clover scent the air,
Fruits await the housewife's care,
Haws are black above the rills,
Kind are sleek upon the hills,
And along the orchard wall
Pipes the quail his cheerful call.

Fast beside the glowing grate
(Locks as white as ocean foam)
Now the aged couple wait
For "the children's" coming home—
Children who from far and near
At Thanksgiving gather here;
Children bowed with toil and care,
Girls with silver in their hair,
Boys with beards like harvest grain,
All "the children" come again,
Mingling golden locks with gray
On this peaceful, prayerful day.

Here the oaken table waits,
Set with two long rows of plates
That no Curlyhead may pout
Lest the grown folks crowd him out.
Even roving, wayward Tim
Finds a place reserved for him,
And ere grandpa's prayer is done
Resolves a better course to run.
Banished every doubt and fear
From this hopeful atmosphere.

Blest the visions that arise!
Grandpa looks in grandma's eyes.
Griefs that furrowed cheek and brow,
Tears and sighs—forgotten now.
Only sunshine floods the way
Looking backward from to-day.

"Thou who rulest everywhere,
Be our children still Thy care,
On the sea or on the land
Keep them ever in Thy hand,
Guiding still in rain or sun,
May Thy love still make us one
And its sweetness ne'er depart
From the homestead of the heart."

This is father's earnest prayer.
And "the children" gathered there
Feel renewed the hopes of youth
Flame again with love of truth,
And new-armored for the fray
Bless again Thanksgiving day.

Valuable Maps.

Messrs. Rand, McNally & Co., of Chicago, the famous map firm, have issued a wall map of this great state, which should be in every home, office and school room.

This map illustrates the complete system of United States Land Survey, and by a special process of relief line engraving presents all the details without confusion.

Each county is clearly shown by different colors and the name printed in large, clear type.

Each railroad system is correctly represented and named.

The location of every railroad station, postoffice, and town is plainly designated and can be readily located, as all section lines are clearly delineated, and the township and range numbers are printed in the plainest possible manner.

Rivers, creeks, small lakes, and innumerable details are clearly and correctly located. Taken all in all it is a marvel of beauty.

Notwithstanding the great cost of production the price is as moderate as could be expected. The prices are $2 for the paper back wall map, or $3 for the cloth back, at which rates they are sent postpaid.

The same firm issues another map which is worth mentioning. It is 66 inches long and 46 inches from top to bottom. One side shows the largest United States map ever printed on one sheet. The other side shows a similar map of the world. Each of these maps is sold for $5 when put up on cloth back, but this one map will be supplied for $2.50 postpaid.

We advise any of our readers who want the best that can be had to write for one or both maps.

Anyone who wants profitable work should write to this firm for agents' terms. Good canvassers earn from $15 to $35 per week.

ADRIAN. A. B. PARK.

MICHIGAN'S BENEFACTOR

AN OFT REPEATED STORY OF TRUE PHILANTHRO

What Chas. H. Hackley has Done for Western Michigan—How the only Cloud in the Life of an Honored Man was Brushed away by Science.

From the Grand Rapids, Mich., Evening Press.

CHAS. H. HACKLEY.

The most beautiful spot in Muskegon is inseparably associated with the name of Hackley, and in all Western Michigan there is not a name better known, and among the studious and those interested in deeds of philanthropy, this name is known and admired. Chas. H. Hackley has been in the lumber business continuously since 1856, and in that time has amassed a fortune, which gives him a rating among the wealthy men of the nation. But with wealth there did not come that tightening of the purse-strings which is generally a marked characteristic of wealthy men.

There is no prettier spot in the State than Hackley Park in a square surrounded and pierced by stone walls, emphasizing with their whiteness the green of faultlessly kept lawns, its crowning pride a towering soldier's monument on the top of which stands a bronze figure pointing ever in remembrance of the heroes who died that the nation might live. Surrounding this park are the magnificent Hackley Public Library—a poem in granite—with its 60,000 volumes, and the equally stately Hackley school, like a bee-hive with its 600 children. Other elegant buildings testify likewise to the liberality and munificence of this man who has pulled wealth out of the forests of Michigan.

It is no wonder then that the name of Chas. H. Hackley is known at home and abroad. His munificence to Muskegon alone represents an outlay of nearly half a million. For the past twenty years he has been a constant sufferer from neuralgia and rheumatism, also numbness of the lower limbs, so much so that it has seriously interfered with his pleasure in life. For some time past his friends have noticed that he has seemed to grow young again, and to have recovered the health which he had in youth.

To a correspondent of the Press, Mr. Hackley explained the secret of his transformation, and to his friends who have known how he suffered, it is indeed a transformation. "I have suffered for over twenty years," he said, seated in his private office, "with pains in my lower limbs so severely that the only relief I could get at night was by putting cold water compresses on my limbs. I was bothered more at night than in the day time. The neuralgic and rheumatic pains in my limbs, which had been growing in intensity for years, finally became chronic. I made three trips to the Hot Springs with only partial relief, and then fell back to my original state. I couldn't sit still, and my sufferings began to make life very blue. Two years ago last [illegible] noticed an account of Dr. William[illegible] for Pale People, and what they had [illegible] others, and some cases so nearly [illegible] mine that I was interested. [illegible] know whether the testimonials were [illegible] or not, and I did not wish to be humbugged, so I wrote to one who had given a testimonial, an eminent professor of music in Canada. The reply I received was even stronger than the printed testimonial, and it gave me faith in the medicine.

"I began taking the pills and found [illegible] to be all that the professor had told me they would be. It was two or three months before I experienced any perceptible betterment in my condition. My disease was of such long standing that I did not expect speedy relief, and was thankful even to be relieved. I progressed rapidly, however, towards recovery, and for the last six months have felt myself a perfectly well man. I have recommended the pills to many people, and am only too glad to assist others to health through the medium of this wonderful medicine. I cannot say too much for what it has done for me."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People have an enormous sale, and from all quarters come in glowing reports of the cures and results following their use. An analysis shows that they contain in a condensed form all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effects of la grippe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions, that tired feeling resulting from nervous prostration; all diseases depending from vitiated humors in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities and all forms of weakness. They build up the blood and restore the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. In men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork or excesses of whatever nature. There are no ill effects following the use of this wonderful medicine, and it can be given to children with perfect safety.

HACKLEY PAR[illegible]

These pills are manufactured by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y., and are sold only in boxes bearing the firm's trade mark and wrapper, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, and are never sold by the dozen or hundred nor in bulk. They may be had of all druggists or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company. The price at which this medicine is sold makes a course of treatment comparatively inexpensive as compared with other remedies.

CONFORMITY PART OF NATURE.

Sermon Delivered in the Universalist Church, Nov. 24th, by Elmer C. Andrus, Pastor.

With great pleasure I invite you this evening to consider with me the whole chapter, which was our lesson. (Romans xii)

This subject has given rise, in former times, to a vast deal of theological thinking and preaching, some good, some bad. The consideration which has usually been given to it turns upon one point, and that forms the basis of our theme tonight. Conformity or non-conformity, which?

The old theologians have almost always used this theme to extol the change of heart and renunciation of the world necessary in their estimation, before one may become a Christian.

Before we can understand this fully we must know just what they meant by "conformity" and "transformtion." By conformity to this world was meant the seeking of pleasures and the usual debasing influences which accompany such pleasures. By "transformation" was meant the creating in one of a new heart and the desire to follow Jesus of Nazereth as their life ex-ample, the which to imitate and to copy.

"Conformity to this world" means something more than this to me, as does also "transformation." This world is made up not alone of the debasing pleasures which the old religious thinkers very justly reviled, but it contains much that is high and excellent as well. This world is the home of man and always has been. It is his mother, his nurse, his companion, his teacher. It fills him with wonder as he contemplates its complexity, and it fills him with reverence as he realizes how from out it comes his daily life, his very substance. He learns, if his soul is not benumbed by the clamour of his selfishness, that he is but a very small part of the life which fills the space about him. If he sees this as he should, he learns a true reverence which can never allow him to think ill of his neighbor without a certain knowledge of his fellow's wrong. He comes to know that, as a part of the world, he, as a single man, is very small indeed. If he goes to the stagnent pool by the wayside and there, by his microscope, discovers the little animal he has called a monad, he learns that he is not alone in this world, the flower of all the life in it, for there he meets a brother as wonderful as himself, though the span between them is almost infinite, but they are brothers still, being children of the one Father.

While, if we contemplate the social side of our world, to which some would lead us to believe that all who do not call it base and carnal are conformed to their everlasting hurt, we find oftentimes among the very ones who, by their words, dispise it most, those who would be its worst disgrace, could we see them as they are. It is better, a thousand times better, to be poor and homeless, and friendless, a deciple of the carnal old world and honest, than to be petted of men and be a religious hypocrite. We may decieve our fellow men, but the great All Seing One we cannot. He knows us as we are, and to him the Indian savage, who, beneath his plantin shade, repeats his mummeries to an image of clay or stone, is as dear as the robed priest at the altar of no matter what sect or creed, though the latter be the decipie of a civilized race and its great high priest, and the former but an untutored savage.

Men are oftentimes blind to the great world of which they are a part, and consider themselves a special and a marveloss creation instead of but one link in the great ascending scale from the unthinking, mindless, monad to the consumation of life which may result in a being beside of which, man is but a simple monad. He is but a single link in the great chain of evolution, the end of which is the end of eternity.

Conformation to this world means, if it means anything, the abiding by the laws which make up the basis of its very existence. That by law, we become inheritors of life; that by law, and not by chance, we are heirs to a nature like to God's; that by law, and not by chance, we give to our posterity an inheritance which is better than that which we received, or is worse; that by law, not by chance, we grow to nobler and better manhood. Who can say that the profession of a creed makes one good, or true, or holy, if this daily life be vile? Then it is the daily life which makes a man or woman a true christian.

A man grows into a better spiritual state, not all at once as too many in the churches evidence by their lives that they believe, but by a constant and continued growth. As the flower is changed from a wild and uncivilized state to the perfection which some have been made to attain, by constant cultivation and selection of the best, so has man through ages of cultivation grown into the civilization which he has today. Not because of a creed or doctrine he has done this, but because of the native sagacity with which he is endowed, and which is as general in humankind as the five senses through which we know this world of ours; nor is it limited by a form of belief. Following the gross pleasures of life for the sake of those pleasures alone, then, becomes a terrible sin, not because it debars us from heaven, but it kills the higher aims of the man and deadens his sense of decency and right, and so becomes a degeneration, a going back to the life of the monad without a mind and without a thought save his own existence. It gives to his children the inheritance of a weakness, and he binds them in a slavery worse than that which ever shackled a black man in the days of old.

It is not the simple dance, nor the evening of amusement, not even though a minister of the gospel were one of the company; neither is it a simple game at cards which lessens man, but it is the occupying of the whole mind by sensations of mere gross pleasure, and this would turn a saint to destruction. But the game, or dance, or party, if the simple amusement of a life given to good, honest, sober thinking and upright action, is as innocent as the gambols of of the lambs in the meadows.

Transformation in the spirit to the performance of God's will, means to me, the earnest devotion to a deep and noble sense of what is highest in life. It means that we strive to do what is right because it is right, and not because of the fear of being punished if we do wrong. It means the growth upward and onward in the course of evolution, the fulfillment of the promise which is in us, not of a single member of the race, but of the whole family of humankind. If we are possessed of these qualities, "Let love be without dissimunation. Abhor that which is evil; cleave to that which is good. Be kindly affectioned one to another, with brotherly love; in honor prefering one another; not slothful in business; fervent in spirit; serving the Lord; rejoicing in hope; patient in tribulation; continuing instant in prayer; distributing to the necessities of the saints, given to hospitality. Bless them which persecute you; bless and curse not."—(St. Paul's Epistles to Romans xii:9-14.) If we are possessed of these qualities, we transform our daily life into active prayer, which is the only kind of prayer that works a good in us. More than that, If we have these, there is no salvation for one of the race, which does not include all.

Tranformation of spiritual growth and its principles, stated so well by James Martineau, are these: "Every action is wrong, which, in presence of a higher principle follows a lower, and every action is right, which, in presence of a lower principle, follows a higher." Looking then into nature we find that conformity is everywhere, that law is the commandment of God, whether written in the book we call the Bible or whether engraved by his mighty hand on the stones beneath our feet or evidenced by the monad of the stagnant pool. We learn that we are but one small part of the great all of creation, and what we call the great being, a single man, is but a microscopic speck in the universe which God beholds, its dimensions being endless. We see, too, that we are creatures of law, that we grow spiritually, as well as physically in accordance with the uniformity of nature, that mankind is one of the myriad of units, which go to form the life scale in the world, and that our growth upward into a better moral state, into a more loving brotherhood, and most of all, into the realization of the fact of religion as being our daily life and not our creeds, is the best preparation of which we know, for the world to come.

For this are churches erected, for this are men banded together and for this do we set apart one time during the week to contemplate the holy side of existence, that we may grow better, day by day, and more worthy to be called the children of an infinite love, Knowing that:

"He who from zone to zone,
Guides through the boundless sky,
Thy certain flight
In the longway that I must tread alone,
Will lead my steps aright."

BEAUTIFUL CLEVELAND.

A Few Words of Interest from Our Friend and Former Townsman, W. H. Babbitt.

The HERALD has been well supplied of late with correspondence from various sources; it has presented its readers with racy letters from the young bicycle tourist abroad, and tales of early Michigan history have been told by one who could say, "A part of which I was." Is there room left in one of your issues for a letter from this thriving Buckeye city? Cleveland has recently been pressing her claim to the metropolis of Ohio, Cincinnati having been outstripped by her in population. Bigness seems to be the great thing with the American people. "Greater New York," Chicago, Cleveland, etc., has been the cry, and city limits have been extended with a view of getting more inhabitants. But some are lifting up the better cry. "Better New York" and "Better Cleveland," which is a cry we are glad to hear. Tecumseh, as its absent friends are pleased to learn, is keeping up its reputation for business enterprise. It gives them greater pleasure, however, to know that it is not overlooking interests higher than business. Your course of winter evening entertainments is equal to the very best of those enjoyed in large cities. Your library and reading room and circles for mutual improvement and well sustained schools and high school give evidence of sound public sentiments in favor of morality and intelligence, while your prosperous churches give equal evidence in favor of religion. Inhabitants of our eastern sea-board states, who may have been to Europe but who have never explored their native land, have some of them very defective ideas in regard to the development in our western towns in the direction of true refinement. They think it simply impossible that the culture and intelligence of Boston or New York or Philadelphia has been duplicated anywhere west of the Alleghanies. Not many years ago some eastern people, after listening to an Ohio preacher, expressed surprise at the good grammatical English that he used. Settlers in this goodly city hailing from the "Hub," or "from New York, you know," have brought with them airs of superiority that were ludicrous. But they have soon found themselves in the condition that the old Scotch divine prayed his airy young brother might be: "Prick him, Lord, and let the wind out of him." The truth is that learning and refinement are no longer confined to a few favored localities. They are everywhere in our land. They have crossed the Mississippi and reached the Pacific coast. A cultivated person can find as congenial society in Michigan or Oregon, or far off Washington, as he can in Massachusets or Pennsylvania.

The recent earthquake gave the people east and west a mild shaking up. The sensation it caused was not to be compared, however, to the political land-slide of the first Tuesday of November, which extended as far south as Maryland and Kentucky. Three years ago there was one of another sort. We are coming to look for these revolutions and to see a meaning in them. That meaning is, the determination of the people to have, if possible, better times. If these times come now the HERALD will doubtless say they are the result of good, wise Democratic management of our affairs. But if that Republican paper is started in Tecumseh the editor will say that they are due to the return of his party into power. The people may not believe either, and if the good times do not come pretty soon, they will be likely to try the effect of another revolution, different from either of the two we have had.

Prosperity seems to reign already in Cleveland. Business is good and few men willing to work are idle. The present congress is asked to grant $2,500,000 for a new postoffice and U. S. building. The growth of the city has rendered this call for a new building imperative. This is getting to be a great centre for the iron industry. In the oil trade it is well known we are Standard. We have some high buildings, the highest so far being fifteen stories. Lawyers' offices are well up in these high buildings, contradicting, thus, the toast given at a dinner in honor of one of our Chief Justices—"However high the legal profession may seek to rise, it can never get above one story." Next year this city celebrates the centennial of its founding. Extensive preparations are in progress for a great exhibition of its growth in commerce and manufactures. Scarce three weeks have gone since the city held its breath at hearing that a car full of people, unconscious to the last moment of their coming down, had dropped 100 feet through an open draw into the dark, chill waters of the Cuyahoga river. It was a dread calamity and brought sore suffering to hearts and households from which they will not soon escape. After a brief spasm of of insistance that something be done to prevent the recurrence of such a horror in the future, we are living on as if this one had not taken place. The world's progress is made at the cost of terrible sacrifices—holocausts of human life. Ought we not to seek a progress in which human life and human character will both of them have a higher estimate?

Lenawee Teachers' Meeting.

The Lenawee County Teachers' association held a meeting at the Whitney opera house in Adrian, Saturday last, beginning at 9:30 o'clock, at which time J. B. TenBrook, of Fairfield, called the meeting to order.

The first paper was presented by F. E. Wilcox, of Clinton, who offered some timely suggestions as to the "Benefits of Teachers' Associations."

Prof. V. K. VanDeVenter, of Dundee, followed with a presentation of "The scientific alphabet—what is it and what are its advantages?" The subject was well presented and furnished some interesting thoughts.

Both papers were open for general discussion and the teachers availed themselves of the opportunity to present numerous useful and helpful thoughts.

A business session was next and an adjournment until 1:15 in the afternoon followed. D. M. Halsey, of Woodstock, who was on the program for a paper on "The teacher's influence in the neighborhood," failed to respond, and the next topic "Current events—their importance and how to teach them," was presented by B. L. Hart, of Jasper. An interesting discussion followed, and, interspersed with music, the day was spent in an agreeable and profitable manner to the teachers present, as well as the spectators.

President—Prof. O. L. Palmer.
Vice presidents—M. J. Sweet, Ella Norris.
Secretary—Celia Brewster.

Valuable Maps.

Messrs. Rand, McNally & Co., of Chicago, the famous map firm, have issued a wall map of this great state, which should be in every home, office and school room.

This map illustrates the complete system of United States Land Survey, and by a special process of relief line engraving presents all the details without confusion.

Each county is clearly shown by different colors and the name printed in large, clear type.

Each railroad system is correctly represented and named.

The location of every railroad station, postoffice, and town is plainly designated and can be readily located, as all section lines are clearly delineated, and the township and range numbers are printed in the plainest possible manner.

Rivers, creeks, small lakes, and innumerable details are clearly and correctly located. Taken all in all it is a marvel of beauty.

Notwithstanding the great cost of production the price is as moderate as could be expected. The prices are $2 for the paper back wall map, or $3 for the cloth back, at which rates they are sent postpaid.

The same firm issues another map which is worth mentioning. It is 66 inches long and 46 inches from top to bottom. One side shows the largest United States map ever printed on one sheet. The other side shows a similar map of the world. Each of these maps is sold for $5 when put up on cloth back, but this one map will be supplied for $2.50 postpaid.

We advise any of our readers who want the best that can be had to write for one or both maps.

Anyone who wants profitable work should write to this firm for agents' terms. Good canvassers earn from $15 to $35 per week.

Clinton Column.

CLINTON, MICH., DEC. 13, 1895.

Dr. J. L. Tuttle made a business trip to Detroit Wednesday.

B. G. Woodward has been quite indisposed the past week, caused by la grip.

John and Fred Kenaler, of Manchester and Brooklyn, were in town Monday.

Miss Nina Hanford, of Tecumseh, was the guest of Miss Mame Bradner over Sunday.

Will P. McAdam, of Tecumseh, came up Saturday and spent Sunday with his father.

J. S. Kishpaugh made an overland trip to Deerfield and Dundee the first of the week.

The members of the M. E. Sunday school are preparing for a cantata to be given Xmas.

Rev. J. H. Eichbaum was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Smith during his stay in Clinton.

Miss Carrie Alvord, of Church street, entertained a gentleman friend from Hillsdale over Sunday.

Miss Olaf Ostman, of Grand Rapids, is visiting her mother, Mrs. C. Schnerla, and other friends in this vicinity.

F. R. Greenleaf has so far recovered from his late illness as to be able to be out when the weather is favorable.

Marcus Woodcock, one of the woolen mill force, left Wednesday for a two weeks' visit at his old home in Flint.

Miss Lizzie Shurtz, after a pleasant visit with relatives and friends, returned to her home in Toledo yesterday.

Bert Cutting, accompanied by one gentleman and two lady friends, of Tecumseh, attended union services Sunday evening.

Dr. J. E. White and Fred C. Sherwood were in Hudson Friday and Saturday on business pertaining to the order of Maccabees.

Vern Heesen, Cleo Hall, C. D. Keyes and Nina Hanford, of Tecumseh, attended St. John's Episcopal church Sunday evening.

Joe Crosby and wife, Mrs. C. F. Field, John J. Orr and C. D. Keyes, of Tecumseh, attended the Episcopal supper and entertainment.

Will H. Katner and bride have returned from their wedding trip and will soon be ready to receive their friends in their pleasant home.

James Hogan, who was drawn as juror in the Washtenaw circuit, got excused long enough to go east with a car of stock. He went Saturday.

Garland R. Gillispie, our attorney-at-law, is kept very busy these days. He was in Tecumseh Saturday and Ann Arbor Monday on legal business.

From present indications, H. O. Wiltse & Son will very soon be settled in their own cozy building which Fred Sherwood is erecting for them on Jackson street.

Geo. A. Rowland and wife, of Albion, arrived Tuesday afternoon for a visit with relatives and friends, also to attend the Episcopal Fair and entertainment.

There seems to be little hope that C. S. Baker will ever be any better, as his mental condition remains the same while his physical condition is growing more feeble.

Word has been received from C. S. Burroughs, who left for the west the first of last week, that he reached Pawnee Friday last and found the weather mild and delightful.

Darwin M. Bainbridge is confined to the house with a badly sprained ankle, which is very painful and, as is often the case, may prove more serious than though a bone had been broken.

Rev. J. H. Eichbaum, of Brooklyn, who exchanged with Rev. W. R. Blachford, gave a strong address on the subject of "Missions," at St. John's Episcopal church Sunday evening, to a very large congregation.

Orville Barnes and wife are very busy preparing for their removal to Chicago where he will enter a theological seminary, he having decided to prepare himself for the ministry. The best wishes of their many friends accompany them.

Notwithstanding the numerous weddings which have occurred here within the past few weeks, the air is still heavily laden with the aroma of orange blossoms, which is conclusive evidence that the end is not yet, but more to follow.

They do say that even Geo. VanGieson, who has so long withstood Cupid's darts, is visibly affected by Hymen's wave, which has so stirred this community, and many anticipate that he may soon join the ranks of the benidicts.

This entire community feel deeply the great loss which Lenawee county has sustained by the death of S. C. Stacy, its veteran editor. He was nearly as well known by our citizens as in his own town, and his many virtues recognized and appreciated.

Mr. C. C. Rowland met with quite a serious accident at the woolen mill last Wednesday, which will confine him to the house for some time. We were unable to get full particulars, but know he has a badly bruised leg and the only wonder is that it was not broken.

The funeral of John Wood, a brother of Selden Wood and Mrs. Demuth, who lived in the township of Saline and was well known to most of our residents, was held at his late residence, Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Owing to feeble health, neither Mrs. Demuth or Selden Wood were able to attend, but the following relatives were present: Will Wood and wife, W. S. Kimball and wife, J. O. Fitzgerald and wife, S. W. Demuth.

When considering the inclemency of the weather Wednesday, the Episcopal ladies should feel highly flattered at the success of their fair, supper and entertainment. While the attendance was small, compared with what it would have been had the weather been favorable, yet those who braved the wintry blasts and blinding snow felt amply repaid. The articles for sale were not only useful, but beautiful and varied, and found ready sale. The supper was the par excellence of culinary skill, for which these ladies are celebrated, and the entertainment, furnished by some forty children ranging from 3 to 15 years of age, under the direction of Miss Laura Clark, was a marvel to all and ought to be repeated. It consisted of two parts. Part first opened with "America," by the whole company, which was charmingly rendered and the harmony of the young voices was perfect. Old King Cole, by ten boys, called forth a grand encore, to which they responded, as did the twelve young girls in their medley. The character song by that charming little artist, Mamie Keyser, delighted every one and she, of course, was called back. Part second consisted of a fairy operetta, which was rendered in a faultless manner, and it is doubtful if the grown people could have excelled them. The young daughter of Lewis Gray, as the Fairy of the Waters, was charming and her reading and singing effective. Ralph Kishpaugh made a handsome Prince Clever. He has a fine voice and his solos were all very finely rendered. Willie Hard, as Boy Blue, was perfect; Millie Whittlesey was an admirable Dame Bustle; Sybella Lancaster as Lilla, and Eva Smith as Flirta, sustained their characters with great credit, and little Flora Seamark made a great hit as Bo Peep, she read her lines beautifully and her duet with Boy Blue received a hearty encore. The Hunters and Fairies acquitted themselves with great credit, and the tableau and song Queen of Hearts, closed this delightful entertainment. It is wonderful the voices that were developed on this occasion among the little folks. Where each and every one did themselves proud it is impossible to mention each one individually. The little tots, Katherine Clark, Ruth Kimball and Willie Smith were irresistable. Miss Laura Clark must have felt repaid for her arduous labors by the manner in which the operetta was rendered.

RAISIN VALLEY SEMINARY.

Miss Vinora Beal spent Sunday at home.

Miss Ruth Smith has been absent from school for some time on account of sickness.

The Seminary boys are rejoicing over their new skating pond which has just been constructed.

Messrs W. F. Hill and V. H. Slee returned last week from Canada where they have been for some time on business.

The Juniors seem to be quite busy preparing for their Public which will be Friday evening, Dec. 20. We understand they are preparing a fine program.

Mr. Graves, after a long absence is again in his place as third teacher. Mr. Youngglove, who filled Mr. Grave's place during his absence, is now teaching four miles west of Adrian.

The contest at the church Friday evening last was a thing of interest, Miss Jennie Wolverton being the successful contestant. Miss Bertha Shoemaker and Mr Edwin Morden, of Adrian, furnished music for the evening which was splendid.

GORMAN GOSSIP.

Our little town is at present without any M. D. If some good doctor will locate here we will give him a liberal patronage.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sebram returned to their home at Toledo on Thursday last, after spending a few days visiting with friends here.

J. R. McElhaney, of Adrian, called on your correspondent this week. He is making a house-to-house canvass for his county directory and is meeting with excellent success.

Two Lives Saved.

Mrs. Pheobe Thomas, of Junction City, Ill., was told by her doctors she had consumption and that there was no hope for her, but two bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her and she says it saved her life. Mrs. Thos. Eggers, 139 Florida St. San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching consumption, tried without result every thing else then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful. It is such results, of which these are samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this medicine in coughs and colds. Free trial bottles at Orr & Temple's drug store. The Mount Lebanon Skakers have recently perfected an ingenious cure for dyspepsia. Their Digestive Cordial consists of a food already digested and a digester of foods happily combined.

The importance of this invention will be appreciated when we realize what a proportion of the community are victims of some form of stomach trouble. Thousands of pale, thin people have little inclination to eat, and what they do eat causes them pain and distress.

This Digestive Cordial of the Shakers corrects any stomach derangement at once. It makes thin people plump. Every one will be greatly interested to read the little book which has been placed in the hands of druggists for free distribution.

Three Crops a Year

Can be grown on the same land in eastern Mississippi and southern Alabama along the line of the Mobile & Ohio railroad. The summers are cooler, the winters are milder, the death rate is lower than in the north. Improved farms $10 to $15 per acre; unimproved land $3 to $5 per acre near railway stations. It is the best portion for raising fruits and early vegetables, stock raising and general farm crops. Lands are advancing; now is the time to buy. Very low rate excursions monthly. The Mobile & Ohio has put on two through fast trains each way daily between St. Louis and Mobile. It is the shortest and quickest route to the South. WE WANT TO TELL YOU

Do you know what it is to have a back that is never free from aches and constant pain, a lame back, a sore back, an aching back, in fact, a back that makes your life a burden? What have you done for it? And does it still keep you from the happiness that perfect health brings to all? We know full well if such is your condition a cure for it will be a blessing you no doubt desire. Plasters won't do it, but may assist in bringing strength. Liniment won't do it; for, while it may give temporary relief, it does not reach the cause. The cause, there's the point; there's where to make the attack. Most backaches come from disordered kidneys, therefore you must correct their action if you would be cured. Read the following from D. D. Cook, whose address is No. 18 Michigan Street, Grand Rapids. He says:—

"I have used Doan's Kidney Pills and wish to say it is a truly great medicine. Thirty years ago I had nervous prostration while in the army, where I served for over four years. I think it was during this service that the seeds were sown which have caused all my trouble. Severe bilious attacks bothered me, and at such times my kidneys were worse. It is almost impossible to describe the pain which so often lamed me. I have been so lame that to stand up after I had been sitting down required a great exertion. Walking was at times an impossibility, even at night I did not rest, being forced to get up during the night. I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills and wondered if they could make an almost lame man well. I got some, and soon after taking them began to feel their good effects. I used them for some time, my lameness all left me and I have not felt it since. Doan's Kidney Pills have done me an inestimable amount of good."

The part of the nasal passages affected by Catarrh is always the membrane of the nose, and in a common cold this can be seen to be reddened and frequently covered with mucous. This diseased surface can be so readily seen, that any inexperienced observer, in a good light, can see the diseased membrane in the nose. Later on the disease can be seen in the throat, after it has passed through the nasal passages and back and down the throat to the tonsils, which are enlarged, and the surrounding membrane is reddened and filled with little pale white elevations. This is yet uncomplicated, simple catarrh, which can be readily and surely relieved by the application of Pretzinger's Catarrh Balm. If this Balm be applied to the membrane of the nose in such a quantity that it can be drawn back into the head, the whole of the diseased surface above described will be bathed with this healing ointment, and such an application repeated twice a day will speedily effect a cure, even of chronic catarrh as above described. The length of time required for the treatment of simple, uncomplicated catarrh, will vary with the stage at which the treatment is begun. A simple cold in the head, where the disease is confined to the nasal passages, will yield to treatment over night, but after the disease has extended beyond the nasal passages and into the throat, it may require from ten days to two weeks of treatment to thoroughly relieve the condition. This Balm costs but fifty cents, and can be had at any drug store, or Pretzinger Bros., Chemists, Dayton, Ohio, who manufacture this remedy, will send same on receipt of price, or a small sample for a 2c. stamp. 1w

MORTGAGE SALE

DEFAULT having been made in the conditions of a mortgage executed on the first day of September, A. D. 1892, by James Boyd, mortgagor, to Mary Ann Boyd, mortgagee, all those certain tracts or parcels of land situated and being in the township of Franklin, in the county of Lenawee and state of Michigan, and described as follows, to-wit: The southeast quarter of the southeast quarter and the northeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section number seven (7) of town five (5) south of range number two east, containing of both parcels eighty (80) acres of land more or less, to secure the payment of one thousand dollars, in ten annual instalments next ensuing the first day of September, 1893, with interest from the date thereof at six per cent per annum payable annually, and said mortgage was, on the 5th day of September, A. D. 1892, recorded in the Register's office in Lenawee for the county of Lenawee, Michigan, in Liber 9 of Mortgages, on page 78; and whereas said mortgage contains a power of sale that in case any default be made in the payment of any of said instalments of interest or any part thereof, or in any of the covenants or agreements whereon the same is made, prior to the maturity of the whole sum thereof, as above expressed, and should the same remain unpaid for the space of sixty days, then the whole sum of principal and interest shall become due and payable forthwith, and from thenceforth, that is to say, from the expiration of said sixty days, interest shall be computed upon said sum of one thousand dollars at the rate of seven per cent per annum, which said sum of one thousand dollars and interest thereon shall, at the option of said party of the second part, his executors, administrators or assigns, be one and be due and payable immediately thereafter, although the period above limited for the payment thereof may not then have expired.

Default having been made in the payment of the principal of said mortgage and the interest thereon, the undersigned hereby elects to declare and does hereby declare the whole amount due both principal and interest, amounting at the date of this notice to the sum of nine hundred, nine and 11-100 dollars, and no proceedings at law or in equity having been commenced for the recovery of the same or any part thereof, notice, therefore, is hereby given that, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and of the statute of the state of Michigan in such case made and provided, for the purpose of realizing the amount above mentioned and interest thereon, and all costs of this foreclosure and said sale, including an attorney fee provided by law, to be paid on the third day of February, A. D. 1896 at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, at the front door of the court house in the city of Adrian, in said county, Michigan, (that being the place at which the circuit court for said county of Lenawee is holden) sell at public vendue to the highest bidder the lands and premises described

Monday night, as Horace Dibble was coming to singing school just south of Charles Lowe's, he was surprised by some one trying to stop his horse, but reining the horse quickly to one side, the man failed to catch the horse. The man made an effort to grab him, just catching the sleeve of his overcoat. By this time the horse was on the run, when the assailant opened fire with a revolver firing three shots, one of which struck the back of the cutter. No clew as yet.

The following is the bill of fare that will be presented at the Roast Turkey Dinner to be given under the management of the L. C. S., at the parlors of the church at Ridgeway, Dec. 18th, from 6 to 9 p. m. The object aside from the social feature, is to furnish means to recarpet the church. The cause is a worthy one. MACON MUSIC.

A very pleasant and altogether happy company of near relatives assembled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Gilmore, in Macon, on the evening of Nov. 27, 1895, to witness the marriage of their daughter, Miss Alta Gilmore and Mr. Samuel Boyce, son of Thos. Boyce of Macon. The contracting parties are among the most highly esteemed and useful young people of our community. The presents which they received were valuable, useful and numerous. After the marriage was solemnized by Rev. J. I. Gulick, their pastor, and the congratulations of the many friends, the company sat down to partake of a feast of well prepared food, consisting of the delicacies of the season, and with good cheer, music and song, the entire evening was spent in the most enjoyable manner. Well near the midnight hour the company dispersed, with the most hearty good will to the newly married couple, and best wishes for their future prosperity and happiness.

A true Thanksgiving party assembled by invitation, on Thanksgiving day, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Boyce. Their youngest son Samuel Boyce, brought his young wife, and friends were there towelcome them to his father's house. The occasion was one long to be remembered by us all. The party assembled were the parents of the bridal party, brothers and sisters of the same, together with a few cousins near enough to reach the place, composing a large party for Thanksgiving day. Mrs. Boyce is noted for her hospitality, and this dinner was no exception to her former preparations. Some friends who could not attend the wedding on the evening previous, brought with them also wedding presents for the young people, who had so recently started out on life's journey together, with congratulations and best wishes. The day was all that could be desired for beauty, and all unite in wishing for the young couple that all their married life may be as the day, clear and bright to its close.

OBITUARY.

Harriott Hendershot was born in Macon, Lenawee Co., Mich., in 1837. Was married to C. E. Morgan Aug. 29, 1861. Moved with her husband to Ingham Co., Mich., in 1869, where she resided until the time of her decease, Nov. 29, 1895. She united with the Close Communion Baptist Church about 17 years since and has always been a consistent member of said church and adoring the doctrine of Christ, her Saviour. She had been a great sufferer for over a year previous to her death. She died in faith, as she had lived a life of faith in Christ. She leaves a husband and a large circle of friends and relatives to mourn her departure. Her body was brought from her home in Ingham county to the home of Mr. Crittenden, of Macon, on Saturday, Nov. 30. The funeral services were held in the Baptist church of Macon on Sunday morning, Dec 1, Rev. J. I. Gulick officiating, and the remains followed by a large number of friends to the cemetery of Macon, to be laid away in the hope of a glorious resurrection. "Then shall the dust return to the earth as it was, and the spirit to the God who gave it."

A NEW BOOK.

Sent Free to Catarrh Patients for a Short Time—A Holiday Gift.

Everybody interested in the subject of catarrh and other winter diseases will be glad to learn that The Pe-ru-na Drug Manufacturing Company of Columbus, O., is sending, free of charge, an illustrated book of sixty-four pages on the subject of catarrh. This book contains illustrations showing the brain, the nasal passages, throat, lungs, trachea, bronchial tubes, stomach, liver, middle ear, etc. There are four full-page illustrations, showing the circulation, nervous system, glandular system and the vital organs. The book is a complete guide to the prevention and cure of chronic catarrh and all diseases of winter. Colds, coughs, consumption, dyspepsia, la grippe, bronchitis, and pneumonia are described and treated. Diseases of the kidneys, liver, lungs, ear, eyes and pelvic organs are illustrated, explained, and the treatment given. Every family ought to have a copy of this book at once. Thousands of dollars and thousands of lives can be saved by studying it and practicing what it teaches. It will teach mothers how to take care of themselves and shield their families from disease. Write name and address plainly. Be sure to have a bottle of Pe-ru-na in the house, as the cold weather is already upon us. This remedy, wisely used, will prevent colds, coughs, and other ills of cold weather, and is the greatest catarrh remedy of the age. 1w

TECUMSEH, MICH., DEC. 18, 1895.

SCOVEL CONSIDER STACY.

Scovel Consider Stacy first saw the light of day in the house now occupied by Lucius Lilley, at the corner of Union and Pottawatamie streets, in the village of Tecumseh, Lenawee County, Mich., on the 2nd day of August, 1841, and has been a resident of this village for the entire fifty-four years since that time.

His childhood was spent here attending the public schools and finally, after finishing at the old University, he entered the State University at Ann Arbor, from which he graduated in the Literary class of '64 and Law class of '66 with the highest honors. After several more years of law study and practice in Tecumseh, he formed a partnership with his father under the firm name of C. A. & S. C. Stacy, in the city of Adrian. This was continued until Nov. 1874, when, on account of the infirmity of partial deafness, he was forced to give up the practice of law, and purchased THE TECUMSEH HERALD, and for the past 21 years has conducted this establishment which gives him the distinction of being the oldest newspaper editor, in continuous service, in Lenawee county.

Last Sunday morning he was stricken with apoplexy. Medical aid and tender nursing were of no avail, and on Wednesday morning at 1 o'clock his breathing simply stopped, leaving another place vacant in an already death-stricken family.

Scovel Stacy lived much of his life for the good of the State. He was three terms Justice of the Peace; served one term of 3, and another of 12 years a member of and director of the school board, and was twice sent to the county seat to represent his town in the capacity of supervisor. In religious belief he was a Universalist, serving on the board of trustees that conducted the affairs of the Tecumseh church for many terms, and as superintendent of the Sunday school for 20 consecutive years.

It is probably safe to say, that there was not a man in Lenawee county who was personally known to so many people as the subject of this sketch, and he merited and received a kindly greeting from them all. In his private life, Mr. Stacy was a man of faultless habits and most indefatigable industry. In business he must be given the credit of the most indomitable energy and presistent endeavor, though these exertions, without fault of his, may have been sometimes misdirected. The persistence with which he pursued his plans was carried even to a degree which was often costly to success. His attainments were varied and scholarly and all contributed to a laudable professional pride which, it is within the bounds of modesty to say) always maintained his paper to the highest standard of local journalism.

Since the death of his father, the care of mother and sister devolved largely upon him and their wish was performed to the utmost of his ability. Though the pleasures of the world, as ordinarily considered, were denied him to an extent which would have embittered the whole life of more fortunate men, his disposition was cheerful to a remarkable degree, and his very misfortunes seemed to be taken direct from the hand of unwilling fate and transformed into pleasantries and smiles for those he met.

Outside the public and professional career which this sketch recites, Scovel Stacy's was an unique character inseperably identified with the history and individual life of this community, and in this respect has spoken most eloquently for itself. His faults were always forgiven by his associates and are now forgotten. Only his genial nature, bright intellect and manly virtues remain a happy and lasting remembrance.

As it is peculiarly difficult for the writer to do justice to this task, under the circumstances, we feel justified in appending the following just and beautiful tribute from the Adrian Times of Wednesday:

The death of our friend and co-worker, Scovel C. Stacy, will leave a gap that cannot readily be filled in the active business life of the thriving community [illegible] the leading scene of his life's efforts, as boy and man, for so many well spent years. And the sad tidings that the active, genial, cheery spirit that bravely assaulted and overcame obstacles which would have daunted many more favored men, has at last succumbed to the inevitable and laid aside its earthly armor, will be received with sadness by scores of sympathizing friends, not only within the limits of Lenawee county, but throughout the whole wide expanse within the boundaries of his native commonwealth.

His death makes, if we mistake not, the fourth break in a family chain that possessed many remarkable characteristics. His father, the late Judge Consider A. Stacy, was one of the most remarkable men in the annals of our local bar, and his genius and marked professional merits, gave him a reputation that placed him in the van of the many illustrious exponents of the law that lived to see their adopted scene of action burst from its territorial limitations into the power and regency of a sovereign state.

The son just taken, student, orator, jurist, journalist, was the worthy descendant of so eminent a sire. The two younger brothers, who have preceded him—both cut short, it may be said, in the early promise of a useful manhood—possessed in notable degree the mental acumen and versatility that mark almost indelibly the whole Stacy lineage—but more than all others, the senior brother seemed to have inherited the tireless activity, the intellectual tenacity and grasp, that so eminently distinguished their gifted progenitor.

Could he have continued in the profession of law, he would undoubtedly today have ranked among the ablest of our local advocates; but compelled to abandon the chosen profession of his early life, by infirmity of hearing, and leave the forum for the tripod, he followed his accepted line of duty with a conscientious appreciation of its important responsibilities.

While his unexpected taking must necessarily be a cause of regret, it brings with it the consolation that he met the unavoidable, it might be said, in the zenith of his achievement, and leaves behind a record of industry and unassuming usefulness and influence that must come as a grateful mitigation to the grief of the sorrowing mother, sister and brother.

A Captalist Preaches.

The famous S. V. White, who has for so many years been such a power in Wall Street, and has meanwhile represented his District in Congress, appears in a new role in the columns of EVERY WHERE. He delivers a lay sermon to young men and women, on the text "Keep that which is committed to thy trust;" and it is the general verdict of business men, that his remarks ought to be framed in gold, and hung in every counting room. If heeded, they would save much of the financial dishonesty which is ruining so many young men.

The other departments of the paper are up to their usual standard, which is saying a great deal. The name of the editor Will Carleton is in itself worth a whole corbs of ordinary contributors, and the three poems entitled "Bird Rhymes" in this paper are worth the whole price of subscription for one year, which is only fifty cents. Address EVERY WHERE, Brooklyn, N. Y.

A Delightful Christmas Magazine.

The Christmas Ladies' Home Journal by far surpasses, both in literary and artistic excellence, any previous issue of that popular magazine. Conspicuous among the contributors are ex-President Harrison, who gives the introductory paper of the series he is preparing upon 'This country of Ours;' Mrs. Mary Anderson de Navarro, who most interestingly tells of 'My First Appearance on the Stage;' and Mary E. Wilkins, who gives the first of 'Neighborhoods Types' papers. Rudyard Kipling's latest and best romance, 'William the Conqueror' (richly illustrated by W. L. Taylor,) is begun in the Christmas Journal, as is Julia Magruder's new novelette, 'The Violet,' which Charles Dana Gibson has illustrated, while Mrs. Burton Harrison's fascinating story, 'The Holiday Dance at Worrosquoyacke,' pictures by W. T. Smedley's delightfully conceived. James Whitcomb Riley's tenderly reminiscent poem, 'At the Gate' (superbly illustrated A. B. Frost,) and Kate Greenway's winsome dainty little people, are two page features of the December Journal. Mrs. A. D. T. Whitney in a 'Friendly Letter to Girl Friends" sharply criticises society for what it is, and shows its true mission or purpose, and a fitting page-mate to it is Lilian Bell's caustic analysis of 'The Man Under Thirty-five,' a brilliantly-witty paper. By the Curtis Publishing Company, Philadelphia. One dollar per year; ten cents per copy.

The Historic Route.

The Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis R'y, the model railroad of the south in equipment, roadway and service, is also the greatest in historical interest, more than fifty famous battlefields and five national cemeteries being located on the various lines of this system. This is the preferred route to Atlanta for the Cotton States and International Exposition, open from September 18, to December 31, 1895, for which very low excursion rates have been made. Through sleeping car service from St. Louis to Atlanta via Evansville, Nashville and Chattanooga. This is the route of the famous Dixie Flyer through sleeping car line which runs the year round between Nashville and Jacksonville, Fla. For further information, address Briard F. Hill, 328 Marquette Building, Chicago, Ill., or R. C. Cowardin, Western Passenger Agent, Railway Exchange Building, St. Louis, Mo., or D. J. The Barber's Question.

Old Mack is a messenger in one of the departments, has a good record as a soldier and for several years has been a [illegible] of the government. Like many of the war veterans, he can draw the long bow when occasion requires. He was cut in a terrible North Dakota blizzard once on a time, and when he recovered from the effects of the severe freeze, he was minus a small portion of each ear, and sometimes he gets very tired of the question his "ear marks" bring out. Not long ago he was in a barber shop down town having his hair cut, and the tonsorial artist had his curiosity aroused. "How did you lose part of your ear?" questioned the barber, as he was working the shears along carefully on the starboard side of Mack's head.

Pretty soon the shears were snipping on the other side, and another section of ear was disclosed missing.

"Hello! How did you lose this one!" the hairdresser asked, standing off and viewing his workmanship.

"Lost that one under Napoleon at Marengo," was the imperturbable response.

The barber was silenced for awhile, but when he had received his fee, and was shaking out his cloth, he startled the old gentleman, who had put on his hat and had his hand on the doorknob, with:

"Did you lose anything when you were under Noah in the ark?"—Washington Star.

When Birds Are Frightened.

As the balloon neared Petersfield we entered a dense bank of clouds and ran in them for some three miles, emerging over the chalk downs and skimming about 150 feet over a windmill. Passing over a large rabbit warren, it was amusing to witness the alarm of the bunnies as they dived into their burrows, which from above presented the appearance of hundreds of circular black spots.

Balloons have a terrifying effect on all birds. As one passes over a farmyard there is always a regular stampede of the fowls under cover, while ducks dash into the ponds and dive frantically to avoid the supposed danger. The effect of the diving is most absurd, as seen from above, for often, owing to the transparency of the water, the violent efforts of the ducks to hide themselves are plainly visible. Wild birds, especially game, are also much perturbed at the sight of the balloon, pheasants crowing loudly and running off, while partridges which have been flushed drop like stones into a neighboring hedgerow. Sheep also seem much alarmed, but cattle and horses appear to take no interest in the matter.—Macmillan's Magazine.

Drydocked on an Iceberg.

The strange experience of being drydocked on an iceberg is told of by Captain Chester of a Pacific coast fishing schooner. He says that he made fast to a big berg which was stranded off the coast of Alaska for the purpose of replenishing his stock of ice, and after getting some 30 tons of it on board, the berg suddenly careened over to the side opposite that on which the schooner was made fast, and lifted her high and dry out of water, held fast in a groove. The men took the boats and went to a safe distance to watch the proceedings. The berg gradually settled more and more, lifting the schooner higher and higher, until her anchor cable caught the strain. Then, as the end of the berg went up, the anchor held and pulled the schooner off, bows first and unharmed. The rest of the ice was loaded by boats, and the schooner kept clear of the berg.

Intelligent Children.

A boy was told to construe "orationem fecit," or some such phrase, by "made a harangue." He did as he was told, but stared so that his teacher said: "Why, you know what a harangue is, don't you?" The boy said he thought it was a kind of monkey; on which the teacher stared, too, till "orang outang" came into his head.

I once asked a class why Adam and Eve were not ashamed when they were naked in paradise. I wanted, of course, some form of the theological answer that shame comes from sin, but all I got was: "Please, sir, there wasn't nobody to look at 'em!" in a tone as if the child who answered was thinking, "How can you ask such a silly question?"—Notes and Queries.

A Privilege of the Sex.

This story, told by a minister whose chapel is in the lower part of the city, gives a keen insight into one form of human nature.

"I once officiated at a funeral," he said, "of a comparatively young man, whose widow seemed utterly inconsolable. I tried to comfort her, but she sobbed out that she had got to be a poor lone widow all her life.

"After the burial the widow called me aside. 'Parson,' she said hesitatingly, 'I hope you won't say anything about my telling you that I should live a poor lone widow all my life, for I may change my mind.' "—Philadelphia Call.

A Superior Woman.

"She really is a very superior woman."

"Indeed! Is she a good speaker?"

"Oh, no. I don't believe she ever made a public speech."

"Writes, possibly?"

"I never heard of it if she does."

"What makes her superior to other women, then?"

"She can cook."—Washington Post.

Hare Superstitions.

In most parts of Europe it is considered unlucky for a hare to cross the road in front of a traveler. Among the Romans this omen was so unfortunate that if a man starting upon a journey espied a hare on the road before him he would return and wait until the following day to begin his journey.

FORGETMENOT.

There she sat, the poor, demented girl, on one of the stone benches that adorned the [illegible] of the great asylum for the insane.

Young she was and beautiful—beautiful in spite of the pallor of her cheek and brow. Her hair was golden and hung in tangled masses about her shoulders. Her eyes, blue as the sky above her, were bedimmed with tears that dropped one by one on a bunch of forgetmenots which she was holding in her hands and on which her gaze was fastened.

A mingled feeling of pity and curiosity took possession of me. "Who is she!" "Why does she grieve?" "Why is she here!"

"Ask her yourself," said the keeper who had thus far accompanied me, and I approached her.

At the sound of my footsteps she started and shrunk to one side, as one who expects punishment, but when she ventured to look at me all fear and grief seemed to pass from her face, and with a look of hope and happiness she said, with a smile:

"I know. You have come for me. You have come to rescue me from a pain that is slowly, slowly killing me. Oh, you are so good, so kind! And, you see, I must leave here today—now, for I must be there tonight."

"Where?" I asked in a voice trembling with compassion.

"Where!" she repeated, with a wondering look from those heavenly blue eyes. "Where but with him?"

"With him?"

"Daniel—Robert Daniel. Oh, but you know."

"Nay, but I do not know. Tell me who is Daniel. Your husband, your lover perhaps?"

"Oh, no." There was a look of sweet innocence on her face. "Not my lover, surely, for he belongs to Joanna."

"Joanna?" I repeated, astonished.

"Yes," she gently replied, "not mine."

"And he expects you to come to him?"

"Yes, for six long months has he been waiting for me day by day."

"And where does he wait for you?"

"At the Pere La Chaise, that's where he is. And do you not know that he is dead? And his grave; have you not seen it? Oh, it is so white and beautiful, and so restful. His name on the marble shaft, and on it stands the marble urn from which the little birds drink when the water has gathered in it after a rain. They flutter round and round it and sing and sing, and that is beautiful—oh, so beautiful! Ah, but you have not been there and you cannot understand. I see you, too, believe that all is over when one dies. But it is not so. After death you live and think and hear and feel. You smile and shake your head. You do not know. You have never put your ear close to a grave and listened. I did not know until that night came—that night! They had put flowers on his grave, so many, so many, and they were white as snow and shining, shining. They drew me nearer and nearer, and I put my hands into them, and my head rested for a moment against the cool marble shaft, when—do not laugh at me—I heard a murmur, a soft singing, a voice that reached me at last and softly spoke to me. 'Joanna, is it you?' All fear passed from me. I read his name on the stone shaft: 'Daniel Robert, aged 20,' and understood at once. He who spoke then was calling for her he loved, and is there not a saying that love's fire burns fiercest at the age of 20? She whom he called Joanna had sworn to visit him after death, and she had broken her promise. But he waited and waited and whenever he heard steps above him he longingly called, 'Joanna, is it you?' Oh, the pity of it. No one ever heard; no one ever answered. But I, I could not leave him there alone. I answered him, and I lied to him, for I said, 'It is I, Joanna.' Was I wrong in doing that? Yet he did not know, he believed it to be his Joanna, who had come to him at last. And he spoke to me in a language I had never heard before. He told me of the happiness of love; of those bygone moments of bliss, of the cup of delight that only lovers are allowed to taste of, and I answered him as Joanna would have answered, for how could I tell him the truth and break his heart, when he was so alone down, down in the cold earth.

"And so I came again, day by day, and sat above him and listened to his words of love and happiness. But one day we were parted. The stillness around me was broken by the footsteps of many people, and I felt that they had come to take me away. I put my arms about the pillar with his name and cried aloud in the anguish of my heart, but they were stronger than I, and they tore me away from his grave and brought me here. And they are so cruel, for they will not let me go to him, and I know that he is waiting for me and counting the hours, the days, until I return."

With a lowery of despair she had flung herself at my feet, pleading, "Oh, take me to him, take me to him, or he will have to die out there alone without me!"

"My child," I said as gently as I could, "I cannot take you with me. I cannot help you."

The terrible helplessness and misery expressed in her face actually startled me. Still I felt forced to repeat, "My poor child, I cannot help you."

"Then all is over, and I shall see him nevermore." And in a paroxysm of grief she fell sobbing on the stone bench, still tightly holding the little bunch of forgetmenots in her right hand. Suddenly her sobbing ceased, and rising she addressed me, speaking hurriedly:

"Ah, very well. I cannot go, but you will go in my place. Take these forgetmenots and go to the Pere La Chaise. You will soon find his grave with his name engraved on the marble pillar, and the urn above it. And when you have found it you will place these flowers on it and say to him, 'Joanna sends these forgetmenots.' You will do this for me?"

"I will."

"I thank you, oh, I thank you!" And after tenderly kissing the little bunch of flowers she handed them to me.

I left her and went—at the risk of being laughed at, I will tell the truth—I went to Pere La Chaise and walked among the graves until I had found it, her grave with the marble shaft, and "Daniel Robert" engraved on it, and the urn above, around which the little birds fly and sing.

And I reverently laid the forgetmenots on his grave, and bowing low my head I whispered, "Joanna sends these forgetmenots."

A long, deep drawn sigh answered me. Had he heard my message, or had I sighed myself? I know not.—From the French For Washington Post.

The 'Order of Lincoln,' an organization for fraternal purposes and having for its prime object the propagation of the memory and history of the great patriot, has been organized at Indianapolis. Witter F. Baxter is Supreme Secretary of State and was one of the organizers of the society.

A. H. Cross, of Lyons, Mich., editor of the Sunday School Advocate and Lyons Herald was a caller on the HERALD Tuesday. Mr. Cross is the youngest editor in the state and manages his two papers with success besides doing much outside work among our Sunday schools and Christian societies.

The ladies of St. Peter's church will hold their annual entertainment at the vacant store of Mr. Geo. Heesen, on the afternoon and evening of Thursday, Dec. 19th. They will have fancy articles for sale, home-made candy, bread, cake, etc., and a nice supper will be served from half past five to seven p. m.

About 80 young people of Tecumseh consisting of members of the Christian Endeavor society and their friends were entertained at the home of Mrs. Geo. W. Smith, at Britton, last Monday evening, at the invitation of Miss Lulu Jones. To say that the sleigh ride and party were enjoyable is stating it mildly. 45

Early Wednesday morning Ernest Rowaldt, who lives on the corner beyond the race track, discovered that his house was on fire. The fire originated in the upper story and when first noticed had gained sufficient headway to be beyond control. Part of the household goods were saved, the house being entirely consumed. The origin of the fire is unknown. Insurance $650 in the Phoenix of Hartford.

The Lake View Herald, says: The audience that listened to Judge Daball was very enthusiastic over the rich treat, giving the speaker the closest attention through his discription in the stormy scenes in which he took part. All the audience declared it to have been the most graphic and interesting lecture ever given in the city. The story of the battle of Fort Fisher was eloquently told so that any one could understand and appreciate it as well as the old veterans. Very many have expressed a desire to have the lecture repeated.

Lieut. A. W. Slayton, the retiring adjutant of Beers Post, had a birth-day last Monday, and he was thinking all day that the family had forgotten it as no mention was made of it, but such was not a fact. In the evening, on answering the door bell he found the Commander, Sir Vice and four ex-commanders, chaplin, post surgeon and a lot of other G. A. R's at the door invited to spend the evening by Mrs. Slayton. To say that Gus was surprised would be putting it mild, he says he was never more so. At the supper table he was presented by the boys with a beautiful ink fountain which will always be cherished by the owner. The party was lacking in the gentler sex but not in fun and a merry time.

Do not fail to hear the lecture of Judge Daball, Dec. 20. Admission 15c. Ten cents extra for reserved seats.

The HERALD acknowledges the receipt of 'The President's Report to the Board of Regents' from President Angell, of the University.

Mr. and Mrs. James Potter had a very pleasant surprise sprung upon them last Monday evening, about fifty were present. It was their 20th anniversary.

Meeting of Stockholders.

The annual meeting of stockholders of the Tecumseh State Savings Bank was held on Tuesday, Dec. 10, at which time the following officers and directors were elected.

Pres.—C. A. Slayton.
Vice Pres.—B. C. Knapp.
Cashier—J. H. Smith.
Asst. Cashier—Geo. W. Knapp.

DIRECTORS.

J. D. Shull, C. A. Slayton, Joseph Russell, D. C. Larned, H. W. Conkling, Geo. W. Knapp, A. D. Gilmore, C. R. Miller, B. C. Knapp.

The bank has made a very favorable showing the past year, declaring a dividend to stockholders of 7 per cent and placing $500 to surplus fund. It is certainly a good showing. It is a good investment for the stockholders and must be appreciated by the people. The business has increased steadily since its organization. The savings department is a great advantage and with the careful management which is given it by its directors it is sure of success. It is a matter of compliment to the management and satisfaction to our business men to note that this showing has been made in the face of very hard times and a well founded lack of confidence which previous failures had produced.

Cab Fares In Europe.

I found cab hire cheapest, by municipal regulation, in Naples, where 70 centimes, or 14 cents, transports you between two city points. Fourteen cents acquits, but 14 cents does not satisfy. It is not easy in Italy to give pecuniary satisfaction to both parties to a bargain. The Neapolitan cab, like the Parisian, like others that I remember on the continent, is four wheeled, and in the case of Naples high and uncomfortable. In Rome the tariff for a single run is 60 centimes, or 16 cents, none too high, it seems to me. Berlin differentiates its cabs, assorting them in classes, first and second, and distinguishing them by the color of their drivers' coats and collars and also in the cabs' outfits. So the minimum charge in Berlin for a first class cab is 1 mark, or 24 cents, and for a second class 60 pfennigs, or about 15 cents.

In Germany only did I find a perambulating court of appeals as an organic part of the public cab service. To step into some of the German cabs and behold a cyclometrical register ready to record your distance as unerringly and conclusively as the flight of time by a $200 watch is to know a sweet content that the avaricious native rarely lets the American tourist in the old world long enjoy. What the register says goes. No hold ups, no disputation, no incomprehensible jargon, no American eagle, no black eyes. Great civilizer that.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Has Blacklisted Insanity.

The following story is told of John Brennan of Stevens Point as a criminal lawyer. The story goes that a farmer who had killed his wife in the northern part of the state sent for Mr. Brennan to defend him, offering to deed him his farm if he would take the case. Brennan wanted his pay in advance, and so the farmer made over the property to him. The murder was a most brutal and cold blooded one, and Brennan knew that there was but one plea that might save his client from a life sentence, and that was insanity. The trial was one of the fiercest ever fought in a Wisconsin court. The attorney for the defense occupied a whole day in his closing address to the jury, and the effort was a masterly one. The jury found the man insane, and he was sent to Oshkosh. Once there he improved rapidly and in a few weeks was discharged. His first act was to sue Brennan for the recovery of his proprety, on the ground that he was insane at the time he deeded it. In the fact of his own argument that the man was insane Brennan could do nothing, and the farmer won his case. Brennan has blacklisted 'insanity as a defense for murderers. — Milwaukee Journal.

One Way of Arousing Lodgers.

Umpire Bill Hays of the Windsor has invented a new system of calling sleepy guests. Its very simplicity is its supreme attraction.

The other night a newspaper man went to the Windsor, and being desirous of being called at an early hour left instructions with Umpire Hays to do the work. Satisfied that everything would be lovely, the scribe retired and slept. Early the next morning the newspaper man was disturbed by a lively tattoo upon the door.

"Well?" he demanded sharply.

"I've got an important message for you," said the bellboy outside.

Yawning until he sprained his face, the scribe jumped out of bed, toddled across the floor and opened the door. The bellboy handed him an envelope and then went away. The newspaper man opened the envelope and found therein a slip of paper bearing the following:

"Why don't you get up?"—St. Paul Dispatch.

A Remedy For a Cold.

At the beginning of a cold it is very good to put the feet in a capsicum footbath, wetting the head and face well with cold water. At the end of ten minutes rub the knees down with cold water and dry thoroughly. A housekeeper can easily prepare this tincture of capsicum herself. To one quart of vinegar add one quarter of a pound of red pepper, boil slowly for 15 minutes and bottle for use. Add two teaspoonfuls to one bath.

When there is danger of a cold settling on the lungs, make a lotion of one part peppermint oil and two parts of kerosene oil. Paint the parts where the pain is located with this lotion. Lay a fold of flannel over and apply a hot water bag for 10 or 15 minutes. This remedy is especially good for pain in the back of the head and neck, soreness, tightness of the chest between the shoulders.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Funereal Heart.

I attended a funeral in a Danish village recently. The sexton of the village church, who, as is customary in those parts, was also the village schoolmaster, and whose wardrobe was limited, presented himself in black frock coat and trousers and a vest of homespun material, red of color and with big silver buttons, such as one could see the peasants wear 30 years ago.

The minister reproved him for not wearing a more somber colored vest. "Dominie," said the good old schoolmaster, "what difference does it make that my vest is red? I assure you my heart is black."—New York Herald.

How to Address the Prince.

The Prince of Wales likes to be addressed as "sir," and not "your royal highness." To a journalist who had occasion recently to see the prince on a matter pertaining to yachting he promptly remarked: "Please address me as 'sir.' It saves time, and I prefer it."—Edinburgh Scotsman.

FEATHERED THEIR NESTS.

Ex-Officials of a Michigan County Accused of Crooked Work.

Roscommon, Mich., Dec. 11.—The people of the township and county were amazed Monday night when it was learned that ex-Treasurer R. C. Huntley, ex-Highway Commissioner N. T. McDonald and Alexander Robinson, ex-clerk, were under arrest on charges which allege the defrauding of the county of large sums of money and that ex-Supervisor William Finney was supposed to be a fugitive from justice. The men, while in office, it is charged, issued bogus township orders on the highway commissioner and made them payable to themselves, scattering the orders all over the country. The amount of the alleged fraudulent transactions will reach $50,000. The fraud was made possible, as alleged by the accusers, by burning the schoolhouse in which the original orders and stub-books were kept.

INSANE TERROR CAPTURED

Charles Turnblade, of Carney, Will Go to the Asylum.

Menominee, Dec. 10.—Charles Turnblade, a bachelor homesteader living near Carney, on the line of the Chicago & Northwestern railroad, and who has been a terror to the inhabitants there for some time past by reason of his ugly disposition, backed by a musket and a scythe blade sharpened to a point and fitted to the hand like a sword, was captured Sunday by Sheriff Antrup and a number of deputies after a fierce battle, in which the sheriff narrowly escaped being shot and one of the deputies was badly slashed by the mad man about the body, head and face. He was finally overpowered and brought to this city, where an examination as to his sanity was made. He will be sent to the asylum at Newberry.

MICHIGAN DAY.

Residents of the Wolverine State Visit the Show at Atlanta.

Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 10.—Monday was Michigan day at the exposition and about 300 members of the Detroit chamber of commerce and Detroit Manufacturers' club came to represent the state. They left Friday afternoon and stopped at Cincinnati and Chattanooga on the way. At Cincinnati they were tendered a reception. They arrived at Atlanta Monday morning and assembled in the auditorium at the exposition at noon. President Collier presided and delivered an address of welcome. President J. H. Howarth, president of the Detroit chamber of commerce, responded in behalf of Michigan.

SILVER NEAR SAGINAW.

Valuable Vein Reported to Have Been Discovered in Michigan.

Saginaw, Dec. 11.—A valuable vein of silver is said to have been discovered in Thomastown, eight miles from Saginaw. Capitalists began operations last fall, and although cold weather has prevented anything further being done till spring, they claim to have struck it rich. They are obtaining options on land in the vicinity. The shaft where work was begun is covered by a huge tent, so that the exact discoveries may be kept secret.

Died in Chicago.

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 11. Ezra Bostwick, of Union City, Mich., a millionaire and philanthropist, died Tuesday afternoon in the Presbyterian hospital in this city, where he was undergoing treatment. He was 69 years old and had lived in Michigan since 1846. He was president of the Union City national bank, and was a member of the Michigan legislature in 1869 and 1870. Eight years ago he donated $100,000 to Albion college and five years ago he gave $50,000 to Olivet college. He also donated largely to religious societies.

To Vote on Local Option.

Niles, Dec. 9.—Van Buren county will soon hold an election upon the local-option question. This law has been in operation in that county for the last three years, and during that time nearly 50 liquor dealers have been arrested and heavily fined or sent to prison. It is the only county in Michigan that has been able to successfully prohibit the sale of liquor within its borders by means of the local-option law, and the people are so well satisfied there is small chance of the law being repealed at the coming election.

Bad Fire at Allegan.

Allegan, Dec. 6.—The Chaffee block, the largest business structure in the town, burned Monday morning. The loss is estimated at $120,000; partially insured. The first floors were occupied by stores and the second and third by a number of families. Two firemen were badly burned about the head, and one woman was rescued in a critical condition.

Wants Their Property.

Lansing, Dec. 7.—When the state fair located here Lansing people donated $20,000 for grounds, etc., on condition that the property revert to the donors if the fair was not held in Lansing. The donors now want the property back again and will sue the society.

Given a Verdict for $10,000.

Hillsdale, Dec. 7.—Mrs. Kate Fowler, of Reading, was given a verdict of $10,000 against her father-in-law, Col. Frederick Fowler, for defamation of character. Col. Fowler is an ex-state senator and one of the wealthiest men in Hillsdale county.

Sued for Libel.

Detroit, Dec. 7.—Police Commissioner Harry Chipman has sworn out a warrant for the arrest of Rev. R. J. Service, pastor of the Trumbull avenue Presbyterian church, on a charge of criminal libel. The case is based upon his utterances in a recent sermon.

Burned to a Crisp

Bay City, Dec. 9.—At 7:30 Friday evening Al Sisho's hotel barn in West Bay City was destroyed by fire. Samuel Sponseller, aged 50 years, an old soldier, and a member of an Ohio odd fellow lodge, employed as hostler, was burned to a crisp.

Cheap Telephones at Kalamazoo.

Kalamazoo, Dec. 6.—The Michigan Telephone company has announced a rate of $30 a year for offices and $20 for residences. One year ago the rate was $48 and $36 for the same service. Local capitalists established a company and secured 300 subscribers at $36 and $24 for offices and residences and recently began operations, having nearly all their lines up. The new company will probably meet the cut.

Ionia Township Must Settle.

Ionia, Dec. 7.—The Fredonia Ross damage suit against Ionia township resulted in a verdict of $900 for the plaintiff in the circuit court. A horse driven by Mrs. Ross became frightened and backed off Prairie creek bridge, and the suit followed. It was decided in favor of the township, went to the supreme court and was sent back for a new trial.

Peculiar Cause of Death.

Niles, Mich., Dec. 11.—John Vorgan, of Lawton, was leading a cow to pasture when he stumbled and fell upon the stumps of some blackberry bushes. One of the canes penetrated his brain, causing instant death.

State Judges to Meet.

Grand Rapids, Dec. 11.—The annual meeting of the state judges' association will be held in this city December 26, and quite elaborate preparations are being made for the magistrates.

MISLED AS TO EMPLOYMENT.

Workingmen Are Sent to Marquette, Where They Become Public Charges.

Marquette, Dec. 9.—Men are flocking here from Minneapolis, Duluth and other large cities to work on the new railroad, and as the contractors are not yet prepared to put on full forces many of them are unable to get work. Very few of the men who are coming in have money and as a consequence they are suffering no little hardships. This city, as well as Ishpeming and Negaunee, is full of men who came on expecting to get work on the road at once, and are now waiting till it can be given them, without money to pay their way. The city jails are filled with them every night, as they are unable to procure shelter elsewhere, and they have to beg what they eat. Employment agencies are evidently at work sending men here. It is folly for men to come here unless they have absolute assurance of work, as they will have little chance of getting work until the contractors are prepared to put on full forces.

LABOR MEN MEET.

Michigan Federation Adopts a Number of Resolutions.

Saginaw, Dec. 6.—At the session of the Michigan Federation of Labor Thursday it was decided to affiliate with the American Federation of Labor; to indorse the submission of municipal franchises to the people; an eight-hour day; government ownership of telegraph lines and the bakers' and united garment workers' labels. Resolutions for a universal label and a closer alliance with the Liquor Dealers' association were passed. The following officers were elected.

President, L. E. Tassey, Detroit; first vice president, W. J. Hardy, Saginaw; second vice president, John Doane, Muskegon; third vice president, Jesse Radford, Bay City; secretary and treasurer, William Crewe, Grand Rapids; legislative committee, Charles O. Brice, Detroit; A. H. Mix, Saginaw; A. Behrendt, Lansing; Charles Carpenter, Grand Rapids; William E. Gardiner, Saginaw.

COLONY A FAILURE.

Community on the Bellamy Plan in This State Will Disband.

Manistique, Dec. 7.—The Hiawatha cooperative colony, organized by Walter Thomas Mills, on the Bellamy plan, a year ago, has proved a failure and will soon disband. Directors will soon meet to divide the property. The colony started out with glowing prospects. A village was started, fertile farms were tilled, little factories operated, public libraries and literary societies were organized, and peace and plenty seemed to prevail. Gradually, however, members began to feel dissatisfied. They did not like the idea of ten per cent. of the stock they subscribed and ten per cent. of the products going to the Mills Industrial Christian union. It is reported that Mills will organize another colony.

Will Dig a Big Ditch.

Lansing, Dec. 10. — Arrangements have been completed for the construction of the largest drain in central Michigan by the county drain commissioners of Ingham and Shiawassee. It is to be nine miles in length and will be located in Locke, Perry and Woodhull townships. The drain is to be dug for the purpose of straightening the channel of the south arm of the Lookingglass river and to accommodate the diminished flow of water which now constitutes that stream. It will take $10,000 to complete the drain.

Forger Given Six Years.

Hastings, Dec. 9.—William O. Lowden, tried and found guilty at the last term of the circuit court of forging a $350 note, was sentenced to six years' imprisonment in the state penitentiary. Lowden was formerly prosecuting attorney of this county and last May was ordained minister of the Gospel. He received the sentence coolly, while his wife and father were overcome with emotion.

Result of a Family Row.

Linnet, Dec. 11.—Henry Pettis, a farmer living with his wife and a stepson four miles west of this place, Monday night fired two shots at his wife, neither taking effect. His son Alexander Stinson, who came to his mother's assistance, was fired at, the bullet striking him in the breast near the heart. He is in a critical condition. The cause of the shooting was a family row. Pettis gave himself up.

Railway Files a Mortgage.

Kalamazoo, Dec. 11.—The Chicago, Kalamazoo & Saginaw railroad has filed a mortgage for $225,000 to the Union Trust company, of Detroit. It covers 44 and a fraction miles of road bed and all rolling stock and appurtenances. It is said there is a probability of the road being extended from its present northern terminus at Woodbury to Saginaw.

Married on Sight.

St. Louis, Dec. 7. — Levi Fishbeck, aged 67, of this city, and Mrs. Kate Wood, aged 33, were married Thursday. Quite a romance is connected with this marriage, as the old gentleman has had four wives before. The couple had never met until their wedding day and both seem to be happy.

College Lands Sold.

Lansing, Dec. 7.—At a sale of agricultural college land located in Benzie and Wexford counties, conducted by the land commissioner, there were 16 purchasers, and $6,500 worth of land was disposed of at prices ranging from eight to eleven dollars per acre.

Desire More Money.

Benton Harbor, Dec. 11.—At a meeting of citizens it was decided to send a committee to Washington to urge an appropriation of $300,000 for the improvement of this harbor. The government's recent appropriation of $110,000 is not deemed sufficient.

Seeking a Pardon.

Niles, Dec. 7.—Friends are making preparations to secure pardon for George Taylor, alias Hultz, serving a life sentence in Jackson prison for the murder of Mary Comley in this city December 7, 1892.

UNTOLD MISERY FROM RHEUMATISM

C. H. King, Water Valley, Miss., cured by

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"For five years, I suffered untold misery from muscular rheumatism. I tried every known remedy, consulted the best physicians, visited Hot Springs, Ark., three times, spending $1000 there, besides doctoring at home, but could obtain only temporary relief. My flesh was wasted away so that I weighed only ninety-three pounds; my left arm and leg were drawn out of shape, the muscles being twisted up in knots. I was unable to dress myself, except with assistance, and could only hobble about by using a cane. I had no appetite, and was assured, by the doctors, that I could not live. The pains, at times, were so awful, that I could procure relief only by means of hypodermic injections of morphine. I had my limbs bandaged in clay, in sulphur, in poultices; but these gave only temporary relief. After trying everything, and suffering the most awful tortures, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Inside of two months, I was able to walk without a cane. In three months, my limbs began to strengthen, and in the course of a year, I was cured. My weight has increased to 165 pounds, and I am now able to do my full day's work as a railroad blacksmith."

THE sick man knocking at the door of health gets in if he knocks the right way, and stays out if he doesn't. There are thousand of ways of getting sick. There is only one way to get well. Do whatever you will, if you do not put your digestion, in good order, and make your blood rich and pure, you will not get well. Rich, pure blood is the only thing that can bring perfect health. A large part of all the diseases that afflict mankind are traceable directly to impurities in the blood, and can be cured by eliminating these impurities. That most dreadful of all diseases, consumption, is a disease of the blood. The disease shows in the lungs because of some inherited or acquired weakness there. If the blood were always pure and without germs, the disease would never develop and in time weakness itself would overcome. Germs and impurities in the blood float along through the body until they find a weak spot for lodgement. They there and develop and people call the disease by the name of the organ afflicted. As a matter of fact, the disease is always a disease of the blood, and if the blood be purified, the disease will be cured. That is perfectly natural, rational conclusion, endorsed both by common sense and the highest medical authority. It is in accordance with these facts that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery works. The first thing it does is to put the whole digestive system into perfect order. It stimulates the appetite, excites the copious secretion of the digestive fluids and promotes assimilation. It searches out disease germs wherever they may be, kills them and forces them out of the system. The "Golden Medical Discovery" has been used with unvarying success for over 30 years.

If you care to know more about it, send more about your own body, send 21 one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only, and you will receive absolutely free a copy of Dr. Pierce's 1008 page book, Common Sense Medical Adviser. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, No. 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Lesson For the Week Beginning Dec. 15. Comment by Rev. W. J. Yates, A. M. Topic, The Third Missionary Journey.

SCRIPTURE READING.—Acts xviii. 22; xxi, 17.

Resting in Antioch a short time after his second missionary tour, Paul again sets out to visit the churches he has planted. Passing through Phrygia and Galatia, he finally comes to Ephesus. This becomes his home for almost three years. First in the synagogue and afterward in the schoolroom of a noted teacher, Tyrannus, he preaches salvation through faith in Christ. The success is great. Many who had dealt in magic publicly burn their books. At length one of the silversmiths, who found his business of making silver images of the goddess Diana affected by the great reformation of the people, raised an uproar, and serious consequences were threatened. After this had been quieted Paul passed into Macedonia, visiting the churches, and went down to Corinth. When the Jews here sought to assassinate him, he returned by way of Macedonia to Asia, taking affectionate leave of the churches, as he left them for the last time. He purposed to go to Jerusalem and then to Rome. A collection for the benefit of the poor Christians at Jerusalem had been gathered in all the churches of Greece and Macedonia. Brethren from each of the large churches had been appointed to carry this contribution to the elders at the Holy City. Touching at various points on the coast, the company finally come to Cæsarea. Here Paul receives a clear warning of danger if he goes up to Jerusalem. He is ready to even die there for the sake of Jesus and so will not be prevented going.

His third and last tour ends here. The collection is given to the church, and a full recital of God's marvelous work among the gentiles is given to James and the assembled elders, who praise God for his merciful kindness. Well might they exclaim, "What hath God wrought!" The number of the gentile Christians soon was greater than that of the Jewish followers of Jesus. The work among them had been largely accomplished through the untiring zeal of this man Paul, abundant in labors, gifted with prophetic insight beyond that of any other one in the church, enduring perils and persecutions greater than even Peter, and rewarded by seeing results greater than all the other apostles combined had achieved.

Some Points of Difference.

Much has been said about organic union of the Methodist Episcopal church and the Church South. Usually much sentiment, if not sentimentality, is aroused, and the real difficulties are lost to sight. There are several points of difference between the two branches of the church which would need grave consideration to adjust. The separation was on the slavery question. That issue is dead. If only that was all, there would be little trouble in reuniting the church. But since 1844 each branch has gone on developing in its own territory its own peculiarities and adapting its methods to the requirements of its own circumstances till now we find "differences of administration" which become difficulties to union. The terms of admission to membership are now unlike. The term of probation is different. The nature of the episcopal order and office is differently viewed. The powers of the bishops and general conference are widely different in the two Methodisms. Lay delegation is only partial in one, while complete in the other. One has a church conference. The other has none. One allows preachers and churches much latitude in making arrangements for appointments. The other knows nothing of such bargaining. Evidently there are some knots to untie yet before organic union can become an accomplished fact.

The Important Thing.

Not the preservation of the League or any of its departments. The important thing is the preservation of the church and the successful carrying forward of its work. The League and all other young people's societies are organized for this special purpose. They aim to accomplish it by developing vital and intelligent piety among the membership. Whatever does not contribute to this end is worse than valueless, it is positively injurious. Sustain the regular services of the church. Make them more inspiring and helpful. Throw more enthusiasm into song and testimony. Welcome strangers. Invite nonattendants. Pray and speak and aid in every possible way to get some saved. The League lives to aid the church.

The Blind Rat.

A Scotchman had a dream in which he saw four rats in single file. The first was fat and sleek. The second and third were thin and half starved. The fourth was blind. He puzzled much as to the meaning of the dream. Both himself and wife felt sure it meant some calamity. Finally the boy of the family, with keen wit and practical wisdom, ventured an interpretation. "The fat rat," said he, "is the saloon keeper. The lean rats are mother and myself. The blind rat is yourself, father." It is time these rats were all taken care of and things righted.

The Divine Command.

The great convention at Chattanooga in June last did much to bring about broader views and practical fraternity among the young Methodists of the continent. The more we know of each other the more we shall respect and love each other. If God sees it wise to have us all live under one roof as one family, he will bring it about in his own good time. No use to try to steady this ark while we carry it contrary to the divine command.

Dr. Parkhurst calls a Christian "a divine incarnation brought down to date."

A Great Newspaper Combination.

For the past 53 years, over half a century, The Michigan Farmer has been published, and it is the oldest regular agricultural journal under one name on this continent.

With largely increased capital and under new management that has had 23 years successful experience in agricultural journalism, this great paper is making rapid strides toward the top in the galaxy of agricultural literature of America. It is most beautifully printed on high grade paper, and employs the most eminent writers on the science and practice of Agriculture, Horticulture, Live Stock, Dairying, Apiary and Poultry. Has a standard veterinary department for free treatment of all diseases of farm animals. A legal and medical department. Contains all the agricultural news of the country and an invaluable literary and household department every week. Admits no swindling nor immoral advertisements. And is in fact in every way a great, sound, practical, agricultural, live stock and family journal, that the agriculturists of Michigan may justly feel proud of, and subscribe for with satisfaction and profit. We are pleased to be able to announce that we can furnish to our subscribers the Michigan Farmer and the TECUMSEH HERALD both one year, making a total of 104 papers, for the low price of $1.75 certainly a bargain that should be liberally patronized. For free specimen copy send address to Michigan Farmer, Detroit, Mich.

Christmas and Chrysanthemums

When stately chrysanthemums are in their prime, Christmas thoughts are in the air, and the happy combination of both in Demorest's Magazine for December makes it an ideal Christmas number. Page after page of handsome illustrations depict various phases of Christmas pleasures, and a timely article on "The Infant Christ in Legend and Art," embellished with numerous and beautiful reproductions of the Madonnas by modern painters, gives some curious legends of a virgin-born savior that exist in all the religions of the East. There is a superbly illustrated paper on the Atlanta Exposition, stories by Gilbert Parker and Joseph Hatton are among the fiction; there are Christmas poems, and lots of suggestions about Christmas gifts and entertainments, and every one of the departments is replete with timely and valuable information.

In addition to all this, there is the beautiful picture of Chrysanthemums, a perfect reproduction of the water-color by the eminent artist Faul de Longpre, which is given as a Christmas Supplement. Everyone who possesses the lovely Yard of Pansies and Yard of Roses needs this to complete a trio of pictures that cannot be surpassed for decorative effect: and anyone may obtain it also a December number of Demorest's, by cutting out this notice and sending it, with twenty cents in stamps to the address below. The original painting of Chrysanthemums, which is valued at $1,000, is to be given to the person who, previous to April 1, 1896, obtains for Demorest's Magazine the greatest number of subscribers. This is an unprecedented offer, full particulars of which are given in the December number. Demorest's is published at $2.00 a year, by the Demorest Publishing Company, 110 Fifth Avenue, New York.

Catarrh Cannot be Cured

with local applications, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing Catarrh. Send for testimonials, free.

"ALL THE MAGAZINES IN ONE"
THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS
Edited by ALBERT SHAW.

THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS, as its name implies, gives in readable form the best that appears in the other great magazines all over the world, generally on the same date that they are published. With the recent extraordinary increase of worthy periodicals, these careful reviews, summaries, and quotations, giving the gist of periodical literature, are alone worth the subscription price.
Aside from these departments, the editorial and contributed features of the REVIEW OF REVIEWS are themselves equal in extent to a magazine. The Editor's "Progress of the World" is an invaluable chronicle of the happenings of the thirty days just past, with pictures on every page of the men and women who have made the history of the month.
The Literary World says: "We are deeply impressed from month to month with the value of the 'REVIEW OF REVIEWS,' which is a sort of Eiffel Tower for the survey of the whole field of periodical literature. And yet it has a mind and voice of its own, and speaks out with decision and sense on all public topics of the hour. It is a singular combination of the monthly magazine and the daily newspaper. It is daily in its freshness: it is monthly in its method. It is the world under a field glass."

YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK.

An Interesting Trip by Carriage Though This Wounderful National Reserve.

WASHINGTON BAR., Mont.

ED. HERALD:—Having just returned from a tour of the Yellowstone National Park, the thought has occurred to me that a partial description of it might be of interest to the few of your readers who never have, as yet, and probably never will, make the trip.

We left our home at Washington Bar, Montana, on Monday, the 19th of Aug., with our own conveyances and camping outfit, going via. Bozeman. The road to Bozeman is almost devoid of interest; we were continually crossing treeless hills, valleys, and mountain ranges. Passing through Red Bluff, down the Madison Canyon, we crossed the Madison and Gallatin rivers. After leaving Bozeman the road led through Rocky Canyon, where we saw many beautiful views. The wagon road was built away up the mountain side, the railroad many feet below us. We left that canyon only to enter another. Again the road was high up the mountain, and here were trees, grass and rocks in picturesque confusion. Away below us, and along the creek, were many pretty homes. We passed the town of Friddly and camped in view of the famous Emigrant Gulch. The next day we traveled along the Yellowstone river, which is remarkable for being the straightest and swiftest navigable river in the world. We camped at noon a short distance from the river and spent the afternoon in fishing, with good success. Friday we traveled through what is called Yankee Jim Canyon. Several years before the building of the railroad, an individual named Yankee Jim constructed a wagon road through the canyon at quite an expense. He enjoyed a lucrative business collecting toll from each visitor to the Park, the rate of toll being fifty cents for each horse. We passed through Horr, a small collection of houses, among them one hotel and saloon. A few miles farther we entered Cinnabar, the terminus of the Park Branch railroad. It derives its name from Cinnabar mountain, a conspicuous landmark on the Upper Yellowstone. As we passed along the base of this mountain we could plainly see the Devil's Slide, two walls of trap work 150 feet apart, embracing a reddish-colored mineral resembling cinnabar. Tourists are carried from the station to the Mammoth Hot Springs Hotel, seven miles distant, in six-horse tallyho coaches. At 3:30 p. m. we crossed the northern boundary and entered the town of Gardiner, in Wyoming, traveling through Gardiner Canyon, along the banks of the Gardiner river, a beautiful stream, clear and rapid. Within two miles of Mammoth Hot Springs we left the river and began climbing the mountain. At this place Boiling river empties into the Gardiner. It is a meeting of all the waters from the Mammoth Hot Springs, and is remarkable for the fact that fish may be caught in the cold stream and cooked in the hot, without change of position. At Mammoth Hot Springs is stationed a company of United States cavalry. There are many fine, large buildings, this being Fort Yellowstone. Mammoth Hot Springs cover over 170 acres with 13 distinct terraces and 50 active springs. The water is so clear and transparent one can look into the clear depths and see distinctly the smallest ornament on the inner sides of the basins. Around the borders and on the sides and bottoms of the many channels that flow into these springs there is a great variety of most beautiful colors. There are shades of red from vivid scarlet to a bright pink tint; also yellow, from bright sulphur to light cream color. There are also different shades of green from the peculiar vegetation. The Altitude of the hotel is 6,387 feet. Liberty Cap is an extinct hot spring cone, standing at the foot of Terrace Mountains it is 52 feet high and 20 feet in diameter at its base. We passed this, also the Devil's Thumb, a cone similar to Liberty Cap, to ascend to the formation. Minerva Terrace is a mass of deposit 40 feet in height covering about three fourths of an acre, with a hot spring at the top 20 feet in diameter, the temperature of which at the edge is 154 degrees Fahrenheit. The overflow is constantly changing. The amount of deposit from the water under favorable circumstances, being about one sixteenth of an inch in every four days. Articles of any hard substance, placed where this water can flow over them, take on a beautiful white coating in three days. This spring is 78 feet above Liberty Cap, while the main part of the hot springs are on a mound 90 feet still higher. The spring overflowing Jupiter Terrace is the largest on the formation, 100 feet in diameter, while the terrace covers an area of five acres. East of the spring on the slopes of the terrace are some of the most beautiful basins to be found in this vicinity. From the peculiar shape it has been named Pulpit Terrace. Under a prominence west of Jupiter Terrace is Cupid's Cave, which we penetrated for some distance. The climate inside was much too warm to be comfortable. Going west from Cupid's Cave we passed along the summit of Narrow Guage Terrace, which is a fissure ridge 300 feet long, filled with little geysers and springs which deposit brilliant coloring and emits a sulphurous odor. Orange Geyser, The Devil's Kitchen, and Bath Lake are still higher, on a terrace above Narrow Guage. One can visit the "Devil" in his kitchen by going through an opening in the formation and descending 30 feet by means of a ladder, where is found a passage way extending far enough to satisfy the most venturesome. His Satanic Majesty must be often from home, when people call, judging from the cards that adorn the walls of his underground dwelling. Where the water has ceased to flow over the formation, it is of a dazzling whiteness. In many places are small groves of large trees, affording an agreeable shade while resting from a too hasty climb over the different terraces. We left Mammoth Hot Springs, and for four miles farther south the road continued to climb the mountain, when we reached the Golden Gate, which is a remarkable piece of roadway, scarcely a mile in length, which was built at an expense of $14,000. It is built with one side fastened to the rocky wall, the other extending over Gardiner River. At the entrance to the gate stands a rocky pillar, which was originally a part of the canyon wall. The sides of these rocky walls rising 200 feet above the roadway are covered with a yellow moss, which suggested the name. Altitude 7,300 feet. Rustic Falls, occupying a conspicuous position at the west end of Golden Gate, add a charm to the beautiful place. The fall is 60 feet, over a dark moss-covered ledge. Just beyond the Golden Gate we entered Swan Lake Basin, which is a mountain prairie hemmed in by snow clad peaks, among which are Bells Peak, Quadrant Mountains and Mt. Holmes; the last named having an elevation of 10,578 feet. Large fields of snow are in sight here throughout the summer A few miles to the north is Electric Peak, the highest mountain in the northern part of the Park, whose summit is 11,125 feet above sea level. It derives its name from the fact that a great deposit of mineral renders the working of the surveyor's transit impossible when on the mountain. We witnessed a peculiar electrical display from its rugged peaks during a thunder storm. The drive from here to Norris Basin was nearly upon the same level, crossing Indian and Obsidian creeks, these two forming the Middle Gardiner River. Obsidian Cliff is a steep mountain 250 feet above the road, composed of volcanic glass and other matter, which glistens in the sun. The drive from this Cliff to Norris is over one of the natural "passes" between the head waters of the branches of the Yellowstone and Missouri rivers. We passed Beaver, Mineral and Twin Lakes, and Roaring Mountain, which is a high elevation with several smoking, steaming holes at the top, which make such a roaring noise it is distinctly heard from the road in passing. The Frying Pan covers about an acre of ground with little dirty looking pools and springs of different colors which are continually bubbling and frying and emitting a sulphurous and sickening odor. The geysers in Norris Basin do not compare in point of eruptive violence with those of the Upper Basin, still they are very interesting. The Monarch, the largest geyser in Norris Basin, did not play for us, although the indications were good. Every large geyser has an indicator quite near, and people acquainted with the workings can tell when the geyser is due, but many of them are very irregular. This was quite different from other geysers. At its first eruption it had blown out rocks, trees and earth, leaving a vast hole. The crater proper was at the bottom surrounded by huge red boulders around and between which the water continues to boil fiercely for a period of four days, when an eruption is expected to take place. This consists of a dozen explosions in which columns of water are thrown 100 feet high, flooding the level country surrounding. The Congress is a very interesting spring located a few steps from the drive-way, 30 feet in diameter. The water is of a milky color and in a state of violent agitation, boiling in the center and frequently reaching a height of 25 feet, falling again into the spring, with a slight overflow. Distance from the edge of crater to the water about 3 feet.

CONTINUED NEXT WEEK.

Wabash Holiday Rates 1895-1896.

For this occasion the Wabash railroad will sell tickets from all stations at greatly reduced rates on December 24, 25 and 31, 1895, and January 1, 1896, good to return up to and including January 2, 1896. For particulars call on or address any Wabash ticket agent.

State Tax Budget.

Much has been said of late about the high rate of taxation which the property holders of our state will have to pay this year. Thinking that the statement of the Auditor General concerning the items in the budget of state taxes might be of interest in this connection, we append the same. The items for state institutions etc. are about the same as usual but the last for general expenses seems enormous for these times.

University of Michigan ½ mill tax	$ 188,333 33
University of Michigan' construction of buildings for Homeopathic colleges	25,000 00
Soldiers' Home and Dormitory, current expenses, etc	88,000 00

State Horticultural Society	1,500 00
Agricultural Institutes	5,000 00
City of Kalamazoo, sewer for Michigan Asylum	1,000 00
Monuments for National Military Park at Chickamauga and Chattanooga	20,000 00
General Expenses State Government,	1,997,009 00
Total tax apportioned	$3 013,919 52

The following shows the rate of taxes on every hundred dollars of valuation for four years, as assessed in the town:

	STATE TAX.	TOWNSHIP TAX.
1891	.13⅝	.03
1893	.14⅝	.04¼
1894	.20	.08⅛
1895	.31	.14⅜

The valuation has been somewhat lessened, but, nevertheless, the amount of taxes is increasing much more rapidly than the worth of property.

An Interesting Announcement.

We have secured for the exclusive use of the HERALD a series of articles on the Sandwich Islands by the distinguished historian and novelist, John R. Musick. These articles are being prepared by the author on on the spot. He is now at Honolula, and will visit each of the islands of the Hawaiian group. They will have the peculiar freshness that can only be given to such when written at the place on the very days the writer beholds them. They will be a series of descriptive and historical articles, or letters about that country. Mr. Musick will furnish us, therefore, articles rich in descriptive scenery, filled with authentic history and facts, and lightened by incidents of travel and adventure, making them more fascinating than a novel.

No portion of the world is to-day attracting more attention than the Sandwich Islands; and yet, much as they are talked about and as much as they have been mixed in American politics for the last forty years, the masses of readers know but little of the social life and customs of the Islanders, and could not tell off-hand whether they lived in modern houses, in huts, wigwams, or caves.

It will be the object of these letters not only to briefly sketch the past and present of the Hawaiian Islands, but to carry the reader directly into the private life of the people who inhabit them; their past and present government, the overthrow of monarchy, and the setting up of a Republic will be narrated from a non-political standpoint. In this respect they will have a peculiar interest because in the coming Presidential contest the question of annexation will be agitated. These letters will contain hundreds of items of great interest, all told in a highly entertaining, instructive and unbiased manner. In short, we have a rich treat for our readers for the entire winter.

We urge you to get your neighbors and friends elsewhere to subscribe for the HERALD. The articles alone will be worth much more than the subscription price of this paper. Then always remember these letters are exclusive; no other paper in this vicinity can furnish them. They are for the HERALD.

The Staff of The Times-Herald.

The Times-Herald, as conducted by Mr. Kohlsaat, is in many respects the greatest newspaper in the United States. Its new owner and publisher is expending money with a liberal hand, and it is probably true that the pay roll of The Times-Herald is today considerably larger than that of any other American newspaper. Mr. Kohlsatt has, in fact, secured the services of nearly all the great newspaper writers of the day. Cornelius McAuliff, the managing editor, is a man of pronounced ability. Moses P. Handy, who is in charge of the editorial page, and who contributes, twice a week, some entertaining matter over his own signature, is known from one end of the country to the other as a ready writer and brilliant journalist. Mrs. Margaret Sullivan, who is regarded as one of the best writers of this conntry, retains her position on the editorial staff. E. V. Smalley, who has recently returned to America from a lengthy sojourn in London, has been added to the corps of writers on Chicago's great newspaper. Frank L. Stanton, whose poems appeal so strongly to the human heart, has a column of verses twice a week on the editorial page, and they are being widely copied. Hamlin Garland has recently become a contributer to this paper. Lyman B. Glover, so long the accomplished dramatic editor of the Herald, now contributes well written articles on various topics over his own signature. Walter Wellman, the well known Washington correspondent, is retained in the same capacity. Elwyn A. Barron, who was for so many years the dramatic critic of the Inter Ocean, is now attached to the Times Herald, with a residence in London, and is writing some very scholarly and delightful letters from the metropolis of Great Britain. Charles Lederer, who as a cartoonist has no superior, has recently been sent to Europe by Mr. Kohlsaat, and illustrated articles from his pen are now appearing. Joseph Howard, Jr. a brilliant and caustic writer, long connected with the New York press, is now a regular contributor to the Times-Herald. George Alfred Townsend, the talented "Gath" of the Cincinnati Enquirer and other papers, is writing for Mr. Kohlsatt, and has recently sent some very delightful letters from eastern summer resorts. Mary Abbott literary critic, and also contributes entertainingly to the editorial page. Kate Field, the brilliant journalist and lecturer, has been engaged, and will shortly visit Hawaii under commission from the enterprising proprietor of this great Chicago newspaper. Other men and women of almost equal renown in the newspaper world have been secured by Mr. Kohlsaat, and it is undoubtedly true that no other journal in this country has upon its staff so many brilliant, able and high-priced writers.

Valuable Maps.

Messrs. Rand, McNally & Co., of Chicago, the famous map firm, have issued a wall map of this great state, which should be in every home, office and school-room.

This map illustrates the complete system of United States Land Survey, and by a special process of relief line engraving presents all the details without confusion.

Each county is clearly shown by different colors and the name printed in large, clear type.

Each railroad system is correctly represented and named.

The location of every railroad station, postoffice, and town is plainly designated and can be readily located, as all section lines are clearly delineated, and the township and range numbers are printed in the plainest possible manner.

Rivers, creeks, small lakes, and innumerable details are clearly and correctly located. Taken all in all it is a marvel of beauty.

Notwithstanding the great cost of production the price is as moderate as could be expected. The prices are $2 for the paper back wall map, or $3 for the cloth back, at which rates they are sent postpaid.

The same firm issues another map which is worth mentioning. It is 66 inches long and 46 inches from top to bottom. One side shows the largest United States map ever printed on one sheet. The other side shows a similar map of the world. Each of these maps is sold for $5 when put up on cloth back, but this one map will be supplied for $2.50 postpaid.

We advise any of our readers who want the best that can be had to write for one or both maps.

Anyone who wants profitable work should write to this firm for agents' terms. Good canvassers earn from $15 to $35 per week.

Clinton Column.

CLINTON, MICH., DEC. 29, 1895.

Mrs. J. L. Kishpaugh has been quite indisposed this week.

Miss Laura Clark was calling on Tecumseh friends Monday.

Miss Bertha Gibson is visiting her father and other friends.

Miss Lina Jones visited her parents at Manchester over Sunday.

W. D. VanTuyle made a business trip to the county seat Tuesday.

John Kensler, of Manchester, was transacting business here Monday.

J. E. White and F. T. VanDeMark took a run over to Tecumseh Monday.

Eugene Smalley, who has been quite ill the past two weeks, is recovering.

L. J. Leek has added to his list of musical instruments a fine symphonium.

S. W. Demuth, J. E. White and G. R. Gillispie were Manchester visitors Tuesday.

Robert Codling and wife were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Wallinger Sunday.

H. G. Chamberlain, of the firm of Bean & Chamberlain, Hudson, was in town Tuesday.

Mrs. Chas. Cummins, of Detroit, was called here Saturday last by the illness of Mrs. Geo. A. Kies.

The Congregational Social was held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Barnsdale, Wednesday.

The Baptist social was held at the spacious residence of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Calhoun Tuesday evening.

We are creditably informed that the editor of the Clinton Local found Will C. Clack wide awake Monday last.

There will be a Christmas Tree at the Episcopal church, and the M. E. society have one at the town hall.

Mrs. Daniel Wade is very critically ill at her home north of town and there is very little hope of her recovery.

The lecture on "The Mission of Mirth" by Thos. McLary, was well attended and was generally satisfactory.

Misses Inez Thorp and Ida Jones, of Tecumseh, attended service at St. John's Episcopal church Sunday evening.

Buell Johnson, Allan Bartlett, Allan Dillingham and wife and J. V. Amspoker and wife visited Tecumseh Tuesday.

Geo. A. Rowland returned to his home in Albion Friday last, and Mrs. Rowland remained until yesterday among old friends.

E. T. VanDeMark, after spending several weeks in in this vicinity calling on the trade for his line, has returned to his home in Chicago.

Hank Lancaster's dog, Jumbo, after a week's absence, put in an appearance Tuesday morning. The query is, where was he during that week?

Eusebius W. Dodge, of Hudson, spent several days in Clinton last week. While here he tuned the town hall piano. He went to Adrian Monday.

Orville Barnes and wife left Wednesday for Chicago where he will enter the Moody Institute for the purpose of preparing himself for work in missionary field.

The Farmer's Club were entertained at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard B. Gillespie Tuesday evening. To say that all had a delightful time seems superfluous.

Mrs. Ella Niblack, the efficient and popular secretary of the L. O. T. M.'s, was given a complete surprise by her sister Bees last Friday evening. All enjoyed themselves.

Miss Sadie Huntington is now enrolled among the students of Adrian College and her many friends are confident she will not only win honors for herself, but credit to Clinton.

Several families from the Saginaws, enroute for Georgia, overland, passed through here the first of the week. Their outfits were unique and complete and were by many closely examined.

The Ladies of St. John's Episcopal society cleared $73 from their fair, supper and entertainment last week Wednesday. Had the weather been pleasant they would have nearly doubled it.

The pleasant home of A. C. Huntington on Church street was the scene of great social enjoyment Wednesday evening. The members of what is termed the Hanover Colony, comprising the employees of the Woolen Mill company who formerly were connected with the mill at Hanover, Ill., were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Huntington, who are artists in that role. They numbered about forty, and all feel that any subsequent meeting can not excel in any respect this, the first session of the colony.

The sudden death of Mrs. Stark at the Sheldon homestead in Newburgh Monday seems doubly sad from the fact that Mrs. Sheldon, her daugdter, was in a hospital in Detroit where she had gone for an operation. It seems that Mrs. Stark though aged was in usual health and about the house. She was engaged in some work when Fred handed her a letter from Mrs. Sheldon and then went out to the barn, returning soon after he was horrified to find her dead. The funeral was held at the home yesterday afternoon and the remains, accompanied by Fred Sheldon, taken to Warsaw, New York, for interment.

The Baptist society was not only surprised but deeply grieved last Sunday morning when their esteemed pastor, Rev C. C. Marshall tendered his unconditional resignation to take immediate effect. Owing to poor health he was satisfied it was necessary that he change climate and that at once, this alone was the reason for severing the ties which bound them. The members of this society and our citizens generally feel that a great calamity has thus come upon them, for the reverend gentleman was not only doing a grand work for the society but had endeared himself to all with whom he came in contact. He leaves in a few days with his family for Franklin Indiana.

Dr. Carsten, one of Detroit's celebrated surgeons, came Saturday to consult with Dr. J. L. Tuttle in the case of Mrs. George A. Kies, which was critical. It was decided that the only hope, and that very encouraging, was an operation. It was thought advisable that she be taken to Detroit where every convenience was at hand, and preparations for her removal were accordingly made. A special car was secured, which was supplied with everything necessary to her comfort, and Tuesday afternoon, accompanied by her husband, Dr. J. L. Tuttle, A. B. VanDeMark and Mrs. Chas. Cummins, she was removed to Harper Hospital for the operation, the result of which is anxiously awaited by the entire community, among whom she is highly esteemed and very popular. Later—Mrs. Kies stood the journey to Detroit well. The operation was performed Wednesday at 11 a. m. She rallied nicely and there is every reason to believe her recovery will be speedy and complete.

FRANKLIN FACTS.

There was a large crowd at the lyceum at E. J. Whelan's Saturday night.

Miss Grace Spalding entertained her friend, Miss Laura Tare, of Ridgeway, last week.

Mr. Townsend, agent for Cleary's business college of Ypsilanti, was stopping at G. W. Allen's last week.

Milton Burns is recovering; he is reduced, however, literally to a skeleton, weighing only a trifle above 80 pounds.

Geo. Hill has a force of 25 men and several teams working in Ancil Witherell's woods and another force of 18 men working elsewhere.

The next lyceum will occur at Lorenzo Billington's Dec. 28th. A good program will be presented, and the question, "Resolved, That the country is in a worse condition today than it has been in the last 100 years," will be discussed. Affirmative, H. P. Taylor; negative, C. V. Wisner.

PENTECOST POINTERS.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Daniels will spend Christmas with their daughter in Chicago.

Harrison Daniels, sr., left Chicago for Jackson county, Miss., recently, where he will spend the winter with his daughter, Mrs. R. L. Glen.

Mr Drake, the purchaser of the Elliott stock of goods, is now doing business at Mr. Elliott's old stand in the R. L. Glen building. It is rumored, however, that the store is about to change hands.

Miss Susie Vanderpool deserted the ranks of "bachelor girls" last week Wednesday to hie away to the land of "double blessedness" with Mr. Burt Gould, a very worthy and estimable young man. Miss Susie, or rather Mrs. Gould will be greatly missed in this community, where she has lived all her life, and where she has been organist many years. He host of friends will wish her joy. The new made husband and wife took the afternoon train east and, after their bridal trip, will settle down to housekeeping on Mr. Gould's father's farm.

All hearts were saddened by the startling news of the sudden illness and death of Editor Stacy. It was the absorbing theme wherever friends met, and the strongest sympathy is felt for the aged mother and devoted sister, who were so rudely summoned from their pleasant visit to return to the death-bed of a loved son and brother, and all hearts go out to them in their deep affliction.

Now out upon Death's solemn sea,
Towards a vast eternity,
Shall his barge in silence float,
No earthly eye its path to note.
Swift, swift recede time's barren strand.
He walks today that better land,
Where never sail is outward set,
Nor sigh, nor grieving, nor regret.
All longings met.

AN ACCIDENT.

Mr. Quintus Hummel, of 118 Michigan Ave., Detroit, tells a War Story of his own Experience, and the Result.

(From Detroit News.)

Our representative called at 118 Michigan Avenue, the residence of Mr. Quintus Hummel. Mr. Hummel is a veteran of the late war, and received, in the campaign, an injury which has given him much pain and suffering since. He belonged to a Michigan cavalry regiment and his horse becoming frightened one day reared up, throwing him backward. In falling he struck his spine on a sharp stone, inflicting a deep cut over five inches long. The injury affected the kidneys. About two years ago the left kidney started to bleed, and has been doing so ever since. Mr. Hummel, in a few pointed sentences, gave our representative the following account:

"The accident of my 'war days' left me in bad shape; pain in my back and spine rendered me almost useless, and I was compelled to give up work entirely. I could not turn over in bed without assistance. I have spent hundreds of dollars in various ways trying to find relief. Physicians have told me my spine was honeycombed for 13 inches. I had given up in despair, never hoping for relief, when a friend told me about Doan's Kidney Pills, and they have done me a world of good. The pains have disappeared from my back, and the bleeding of my kidney has almost entirely stopped. I know I can never be entirely cured, as I would have to be 'a new man,' but Doan's Kidney Pills have done more to make me feel like 'a new man' than all the othef things I have tried during past years. I have not had any recurrence of the pain or bleeding since taking them."

What use is there in eating when food does you no good—in fact, when it does you more harm than good, for such is the case if it is not digested. If you have a loathing for food there is no use of forcing it down, for it will not be digested. You must restore the digestive organs to their natural strength and cause the food to be digested when an appetite will come, and with it a relish for food. The tired, languid feeling will give place to vigor and energy, then you will put flesh on your bones and become strong. The Shaker Digestive Cordial as made by the Mount Lebanon Shakers contains food already digested and is a digester of food as well. Its action is prompt and its effects permanent.

The dyspeptic carries a dreadful load on his back. It seems as if he was really made up of two men. One of them ambitious, brainy and energetic; the other sick, listless, peevish, and without force. The weak man weighs the other one down. The dyspeptic may be able to do pretty good work one day, and the next day, because of some little indiscretion in eating, he may be able to do nothing at all. Most cases of dyspepsia start with constipation. Constipation is the cause of nine-tenths of all human sickness. Some of its symptoms are sick and billious headache, dizziness, sour stomach, loss of appetite, foul breath, windy belchings, heartburn, pain and distress after eating. All these are indicative of derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels, and all are caused by constipation. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the quickest, easiest and most certain cure for this condition. They are not violent in action.

MORTGAGE SALE.

ON the first day of September, A. D. [illegible] James Boyd mortgaged to Angie [illegible] all those certain tracts or parcels of land situate and being in the township of Franklin, in the county of Lenawee and state of Michigan, and described as follows, to-wit: The southwest quarter of the southeast quarter and the southeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section seven (7) of town five (5) south of range three east, containing of both parcels eighty (80) acres of land more or less, to secure the payment of one thousand dollars, in ten equal instalments next ensuing the first day of September, 1893, with interest from the date thereof at six per cent per annum payable annually, which mortgage was, on the 5th day of September, A. D. 1892, recorded in the Register of Deeds office for the county of Lenawee, Michigan, in liber 91 of Mortgages, on page 73, &c. And whereas said mortgage contains a provision that in case any default be made in the payment of any of the interest or any part thereof, or any instalment of principal or any part thereof, on any day whereon the same is made payable as aforesaid, and the same remain unpaid and in arrear for the space of sixty days, and from thenceforth, that is to say, after the lapse of said sixty days, so much of the principal said sum of one thousand dollars as remains unpaid, with all arrearages of interest thereon shall, at the option of said party of the second part, his executors, administrators or assigns, become and be due and payable immediately thereafter, although the time specified for the payment thereof may not then have expired.

Default having been made in the payment of the principal of said mortgage, the undersigned hereby elects to declare and does hereby declare the whole amount due, both principal and interest, amounting at the date of this notice to the sum of nine hundred, nine and 93-100 dollars, and no proceedings at law or in equity have been commenced for the recovery of said sum or any part thereof, notice, therefore is hereby given that, by virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage contained, and of the statute of the state of Michigan in such case made and provided, for the purpose of realizing the sum above mentioned and interest thereon, and the costs of this foreclosure and sale, including an attorney fee provided by law, I shall on the third day of February, A. D. 1896 at [illegible] the forenoon of said day, at the front door of the court house in the city of Adrian, in said county, Michigan, (that being the place at which the circuit court for said county of Lenawee is holden) sell at public vendue to the highest bidder the lands and premises described.

MR. MORTON A HUMORIST.

The Once Great Greenbacker Says Some Amusing Things.

J. Sterling Morton has become exceedingly "funny" over the recent elections. He finds in the result proof positive that the people of the United States are in favor of "honest money" and that the Democratic party was defeated because it was not in favor of "honest money." If that statement were true, it would certainly be a pretty strong arraignment of several millions of American people. But "funny" men are always allowed some latitude, and what they say is generally taken in a "Pickwickian sense." His idea of "honest money" is a currency redeemable in gold. As the United States treasury has about $92,000,000 in that metal with which to redeem something like ten times the amount in paper, the honesty of our present system, according to Mr. Morton, is not quite apparent.

But even with all this great mass of paper in existence; the "dollar" has a purchasing power of nearly 200 cents, compared with what a dollar would buy a few years ago.

Mr. Morton is not content with this. Our country is rich in resources, he says, and therefore its money must be of the "greatest attainable unfluctuating purchasing power."

Why the fact of our country having great resources should make it necessary for us to have money of great purchasing power—what connection there is between the two things—Mr. Morton neglects to explain. He seems to imagine that it is all right to increase the purchasing power of money, thus making property of all kinds cheap, and compel a debtor to pay $2, or $3, or $5 for one that he owes, because the country has great resources. That is excruciatingly "funny" for the debtor.

How he is going to get money of the greatest "attainable purchasing power," and still have it "unfluctuating"—that is, unchanging—is another point upon which he throws no light. His language, as given by William E. Curtis, in the Chicago Record of November 8, is a literary curiosity.

Of course, what he means is a gold standard in its most complete sense. This everybody knows can only be maintained by greatly contracting the currency. This must inevitably be followed by a rise in the purchasing power of each dollar that is retained. Things will get cheaper and cheaper until one branch of his ideal is attined, namely, money of the highest purchasing power, but it will not be "unfluctuating," by any manner of means.—H. F. Bartine, in the National Bimetallist.

HIS NAME IS FLAHERTY.

And He Is Probably a Loyal Subject of "Her Majesty."

Mr. R. Flaherty, of New York, of course, proposes for 1900 a "Silver Palace and Musical Exhibition and Festival for Opening the 20th Century." He wants a palace of solid silver, to be constructed from the silver in the vaults of the United States treasury. He says it would be a suitable method of honoring the beginning of the twentieth century. This palace, costing some $400,000,000, would form the nucleus of a big world's fair that would knock the memory of the Chicago exposition higher than a kite, he argues, and in writing to the banks about it, he says: "The government of the United States has in the vaults of the treasury over 16,000 tons of silver in coin and bullion. It is possible to get authority from congress to use this metal and cast it into plates and other desirable shapes and build of it the most magnificent hall or palace this world has ever seen, the design to be open for competition to all the architects of the world."

He thinks it would cause $100,000,000 spent in New York. Of course, he wants to avoid any chance of this, a base stuff, ever circulating as money; and he would beguile the people, as the Romans were in their degeneracy, by shows. A difference is that the Romans, had they been able to get the silver, would have used it as money, but the Spanish mines failed. The proposal may be an improvement on that of a "Sound Money" sheet from New York that the silver be dumped into the sea. The coinage of any part of it to float through the arteries of American commerce, raising prices and ruining lagging business, would, of course, be fought bitterly by Mr. Flaherty.—Ex.

This First.

First before making up a list of papers to be subscribed for in order to provide reading for the family for next year, get a copy of Public Opinion, if you are not already familiar with it, and see what an enormous amount and variety of reading matter it furnishes, all carefully selected, edited and condensed. There is no other paper published by reading which the busy man or woman can so easily keep abreast of what the world is thinking about and doing. The readers of Public Opinion get not one man's views or one side only, but all sides and many views. Its symposiums upon political, religious, social and other topics are invaluable to the student of affairs. Teachers in the public schools will find Public Opinion's plan for the study of current topics a most excellent method of enlivening school work. Every community, especially in the rural districts, should have a Current Topic Club, with Public Opinion for its next text book. For particulars send a postal card inquiry to the Public Opinion Co., New York City. Special club rate if taken in connection with the HERALD.

A Delightful Christmas Magazine.

The Christmas Ladies' Home Journal by far surpasses, both in literary and artistic excellence, any previous issue of that popular magazine. Conspicuous among the contributors are ex-President Harrison, who gives the introductory paper of the series he is preparing upon 'This country of Ours;' Mrs. Mary Anderson de Navarro, who most interestingly tells of 'My First Appearance on the Stage;' and Mary E. Wilkins, who gives the first of 'Neighborhoods Types' papers. Rudyard Kipling's latest and best romance, 'William the Conqueror' (richly illustrated by W. L. Taylor,) is begun in the Christmas Journal, as is Julia Magruder's new novelette, 'The Violet,' which Charles Dana Gibson has illustrated, while Mrs. Burton Harrison's fascinating story, 'The Holiday Dance at Worrosquoyacke,' pictures by W. T. Smedley's delightfully concluded. James Whitcomb Riley's tenderly reminiscent poem, 'At the Gate' (superbly illustrated A. B. Frost,) and Kate Greenway's winsome dainty little people, are two page features of the December Journal. Mrs. A. D. T. Whitney in a 'Friendly Letter to Girl Friends' sharply criticises society for what it is, and shows its true mission or purpose, and a fitting page-mate to it is Lilian Bell's caustic analysis of 'The Man Under Thirty-five,' a brilliantly-witty paper. By the Curtis Publishing Company, Philadelphia. One dollar per year; ten cents per copy.

A Captalist Preaches.

The famous S. V. White, who has for so many years been such a power in Wall Street, and has meanwhile represented his District in Congress, appears in a new role in the columns of EVERY WHERE. He delivers a lay sermon to young men and women, on the text "Keep that which is committed to thy trust;" and it is the general verdict of business men, that his remarks ought to be framed in gold, and hung in every counting-room. If heeded, they would save much of the financial dishonesty which is ruining so many young men.

The other departments of the paper are up to their usual standard, which is saying a great deal. The name of the editor Will Carleton is in itself worth a whole corps of ordinary contributors, and the three poems entitled "Bird Rhymes" in this paper are worth the whole price of subscription for one year, which is only fifty cents. Address EVERY WHERE, Brooklyn, N. Y.

The Historic Route.

The Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis R'y, the model railroad of the South in equipment, roadway and service, is also the greatest in historical interest, more than fifty famous battlefields and five national cemeteries being located on the various lines of this system. This is the preferred route to Atlanta for the Cotton States and International Exposition, open from September 18, to December 31, 1895, for which very low excursion rates have been made. Through sleeping car service from St. Louis to Atlanta via Evansville, Nashville and Chattanooga. This is the route of the famous Dixie Flyer through sleeping car line which runs the year round between Nashville and Jacksonville, Fla. For further information, address Briard F. Hill, 328 Marquette Building, Chicago, Ill., or R. C. Cowardin, Western Passenger Agent, Railway Exchange Building, St. Louis, Mo., or D. J. SILVER AND COTTON.

NOT ALWAYS ON PARALLEL LINES WITH PRICES.

They Are Very Intimate, However—How England Uses India at the Expense of the American Producers—We Must Recoin Silver.

There has recently been a very pronounced rise in the price of cotton, while silver has not made a corresponding advance. Taking this fact as a text, the gold press (of the south particularly) is now literally tearing the vitals out of those "crazy free silver liars" who have been claiming that there is a close connection between the prices of silver and cotton. The rise in cotton while silver has remained nearly stationary, is declared to be conclusive evidence that the rise or fall of silver has nothing to do with the price of cotton.

Of course a man may be sincere who uses such an argument, but he certainly is not justified in assuming the position of a public educator. Anyone who has followed the course of this discussion ought to know that the "silver men," as they are called, have never claimed that silver and cotton or silver and wheat moved on exactly parallel lines always rising and falling together in perfect harmony. Such a contention would be absurd.

What they say is this: Cotton is sold in competition with India, which produces that staple on a silver basis. Therefore the rise or fall of silver must be an element affecting the price of cotton. If silver goes up the tendency is to carry cotton up with it; if silver goes down the tendency is the other way. With other conditions normal, they will rise and fall very closely together. If, however, something of an extraordinary nature occurs, peculiarly affecting the one and not touching the other at all, it will, of course, break the uniformity of their movement.

Suppose, for example, that the entire cotton crop of the United States should be destroyed, while nothing unusual occurs with respect to silver. The price of cotton would rise enormously. Incidentally silver would rise too because of the demand for that metal with which to purchase cotton in India. But with the aggregate supply of silver remaining the same, while cotton becomes exceedingly scarce, it is clear that the value of the cotton must be affected in a greater degree than the value of the silver. So if our cotton crop should fall off one-half or one-third, the same thing would occur, only not to so great an extent. This is about the present situation. The cotton crop has dropped from more than 9,000,000 bales to some 6,500,000 or 7,000,000, while nothing in particular has happened to silver. The result is that cotton has a veritable boom, while silver is scarcely affected at all.

But it must be remembered that at present the advanced price of cotton is a speculative one. The bulls of the market are gambling on a short crop. If the reports of disaster are fully confirmed, and a demand arises for East India cotton to supply an actual deficiency, there will come a sharp rise in silver. The same considerations apply to wheat.

The demonetization of silver lowered the prices of all products, except where something else may have supervened to prevent it. But cotton and wheat were affected in two ways: First, generally, the same as other things, by the diminished supply of money, and second, specially, by the competition of silver-using countries, which was rendered much keener by the appreciation of gold. Hence we find that these two great export staples have been more seriously affected than almost any others. This is a matter of especial concern of the United States because so large a proportion of them must be sold in the European market, which has adjusted itself to the silver basis.

There is not a trade journal in Europe or America which does not recognize the fact that under average conditions the general course of silver, cotton and wheat are very nearly the same. To arrive at average conditions we must take a series of years. When we do this the manner in which the gold prices of silver, cotton and wheat have descended the incline together, is so remarkable as to leave no room for doubt that there is some general cause at work, which applies to them all.

Even in the face of the recent extraordinary rise of cotton an ounce of silver will buy very nearly the same quantity that it would in 1873.

A short crop of cotton has been a perfect God-send to the gold champions of the South. For twenty years the advocacy of the gold standard has persistently claimed that the great fall of prices is owing to over-production. Absolutely the only remedy he has offered has been to advise the people to produce less. The advantages of a monetary system which can only be defended upon the basis of crop failures; idle factories and unemployed men, are precisely the advantages that have been showered upon the people by the gold standard.—National Bimetallist.

The Mississippi Victory.

As an example of the stuff sent the press associations is a telegram from Alabama gravely reciting that democratic leaders were seriously thinking now of abandoning free silver. This is a likely (?) story when in an adjoining state, Mississippi, with free silver democracy won by an overwhelming vote, very few voting the populist ticket, showing that dissent from democracy was only given the populist party as the only way of expressing itself. In states where the administration forced goldbug championship, the democracy was ingloriously whipped.—American Bimetallist.

The Judge's Bath.

Ex-Judge William Riley of Virginia tells a funny story on himself concerning an experience he had in the senate at Washington. As everybody who has anything to do with the senate knows, the marble baths there are very fine. They are for the use of the members of the senate and their friends. A card from a senator will admit any one. When Mr. Riley was in Washington, he used frequently to make use of these baths, going to a friend of his in the senate for a card. He would then go down in the baths, where a Georgia darky attended to the rooms. He used to berate the colored attendant in pure southern style. The senator heard one of these tirades and he put up a joke on the ex-judge. The next time he came for a card he got it as usual. Then he went down stairs and disrobed. When he had finished undressing, the colored attendant came up and said, "Boss, you kyant hab no bath heah."

"What's that, you black rascal?"

"I dun said, boss, dat you kyant hab no bath heah."

"Why?" said the startled bather.

"Read dis yeah kyard, boss," said the darky, as he handed it out. The card read:

"Keeper Potomac River—Please give bearer one bath. ——"

Rock Drilling.

The cost of hand and machine drilling is made the subject of some instructive comparisons in The Wormlandska Annaler. It appears that at Danemora, Sweden, mechanical rock drilling costs 50 cents per yard, while hand drilling is only half that amount, so that the single advantage possessed by the former would seem to consist in the greater depth to which the holes may be drilled. At the place named the mean depth of holes with hand drilling is 2 feet 4 inches in stopes and 2 feet in conversed steps or overhand stopes, while with machine drilling the depths are 5 feet and 3 feet 8 inches, respectively. In the year 1890, with hand drilling, a meter shothole brought down 2.17 tons of rock; in 1892, with machine drilling, four tons, or 8.82 tons if the subdivision of the rock masses by hand drilling be taken into consideration. Doubling the depth of the hole, therefore, loosened nearly double the quantity of rock or increased by more than some 50 per cent the mass of subdivided rock. The price paid for hand drilling in Danemora is at the rate of 25 cents per meter.

Bennett and Stanley.

It is a treat to hear Henry M. Stanley tell of the way in which he was started in his work of exploring Africa. He was then writing for James Gordon Bennett on the New York Herald. One day Mr. Bennett sent for him. He went to his rooms and found the proprietor of The Herald in bed. Mr. Stanley made himself known, and a conversation like this ensued:

"Stanley, I want you to go to Africa and find Livingstone." With that Mr. Bennett rolled over in bed and thought that the matter was settled.

"But, Mr. Bennett," said Stanley, who was struck dumb by the gigantic task outlined, "that will take time, money, preparation, and, in fact, many things must be settled."

"Draw on the office for £1,000 and go and find Livingstone. Keep drawing until you find him. That is all."

Stanley left the room in a whirl, but he followed orders.

An Indian Trick.

A good story is told by Jim Quinlan of Isaac D. Smith, who was post trader of Casa Blanca, on the Gila river, 25 years ago. It was after harvest, and as the Indians had been blessed with a large crop of grain the post trader was kept busy taking in wheat and dealing out such merchandise as poor Lo fancied. At a short distance from the store was a large adobe building, in which the purchased grain had been dumped loose from the sacks, and it was almost full to the ceiling. One day Smith was unusually busy, the Indians standing in a row waiting to dispose of their wheat, and it was not till later that he learned he had bought 16,000 pounds of his own grain. The Indians had tapped his storehouse in the rear, and as the grain rushed out it was caught in sacks and again marketed.—Arizona Citizen.

Tricks of Mexican Pickpockets.

Two German gentlemen were talking at the corner of First Plateros street, just off the entrance of the Portal, when suddenly one of them was roughly pushed by a pelado. The German tried to remonstrate and even made motions with his cane to punish the offender. At this moment his companion felt a stinging pain at the back of his neck. Another pelado had thrown a burning match inside of his collar and naturally made him throw up his hand, and while so doing the pickpocket grabbed the man's watch and chain and ran away, followed by a policeman. The ratero was not caught. The German's timepiece was a silver one, of little value, and what the Teuton felt most keenly was the burning of his neck.—Mexican Herald.

Must Have Fine Legs.

One of the greatest essentials with regard to the recommendation of a London footman is not only his height, but the size and form of his legs. To suit the needs of those who have not been gifted with a well formed leg livery makers now supply artificial calves, which pad out the leg to a respectable size. A pair of these pads costs about 5 shillings.

J. C. HAZLETT.

Faithfulness of a Dog.

Mrs. Jessie Benton Fremont, in her story of "The Guard," a body of young men who followed "The Pathfinder" into the civil war and made a brilliant record for their courage and gallantry, tells a pathetic little story of a dumb beast who also was loyal and courageous.

While the guard—a body of cavalry—was drilling one day near St. Louis, a little fox terrier followed one of the men, Herr Wisa, a Hungarian officer, going with him to camp. He could not be driven away.

The men all made a pet of him and named him the "Corporal;" but, though he was affable to them all, he made the Hungarian soldier his companion and friend, sleeping at his feet at night and following him by day.

When the guard made their memorable charge at Springfield, Mo., the "Corporal" charged with them, keeping beside his master's horse throughout the battle. Herr Wisa was wounded and fell apparently dead in a thicket. The corps swept past, his horse fled, wild with terror, but the little "Corporal" nestled close beside him, licking his face and trying to rouse him.

There the dog remained through the bitter cold night. When morning came, he ran to the distant road, and by his frantic barks and cries induced a passer-by to enter the thicket.

The man, seeing only a cold, stiff body, supposed the soldier to be dead and would have hurried on, but the "Corporal" furiously drove him back and would not be silenced until he saw his master move and speak, when he crouched, dumb and contented, at his feet.

Drake's Drink.

The Chicago Post tells a number of characteristic stories about the late John B. Drake, for so many years proprietor of the Grand Pacific hotel, Chicago. On one occasion a traveling man saw him go into the little room behind the key box frame and drink some water, as was his habit, and he accosted the little man: "Say, John, why don't you patronize the bar—drink mineral water, cider or some such thing, instead of that plain water? If I owned this place, I'd have the best, you can bet."

"I had to break the ice out of the water bucket winter mornings and melt it to get a drink," replied Mr. Drake, "when I was a boy, and somehow just plain, clear water out of a white pitcher does me quite well."

"How long have you been with John B. Drake, Henry?" asked a big politician of the parlor floor colored man.

"Thirty years," said Henry Bradley, "and I hope I'll be with him 30 years longer. He always keeps his old hands." Henry was in the employ of Mr. Drake to the time of the hotel man's death.

A Memory of St. Helena.

When Napoleon Bonaparte arrived at St. Helena, he was in a pretty bad humor. His valet had forgotten to put any cigarettes in his grip, there was no beer on the ship, and one of the midshipmen had put a lot of red pepper into his snuff. He hadn't slept well either, as the captain's pet rooster woke him up by crowing punctually at 3:30 o'clock every morning. As he stepped ashore he fell into the usual pose, one hand on the pit of his stomach and the other just below his kidneys.

Seeing his abstraction, the faithful Dr. O'Meara approached and said:

"Well, sire, what do you think of the prospect?"

"From the looks of things," replied the great emperor, gazing thoughtfully at the huge masses of stone and the frowning cliffs, "from the looks of things, I imagine that we are going to have a pretty rocky time of it."—Florida Times-Union.

Had the Last Word.

A group of children were going home from school. They were little girls between the ages of 7 and 10 years, and, following the example of their older sisters, were discussing their clothes.

"I have a lovely new dress that I am going to wear to church next Sunday," said one of them.

"Pooh!" said a little one with brown eyes. "I have got a new hat, and I'm going to wear it every day."

This was too much for the little girl who was clothed the most shabbily in the party, and she said:

"I don't care. I have got heart disease, anyway."

The Way to Make a Lawn.

"I should like to have such turf as this," once said an American millionaire to an Oxford gardener. "Tell me, my man, how you manage it." And he fumbled significantly in his pocket as though to indicate a willingness to pay for the required information.

"Well, sir," was the reply, delivered with the quaint humor of an old college retainer, "it's werry simple. You cuts it as close as ever you can cut, an you rolls it an cuts it for 600 years."—Good Words.

The Declaration of War.

Gustavus Adolphus of Sweden was, it is said, the first to dispense with the regular declaration of war. Frederick the Great made no declaration of war before his invasion of Silesia, the act of aggression which brought on the seven years' war.

"I FORGIVE YOU."

They sat in a pew quite near the door, Mr. and Mrs. Grey and their daughter, a delicate looking girl of about 20. Sometimes there used to sit with them a young fellow, who found the girl's place and shared his hymnbook with her. Once, during a lengthy sermon, I saw him holding her hand.

Unfortunately, Mrs. Grey saw him, too, and frowned her disapproval. I noticed he didn't sit there again. Instead, an elderly gentleman occupied his seat and endeavored to find her place, when she would let him, but she rarely did.

One Sunday she wasn't there, nor he either, and for the first time the banns were read out between Olive Grey and Christopher Thornton.

One morning, after the third time of asking, I, as sexton, had orders to open and prepare the church for their marriage. I couldn't help being sorry for the bride, the church looked so dreary and depressing. If the banns had not been published I should have thought it looked suspiciously like a runaway, but that couldn't be.

I had hardly sat a moment when the door was flung open, and the young fellow burst in. I jumped up, saying:

"There is no hurry, sir, plenty of time, they haven't come yet."

"Thank heaven!" he ejaculated, when he could speak. "My man, will you help me and earn $100 at the same time?"

Then he told me what it was, his face white and anxious, his hands trembling, and I agreed. Perhaps I shouldn't have done so, but I was young myself then, and—I could begin furnishing on my own account.

I proceeded to put everything in its place again. Then I went out into the church, locking the vestry door after me.

In the chancel I hurriedly put the hassocks into a neighboring pew, the books with them and extinguished the lights.

Half an hour—three quarters went by, before a boy came to tell me I was wanted at the church.

But I didn't hurry, having my promise to that young man in view. The vicar was waiting outside the vestry surrounded by the shivering bridal party. Mrs. Grey was in a towering passion when I arrived.

"How is this, Swift!" asked the vicar. "A marriage for 11:30 o'clock, and the church not ready? Now it is after 12," he went on, pulling out his watch.

Unlocking the door, I stood back to let the party enter.

"I'm very sorry, sir," I said to the vicar as he passed. "I will explain afterward if I may."

He said no more, and I proceeded to get everything slowly ready again, keeping my eye on the clock.

It was nearly 12:30 o'clock when, unable to detain them any longer, we walked up the misty aisle into the dimly lighted chancel.

We drew up in order before the altar rails, and the vicar said to me:

"What is the matter with you. Are you ill? Where are the books?"

I got them, and the service began.

The bottom end of the church could not be seen for the fog yet. I kept my eyes fixed on where I knew the door to be and listened with all my ears.

Presently I heard it open; so did she, and she looked over her shoulder, fear, hope, doubt, then hope again mingled with a blessed relief being written all over her pale face as the footsteps she knew so well came quietly but swiftly up the aisle.

We had just reached that part where the bridegroom says "I will," when the old man said, "I will," almost before the words were well out of the vicar's mouth.

Then he turned to the bride with the same question, and she said:

"I won't!"

There was a dreadful pause, during which the vicar shut his book, and Mrs. Grey sank down in weeping hysterics. The bridegroom put up his eyeglass and stared aghast at the girl's white face.

"Mother, father, dear, you have brought me here, knowing my repugnance for the—for the man you would have me marry, knowing that I loved Jack," she said, her voice softening. "You worried me into this on the plea that this marriage would be of great assistance to you, and sent Jack away with some story about my falseness. Thank heaven, he has found out the great wrong about to be perpetrated in time."

Then out of the fog came Mr. Jack, who took his stand beside her. They hadn't seen him until then.

"You—you published the banns without my consent or knowledge, mother. But I'm sorry for your humiliation, Mr. Thornton," she added, turning to him. "It was unavoidable. I—I can't marry you."

"You don't intend to be married, Olive?" gasped her mother, who had sat up to listen.

"Oh, yes, I do—to Jack," she answered, looking up into his face, her own alight with love.

"Mother, dear," said Miss Olive, turning her bright, tearful face to that irate lady, "no one can forbid me. I am my own mistress. I came of age yesterday. I waited for that. Dad, you will give me away!" she asked.

So he gave her away, and Mrs. Grey, who had realized the truth, had to stand and see her married to the man she loved, for the vicar did marry them, after seeing the special license was all correct, which Mr. Jack had been to procure and for which I had delayed the marriage.

I confessed everything to my vicar afterward, and he said:

"Well, Swift, I forgive you. I should have done the same myself at your age, but—don't you do it again."—London News.

Going For the Playwrights.

Carrington—Sometimes the critics rouse a playwright up and say to him: "Look here, old man! Wake up! Be a little more up to date! Don't give us conventional types that vanished from the earth more than 40 years ago!" Then he wakes up for a bit, and goes to—nature? No! To the comic papers.

Esdale—Of course, there is still too much truth in what you say.

Carrington—Take me to any play you may like to select, and I will show you in the course of it gross violations of probability that, if they were committed by a novelist, would make one throw his book aside and never read a line of him again. Do you doubt it?

Esdale—It is probable enough, alas!

Carrington—Then, since we have men who can write, why the mischief don't we get them to write our plays for us?—Nineteenth Century.

THE NATIONAL BIMETALLIST.

The Greatest Champion of a Patriotic Cause.

A new champion of currency has entered the lists, and a strong one. It is known as The National Bimetallist, published weekly by the National Bimetallic union, at its headquarters in this city and edited by ex-Congressman H. F. Bartine. Mr. Bartine's name will be guarantee enough of the worth of the paper to all who have heard him or have read his clear and scholarly speeches on bimetallism. With rare irony Mr. Bartine heads his paper with two startling and unequivocal arguments for the double standard. It is not the subject matter of these that are startling but the authors who are none other than those two high priests of the golden calf, John G. Carlisle and John Sherman, who in the days of their purity and innocence spoke many truths that now they are ashamed of. Among the crisp and interesting articles in the last number of the new paper is one of particular value on silver and cotton, which shows that the rise in cotton due to the ravages of the boll-worm does not in any sense disprove the validity of the argument of falling prices due to silver. In the course of the article a quotation is made from the Manufacturer of Philadelphia, which is so apropos that we cannot refrain from quoting it.

"'The wildest enthusiasm' was evoked from the German American Bankers' association, in session at Atlanta, by a speech against bimetallism made by a gentleman who is pleasantly described as 'the humorist-financier of the Lone Star State.' One of the theories advanced by the humorist-financier of the Lone Star State was that the chinch-bug, the boll-worm, and the caterpillar, destroyers of wheat and cotton, are public benefactors, the worms 'this summer having moved the price of cotton up 60 per cent.' An argument intended to prove that the destruction of property increases wealth is, we should say, altogether worthy of a champion of the gold standard. If it be sound, then all the entomological influences which tend to rob the farmer of his grains should be encouraged, rather than restrained. Then, also, the money expended in the far west upon irrigation is more than wasted, for permanent drouth is the short road to riches and to bliss. This is perfectly consistent, it will be observed, with the familiar contention of the gold people that the poverty of farmers is due solely to overproduction, which means, simply, that the more wealth we create the poorer we become."

Is not this touch of sarcasm exquisite? Enthusiastic bimetallists will find the new paper filled with just this sort of up-to-date items.—Field, Farm and Fireside.

NOT A NOVELTY.

The Cause of Bimetallism Is the Cause of the Constitution.

From the Manufacturer, Philadelphia: Bimetallism is no novelty. It is 4,000 years old. Gold monometallism is not yet 90 years old; in this country not 25 years old. Bimetallism for centuries was a triumphant success. If we may judge by the conditions prevailing in the treasury at Washington, gold monometallism is a failure. The director of the mint has shown that the world now produces as much gold as its total product of gold and silver in 1865. This means that the world's business is 30 years ahead of its supply of standard money. It is beyond dispute that, if gold should be generally demonetized, as silver was, it would lose value as silver did. Why should men deny, with respect to silver, that which they must admit with respect to gold? The stock of wheat is not enlarged by issue of elevator certificates. The stock of sound money can not be increased by the emission of paper notes and other bank credits. A vegetarian who would starve to death when beef was available, because he could not get vegetables, would be prounounced a fool. A nation is not less foolish if it permit scarcity of gold violently to disorder its business when it may have security and peace by using silver with gold. The period of greatest rosperity the world ever saw followed immediately upon discovery of gold and silver deposits in the west. No nation ever had, or can have, too much metal money. We have deliberately discarded half of that which the Creator gave to us.

Expecting Too Much.

Wm. E. Curtis, in one of his letters to the Chicago Record, says that Carlisle "made the best speaker the house of representatives ever had. But no man ever made a greater failure trying to manage the financial affairs of the government."

It is to be feared that the people who so unsparingly condemn Mr. Carlisle as a financier do not fully appreciate the situation. The Savior of man is said to have fed a great multitude with a few loaves and fishes, many baskets of fragments being left over. But of course no such display of miraculous power is to be expected of Carlisle. He is only mortal, and the little dab of gold at his disposal is not enough to go around. To make $92,000,000 of gold in the treasury do the work of sustaining the entire currency system of the United States, and at the same time supply the foreign demand, would require the application of a supernatural power little short of that displayed in the distribution of the loaves and fishes.

It ought to dawn on people after awhile that the main trouble is with the system by which it is sought to adjust the enormous business of this great nation to a mere handful of gold.

Gladstone and Disraeli.

A singular story was once related by Mr. Gladstone with reference to the late Hon. Mrs. Francis Stonor. Mr. Gladstone was asked during the seventies how he was able to bear without irritation the fierce political attacks of Lord Beaconsfield, then Mr. Disraeli. He replied that Mr. Disraeli's onslaughts had but little effect upon him, for he remembered the following incident: When Disraeli was assailing Sir Robert Peel, he was invited to a dinner party, at which Mrs. Stonor, then Miss Eliza Peel, was also a guest. Mr. Disraeli happened to sit near her at dinner and endeavored to enter into conversation with her. She met him with marked coldness and replied to his observations in monosyllables and with averted face. Mr. Disraeli persisted in his attentions, whereupon Mrs. Stonor turned angrily upon him and asked him what he meant by persecuting her with his distasteful society, having regard to his conduct to her father. Mr. Disraeli replied with the greatest nonchalance: "Really, Miss Peel, I am surprised that you misunderstand me. I am a man of the world. I mean no unkindness to Sir Robert. I am only thinking of myself." "Yes," said Mr. Gladstone, "I bear in mind that Mr. Disraeli is only thinking of himself; the knowledge is an antidote to irritation."—Westminster Gazette.

Lonsdale Has Outdone Scott.

Sir Walter Scott rendered himself ridiculous by once seizing on a glass out of which that respected monarch, George IV, had drunk, and retaining it as an inestimable relic. Lord Lonsdale has outdone him. The German emperor was good enough to pay him a visit, and subsequently to invite him to return the visit. Says Lord Lonsdale of his imperial friend: "He is doubtless one of the greatest men that ever lived! I cannot imagine that Bismarck is a greater man; but, if I must make a comparison, I would place your monarch at the side of Moltke." His imperial majesty is, I gather, the equal of Moltke because he defeated one of his own generals (clever general!) at a sham fight, and he is the greatest man that ever lived because he was able to tell Lord Lonsdale the names of all the sculptors whose works were in the imperial palace and the pedigree of all the horses in the imperial stables. "It is incomprehensible," observes his lordship, when dwelling on these evidences of genius. Simple youth! —London Truth.

Huxley's Courtship.

Sir W. Fowler tells the story of Huxley's courtship. When the Rattlesnake was in Sydney harbor, the officers were invited to a ball, and young Huxley among the number. There for the first time he met his future wife, whose parents resided at Sydney. A few days after they were engaged, and the ship sailed for the Torres straits to complete the survey of the north coast of Australia, all communication being cut off for months at a time, and then she returned direct to England. After that brief acquaintance (not longer than a fortnight) it was seven years before the lovers saw one another. At the end of this time, on Huxley's appointment to the School of Mines, he was in a position to claim his bride and welcome her to their first home in St. John's Wood. Huxley's love at first sight and constancy during those seven long years of separation were richly rewarded, for it is impossible to imagine a pair more thoroughly suited.

A Fresh Start.

Of Mr. Arthur Coventry, the English race track official, this story is told. On his way to the milepost one day the official was accosted by a broken down but gentlemanly looking man.

"You don't know me, Mr. C.," said the man, "and I don't wonder at it. I've come down in the world. But I was at Oxford with you. My name's Tomlinson."

"No, I don't know you," said Mr. C., "but what do you want?"

"Well, things have gone all wrong. I'm broke, and I want you to give me a fresh start."

"Certainly. Come along here a bit." They went on down the course, and presently at the end of the "straight" Mr. C. stopped short, raised his flag for a moment, let it fall and cried "Go!"

Wasted Figures.

He—Then everything is fixed, and we can be married in May, can't we?

She—There is only one thing I have not spoken of, and mamma insisted that I must.

He—Certainly, my angel. What is it? Bid me go through any trial for your dear sake, and I'll do it. Ask for the golden fleece, and if such a thing is in existence I'll get it. Aye, even though I must swim the seas, climb the loftiest peaks, or search in the fuming craters of mighty volcanoes, I'll do it.

She—It isn't much, my dear. Mamma said I must ask you how much you intended to allow me a week for pin money.

He—Um—er—how much are pins a paper now?—New York Weekly.

Good Listeners.

In conversing with one's friends nothing is so chilling as an apparent lack of attention and sympathy. It might be added that nothing is more vulgar, were not the listener's indifference common to the majority of our most cultured people. If, when one is addressed, she will remember to incline the body slightly forward, an attitude of rapt attention will soon be unconsciously assumed, and, whether really worthy of it or not, new recruits gained for the always popular, as rare, class known as "good listeners."—New York Times.

In the fourteenth century the slaughter of women and children after a town or castle had been taken by storm was one of the most common occurrences of war.

The sleighing has certainly gone, but two inches of rain has fallen since the beginning of the storm, most of which has soaked into the ground and we should still be thankful.

Monday next at 9:30 the semi-monthly meeting of the ministers will be held in the parlor of the M. E. Church. Topic for discussion will be "How does a man become a Christian."

The newly orgaized K. of P. lodge have secured the old Masonic hall in the Bidwell block for their headquarters. This will make them a most commodious and convenient home.

Christmas exercises at the Baptist church Christmas Eve. Instead of a tree or boat or ladder, a windmill has been arranged. Exercises by the children also. Come and see for yourself.

Alfred James leaves to-morrow morning for Winona, Minn., to spend the holidays with his daughter, Mrs. Gamble. He will doubtless also spend some of his time while there with Alf, Little.

The Baptist church, last Sunday, voted to make the pews free next year and support the church by voluntary contribution. If all will heartily co-op-erate in this system, it can not fail to be more successful than the former plan.

The Cantata entertainment given last Friday evening by the Epworth League was a grand success. From the first note to the last hour it was interesting. The League wishes to extend a vote of thanks to Miss Grayson, also to our sister societies who kindly assisted us. Gross receipts, $65.00. Net $13.00.

Miss Flora Chase whose death was noted in last weeks HERALD, was born in Tecumseh, on the 9th day of June, 1875. Her school days were passed here where she grew to womanhood and a life of usefulness and bright prospects. Her chosen profession of teaching was commenced at the age of 17 and following ill failing health called for a rest about one year ago. The rest was taken from every care of family and friends beloved, but earthly rest and care could not avail. The funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon at the home by Rev. B. S. Hudson and were attended by a large number of friends.

The following from Clinton were seen on our streets Tuesday: Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Amspoker, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Dillingham, Buell Johnson and Allan Bartlett.

The Redpath Grand Concert company, which so satisfactorily opened our star course here this winter, gave a very successful entertainment at Adrian Monday night.

Mobbs & Co., who purchased the grocery stock of H. W. McClure last week, now have everything in running order. They also have a message to the public in this week's issue.

The Britton correspondent in last week's HERALD noted that a sleigh load of Tecumseh young people was overturned there through the carelessness of the driver. Later information goes to show that the appearance and noise made by certain young residents of that village was the real cause of the little mishap.

The stand of the president taken in the premises of the Venezuelan question in regard to the Monroe doctrine seems to be received with hearty approval throughout the land. Co. C is rapidly recruiting and making active preparations for war. What could be more assuring to the administration.

A peculiar suit for breach of promise was tried in the circuit court at Adrian Tuesday, in which Mrs. Della White sued her husband, Alva White, for damages resulting from his lack of faith in carrying out his second proposal of marriage. In default of the appearance of the defendent the plaintiff was awarded judgement of $500.

McClures Magazine for January will contain a selection of Eugene Field's best-known child poems, illustrated with portraits, from Mr. Field's own collection, of the real children to whom the poems relate. There will also be an article on Field's friendships among children, illustrated with portraits of Field, including the last taken before his death.

The anniversary edition of the Evening Telegram, of Adrian, is on our table. It is a beautiful 16 page edition put up in book form with colored covers which contain a concise history of the growth of the Telegram from its first appearance in December, 1892, to its present well recognized position among the journals of the state, besides an interesting description of our county seat and its business interests. The motto of the Telegram is—"Push Adrian." The city will certainly feel the vigorous shove of the anniversary edition.

The wiring of the poles of the telephone line which has been rebuilt through here during the past few weeks has been completed this week by a very competent gang of 19 linemen under the supervision of Edward Haydon as foreman. The iron ground wires have been put on the new poles similar to the old ones except that a copper return circuit wire will be used between here and Adrian for local work. Tecumseh is strictly in it now on the long distance phone, it being the only station between Detroit and Adrian, which is regularly cut in on that line. The long distance connections are of two metallic return circuits of No. 10 copper wire running from Adrian to Chicago where connection is made with New York. A fine new booth has also been put in the local office here which closes so tightly as to be almost sound proof. When the connections are perfected, the transmission is so perfect that a watch ticking in Gotham can be distinctly heard here. The Michigan Bell Telephone Co. are preparing for the expiration of patents by improving their service to a point which will practically shut off competition.

In another column we make a small bow to our patrons.

Miss Douglas will spend the vacation with her parents at Church, Mich.

Mrs. E. R. Crossman has returned from Dundee much improved in health.

The skating rink will be open Tuesday, Christmas eve instead of Wednesday.

We are pleased to say that Wm. Hayden, who was taken quite ill last week is improving.

Miss Widney goes to Adrian and Miss Harding to Hillsdale today for the holiday vacation.

You are looking for bargains this year. You will find them in our Holiday Supplement.

The postoffice will be open from 7 to 9 o'clock a. m. and from 11 a. m., to 1 p. m., on Christmas day.

Burt Gray, who has been employed at the Michigan Buggy Co's works in Adrian, is home for the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. McCann gave a very pleasant party Wednesday in honor of their guests Misses Bates and Lundy.

D. T. Hall and wife were surprised by an addition to the family last Monday morning. Eight pounds of masculine humanity.

Mrs. E. B. Hause arrived here from St. Paul yesterday for a short visit at Dr. Hause's. She will visit her mother in Detroit before her return.

Calvin Bovee and wife are visiting friends and relatives here this week. Miss Metta Owens will accompany them to their home in Clayton.

Mr. Mitchell Wichert, now a patent attorney of Washington, D. C., who lived here years ago, is shaking hands with old Tecumseh friends. Mr. W. has not been here before for 18 years.

The young men of Tecumseh are convinced of the fact that if they do not do something pretty suddenly the fair sex will be under no very weighty obligations for the coming leap year. A party will be given by our young scions at the armory Christmas night. Are you going?

Lucius Lilley succeeds himself as the president of the Lilley state savings bank at Tecumseh. Behold the Lilley of Tecumseh. He scolds not, neither hoes he sin, yet Solomon or Isaac in their greatest glory never did a more successful banking business than he. —Adrian Press.

Ira Ladd, a well known and much respected pioneer, of Adrian township, was buried Tuesday last from his home between here and Adrian. The interment was at Wolf Creek. The day was not fine, but in spite of this the attendance was large. Rev. C. E. Andrus, of this place preached the sermon.

The funeral of S. C. Stacy was held at the family residence Friday afternoon, Rev. C. E. Andrus officiating. A large concourse of friends and a delegation from the Lenawee County Bar assembled to pay their last token of respect. The business houses in town were closed during the services.

The first number of volume one of the Epworth Banner is at hand. It is a bright little sheet published in the interests of the enterprising Epworth Leaguers of the M. E. church, of Tecumseh. It contains a complete directory of the of the officers church and league, much good reading and four columns of attractive advertising.

Mrs. W. A. Satterlee, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hause since last June expected to start for her home in Kansas City to-day. This morning a telegram was received announcing a heavy snow storm there in consequence of which, Mrs. S. will not start till Monday. We see in this storm hopes of sleighing for Christmas.

Mrs. Sheldon, of Newburgh, was very abruptly summoned home last Monday from Detroit by a telegram announcing the sudden death of her mother, Mrs. Louis L. Starks. The deceased had lived with her daughter's family since they moved from New York about 12 years ago. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Hudson at the house yesterday. The body was taken to Warsaw N. Y., the old home of the deceased, accompanied by Fred Sheldon.

The Ladies of the Episcopal church gave their annual fair and supper last evening in the Geo. Heesen block. When the Episcopal parishioners advertise their annual fair the public know what to expect and a liberal patronage is assured. Though the preparations were perhaps less elaborate this year than usual, the excellence of the articles for sale as well as the viands were fully up to the standard. The treasury of the society gains about $70 from the proceeds.

Mrs. Laura Treat, who lived several years at Jehiel Davidson's in town and who moved this fall to the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Margeson died at her home east of town last Monday morning, Dec. 16. Had Mrs. Treat lived until yesterday she would only have lacked 6 years of being a centenarian. The deceased migrated from New York in 36 and settled at Adrian. She early joined the Baptist Church at that place and upon moving to Tecumseh identified her life with the same denomination here. Mrs. Treat has always been known among her friends and co-workers in the church as a patient, industrious and devoted woman. The services were held at the house and Baptist church Wednesday, conducted by her pastor, Rev. B. S. Hudson.

Ladies social of the Universalist church will be held in the church next Friday afternoon from 5:30 to 7 o'clock.

Subjects for next Sunday in the Universalist church: morning, "As a man thinketh so is he." Evening, "The Star of Bethlehem." Y. P. C. U. devotional meeting at 6 p. m.

Tecumseh Chapter, No. 42, R. A. M., will hold its annual election Christmas night. Chapter will open at half past six o'clock and the regular business will be transacted. Commencing at 7:30, the Royal Arch degree will be conferred. Following this will be the election of officers for the ensuing year, closing with a Christmas banquet.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

Epps's Cocoa

BREAKFAST—SUPPER.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition and by a careful application of the fine properties of well selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided for our breakfast and supper a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.

FOR A BIG BRIDGE.

Bill for a Structure to Span the Detroit River—Will Cost $4,000,000.

Washington, Dec. 17.—Senator McMillan has introduced a bill authorizing the Michigan Central Bridge company to construct a railroad bridge across the Detroit river at Detroit. The bill provides that the bridge shall be made with three unbroken spans between the bulkhead lines on the two sides of the river. The length of the main channel span is to be not less than 1,100 feet in the clear. Only two piers are allowed inside the bulkheads, and they are placed by the secretary of war. It is specifically provided that the bridge shall not materially obstruct navigation.

President Ledyard, of the Michigan Central admitted his company was back of the movement for a bridge. It had long been desirous of doing away with its slow and expensive car ferries, and now only awaited the consent of congress to go ahead with the work. The cost of the bridge will aggregate $4,000,000 with approaches, and the building will be engineered by Gen. Field, of cantalever bridge fame. Lake marine interests are opposed to the construction of the proposed bridge, but according to plans there will be practically no interference with navigation. The bridge company has also taken steps to secure permission for the construction of the bridge from the dominion parliament.

ILLITERACY IN MICHIGAN.

Statistics of Persons Who Can Neither Read Nor Write.

Lansing, Dec. 16.—The state census bulletin, covering the subject of illiteracy in the state, has been issued. In view of the opportunities for acquiring an education which the state affords its citizens the showing made by the bulletin is in many respects startling. The total number of illiterate persons 10 years old and over in the state is returned at 95,037, of whom 70,772 can neither read nor write, and 24,265 can read but cannot write. The number of illiterate persons aged ten and over returned at the United States census of 1890 is 95,914, at the state census of 1884, 111,213, and at the United States census of 1880 there were 47,112 persons returned as unable to read, and 63,723 as unable to write.

The number of illiterate persons in the state, as shown by the present census, is 887 less than returned in 1890, and 16,176 less than returned in 1884. The number returned in 1884 was 47,490 more than returned in 1880.

Of the total number aged ten and over returned in the present census as unable to read or write 24,660 are native and 46,112 foreign born. Of the native 13,280 had native parents, 5,983 foreign born parents, and 2,508 one parent native and the other foreign born. The parent nativity of 1,889 is not returned.

PREACHER AS BARBER.

Rev. Mr. Ford, of St. Louis, Appeals to the Tonsorial Craft.

St. Louis, Dec. 16.—Rev. M. H. Ford, pastor of the Methodist church, who during the past year has preached to firemen, veterans of the war, and blacksmiths, and had his church decorated with the utensils of their various employments Sunday night varied his novelty by preaching to barbers. The church walls were hung with towels, razors, scissors, brushes, combs, strops, bottles and washes, while a barber's chair and a large mirror adorned the pulpit. The sermon was directed especially to barbers, and lessons on various views of life were illustrated with the tonsoral implements. A crowded audience was present.

PUT OUT THE FIRE.

Conductor Stops His Train and Saves a Family.

Detroit, Dec. 17.—Conductor Pierce, of train No. 349 on the Chicago & Grand Trunk railway, telegraphed Superintendent Atwater that while his train was running near Marcellus the crew discovered a farmer's house on fire. The train was stopped immediately and several members of the crew ran to the house, kicked in the doors and rescued the suffocating family and helped them to extinguish the fire.

Holds the Law Constitutional.

Lansing, Dec. 14.—In the case of Eaton vs. German, of Freeport, the supreme court held for the constitutionality of the law which provides that in an action where the county is a party residents are competent jurors. The fact that gasoline was temporarily stored in the building by workmen and used by them for burning off paint was held to be no violation of the provisions of the policy.

Not Guilty of Wife Murder.

Benton Harbor, Dec. 14. — Charles Olmstead, of Stevensville, who has been confined in jail three weeks for alleged wife murder, has been set at liberty, the doctors of Rush medical college finding no poison in the stomach sent them for examination. Olmstead now threatens to prosecute several people of his neighborhood, including his father-in-law, for alleged spite work.

Independent Line Is Successful.

Lansing, Dec. 13.—Lansing is one of the Michigan cities in which an independent telephone company has been successful. The company, formed by local business men, commenced business October 1, and now has 370 subscribers. At a meeting the capital stock was increased and arrangements made to push for a state line service.

Will Lay a Double Track.

Lansing, Dec. 14.—It is evident that the Chicago & Grand Trunk Railroad company intends to lay a double track through Michigan next summer. Five hundred car loads of steel rails have been shipped to this place. Similar shipments are being made to other cities along the line.

State Poultry Show.

Concord, Dec. 13.—The premium list of the fourth annual meeting of the Michigan State Poultry association at Jackson, January 7 to 11, is being mailed to chicken fanciers.

BRUTAL ATTACK.

Servant Girl at St. Joseph Fatally Injured.

St. Joseph, Dec. 16.—Sunday Minnie Spanks, a German domestic in the employ of J. H. Hanley, was found near the house in an almost lifeless condition. The girl had been gagged with a large handkerchief and was then struck a heavy blow on the head with a blunt instrument, supposed to be a club. A rope was then twisted about her neck. The case is a mysterious one, as no one saw the assault. Last Tuesday Miss Spanks claimed that a strange man chased her through the house during the absence of the family and fired two shots from a revolver at her. She escaped by running upstairs and leaping from a window to the ground. When the neighbors came they saw no sign of the strange man. Mr. Grice, a man employed on the Hanley farm, stated that he did not hear the shots fired, and that he and others believed the girl's fears to be unfounded. The girl has stated on several occasions that she saw a strange man around the house peeking in the windows, but he was never seen by any other persons, although an officer sat up all one night and watched the place. The girl will probably die from the assault.

PRIEST LOCKED OUT.

Father Slattery Ousted from His Parsonage at Lansing.

Lansing, Dec. 18.—The trouble between Father Slattery, of St. Mary's church, and his parishioners who are dissatisfied with his administration of affairs culminated Tuesday afternoon when a committee representing the dissatisfied element took forcible possession of the parsonage, locking out Father Slattery and several visiting priests who had been assisting in the services incident to the 40 hours' devotion which concluded Tuesday. Father Slattery made complaint in forcible entry and detainer and the intruders willingly surrendered possession to a deputy sheriff. The intruders gave bail for their appearance and the matter will be aired in the courts. This was the object of Tuesday's proceedings, the dissatisfied element claiming that, as they failed to have the matter investigated by the ecclesiastical authorities, they resorted to this means of securing a hearing in the civil courts.

NEW CAR FERRY.

Railways Contemplate the Erection of Another.

Menominee, Dec. 18.—It is understood that a contract for the building of an immense steel car ferry by a Saginaw firm is about to be closed, the new boat to be run between Manistee and Menominee in connection with the Wisconsin and Michigan and Soo lines and the Flint and Pere Marquette. The dimensions of the boat will be 375 feet long by 53 feet wide, and calculated to carry 28 cars. She will be provided with two 2,000 horse-power engines, and also fitted with a passenger cabin to contain 30 staterooms. In order to secure the lumber trade of Menominee and Marinette the projectors, it is said, have guaranteed to run on schedule time winter and summer. The boat will be so constructed as to successfully overcome any ice that may form in Green bay.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

Michigan Would Be Ready in Case of War.

Detroit, Dec. 18.—The sentiment of the leading men of this city, as gathered in interviews, is unanimous in support of the president's position on Venezuela. The feeling is general that while the prospects of a war are remote, owing to the immense financial interests that would be sacrificed, the attitude of the president is none too firm. The war sentiment is strong, and the prospective trouble is the sole topic of conversation. The proximity of the Canadian line has been the foundation of all sorts of schemes for the subjection and annexation of Canada. Figures gathered from the colonels of all Michigan national guard regiments show that over 3,000 infantry could be put in the field in 24 hours. The naval reserve in the state comprises three divisions, numbering about 250 men.

SILVERITES WIN A VICTORY.

Michigan Grange Votes in Favor of Free Coinage.

Lansing, Dec. 14.—The state grange prospered to an unusual degree last year. Reports submitted Friday show that the membership was increased nearly 2,000, and that there are 13,625 members in good standing in the state. Free silverites won a decisive victory, the report favoring the free coinage of American silver and gold being adopted by a vote of over six to one.

Resolutions were adopted demanding that the local option liquor law be extended to cities and villages; more stringent pure food laws; that reduction of the salaries of justices of the supreme court to $5,000; a general revision of the state constitution, and the adoption of hte free text-book system in all sections of the state.

Upholds Insurance Law.

Lansing, Dec. 18.—The constitutionality of the statute prohibiting persons from soliciting insurance for the Lloyd's or insurance companies not authorized by the commissioner of insurance to do business in Michigan was upheld by the supreme court Tuesday, the court ordering the Kalamazoo circuit court to sentence Edmund C. Gay, a Chicago man, who was last summer convicted of soliciting insurance for an unauthorized company.

Compromised.

Muskegon, Dec. 18.—George W. King, who was recently discharged on the charge of murdering Nathan Douglas, assigned his insurance policies on his burned store to Attorneys F. W. Coot and James O'Hara. They amounted to $3,700. The insurance companies announced that they were going to contest on the grounds that the store was set on fire. They have settled, however, at 50 cents on the dollar.

BIG BLAZE AT OWOSSO.

Ann Arbor Railway Car Shops Destroyed —One Life Lost.

Owosso, Dec. 17.—The car shops of the Ann Arbor railway burned at six o'clock Monday evening. Eighty-five men had just quit work for the day and closed the doors when the night watchman discovered a small blaze in the end of the building. Before the fire department could get to work a mass of flame broke out, and it became impossible to get near the building on account of the heat and smoke. Fifteen men opened the doors and went to get their tools and save the records but were overcome by smoke. All were rescued but J. S. Pease, who tried to get out of one door, and, falling, tried another, but fell over and was suffocated and burned beyond recognition. S. B. Kinney was also burned. The records of the company in the car department are all lost, covering a period of 12 years. The loss is figured by the officials at $12,000.

FOR CHEAPER FARES.

Mayor Pingree to Invoke the Law in His War on Street Railways.

Detroit, Dec. 17.—Mayor Pingree has had a petition prepared which will be presented to the Wayne circuit court asking that a writ of mandamus be issued compelling the Detroit Citizens' Street Railway company to have for sale upon all its cars six tickets for 25 cents and required to receive and carry passengers at that rate, and also to determine what shall constitute a reasonable rate of fare, the petitioner being advised that it is the duty of the company to fix a reasonable rate of fare. The petition charges that licenses and grants have been given and accepted on the express promise and assurance of said company that no raise would be made in its rates of fare; and that it is illegal and extortionate to charge five cents for each passenger.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Lesson For the Week Beginning Dec. 29. Comment by Rev. W. J. Yates, A. M. Topic, Work of the Women.

SCRIPTURE READING.—Acts ix. 36-39; xvi. 14-15, 40; xviii. 2, 26; xvii. 12.

Women acted an important part in the apostolic church. Women of Galilee had accompanied Jesus in his journeys, ministering to him. They were present in the meetings of the disciples in Jerusalem after the ascension and seem to have enjoyed greater liberty of action even than in the Jewish church.

Dorcas, a widow of Joppa, was noted for her activity in care of the poor and works of charity and relief, and after her death was restored to life by a miracle performed by Peter.

Lydia was a resident of Philippi and received Paul and his companions in travel and labor into her house. She seems to have been the first convert to the gospel in Europe.

Priscilla, with her husband Aquila, was banished from Rome by the Emperor Claudius. They came to Corinth, met Paul and were converted. Settled afterward in Ephesus, they instructed Apollos in the way of Christ and were of great assistance in the church wherever they went. They are several times mentioned in the Acts and epistles.

Honorable women are also referred to in these books and seem to have been the wives and daughters of Greek and Roman officials. Many of them, being piously inclined, early became converts to Christianity. They greatly assisted the struggling church by their influence and wealth.

Forefathers' Day.

Dec. 21 is observed in Plymouth, Mass., and in many places where the memory of the pilgrim fathers is revered as the anniversary of the landing on Plymouth or Forefathers' Rock. The descendants of the sturdy stock are scattered in every state of the Union and in every land on the globe. The principles for which the pilgrims suffered became the bedrock on which our republic is builded. The people have done well to erect a monument to their memory on the highest hill overlooking the town they settled. Facing the east, the figure of Faith looks far out over the Atlantic, catching the first gleam of day as it comes over the horizon line. It is a noble memorial to noble souls.

NATIONAL MONUMENT TO FOREFATHERS.

The Land of "Pretty Soon."

I know of a land where the streets are paved
With the things which we meant to achieve.
It is walled with the money we meant to have saved.
And the pleasures for which we grieve.
The kind words unspoken, the promises broken
And many a coveted boon
Are hid away there in that land somewhere—
The land of "Pretty Soon."

There are uncut jewels of possible fame
Lying about in the dust
And many a noble and lofty aim
Covered with mold and rust.
And, oh, this place, while it seems so near,
Is farther away than the moon,
Though our purpose is fair yet we never get there—
To the land of "Pretty Soon."

The road that leads to that mystic land
Is strewn with pitiful wrecks,
And the ships that have sailed for its shining strand
Bear skeletons on their decks.
It is farther at noon than it was at dawn
And farther at night than at noon.
Oh, let us beware of that land down there—
The land of "Pretty Soon."

—Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

Forty Years.

What changes in Japan in that time! Forty years ago Commodore Perry entered the bay of Yokohama one Sunday morning with capstan draped with the stars and stripes and the Bible lying on the top. Not a newspaper was then published in the country. Now there are more than in all the rest of Asia—more than in Spain and Russia combined. She has in a quarter of a century emerged from semibarbarism and taken rank with the foremost nations of the world.

Missionary Zeal.

One of the most fascinating stories of real life ever written is that which Bishop William Taylor has put into the volume he calls "The Story of My Life." It reads like romance. It is more than romantic; it is marvelous. Our Leagues ought to buy the book, divide up its chapters among the members, and then let the story be told at some meeting of the League. It is stimulating to faith and an awakener of zeal.

Signs of Civilization.

Among the Zulus, when one is converted, he at once shows a desire for clothes. He will at first buy a calico shirt, then a pair of duck pants. After that he wants a three legged stool. He cannot sit on the ground with clothes on. So clothed and seated he is lifted a thousand miles in civilization above the heathen around him.

In Mexico.

There is a chapter of the Epworth League in the City of Mexico which holds a devotional service every Sunday afternoon. The embassador from Japan is a Methodist, having been converted in his native land in one of the missions.

CONGRESSIONAL.

The Proceedings of the First Session.

In the senate on the 11th Senator Cockrell presented the memorial of the Kansas City board of trade asking congress to grant belligerent rights to Cuba. Senator Hill offered his resolution of last session for the amendment of the rules, by providing for cloture and the counting of quorums....The house was not in session.

Bills were introduced in the senate on the 12th to increase all pensions 25 per cent., and to establish a school of forestry in connection with the department of agriculture. A resolution was passed calling upon the secretary of agriculture for information as to whether he had expended all or any part of the last appropriation for the purchase and distribution of seeds. Adjourned to the 16th....In the house ex-Speaker Grow (rep., Pa.) spoke on the portion of the president's message referring to the tariff and said that the new law up to December 1 had produced a deficiency of $131,000,000, while, under protective measures, from 1880 to 1893, the revenues had exceeded the expenditures by $1,310,000,000. Bills were introduced to restore the duty on salt and increase the duty on willow, and to restore the McKinley rates on importations and manufactures of wool. Adjourned to the 16th.

In the senate on the 16th petitions were presented for a restoration of the wool schedule of the McKinley tariff act, and for one cent letter postage. Bills were introduced to exclude aliens from public employment; to protect public forest reservations, and for a railroad bridge across the Detroit river at Detroit....In the house Mr. Flynn (O. T.) severely arraigned Secretary Smith for the delay in the appointment of the alotting agents to allot lands to the Wichita Indians. A bill was introduced to repeat the provisions of the McKinley tariff law that cover agricultural products and provisions, wool and manufactures of wool, and silk and silk goods.

Stevenson's Unpublished Novel.

"St. Ives," the novel left substantially complete, and unpublished, by Robert Louis Stevenson at his death is described as purely a romance of adventure. It is the story of a French prisoner captured in the Peninsular wars, who is shut up in Edinburgh Castle; there he falls in love with a Scotch girl who, with her aunt, frequently visits the prisoners. There is early in the story a duel under extraordinary circumstances, between St. Ives and a fellow prisoner; after various episodes a dangerous plan of escape is decided upon, and the daring St. Ives finally becomes a free man. The perils that he undergoes while in hiding about Edinburgh, his adventures on the Great North Road with strangers and robbers his final escape across the border into England, his subsequent return to Edinburgh, and many other incidents of this splendidly conceived story are told in the spirited, vivacious and wonderful style of which Mr. Stevenson was a master.

Mr. Sidney Colvin—himself an author and critic of rare ability and a master of style—says of this novel that "as a tale of adventure, manners, and the road, which is all it was meant to be, it will be found a very spirited and entertaining piece"—From S. S. McClure, Limited, 30 Lafayette Place New York.

The Great Tobacco War.

Many of our readers know of the war existing between the manufactures of plug chewing tobacco and few, perhaps, are familiar with the cause.

For years some manufacturers have been making enormous profits by giving consumers a small piece of plug for ten cents. Recently a very large manufacturer, seeing that the time had come for better things, has placed a new brand called Battle Ax on the market which gives the consumer a very large piece of most excellent quality for the same price. This has raised a great storm among those who are hurt by it, but it gives joy to those who use the goods. In Battle Ax they get a greater quantity for their money, while the quality is equal to the finest of other brands. This has naturally had the effect of greatly decreasing the business of those who have held to the old way, and it has materially curtailed their enormous profits. On the other hand Battle Ax now taxes the resources of three large factories, which, by running night and day, are still unable to satisfy the enthusiastic demand.

The people want a good thing and the most of it that they can get for the price. The manufacturers who do the best by them will get their trade. Their rivals naturally do not like it. They raise a mighty howl, but the Ax will cut them down.

Should Gen. Miles live to the age of retirement not one of the Major-Generals or Brigadier-Generals now on the active list will succeed him in command of the United States Army.

Christmas and Chrysanthemums.

When stately chrysanthemums are in their prime, Christmas thoughts are in the air: and the happy combination of both, in Demorest's Magazine for December makes it an ideal Christmas number. Page after page of handsome illustrations depict various phases of Christmas pleasures, and a timely article on "The Infant Christ in Legend and Art," embellished with numerous and beautiful reproductions of the Madonnas by modern painters, gives some curious legends of a virgin-born savior that exist in all the religions of the East. There is a superbly illustrated paper on the Atlanta Exposition, stories by Gilbert Parker and Joseph Hatton are among the fiction; there are Christmas poems, and lots of suggestions about Christmas gifts and entertainments and every one of the departments is replete with timely and valuable information.

In addition to all this, there is the beautiful picture of Chrysanthemums, a perfect reproduction of the water-color by the eminent artist Faul de Longpre, which is given as a Christmas Supplement. Everyone who possesses the lovely Yard of Pansies and Yard of Roses needs this to complete a trio of pictures that cannot be surpassed for decorative effect; and anyone may obtain it also a December number of Demorest's, by cutting out this notice and sending it, with twenty cents in stamps to the address below. The original painting of chrysanthemums, which is valued at $1,000, is to be given to the person who, previous to April 1, 1896, obtains for Demorest's Magazine the greatest number of subscribers. This is an unprecedented offer, full particulars of which are given in the December number. Demorest's is published at $2.00 a year, by the Demorest Publishing Company, 110 Fifth Avenue, New York.

This little book is one of the most extensive treatises on the money question that has ever been written. It shows up the evil effects of our present monetary system in a most emphatic manner. Every voter in Lenawee county, regardless of party affiliations, should read it. The Chicago Times says: "A book that will create a profound impression throughout the United States." The New York Recorder says: "It mercilessly scourges the money changers in the Temple of the Republic." The Chicago Inter-Ocean says: "This book tells its readers more about gold, silver and currency, generally, than any other publication we know of, and in a way that every man can fully comprehend." A supply is kept on hand at the HERALD office. Single copies 25 cents. Every new advance paying subscriber to the HERALD will receive a copy free. Now is your time to get good reading cheap. A Great Newspaper Combination.

For the past 53 years, over half a century, The Michigan Farmer has been published, and it is the oldest regular agricultural journal under one name on this continent.

With largely increased capital and under new management that has had 23 years successful experience in agricultural journalism, this great paper is making rapid strides toward the top in the galaxy of agricultural literature of America. It is most beautifully printed on high grade paper, and employs the most eminent writers on the science and practice of Agriculture, Horticulture, Live Stock, Dairying, Apiary and Poultry. Has a standard veterinary department for free treatment of all diseases of farm animals. A legal and medical department. Contains all the agricultural news of the country and an invaluable literary and household department every week. Admits no swindling nor immoral advertisements. And is in fact in every way a great, sound, pratical, agricultural, live stock and family journal, that the agriculturists of Michigan may justly feel proud of, and subscribe for with satisfaction and profit. We are pleased to be able to announce that we can furnish to our subscribers the Michigan Farmer and the TECUMSEH HERALD both one year, making a total of 104 papers, for the low price of $1.60 certainly a bargain that should be liberally patronized. For free specimen copy send address to Michigan Farmer, Detroit, Mich.

THE PLAGIARIST.

This is a tale of love, pure and simple, which shows how my brother Herbert nearly won the privilege of providing for the keep of Miss Mary Ashton, our cousin, for the term of her unnatural life. She, however, now ornaments another's home, and Herbert's heart is dead. My brother had a heart in those days, though he was old enough to know better. It was a kind of hobby with him.

Herbert had long loved Miss Ashton, literally from afar, she being sublimely long and he more than common squat. However, this defect he shared with Cupid himself, who is always represented as diminutive and podgy, and Mary, I really think, was not averse to my brother's suit, for she frequently dropped smiles on the top of his tall hat, much to its wearer's content. She also said she would not hear a word against him. This was generally when there was nothing more to say. Even a bishop could find something funny to say of a short man. Nevertheless, Herbert was happy under the smiles of his beloved.

But, alas, there came a day when the smiles were directed elsewhere and Herbert found that Mary could never be more than a sister to him. It was astonishing to hear him recite this declaration of hers as a choice specimen of feminine feeling and originality. Young as I was I knew that remark, having taken to myself several such voluntary relations, whose existence I had immediately forgotten. But Herbert derived a goomy consolation from this promise of sisterly affection, and even quoted the length of his nether garments as ample justification for Mary's decision. He was certainly petite and magnanimity was strong within him.

The wrecker of my brother's hopes was none other than Eric Frodsham, whom you may recognize as the author of certain chaotic pieces of literary composition. We had known Frodsham as a distant acquaintance for a long time and had watched the tortuous trouble of his literary career. In the beginning when the world was young Frodsham wrote plain, clear novels, which were a lasting joy to his stationer, to whom the selling of papers was a high mission in life. These works for the most part blushed unseen on Frodsham's table till their author succeeded them with a weary work, the title of which, "A Secret Vow," was the only intelligible part of the volume. Probably for this reason the book was an instantaneous success, and Frodsham was a celebrity. He was interviewed, and we all recognized in his conversation the good things we had said to him in times past. Mary then fell in love with him and joined our family as a sister to Herbert. We appreciated her kindness.

My brother at this time was eminently depressing as a companion, and gloom was imprisoned in the corrugations of his brow.

One day he came to me in a state of virtuous wrath, waving a daily paper round his head. He was speechless with indignation, so I relieved him of the journal and discovered the cause of his excitement. Some clever person had read "A Secret Vow," and in a letter to The Herald had pointed out that that work was an unblushing plagiarism of an unknown novel, published anonymously some years previously under the title of "On His Oath." Frodsham had evidently been guilty of literary theft.

"The scoundrel," said my brother at length. "He's stolen somebody else's brains and my love. He's nothing more than a thief. I'll expose him to Mary."

"Where is Frodsham?" I asked.

"On his way to New York. But I can't let that high minded girl remain fettered to such a villain, can I? I'll tell her at once, in case she hasn't heard the news."

"Better not," I remarked. "If she loves Frodsham she won't thank you. Let things take their course."

But Herbert didn't. He told Miss Ashton there and then, and that young lady listened to the tale. She expressed herself as being greatly shaken and unable to decide what to do. She also wondered about the deceit of man, which impressed Herbert. Finally she told my brother he might call and see her, and he returned to me beaming. Incidentally he referred to Fordsham as a "poor devil." Herbert was magnanimity itself.

Mary smiled sweetly, but sadly, as an angel whose wing had been broken by a brick. Her grief was picturesque, and people pitied her, Herbert especially, who lured her to take an interest in the world by going to theaters with him. I had forgotten to mention that my brother was well to do, though short.

For a broken hearted girl Mary was fairly jolly, and I commented upon the fact. Herbert explained that he was taking her out of herself. This meant taking her into places of amusement.

One fatal day (fatal to my brother's love story in its second and enlarged edition) I bought The Herald to read the daily installment of indignant correspondence on the subject of the now famous plagiarism. And this is what I read:

SIR—I have on my return to New York just received various copies of your widely read journal, which have been awaiting me. I am much astonished to become acquainted for the first time with the storm which has blown up in my absence apropos of my work, "A Secret Vow." Permit me to make a tardy apology to the public through the medium of your extensively circulated columns by stating that in elaborating the story "On His Oath," which appeared some years ago, into my success-ful book I should have acknowledged my indebtedness to the former novel and have avowed myself, as I do now, your obedient servant, its author, ERIC FRODSHAM.

Poor Herbert! He is still single.—Boston Post.

Chance In Matching.

Two men matched coins for the fare on a Broadway car yesterday, and the man who won said:

"I have paid very few car fares this year, because I have solved the system of matching. I can't explain why my system is correct, but many experiments have satisfied me that it is. I always ask the other man to match me, and 65 times out of 100 I win. Apparently the odds are even. In reality they are against the man who matches and in favor of the man who is matched. This doesn't hold when the coins are spun on a table. It is good only in cases where each man holds his coin in his hand. Calling coins is also an easy game to win. Three men out of five will call heads. I always hold the coin tail up and in the long run I am a winner."—New York Sun.

A Turban of High Degree.

A green turban throughout all Islam is a sign that the wearer is a descendant of the prophet. Many persons who have the right to this mark of honor are now in low life, and a traveler in Constantinople or Cairo may have his baggage carried to his hotel by a genuine descendant of the founder of Mohammedanism.—Atlanta Constitution.

DEATH WAS NIGH

HOW A KENDALL, N. Y., MAN FACED DEATH.

Given up to Die by His Physicians but Received a New Lease of Life—The Story in His Own Words.

From the Albion, N. Y., News.

The newspapers have printed a great many statements lately regarding wonderful cures, great so-called miracles, etc., claimed to be the result of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Some of these stories seemed almost incredible as many of them happened at some distance, but now we have a case in our own midst, right here in Orleans County. Hearing such reports and desiring to verify the remarkable statements, a representative of the Weekly News drove to Kendall last Wednesday and called upon Mr. Absalam Haradine, who is a well-to-do farmer residing about a mile north of West Kendall in this county.

Your reporter found Mr. Haradine sitting in an easy chair looking first-rate and ready to give the public his remarkable experience. He said:

"I have always been a hard working man and when I bought this farm about ten years ago I could do as big a day's work as the next man. In 1883 I was first taken sick, I felt tired but kept at work more or less for two or three years but gradually grew worse till I was confined to my house.

"I called in Dr. O'Brien, who treated me for dyspepsia. Getting no relief I called Dr. Douglass who said I had tape worm and treated me for that. After consulting several physicians it was finally decided that I had none other than the dreaded disease known as locomotor ataxia. Growing worse continually I in turn engaged the services of Drs. Bamber, Little, Gillett, Gleason, Holeman, Carpenter, Lewis and Cook. I paid out over $500 to these doctors who all finally agreed there was no hope for me. Medicine seemed to have no effect on me whatever. My blood seemed to all turn to water and I suffered great pain continually. I was unable to leave the house for three years, and for over a year I was almost helpless, could not sleep, night or day, and required help to turn over in bed or make the slightest movement, until I was afflicted with great bed sores and life seemed unbearable.

"The doctors at one time said I had better send for my friends as I could live but a day or two at most. They told me to take morphine to ease the pain and make the best of it for the remaining few days.

"I lingered along till March 11, 1892, when my wife saw an article in the Albion Weekly News describing the wonderful cures of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and a case very much like mine, and on April 11, 1892, I began taking the pills. I at once began to improve and in four weeks I was out doors.

"My appetite returned and I soon enjoyed sleep at night and I continually grew better. In December, 1892, I suffered an operation for gravel which again reduced my strength, but I continued the Pink Pills until June 5, 1893 I took a trip to Parma, about twenty miles from here, visited all my old friends, traveling about every day for two or three weeks.

"I am getting better right along, my appetite is good, I sleep well, and although I am yet unable to go about much, yet if I am finally fully restored to health it will be scarcely more of a miracle than it is in bringing me to where I am now.

"I at first received the pills direct from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., later at Albion, N. Y., but now they are on sale here at West Kendall, by D. J. Root."

The News representative, in talking with several neighbors, referred to the case, and they confirmed all Mr. Haradine had said and expressed themselves enthusiastically regarding the wonderful results in this case.

A HAPPY VETERAN.

From the Ithaca, N. Y., Democrat.

The Democrat reporter took an early opportunity to hunt up Mr. H. T. Freese, who lives on a small farm about one mile from Varna, of whom much had been said. When found he told the following story:

"Before the war I was a well man. I was at the battle of Gettysburg that I received an injury to my back. I was a member of the 76th Regiment, N. Y. S. V. I never recovered from the injury, and, in fact, continued to grow worse. I became affected with numbness which began in one of my toes and slowly extended above my hips. I had a dull pain at the base of my neck, my eyes were considerably affected and I had double vision. I also had a severe pain in my side that made it difficult to draw a long breath. About twelve years ago my condition became such that I was unable to work. I tried the best physicians. They gave up my case. One said: 'There is no hope for you,' and still another said: 'There is no use to take medicine.' Getting no help from physicians, I began taking various medicines recommended for such ills as mine. I expended a great deal of money but received little or no benefit. Then, for a long time, I used an electric battery and also an electric belt, paying, I think, for the latter, $50, and yet there was no improvement. At last I could not walk except by holding on to a fence or some support, and hardly being able to lift my feet. About this time I heard of a friend who had been greatly benefited by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I sent to him for six boxes, and much to my surprise and joy I began to grow better. I sent for more and I noticed that I gradually grew stronger both in mind and body. Before that my mind was often in a confused state, but it now became clearer; my eyesight grew better, the pain at the base of my neck returned less frequently and was less severe; the neuralgia that had made life a burden began to disappear, and the attacks which used to last six weeks were soon of short duration; the numbness in my back decreased gradually, and to-day I can walk a number of miles with no support but my cane and I get up and down stairs with ease."

The reporter, although impressed with the truthfulness of Mr. Freese's statements, asked him if he was willing to make oath to their correctness, and he most emphatically said "Yes," and subsequently did so before Mr. Samuel S. Gress, a Notary Public.

The foregoing are but two of many wonderful cures that have been credited to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Diseases which heretofore have been supposed to be incurable, such as locomotor ataxia and paralysis succumb to this wonderful medicine as readily as the most trifling ailments. In many cases the reported cures have been investigated by the leading newspapers and verified in every possible manner and in no case has the least semblance of fraud been discovered. The fame has spread to the far ends of civilization and there is hardly a drug store in this country or abroad where they cannot be found.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, after effect of la grippé, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions, all forms of weakness either in male or female. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent post paid on receipt of price, (50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50—they are never sold by the dozen or six boxes for $2.50—they are never sold by the 100) by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

Quite a number of the friends of David Coryell made him a surprise at his home at Newburgh, Tuesday and spent a very pleasant afternoon.

Mrs. Mary Jackson, who has been spending several days with relatives and friends left for her home in Wilmington, Ill., Monday morning.

The singing class under Miss Grayson's instructions closed its first term of lessons Tuesday evening. They are thinking of having another term after the holidays.

A large number of the young folks attended the cantata, Father Time, given by the Epworth League, under the management of Miss Dora Grayson, at Sutton's Opera House, Friday night of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Putnam and sons Harold and Clyde, of Milan, and their niece, Mina Allison, of North Farmington, called on their aunt Mrs. John Arner, Sunday afternoon, while out for a drive.

Several from here attended the funeral of Miss Flora Chase, at Tecumseh, Sunday afternoon. Miss Chase taught school here soon after the building of the new school building, and was very highly respected by all who knew her.

The township treasurer D. W. Smith was in the village Thursday collecting rent for another year, which is quite high and it is amusing to observe the countenance of some as they drop their wad in the slot and wonder what it might have been.

Ed Gould had a very narrow escape from being seriously hurt, if not killed, Sunday morning. While passing behind his horse with another one the horse in the stall began kicking, hitting him on the back and shoulders. Only his being so close saved serious results. He is now able to be up and around again.

Mrs. E. Law, of Detroit, the W. C. T. U. lecturer, who addressed a small audience at the M. E church, on Friday evening of last week, is a fine speaker and has her heart and soul in the grand work. She has a way of expressing herself that is very pleasing to an audience. The Ladies of the Union have the promise of having her with them for another address in the near future when circumstances are more favorable.

Friday night a little after eight o'clock W. R. Wilson's hog house and hennery were discovered to be on fire, and were completely destroyed including corn and some fowls. The neighbors turned out and held the flames under control so that the adjoining buildings were saved. If the wind had been in most any other direction, the house or lower barns would have been easy pray to the flames. Circumstances point strongly to the fact that the fire was caused by some being in the hennery as that was on fire first. Mr. Wilson was reading, and hearing the dog bark, stepped to the door just as a cutter with two in it was driving out of the yard, from the direction of the hennery, and as there were over forty choice hens kept there and only a few bones were found in the ruins, no stench during the time of the fire, it is generally beleived that the parties in the cutter were in the hennery after fowls and in using sulphur to do their work set fire to the building, as it was discovered to be in flames soon after the cutter was seen in the yard. It may not prove as funny when the Devil holds a match under their nose and they tumble off their perch to meet their reward.

CARD OF THANKS.

We sincerely thank all the neighbors and friends who so nobly assisted us in saving the remainder of our buildings last Friday evening. Without their prompt and united efforts more would have been destroyed.

IS CATARRH CURABLE?

Mrs. Mary Alexander Says It Is in a Recnt Letter.

Mrs. Mary Alexander, of Piper City, Ill., writes: "My health had been failing for seven years. The doctors pronounced my case one of bronchial catarrh. I could get no hope of recovery from any of my physicians. My friends urged me to take Pe-ru-na. At this time I was confined to my bed. After taking one bottle of Pe-ru-na I was able to sit up and the swelling on my body and limbs began to disappear. When I had finished the third bottle I was entirely well and felt as well as ever in my life. I can heartily say that I believe Pe-ru-na saved my life."

Catarrh attacks any part of the human system. Not only are the head and throat liable to catarrh, but all other parts of the organism may be affected by it. There is catarrh of the stomach, kidneys, liver, etc. Pe-ru-na is an internal systemic remedy and cures catarrh wherever located. An instructively illustrated 64-page book on catarrhal diseases sent free by The Pe-ru-na Drug Manufacturing Company, Columbus, Ohio.

has wrought relief, cure and comfort to thousands of sufferers from catarrh. It is certainly a great remedy and should be tried by every one suffering with that dangerous and disagreeable disease. dec with local applications, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and muceous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing Catarrh. Send for testimonials, free.

Mrs. J. P. Bell, Ossawatomie, Kan. wife of the editor of The Graphic, the leading local paper of Miami county, writes "I was troubled with heart disease for six years, severe palpitations, shortness of breath, together with such extreme nervousness, that, at times I would walk the floor nearly all night. We consulted the best medical talent. They said there was no help for me, that I had organic disease of the heart for which there was no remedy. I had read your advertisement in The Graphic and a year ago, as a last resort, tried one bottle of Dr. Miles' New Cure for the Heart, which convinced me that there was true merit in it. I took three bottles each of the Heart Cure and Restorative Nervine and It completely cured me. I sleep well at night, my heart beats regularly and I have no more smothering spells. I wish to say to all who are suffering as I did; there's relief untold for them if they will only give your remedies just one trial."

Dr. Miles Heart Cure is sold on a positive guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. All druggists sell it at $1, 6 bottles for $5, or it will be sent, prepaid, on receipt of price by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

As all readers of the HERALD know, it becomes the duty of the paper to this week make an announcement of a change, which is a matter of necessity rather than of choice or busines policy. To make the matter short, the HERALD will be conducted in the entire interest of Miss Loana Stacy, one of the executors of the will of our deceased proprietor, by S. S. Walker as manager. It will be our honest endeavor to keep the paper up to the standard which it has for so many years maintained, and in this we respectfully ask the support of its many patrons and friends. It is safe to say that in the past the HERALD has ever sought to do its best for this locality. Now it asks forbearance and confidence, for a time at least.

THE HERALD FOR 1896.

As is customary at this season the HERALD this week publishes a brief prospectus for the coming year which for the most part was written by our late proprietor during the last week of his work upon the paper.

Again the "Old Reliable" greets its patrons. The hard times of the past two years are slowly but surely improving, and we have reason to expect a fair business year during 1896. It behoves us all, therefore, to set our house in order and be prepared to take advantage of the revival when it comes.

The HERALD will enter the coming year prepared to meet all requirements upon it—to tide over the close times, if such shall be its destiny, or to make hay while the sun shines, if the opportunity shall be offered. In any event, therefore, its weekly visits will be continued during 1896, as they have been for over forty-five years. The character of the paper will be substantially the same as heretofore. First and foremost, it will fill the bill as a first-class local newspaper, giving such additional matter as seems to be most satisfactory to a majority of its patrons. It will not be the organ of any party, sect or clique, but will be independent in all things, and it will never shrink from expressing its honest convictions on all subjects, whenever occasion seems to demand it. Our rates have been placed upon a hard pan basis for '96, and we offer a very few extra combinations for those who regard them with favor; and we take pride in the fact that though they are few in number they are greater bargains than ever before offered in this paper. By special arrangements and liberal advertising we have procured two articles we will give our subscribers the full benefit of. They are articles which should be in every home. The latest and best map of Michigan ever printed, and the latest and most complete History of our own country ever written in one volume and by the greatest living historian, of America.

We print in part the most favorable club list ever presented in these columns and any periodicals not mentioned here will be procured at the lowest price. Here are the two combination offers in detail.

NUMBER ONE.

Everyone knows something about the great map publishing firm of Rand, McNally & Co. Their atlases and wall maps have gained a world-wide reputation. Their new state map of Michigan is the best one ever issued. It is 41 by 58 inches in size, full mounted with rollers showing all organized townships, beautifully colored, and sells for $3.00. The former price was $3.00. This map can be furnished at the remarkably low price of $1.40, with a year's subscription to the HERALD included.

NUMBER TWO.

The People's History of the United States has just been issued by the noted author and historian, John Clark Ridpath, L. L. D. It is the very best history of the United States now extant, comprised within the limits of a single volume. The cloth bound edition is sold only by subscription at $3.75 per copy. We can furnish this great work at only $2.10 per copy, with a year's subscription to the HERALD included. This is an unprecedented offer.

Samples of these premiums can be seen at the HERALD office. Pass in your subscriptions without delay.

We append a partial list of most favorable clubbing rates to advance paying subscribers:

Four Score.

Gen. D. D. Sinclair heads the list of pioneers still living in old Lenawee. The following list of those who have passed the four score mark and are now working on the other ten is taken from the Michigan Messenger:

Gen. D. D. Sinclair, 90.
W. M. Sheldon, sr., 89.
Bronson Hopkins, 88.
Geo. W. Merrick, 87.
James S. Alvord, 85.
A. L. Millard, 81.
F. R. Stebbins, 83; died Feb. 1, '95.
Abel Whitney, 82.
Burton Kent, 81.
Kelley Beals, 83.
Phillip Tolford, 83.
Wm. Hoxter, 87.
C. H. Bradish, 87.
C. C. Spooner, 88,
Stephen Aldrich, 85; died July 25, '95.
Col. T. P. Merriam, 86.
Wm. L. James, 85.
Silas Holloway, 83.
J. E. Ameigh, 82.
Hart C. Russell, 82.
Samuel Sudborough, 80.
Chas. G. Crego, 83; died Nov. 25, '95.

This list is one of considerable interest, but the compiler or the Messenger must be in error about its completeness for Lenawee county. We have several in Tecumseh who are not in the list. For one, Morris Hyde passed his 87th birthday, Monday. Mrs. Hyde is 86, and the pair can look back on 62 years of happy, busy married life.

FARMERS' SOCIAL CLUB.

On the evening of Dec. 17 the club assembled at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Gillespie. A fair number of members were present and a well prepared literary program composed of the usual music, recitations, etc. made up a very entertaining evening. As this evening [illegible] was the annual election of officers the discussion was omitted. The election resulted as follows:

President—J. F. N. Bowen.
Vice President—Fred Rector.
Sec. and Treasurer—Lena Gillespie.

The next meeting of the club will be held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Schreder, on Tuesday evening, Dec. 31. The following is the program:

Singing by the club.
President's Address.
Recitation—Ora Gillespie.
Select Reading—J. H. Schreder.
Declamation—Erle Rector.
Essay—Mrs. R. B. Gillespie.
Dialogue—School children.
Question—Is the Supervisor justifiable in assessing land for more than its cash value? Opened by R. B. Gillespie.

THE T. & F. FARMERS' CLUB.

The next meeting of the Tecumseh and Franklin Farmers' Club will be held at the home of Geo. Swarts, Friday evening, Dec. 27.

PROGRAM.

Guy Brothers' Minstrels.

The first appearance of this meritorious company was greeted with a fair audience at the Opera House last evening considering the weather. A more chaste or finer entertainment of this character has never been presented here. They are a company of artists in their respective roles and richly deserved the hearty encores which each and every one received. Should they again visit us the, Opera House will be packed to its utmost capacity. Part first was fully up to the standard of the best Minstrel troupes, the work of the end men refined and pleasing, the singing good, especially of the quartette. The dancing of Kane was fine, the baton and three stick exercise of Fred Smith and the cane twirling of Hugh McVey marvels of execution, the concluding song and tableau of part first entitled the old flag very effective; the descriptive overtures by the orchestra, "A Day with the Circus," unique and catchy. Kane though handicapped by the absence of his partner Conly, who is sick, was great in his contortion acts. Keating proved himself master of the banjo and mandolin. The statuary of Charles, Albert and Edwin Guy was artistic and very effective. In the burlesque specialty Herbert was a charming female impersonator and Lyons an expert imitator and dancer. Hugh McVey's manipulation of clubs was bewildering and marvelous. The finale was a fitting close to this interesting program. It is earnestly hoped they will visit us often.

WASHINGTON BAR, Mont.

ED. HERALD:—

Three years ago this spring measured a foot in diameter. The Constant, or Minute Man, has an eruption every sixty seconds, with but little variation. There is not much formation, some of the jets of water are thrown 40 feet in the air, returning again to the crater. The Black Growler is also situated near the road, having a chimney-shaped opening. There is very little water thrown out, while a great quantity of steam is constantly escaping, making a very loud and peculiar sound. The formation being of inky blackness is, doubtless, the origin of its name. The escaping steam and water smell strongly of sulphur. Another of the same character is called Hurricane, the eruptions of which are very irregular and destructive to the surrounding vegetation and foliage. Mud Geyser is situated on the highest point in the basin; crater 12 feet in diameter, with an eruption every twenty minutes, lasting five. Somewhat concealed in the timber is a beautiful emerald-tinted spring, 40x50 feet in size, called Emerald Pool. The coral walls of the sulphur-lined basin can be seen to an appalling depth. It does not erupt, simply overflowing; temperature 186 degrees Fahrenheit at its edge. There were a great many other geysers and boiling spring, among which were Coral spring, Fearless, Vixen, and Steamboat geysers. There were many new ones breaking out every day. Many places were marked "dangerous," but with "Corporal" Lawson acting as body-guard we were enabled to see everything of interest. Three miles from Norris Basin we entered Elk Park, a pretty valley surrounded by heavy timber with the Gibbon river winding through it. About a half mile from the river and up the hillside are the Gibbon Paint Pots. They consist of many openings in the brightly colored clay. They are of less interest than a few years ago, as many of them have ceased to boil. The most beautiful one is 50 feet up the hillside and has a funnel-shaped crater with walls of clay extending about six feet high. The steam puffing through the milky colored, pasty material in the bottom of the crater molds a rose in full bloom, to soon be replaced by another equally as handsome. To leave the regular paths in this vicinity is dangerous, as the character of the formation is so treacherous one is liable to break through without warning. Entering the Gibbon Canyon we followed the Gibbon river, crossing and recrossing the rapid but shallow stream, until we reached the valley of the Firehole. We passed Mt. Shurz, upon which is Monument Geyser Basin, at an altitude of 1,000 feet above Gibbon river. All through this canyon were many little puffs of steam arising from each bank of the river, near the water's edge. One in particular, being the largest boiling spring in the canyon, was called Beryl Spring; 15 feet in diameter, situated close by the roadside. The violent boiling of its surface was accompanied by a loud hiss of escaping steam, a stream of scalding water was constantly flowing across the road. Gibbon Falls, whose waters tumble in a foamy torrent down several deep cascades on one side of the rocky ledge, and on the other streams in a thin shining ribbon of spray from a height of 80 feet, furnishes the attractions of Gibbon Canyon. After leaving the falls we saw the three snow capped "sentinels" of Teton Mountains, at a distance of 75 miles, their height being 14,000 feet. Lower Geyser Basin has an area of from 30 to 40 square miles, over which are scattered hot springs in groups, one of the principal objects of interest being the Fountain Geyser, which is 20 feet above the roadway. The formation or deposit from the water of this geyser covers several acres, resembling the formation at Mammoth Hot Springs. The crater is thirty feet in diameter, which has a rim-like edge, except at the south side, where there is a mound of geyserite, which has been built to a height of 8 feet. At the north side is a much larger pool, which receives the over-flow from the crater. The water is blue and very transparent. Eruptions occur at intervals of from two to four hours, and continue with great force for ten minutes. Another, called Great Fountain, is much larger, and seldom plays. Here were the Mammoth Paint Pots, much larger but similar to the Gibbon Paint Pots. A fine large hotel was built here for the accommodation of tourists, and another squad of soldiers stationed. Leaving this place we traveled westward, and crossing Fountain Creek and passing many hot springs, we reached Midway Geyser Basin, or Hells Half Acre. The principal attractions were Excelsior Geyser, Turquoise Spring, and Prismatic Lake. Excelsior Geyser is an immense pit, 400 feet long by 250 feet wide; the water is deep blue and in a violent state of agitation, the surface of which is 15 feet below the surrounding level. I believe this geyser has not erupted since the year 1888. Turquoise Spring is 150 feet north of Excelsior and is a silent pool, remarkable for its beautifully blue, transparent water; diameter, 100 feet. West of Turquoise Spring, and in itself a marvel, is a small spring of cold water which, though rather "brackish" to be palatable, is attractive as being the only cold spring in this region of thermal waters. Prismatic Lake is no doubt the largest and one of the most beautiful springs in the whole Park region, its dimensions being 250x350 feet. In the center of the pit, or bowl, the water is of a deep blue color; in the more shallow portion it has a yellow tint, gradually shading into orange; outside the rim there is a bright red deposit, which shades into purple, brown, and gray, which seem to be painted upon a grayish-white ground, and forms the mound upon which the spring is situated. Leaving Hell's Half Acre, or Midway Basin, we passed many springs and pools, the entire drive to Upper Basin being among these natural wonders. This basin is in the form of a triangle, containing 26 geysers and nearly 400 hot springs. It is drained by the main Firehole river whose banks are thickly pitted with steaming hot springs. In plain sight from the hotel is located the reliable friend of the tourist, Old Faithful. Every sixty-five minutes, day and night, summer and winter, this faithful geyser gives its exhibition, free of charge. It throws a volume of water two feet in diameter to the height of 150 feet. Its crater is an oblong opening 2x6 feet on the inside, situated on a mound of geyserite measuring 145x215 feet at the base and 20x54 feet at the top. The mound is the very prettiest of all in the basin. It is formed of layers of deposit in a succession of plainly marked terraces, which are full of shallow, basin-like pools, the edges of which are finely beaded, the bottoms showing tints of rose, saffron, white brown and gray. Crossing the foot-bridge leading to the east side of the Firehole river, we came to the Bee Hive, the cone looking from the distance, not unlike a barrel standing on end. There is no terrace-shaped deposit surrounding this geyser, and it is the only one close up to which people can approach while in action, as there are no rocks thrown out and the water ejected is so hot that it nearly all evaporates in the air. It is said to play three times a day, when water is thrown 170 feet in the air. The Giant has a cone 10 feet high, which is broken on the west side and affords a good view of the inside of the crater; the waters are constantly in a state of boiling and splashing. It usually plays every six days, lasting from one and a half to two hours, throwing an immense column of water 250 feet in the air, which gradually decreases until the close of the display, which is preceded by a rumbling sound. The Giantess is upon the highest point of elevation in this part of the Upper Basin. Its eruptions occur at intervals of fourteen days. It has no cone or highly colored formation like many other geysers; its crater is bowl-shaped and 60 feet deep, which rapidly fills with water after an eruption. To most people it resembles a sapphire-tinted pool slightly agitated. During an eruption the water is thrown 60 to 100 feet, the display continueing at short intervals throughout a period of 12 hours, when an interesting "steam period" takes place, making a roaring sound which can be heard from all parts of the basin. The Lion, Lioness and Cubs, was the next group visited. Eruptions of the Lion occur once a day. those of the Lioness are irregular as to time. The Cubs play frequently, and it often happens that the Lioness and Cubs play together. The Lion and Lioness hardly ever play together. The Lion is the largest of the group, throwing a column of water 60 feet high. The Sponge was a curious little geyser. with a circular cone slightly raised, looking exactly like a huge sponge in character and color of its formation. There also was the Saw Mill, so-called from the peculiar sound, together with its spiteful vigor and activity. There were two very nice ones named, the Grand and Turban, another was called the Economic, from the fact that there was no overflow or waste, as its waters fell again into the crater. The Oblong was a pretty sight during a display. Its crater was 30x50 feet in size, eruptions occuring every six hours, but lasting only a few minutes. The Grotto possessed the most curious cone of all. It had several cave-like openings through which the water kept spouting and splashing during an eruption, which takes place four times a day, each display lasting one-half hour. We camped for the night by the Riverside geyser. The cone is quite near the edge of the water and has two chimney-like craters, but plays from only one of them, throwing an arching column 80 feet high, which falls into the river. The Fan and Mortar were just below the Riverside, the Fan emptying every eight hours, generally following the Riverside. Its waters spreading out in fan-shaped jets from the fact of its having two crater openings which shoot different ways. The pink geyserite forming the crater, is quite unlike any other. The Mortar is near by and very uncertain as to its periods of activity. When both play together the sight is most beautiful and something to be remembered for all time. Castle Geyser occupies a prominent place near a point of timber and can be seen from all points in the basin. This has an enormous cone 20 feet high, which is easy to ascend. Eruptions occur at intervals of thirty hours, throwing water 75 feet, continuing for half an hour, which is followed by a steam period. We climbed to the top of the cone during the latter part of the eruption to see the rainbow. The Chinaman was a small geyser with a rim-like cone. It resembled a boiling spring, was impulsive, and erupted without warning. In an early day (it had never been known to erupt), a Chinaman thought it an economical scheme to erect a "washee house" over this boiling spring, when, one day it took a sudden notion to erupt and did so, blowing the Chinaman's "little all" heavenward. Since then it has been called The Chinaman. The Punch Bowl is a beautiful boiling spring situated on a mound of siliceous deposit, five feet in diameter, having a rim of bright colored formation 18 inches high. Crossing Iron Spring creek we came to Sun Light Basin, composed of several large, silent pools, whose coloring was more beautiful than anything else seen in the park. Among them were Emerald Pool and Sunset Lake, the last named being the prettiest work of nature I ever saw. In Biscuit Basin the principal attraction was Sapphire Pool. Hundreds of small knobs of olive green formation, looking just like biscuit and small loaves of bread, surround this spring. Leading up the Madison river (which is the same stream known as the Firehole river during its meandering of the geyser basins), the road crossed the river and climbed a hill to Kepler Cascades. Following a trail for a half mile we arrived at the Lone Star Geyser and camped for the night, so as to see all we could of this beautiful wonder. The cone is 10 feet high, 12 feet in diameter at its base and tapering slightly towards its summit, which is six feet across. The crater is one large opening surrounded by many small holes, from all of which water is thrown during an eruption. It plays every two hours, and again in 30 minutes after the two hours; then in two hours again, and so on. The beauty of this geyser lies in its cone, which is striped vertically with bands of white, lavender and brown, mixed different shades of yellow, and completely covered with an endless variety of beautiful pearl-like beads. We left the Madison and climbed the continental divide. From Shoshone Point on the top, we had a fine view of Shoshone Lake and the Teton Mountains. Then on to the West Bay or Thumb of Yellowstone Lake, driving 18 miles on the lake shore to the outlet, passing many hot springs on the way. At the outlet is another fine hotel, also a steamer, should one wish to ride on the lake. The lake is fifteen by twenty miles in size, shaped something like the human hand. There are several islands dotting its surface, also a geyser, which is called Fishing Cone. One can sit on this cone, fish from the lake, whirl the line around and cook the fish in the hot spring without removing it from the hook. To the uninitiated this may sound rather fishy, but "pity 'tis, 'tis true." Going from the Lake to the Falls we passed the Mud Geysers and Mud Volcano, also named the Gate of Hell, which used to be called the Devil's Gullet; either name being very appropriate. It is situated at the base of a cliff, with a funnel-shaped crater, 30 feet deep, formed by mud ejected from a cave-like opening below. Out of this opening a mass of lead-colored mud as thick as soft mortar is constantly belched, accompanied by dull, thumping sounds, in a manner at once repulsive and fascinating. The surrounding foliage is covered with a coating of mud. The next attraction was Sulphur Mountain or Crater Hills, a group of isolated buttes, each about 150 feet high. Large blocks of detached rock, all containing a large amount of pure sulphur, are lying about. The fumes from the various openings are exceedingly disagreeable. At the base of the highest hill is a large boiling spring which measures 15x20 feet on the inside, its waters constantly boiling from 3 to 7 feet high. The rim of the basin is of pure crystalized sulphur, four feet wide all around. On the other side of the road are many mud springs, some being of thick mud, others of leaden colored water, all continually throwing out a muddy deposit. From Sulphur Mountain to Canyon Hotel the road follows the banks of Yellowstone river nearly to the Upper Falls. About a quarter of a mile above the falls the river becomes very rapid, tumbling over several cascades and swirling around masses of rock left in the middle of the stream. Just before reaching the falls the river turns eastward to the east. A point of rocks extending over the river affords a fine view of the rapids and falls. The Upper Falls have a perpendicular drop of 109 ft. A quarter of a mile below, the river takes another leap of 360 feet, called the Lower or Great Falls. Halfway between the two falls, where Cascade Creek enters the river, can be seen Cascade Falls. After passing Cascade Creek we obtained our first glimpse of the Grand Canyon. A trail leads to a natural platform of rock upon the very edge of the canyon overlooking the brink of the falls. From there may be seen Point Lookout, rising 1200 to 1500 feet above the river. Nearly opposite is Artist's Point, while two miles below may be seen Inspiration Point. Point Lookout commands the best view of the Giant Falls and Canyon combined, while the best view of the falls alone is to be had from Red Rock just below. From Point Lookout to Inspiration Point a vast stretch of ragged canyon wall may be seen on either side. The dark green of the water, the brilliant coloring of the canyon walls, the various points and projections, the endless variety of light and shade, all help to make the scene one to delight the eye and inspire the soul of an artist. A short distance from this locality and beside the trail is a large boulder of granite, said by geologists to have been stranded here during the "ice period." The length of the canyon is 10 miles, and the banks of the river the entire distance are lined with hot springs. From the Grand Canyon we traveled back to the Norris Basin, and from there to the Fountain again, visited the place where several years ago a band of Indians surprised a party of thirty or forty campers, killing them all except two girls and a boy of nineteen years. The girls were given their liberty, also the boy to take care of them. The Indians giving them an old white horse for the girls to ride and matches to light their fires. Our next stopping place was Henry's Lake, outside the Park boundary, where we camped for two days, hunting, fishing and exploring the surrounding country. Two days more of riding, after which we reached home, having been gone several weeks.

Capture of Fort Fisher.

The lecture delivered by Commander S. B. Daboll at the opera house Friday evening, Dec. 20, met with the greatest approval, both from the G. A. R. boys and the large audience which greeted the commander of the Department of Michigan. His vivid word-picture of the terrible bombardment, the description of the hissing shell, the zip, zip of the infantry firing, and awful explosion of torpedos, was so plainly voiced by the speaker that one could almost imagine the booming of cannon and the rattle of musketry as he recalled the many scenes the old soldiers passed through during those memorable days of '61 and '65. Fort Fisher not alone stands in the front rank of strongholds that were considered a sure defense, but the valor and fortitude of the citizen soldier could alone batter down what man and nature built and considered impregnable. With the views of Fort Fisher, as seen by the stereopticon, showing what nature had done in piling that high mountain of sand and man had completed into one of the strongest fortified forts of the Confederacy; the heights of stockades; the interior; magazines and the death-dealing men of war; the 400-pound shells, grape and canister, and the best blood of the South to man all,—yet all this availed nothing in saying that stronghold. For, with the combined effort of the U. S. Navy pouring shot and shell from that fleet into and upon Fort Fisher, showing what death and destruction could be done by their explosion, and when the combined attack from land and sea came, the hand-to-hand conflict and the final overthrow, and later the surrender, and explosion of the magazine by careless invaders, showed that his descriptive powers are many and excelled by none. The citizens of Tecumseh will long remember this occasion and await with increasing interest Judge Daboll's illustrated lecture upon the Battle of Gettysburg, with stereopticon views, which he says may be in store for us in 1896.

Wabash Holiday Rates 1895-1896.

A BACK BLOW.

The Weapon Small—but None More Certain or Effective.

In these times when backs are lame, when almost every other one we meet has now and then, or all the time, a back that aches or pains—"a weak back," "a bad back," a back that makes their life a misery to bear—and still they go on day by day in pain and suffering. Now 'tis the easiest thing in the world to give this played out back "a blow" that will settle it, and put in its place a new one equal to any. It's just like this: hit at the cause; most backaches come from kidney disorders. Reach the kidneys, start their clogged-up fibres in operation; when this is done you can say good-bye to backache.

Here is a case from Battle Creek: Mr. Josiah M. Shoup lives at 51 Broad Street, he was a member of the Battle Creek police force for many years. "As a member of the force he served the city well, but the rough weather he was often subjected to laid the foundation of kidney disorder, which has troubled him very much. Here is what he says about it:

"About three years ago, while on the police force, I contracted from exposure a kidney trouble, which has since given me no end of [illegible]. The pain was right through [illegible] and across the small of my back, [illegible] down and I wanted [illegible] very slowly and gently to [illegible] the pain; I had such tired, [illegible] all the time, and I was steadily getting worse. About two months ago [illegible] hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills, I got [illegible]. Their action and effect was most complete, they removed the old aching pains for good. I can now get around as quickly as anybody. Doan's Kidney Pills are certainly as represented."

Health and strength carry us through dangers and make us safe in the presence of peril. A perfectly strong man with rich, pure blood, has nothing to fear from germs. He may breathe in the bacilli of consumption with impunity. If there is a weak spot where the germs may find an entrance to the tissues, then the trouble begins. Disease germs propagate with lightning-like rapidity. Once in the blood, the only way to get rid of them is to kill them. This is what Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is for. It purifies the blood. That means that it kills the germs, but that is only part of what it does. It assists digestion by stimulating the secretion of digestive fluids, so promoting assimilation and nutrition; purifies and enriches the blood and so supplies the tissues with the food they need. It builds up strong, healthy flesh and puts the whole body into a disease-resisting state. RIDGEWAY RAMBLES.

School closed Friday for the holiday vacation.

Eugene Pilbeam, of Harvey, Ill., is out on a visit.

Beginning with next Wednesday you will need to write it 1896.

Irving Barnes and Willie Fletcher went to Toledo Wednesday.

Mat Fox and Frank Drake, of Dundee, called on friends in the village Saturday evening.

The furnace at the church has been undergoing necessary repairs during the past week.

A. J. Sutton, who has been at work at Lansing for several weeks, was home for Christmas.

Mail Messenger Vote Miller, of Detroit, made his mother a flying visit the latter part of last week.

Mrs. John VanVleet, who has been under the doctor's care for several weeks, is slowly improving.

Chester Pilbeam, who has been spending several months at LaFyette, Ind., returned home Saturday night.

There were several young men down from Tecumseh at the Turkey Banquet last week Wednesday evening.

Miss Edith Collins will give a strictly one-fourth off sale on all millinery goods until January 11th, 1896.

The recent rains are the heaviest we have had in a year. Cisterns are full and wells and creeks are on the rise.

Mrs. J. F. Temple, who has been spending several weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Will McCrimmon, at Luther, returned to her home Thursday of last week.

Limon Gould was called to Azalia Friday by the death of his brother, Charles Gould, who commited suicide by taking poison, the funeral services were held Sunday.

At the board meeting of the officials of the Johnathan Hall Memorial Library held at the library Monday afternoon Miss Lizzie Boyd was secured as librarian for the ensuing year, beginning January first, 1896.

Those who are spending Christmas with relatives out of the village are Lester Osgood and wife, at St. John; Miss Edyth Collins, at Blissfield; Miss Lillian Dersham, at Palmyra; Clarence Montgomery, at Allegan, Mr. and Mrs. Hale, at Toledo. Mrs. Sarah Rappleye and son Lawrence, at Ypsilanti; Grandma and C. L. Lowe, at Waseon, Ohio.

Just what the outcome of the war agitation will amount to is hard to tell at present, owing to the fact of next year being leap year, the ladies will claim a right in the field, and present arms in self defense, and every young man of manageable age will have to surrender or have inscribed on his monument, here lies the remains of a heartless old bachelor, when the conflict is over.

On account of the stormy night there was but a small attendance at the Roast Turkey Banquet given by the ladies of the L. C. S. at the church on Wednesday evening of last week. The society realized $15.00, after paying expenses. The ladies of the society wish to extend a vote of thanks to B. F. DePuy and Smith & Schmidt for their generous donation towards the supper, also to Mr. B. F. DePuy and Mr. Lafayette Rappleye for valuable assistance rendered, and to all who so willingly assisted in providing the necessary articles for the table act.

Those who are home and in the village with relatives and friends for Christmas and the holidays are, Prof. E. A. Wilson, of Benton Harbor; Prof. L. M. Palmer, wife and son, of Jackson; Kittie Clark, Guy Pocklington and Mrs. Frederick Gorton, of Ypsilanti; F. L. Cook, of Lansing; Eddie Williams and Florence House, of Clinton; G. C. Arner, of Addison; Lou Arner and Edith Chase, of Tecumseh; Lewis Holm and family, of Decatur, Ind.; W. T. Bush, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Alfred Lucking and family, of Detroit; Ed. Allen, of Ithica; dispatcher Frank Allen and family, and Lavern Allen and wife, of Toledo.

There was a good attendance at the parlor meeting of the W. C. T. U. held at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Pocklington on Friday evening of last week. A short program was carried out, after which the hostess served refreshments in the dining room, consisting of cold meats, biscuits, pickles, celery, cake and fruits. Only those who have been fortunate enough to sit at Mrs. Pocklington's table can testify to the excellent cook she is. The evening was spent in a very enjoyable and social manner. The ladies of the union desire to extend to Mr. and Mrs. Pocklington their heartfelt appreciation for their generous hospitality.

Miss Hattie E. Coonley and Will S. Packard, both of Lansing, were joined in marriage at five o'clock Wednesday evening, December 18th at the home of the bride's mother, Rev. E. R. Allen, of Pilgrim Church, officiating. The rooms were tastefully decorated with holly and lycopodium, potted plants and flowers. Little four year old Mabel Hutchison preceeded the bridal pair as ring bearer, as the strains of the wedding march were played by Miss Steadman. In a white silken gown trimmed with smilax and roses a bride is always charming. The service was simple and impressive and was followed by hearty congratulations from relatives and friends. Mr. and Mrs. Packard will be at home to their friends after January first at 510 Michigan Avenue East—Lansing Journal. [We join in with the many friends of Mrs. Packard in extending best wishes.

At the home of the bride's father, C. B. Sutton, Tuesday evening, occurred the marriage of their daughter, Carrie, to Mr. Arthur J. Palmer, Rev. J. P. Vincent, of Spring Arbor, administering the oath that united the contracting parties as man and wife, in the presence of a large gathering of relatives. After the usual congratulations a bountious wedding feast was spread, of which all were recipients. The evening was spent in a very enjoyable manner. The newly married couple went to Detroit for their bridal trip. The young people are among the first of our society people and have the best wishes of their many friends that life may be real and earnest and that prosperity and happiness may crown every noble effort of their life. The presents were numerous and useful, but space will not permit of our giving a list of them.

Mrs. Zacharias of Cincinnati says Pretzinger's is a God-send.

Last September Mrs. Zacharias, who resides at 911 Everett St., Cin. saw an advertisement in the morning paper, and being in despair over a Catarrh in the head that failed to get well, bought a jar of Pretzinger's Catarrh Balm for 50 cents, and says she feels better than she has for many years. She uses it constantly in her family for curing colds in the head and her own chronic case of catarrh has been entirely cured. "Since using it I feel like a new woman; it is a God-send to all catarrh sufferers." On November 12 she writes again and says "My eldest boy was suffering very much with catarrh inflammation of the ears which were almost entirely closed by swelling. I tried your Balm and the inflammatory symptoms have entirely disappeared and he is entirely well. I find that Pretzinger's Catarrh Balm stops my children's earache almost immediately. Any reader of this paper who will purchase a jar will be convinced of the virtue it possesses." Light cases of catarrh and colds in the head and where the passages are choked with mucous yield instantaneously to this treatment. The delicate aroma of the camphors makes it a delightful remedy to use. A small sample will be sent by Pretzinger Bros., Chemists, Dayton, Ohio, on receipt of a 2 cent stamp.

A pardon was granted by Gov. Brown of Kentucky to Hume Clay, the forger, who forged his grandfather's name for $50,000.

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gunderman, of Diamondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist Church at Rives Junction she was brought down with Pneumonia succeeding La Grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last for hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recomended Dr. King's New Didcovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results." Trial bottles free at Orr & Temple's Drug Store.

Stevenson's Unpublished Novel.

"St. Ives," the novel left substantially complete, and unpublished, by Robert Louis Stevenson at his death is described as purely a romance of adventure. It is the story of a French prisoner captured in the Peninsular wars, who is shut up in Edinburgh Castle; there he falls in love with a Scotch girl who, with her aunt, frequently visits the prisoners. There is early in the story a duel under extraordinary circumstances, between St. Ives and a fellow prisoner; after various episodes a dangerous plan of escape is decided upon, and the daring St. Ives finally becomes a free man. The perils that he undergoes while in hiding about Edinburgh, his adventures on the Great North Road with strangers and robbers his final escape across the border into England, his subsequent return to Edinburgh, and many other incidents of this splendidly conceived story are told in the spirited, vivacious and wonderful style of which Mr. Stevenson was a master.

Mr. Sidney Colvin—himself an author and critic of rare ability and a master of style—says of this novel that "as a tale of adventure, manners, and the road, which is all it was meant to be, it will be found a very spirited and entertaining piece"—From S. S. McClure, Limited, 30 Lafayette Place New York.

Weak, Irritable, Tired

"I Was No Good on Earth."

Dr. Miles' Nervine strengthens the weak, builds up the broken down constitution, and permanently cures every kind of nervous disease.

"About one year ago I was afflicted with nervousness, sleeplessness, Creeping sensation in my legs, Slight palpitation of my heart, Distracting confusion of the mind, Serious loss or lapse of memory. Weighted down with care and worry. I completely lost appetite And felt my vitality wearing out, I was weak, irritable and tired, My weight was reduced to 160 lbs., In fact I was no good, on earth.

A friend brought me Dr. Miles' book, "New and Startling Facts," and I finally decided to try a bottle of DR. MILES' Reorative Nervine. Before I had taken one bottle I could sleep as well as a 10-yr.-old boy. My appetite returned greatly increased.

When I had taken the sixth bottle My weight increased to 176 lbs., The sensation in my legs was gone; My nerves steadied completely; My memory was fully restored. My brain seemed clearer than ever. I felt as good as any man on earth. Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is A great medicine, I assure you."

Augusta, Me. WALTER R. BURBANK.

Dr. Miles' Nervine is sold on a positive guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. All druggists sell it at $1, 6 bottles for $5, or it will be sent, prepaid, on receipt of price by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington, D. C., Dec. 20, '95.

For more than a century it has been the proud boast of Americans that in all questions affecting the foreign relations of the United States domestic partisanship was dropped and all men became simply Americans, ready to fight, if need be, for the maintenance of American principles. Several things have happened within the last three years to cause foreigners to believe that boast without actual foundation, but the foreigners were deceived. The administration went contrary to public sentiment in certain phases of its foreign policy, and public opinion condemned, instead of sustaining it. But today the boast holds good, and 10,000,000 fighting men, regardless of their domestic political opinions, stand ready to back up President Cleveland's notice to Great Britain and the world that the Monroe doctrine cannot be violated without first whipping the United States.

To judge by the talk of Congressmen, one week ago President Cleveland was about the most unpopular man in the country. Today, republicans, democrats and populists are trying to see who can utter the strongest endorsement of the stand taken by President Cleveland in his special message on the Monroe doctrine. For the time, Mr. Cleveland's mistakes are forgotten and he is regarded as merely the head of a nation determined to show to the world that it is prepared to force the acceptance of the Monroe doctrine by European nations, if force be necessary.

Congress is not, of course, unanimous—it never is—in support of the construction placed upon the Monroe doctrine by President Cleveland and Secretary Olney, but it is practically so, and promptly authorized President Cleveland to appoint a commission to investigate and determine upon the just boundary between Venezuela and British Guiana, in accordance with his special message, and there is no doubt that Congress will authorize the defence of the boundary so determined, unless Great Britain shall in the meantime agree to arbitration, or reach some permanent and satisfactory settlement with Venezuela.

Notwithstanding the warlike talk in Congress, European diplomates in Washington do not regard a war between Great Britain and the United States as a probable outcome of the present situation. Nor do they believe that Great Britain will either recognize or refuse to recognise the right of this country to maintain the Monroe doctrine as it is interpreted by America. They think that Lord Salisbury has a plan for evading either, and that it was indicated when he wrote in his communication to Secretary Olney: 'This controversy has undoubtedly been made more difficult by the inconsiderate action of the Venezuelan government in breaking off relations with her majesty's government, and its settlement has been correspondingly delayed; but her majesty's government has not surrendered the hope that it will be adjusted by a reasonable arrangement at an early date." How such an evasion would be taken by Congress is, of course, a matter of conjecture. Time will cool hot blood and modify opinions formed while enthusiastically patriotic, but if Congress does not change its present prevailing opinion it may put a very decisive veto upon any such settlements. There is no mistaking its sentiments now; it wants either a recognition of the right of the Monroe doctrine by England or war, and a majority would much prefer the latter.
